Installation of Chi Chapter

RUBY LONG

DURING the last year Delta Zeta has had the pleasure of welcoming several new chapters. Some of these chapters did not have a chance to remain the youngest chapter for very long. Phi was established just one week when Chi made its appearance.

Thus another dream of many girls came true when Zeta Chi of Oregon Agricultural College became Chi chapter of Delta Zeta.

On April 24 these girls began welcoming us until by one o'clock Friday they had greeted Mildred French of Lambda, Ruby Long of Zeta Alumnæ, and Kirsten Larsson, Verne Hall, Ruby Mitchell, Esther Campbell, Irlene Pence, and Beatrice Fryer of Kappa. Saturday morning we were joined by Alys Sutton, one of Sigma's girls. Beta was also represented by Mrs. Gertrude McElfresh, who is one of the faculty at O. A. C. She had made our work easy for us because she had already given the examinations, graded papers, and pledged the girls.

The girls did not yet have their own home so most of us were entertained at Waldo Hall, the girls' dormitory. I have often wondered if the O. A. C. campus is always as beautiful as it was then. I believe it is almost more than our imagination should be expected to accomplish, to be able to conjure up a more beautiful place than Oregon in April. It makes us wish to change the lyric to read, "Oh, to be in Oregon, now that April's there."

The other fraternities showed a correspondingly beautiful spirit by offering their houses for various occasions, sending flowers, and graciously offering their talent at the reception. The girls accepted the offer of the Sigma Alpha Epsilon house for initiation. It is located very near Mrs. McElfresh's home which was our headquarters.

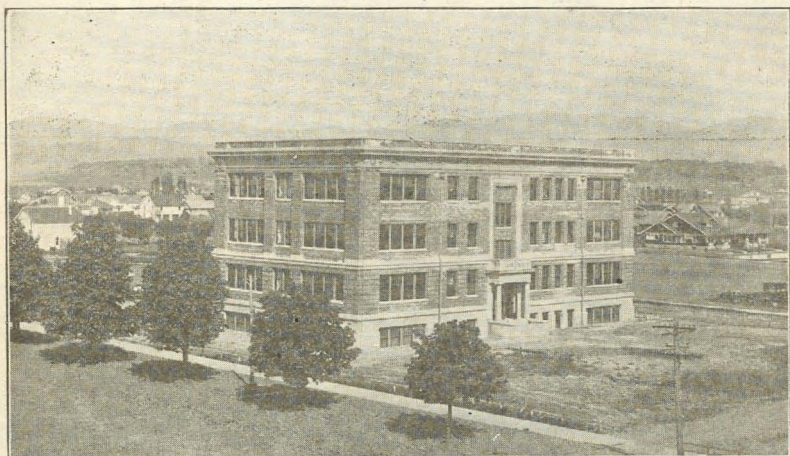

The girls were made so happy and realized how much they wanted to be Delta Zetas because so many of our chapters and national officers remembered to write or telegraph their greetings.

GIRLS' PAGEANT
Oregon Agricultural College

With the house made beautiful by flowers from installing officers and other friends, installation began about three Friday afternoon, and by twelve o'clock sixteen girlish hearts had been made supremely happy because sixteen little lamps were brightly gleaming. These girls were: Zelta Feike, and Elithe Loughary, seniors; Edith Ireland, Maple Cole, Marguerite Turner, and Erma Beals, juniors; Esther Gardner, Winifred Hazen, Dorothy Edwards, Mary McComb, Arline Barnum, Laura Garnjobst, Gertrude Lienkaemper, Alice Feike, and Helen Moore, freshmen.

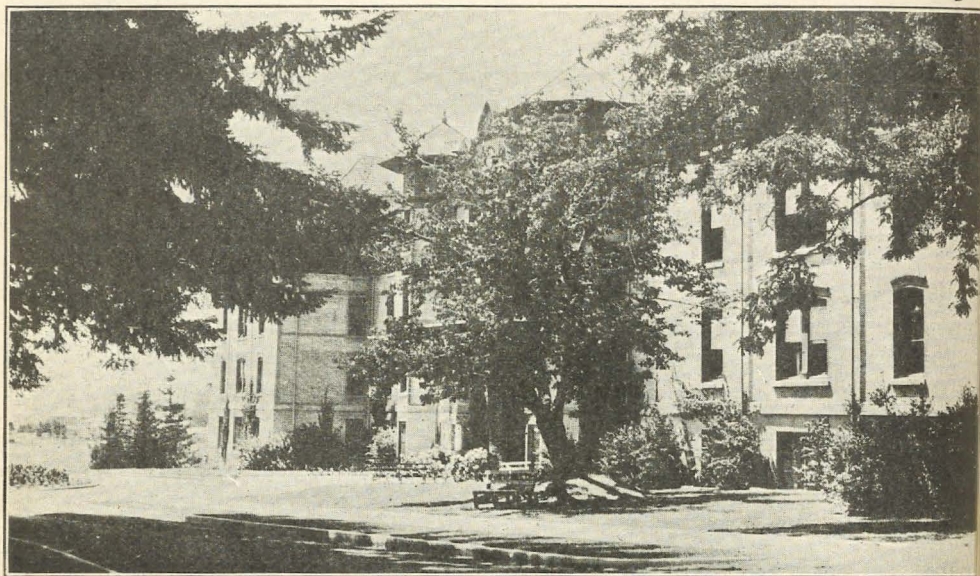

These girls are a splendid addition to our fraternity. When their own dean of women, Mary E. Fawcett, sent flowers she said that flowers always reminded her of people and she never could think of the Chi girls as anything but lilies. Therefore she sent beautiful white lilies.

On Saturday morning we met at Mrs. McElfresh's home and held a model business meeting and installed their officers. After that for a time the girls showed us over the college grounds and through some of their beautiful buildings. After lunch came the installation reception. The rooms were beautifully and tastefully decorated and Delta Zeta's first reception was a decided success.

The Sigma Phi Epsilon house had been accepted, in which to hold our banquet. Toasts were given and the hours passed all too quickly, for before we realized it the hour had come for the intersorority dance. It was the first that Chi girls had been privileged to attend and what a wonderful time they had!

Next morning came the special church service and Chi was again left alone except for their splendid "big sister," Mrs. Gertrude McElfresh.

MY CREED

I would be true for there are those who trust me;
I would be pure for there are those who care;
I would be strong for there is much to suffer;
I would be brave for there is much to dare;
I would be friend to all—the foe, the friendless;
I would be giving and forget the gift;
I would be humble for I know my weakness;
I would look up and laugh and love and lift.

—Howard Arnold Walters.

Report of Delta Zeta National Panhellenic Representative of the 16th Panhellenic Conference

WASHINGTON, D. C., October 16-18, 1919

LEAVING Muncie, Indiana, at 1:03 I was privileged to stop off with Omicron chapter. A separate report will cover this visit.

Arriving in Washington at 8:40, arrived at Hotel Willard just in time for opening meeting October 16. Found our good Editor, Arema O'Brien, already on the job.

The first business of the meeting was the presentation of the delegates—rather embarrassing for me since Delta Zeta has no President. However, I met the situation by writing my name as Panhellenic representative signed by Secretary of Delta Zeta.

Let me say here that for the good of Delta Zeta, I believe this Panhellenic delegate should be an officer of long standing and I most certainly believe that the Grand President should always be in attendance.

Then came the reports of the different fraternities which were most interesting from the point of view of war work accomplished, extension, problems, etc. It would be useless to attempt to give the things which came out in these reports.

In Delta Zeta's report account was given of our five new chapters, a general summary of our contribution to war work, the reinstating of Eta chapter and the fact that we have no inactive chapters and that no Panhellenic difficulties have been reported.

Delta Gamma reported having raised $16,000 for war work. Alpha Chi Omega adopted 100 war orphans. Alpha Gamma Delta has a summer camp for tenement children and the chapter at De Pauw had been withdrawn. Kappa Delta's specialty was a house loan fund.

The Treasurer's report showed a balance in treasury of $453.75.

This meeting of N. P. C. I consider a great improvement over the previous Panhellenic meetings I have attended. It proved the fact that fraternities as fraternities are more willing to stand together for the good of fraternities than ever before. This matter was shown in the discussion of points at issue, recommendation, etc.

A careful survey was taken of the high school fraternity situation but I have my doubts as to whether the national fraternities will stand back of this high school ruling.

The situation at Boston and Sophia Newcomb were discussed. Mary Love Collins, president, presented the attitude taken by Y. W. C. A. in recent student conference toward fraternities. Mrs. Collins told of the conference she had had with the New York office Secretaries. According to Mrs. Collins fraternities are about to be opposed by the Y. W. C. A. because of being undemocratic, whereupon Mrs. Collins made the statement she was as thoroughly opposed to autocracy in an organization as she was among a smaller social group.

Mrs. Collins emphasized the responsibility of a thoroughly wide-awake, thinking group of organized fraternity women. Eligibility committee reported later in the meeting the fact that New York State College was an A No. 1 college open to N. P. C. fraternities. Reports of different standing committees will be mailed to you later in the regular Panhellenic bulletin.

In the report of extension Miss Hart reported the petition of Alpha Epsilon Phi, Jewish, and Achoth, Eastern Star; both fraternities rejected.

The recommendations will be covered in the regular N. P. C. bulletin. Dr. Hopkins presented a very interesting discussion of "Vocations." I think Miss O'Brien made arrangements for this to be published in the LAMP. Dr. Hopkins really is to be considered as the spirit of the Congress. She is so perfectly fine and fair and with her sympathetic vision, she is a wonderful inspiration to the Congress. Dr. Hopkins is one of those several physicians connected with the working out of the Y. W. C. A. educational program.

Another round table discussion was conducted by Mrs. Henry, Alpha Omicron Pi, on the "Value of the Social Group." Then we were favored with a splendid discussion by Dean Wilbur of Washington College on "The College and Fraternity."

I did not mean to fail to mention the round table led by Miss Keller, Pi Beta Phi. As I think I have mentioned before the significant thing about this Congress was the fact that the time the old Congress spent in petty discussion over local squabbles is almost ancient history and that N. P. C. as an organization has a conception of the place of fraternities in their relation to this complex era of national and international development and while nothing that N. P. C. did may go down in history, yet I feel that this meeting will be a stimulus among a large group of college women to the real issue of the hour.

One could not have attended that luncheon at Wardman Park Inn, when more than 200 college fraternity women from Washington, D. C., sat at the table with the representatives of the eighteen national fraternities, without feeling the importance of the place of college fraternity women in the adjustment of the world's problems.

The very earnest address of Mrs. Raymond Robbins, President of National Trade Unions League, was a direct appeal for the help of a thinking American public supported by the college women of today, and as representative to the 16th N. P. C., if I can bring to our chapters no material help with the problems of your particular local group, but if I may bring to you as active chapters, to our alumnæ chapters, to every Delta Zeta fraternity member the inspiration that to you as a college woman the world is looking today, for that intelligence of vision, that understanding of sympathetic relation to all mankind which will enable you as college women to be a large force in perfecting the issues at hand in the countries of the world.

In conjunction with this Panhellenic Congress I want to announce the organization of Washington Alumnæ chapter to be known as Lambda graduate chapter with Mrs. Alfa Lloyd Hayes, president.

Respectfully submitted,
R. SEBRING SMITH.

There's joy in the mountain,
There's life in the fountain,
Small clouds are sailing,
Blue sky prevailing,
The rain is over and gone.—Wordsworth.

Editor's Report of Editors' Conference at N. P. C.

A CONFERENCE of Panhellenic editors is always a most inspiring and helpful gathering. There is a kindred bond of helpfulness among the editors and each one is glad to help her fellow-editors with suggestions. I know of no better way to report the Conference than by submitting the minutes of our meetings.

The opening session of the Conference of N. P. C. Editors was held Wednesday evening, October 15, at 7:30 at the New Willard Hotel, Washington, D. C. Miss Florence A. Armstrong of Alpha Chi Omega was chairman of the Editors' Conference.

After the meeting was called to order, the chairman announced that a secretary for the present meeting was to be elected who would then become chairman of the N. P. C. editors for the next two years. Miss Arema O'Brien of Delta Zeta was elected. The roll was called and the various fraternities were represented as follows:

Alpha Chi Omega—Mary-Emma Griffith

Alpha Gamma Delta—Mrs. Henry Fisk Carlton

Alpha Omicron Pi—Mrs. Etta Phillips MacPhie

Alpha Phi—Mrs. Ruth S. Thomson

Alpha Xi Delta—Mrs. Anna M. Knote

Delta Delta Delta—Mrs. S. L. Slover

Delta Zeta—Arema O'Brien

Gamma Phi Beta—Lillian M. Thompson and Madelyn M. Keezer

Kappa Delta—Elizabeth Corbett

Pi Beta Phi—Mrs. F. A. Rugg.

All editors not present had sent notes of greetings and best wishes for the Conference.

The minutes of the Editors' Conference of 1917 were read and approved. The discussion of the Conference followed the program which had been sent to all editors. The first topic to be considered was "The Place and Limitation of Fraternity Journalism." Miss Land of The Eleusis was to lead this discussion but in her absence the discussion was led by Miss Armstrong, the chairman. The topics to be used in the N. P. C. journals were discussed. Mrs. Rugg of Pi Beta Phi said she endeavored to interest all, both alumnæ and active members, and placed articles in her magazine which she thought would interest both. The discussion brought out the fact that all editors present felt that articles on vocations had a place in the journals and were a help in deciding on a vocation.

The next topic considered was "Subject Matter": (a) how to obtain chapter letters of real interest. Mrs. Knote of Alpha Xi Delta led this discussion. Alpha Xi Delta and Alpha Omicron Pi send special form letters out to chapters. Kappa Delta urges her chapter editors to write their letters as if they were writing a personal letter to an alumna of their chapter. This helps make the letter more interesting. A few of the editors felt that the chapter editor should hold her position for three years, thus she would get valuable training and the Editor would not be compelled to train so many new chapter editors each year. One plan suggested was that the Editor should have the power to remove a chapter editor who did not comply with instructions and who was incompetent. Two Editors of N. P. C. journals have such power. Delta Delta Delta requires the signature of the chapter president as well as the chapter editor to chapter letters. Delta Zeta requires the chapter letter to be read at chapter meeting before it is sent to Editor. Alpha Gamma Delta, Delta Delta Delta, and Gamma Phi Beta have a general chapter editor who edits the chapter letters. Kappa Delta has a system of fines when letters are late. The next topic under "Subject Matter" was (b) the best form in which to present material. The Editors discussed whether we should just publish fraternity news or whether we should also include some articles of general news. It was thought best to use both.

Then the methods of gathering contributions from alumnæ and undergraduates were considered.

Kappa Alpha Theta requires an article of 1,000 words from each chapter.

Alpha Chi Omega requires an article from each undergraduate.

Pi Beta Phi requires each correspondent to send an article with her chapter letter.

Alpha Xi Delta requires each chapter to send in one short and one long article for each issue.

The next main topic to be considered was "The Efficient Supervision of Panhellenic Publications: (a) Sorority Handbook; (b) Baird's Manual; (c) Banta's Greek Exchange." The consensus of opinion was that N. P. C. should supervise all publications dealing with N. P. C. fraternities. It was learned that Mr. Banta feels that the Exchange which was started for our benefit is not what it should be and he would like to see it made something worth while. The Sorority Handbook was next discussed and a motion was made that a committee be appointed to investigate the possibility of taking this matter up with Mrs. Martin and see if we could assist her in this work. Baird's Manual was also discussed. It was moved and seconded that a committee of editors be appointed to draw up some recommendations concerning Panhellenic publications and present them to N. P. C. for their consideration. The following were named to serve on such a committee: Mrs. Rugg of Pi Beta Phi, Mrs. Knote of Alpha Xi Delta, and Miss Griffith of Alpha Chi Omega.

Miss Griffith of Alpha Chi Omega led the next discussion, "The compilation of a pamphlet on the constructive war work of fraternity women for early publication. Necessity of conserving records of war work and of some constructive service of fraternity women for general reference." Miss Griffith suggested that we get each chapter of each N. P. C. fraternity to follow an outline and write up war work done and then collect this material and use it later as a compilation of work done by fraternity women during the great world war. Pi Beta Phi is now preparing a pamphlet including an account of war work done by fraternity women. It was moved, seconded and carried that such a recommendation for the gathering and compilation of war work done by the various women's fraternities be put into the recommendations to N. P. C.

The next discussion concerned itself with the desirability of a standard style book for Editors and contributors. Mrs. MacPhie of Alpha Omicron Pi led this discussion. The following committee was appointed to draft and discuss a style book for the use of the N. P. C. Editors: Miss Griffith of Alpha Chi Omega, Mrs. MacPhie of Alpha Omicron Pi, and Miss Green, Kappa Alpha Theta.

The committee on recommendations to N. P. C. gave the following report which was approved:

The Editors' Conference recommends that a standing committee be appointed to consider:

- (a) The possibility and advisability of making the Sorority Handbook a Panhellenic publication and giving it our united financial and editorial support.
- (b) The advisability of supervising the subject matter of other similar publications.
- (c) The Editors' Conference recommends that N. P. C. ask each fraternity to secure from every chapter and alumnae organization data in regard to its war work in accordance with a uniform plan which shall be devised by a committee appointed for such a purpose.

A motion for adjournment was then made.

SECOND SESSION—THURSDAY, OCTOBER 16, 7:30 P. M.

The second session of the Conference of N. P. C. Editors was held Thursday evening at 7:30 P. M. with the various fraternities represented as follows:

Alpha Chi Omega—Mary-Emma Griffith
Alpha Delta Pi—Julia S. Rodman
Alpha Gamma Delta—Mrs. Henry Fisk Carlton
Alpha Omicron Pi—Mrs. Etta Phillips MacPhie
Alpha Phi—Mrs. Ruth Sanders Thomson
Alpha Xi Delta—Mrs. Anna M. Knotte
Delta Delta Delta—Mrs. S. L. Slover
Delta Gamma—Gertrude S. Wilbur
Delta Zeta—Arema O'Brien
Gamma Phi Beta—Madelyn M. Keezer
Kappa Delta—Elizabeth Corbett
Pi Beta Phi—Mrs. F. A. Rugg.

The first topic considered at the second session was the following: Publication (a) desirable system for mailing lists; (b) economical buying of paper stock; (c) how to reduce cost; (d) degree of satisfactory service rendered by present publishers; (e) relative charges of other publishing houses. The discussion was led by Mrs. Thomson of Alpha Phi and many valuable suggestions were given. It was thought best to have the addresses typewritten on the wrapper of the magazine for stencils cost too much. The possibility of wholesale buying of paper was discussed and the chairman appointed the following committee to investigate this matter: Mrs. MacPhie, Alpha Omicron Pi, and Miss Griffith, Alpha Chi Omega.

Mrs. Rugg of Pi Beta Phi gave a report of syndicated advertising. Practically nothing has been done with it for the past two years. It was moved, seconded, and carried that a committee be appointed to investigate the possibility of syndicated advertisement.* The Editors are to send any information they get along this line to the committee from time to time.

Next the subject of life subscription was considered. It was doubted by the Conference whether or not we know the step and the best policy to follow in this matter and it was suggested that we have an expert go into this matter and give us a more definite solution to this problem. Mrs. Thomson and Miss Griffith will try and find someone to help in this problem. Life subscription is taken out by initiates in Delta Delta Delta, Phi Beta Pi, and Alpha Chi Omega. After a general discussion a motion for adjournment was made.

Respectfully submitted,

AREMA O'BRIEN.

*NOTE: I have asked Miss Griffith, Mrs. Carlton, and Miss Keezer to serve on this committee.—AREMA O'BRIEN.

What's brave
What's noble
Let's do it.—Shakespeare.

Noblesse Oblige

MARY E. FAWCETT, Dean of Women, Oregon Agricultural College

BECAUSE of the high ideals of Greek-letter organizations concerning scholarship, womanhood, culture, conduct, and general refinement, they must be placed in the ranks of the noble. True nobility involves obligations. The trend of one's actions stirred by individual motives depends entirely upon the ideals which inspire conduct. Mr. Henderson in his Education and the Larger Life, says, "Now whether we squander life in the trifling pursuits of the majority, or whether we spend it wisely and beautifully, after the manner of the minority, will all depend upon the ideas which we bring to the adventure. The same stone may be fashioned into a temple of the spirit, or into a fortress of cruelty; it depends upon the idea of the builder. The same metal may be wrought into a sword or a ploughshare; it depends upon the artificer. The same grain may nourish as food or deprave as drink; it depends upon the idea of the husbandman. So the same life may be squandered on that which is not worth while, or expended on that which is excellent; it depends upon the idea of the man."

The altogether significant, compelling, momentous thing is the idea. In the absence of the right ideals, the force and material of the universe avail nothing. In the light of this forceful statement, we see how necessary it is that the Greek-letter organizations shall steadfastly pursue the noble ideals which they have universally maintained as their high mark and calling.

The ideals of the women's fraternities at the Oregon Agricultural College are of such a character that their presence on the campus is encouraged and welcomed by the college authorities. Three years ago there existed only one national woman's fraternity here, now there are seven national and four local organizations. Their ideals of conduct toward the college, the nonfraternity students, and their own members have been of such a nature that there has been apparent only benefit to all concerned.

The obligations which rest upon a fraternity are varied and manifold. The most important, however, are linked up with what the fraternity can do for the college, for its active members and pledges, for the nonfraternity students, and finally for its alumnae.

The abstract statement of ideals is of little value. To live and bear fruit, true ideals must be put into very definite and persistent practice, not only in the big affairs of life and college but also in the minor matters. The true and highest achievement does not consist in accomplishing something notably new, but in doing the commonplace things a little better each day.

The fraternity must first of all devote itself to the best good of the college or university which makes its very existence possible. This responsibility is best borne on the part of the organization by coöperating in maintaining high standards of scholarship, in conforming to all regulations of the institution and by making the fraternity house such a happy and wholesome place for girls to live in that mothers and friends will want their daughters to have the benefit of the helpful life in the college community, where tolerance and broad friendships flourish.

The very nature of the organization of a fraternity makes it a powerful factor in bringing about that close relationship which produces friendships which are firm and true enough to evidence that quality which alone defines a real friend: the courage to tell another of a fault or weakness in order to help that friend to do the best of which she is capable. The ability to make friends is one of God's greatest gifts to mankind. It involves responsibilities, but these responsibilities are more than balanced by the rich rewards of understanding, affection, sympathy, and mutual interests which result. In a fraternity the members can be mutually helpful one to another. The girl who is inclined to do nothing but study can be shown that there are very valuable activities in college in which she should participate if she is to derive the greatest benefit from her education. On the other hand, the thoughtless maiden whose one interest is a good time can be brought to a realization of the fact that scholarship must occupy the first place and that the social side must not grow at the expense of the intellectual. The girls who are diffident and backward can be developed, while the forward and over-confident member can be counseled and checked so that she will become worthy, and a help instead of a hindrance to her sisters. Above all, the fraternity by its home life in a small group develops the sense of responsibility and the habit of thought to a degree not often attained in college in any other way. Every member of every group from the pledge up to the senior must possess a keen sense of responsibility in small as well as in great matters if the organization is to attain its highest. This feeling of responsibility does come from the community life of our fraternities. Only by sensing this obligation which each owes to all can the highest type of womanhood and finest citizenship later on be secured.

Never before in the history of the fraternity world was there greater need for fraternities to realize the importance of making themselves actually worthy so that they may become a force in the world for something truly constructive and helpful. On the actions of the members of all national fraternities now rests the future of the organizations. Let us see to it that we are living up to our richest opportunities in every way and steadfastly and loyally contributing strength and usefulness to our educational institutions, mankind, and the world at large. Because we have received much, much is expected of us in return.—The Eleusis of Chi Omega.

Never spend your money before you have it.—Jefferson.

Toast at Founders' Day Banquet

AT graduation, life is begun,
In work you are still young,
Your pin of gold is not yet old
Serve and you will stronger grow.

As an alumna, trim your light
And let your pearls be bright,
As Delta Zetas be strong and true,
Scour off the rust and shine anew.

'Tis now our day, our work resume,
For what is age but life's full bloom?
Fight fresh battles for the truth
And in love and service return to youth.

Here's to our Founders, both steady and firm,
May we from their lives profit and learn.
Here's to the pledges, young but true,
May they love Delta Zeta and obey every rule.
Here's to the actives, doing their best
So in their work we wish them success.
Here's to the alumnæ, older but just
May they serve, love, and be ever virtuous.

Child Hygiene, American Committee for Devastated France

WE have a gray kitten which is plain old tabby on its mother's side and Angora on its father's, a King Cophetua and the Beggar Maid sort of ancestry productive of both vitality and charm. The manner of our getting her was this:

In the village of Laversine lives the Boulanger family which recently returned to its ancestral home to find it smashed beyond repair. So they assembled under the leaky roof of another house seven children under fourteen years of age, with father and mother, and here an eighth child soon made its appearance. When the baby was three weeks old, someone told us about him. It was high time Madame Boulanger had gotten up on the third day after his birth and busied herself with the family wash. She agreed that had she been a cow instead of only a human mother, she would not have been worked so hard, because of course a cow is really a valuable animal.

The Boulanger family were living on the father's wages of seven francs fifty a day—that is, they were sustaining life. They had bread and thin soup every day and sometimes a cabbage, and when the oldest girl began working in the fields eleven hours a day, they could afford once a week a little cheese. Before the war they owned a goat and rabbits and chickens, but it isn't easy to reestablish a poultry yard on seven francs fifty a day when you have ten people to feed.

We weighed all the children. They were two or three years behind their ages and the older ones had tubercular glands. Because the father was so tired all the time the doctor went over his lungs but found no tuberculosis. "Nothing wrong but prolonged starvation," she said, "with hard work to wash it down."

Well, this story isn't about the Boulangers. We brought the beds and coverings and clothing and a big twenty-five pound can of powdered milk, which the whole family drink now, all they can hold, and which has been twice refilled. And American friends (who will never know they were life-savers) gave a goat and hens and a rabbit to start things going again. When we offered to pay the oldest girl the wages she received in the field and send her to the domestic science school two days in the week, the family refused to accept the money from us which would replace the wages she forfeited the two days of her absence at school, but were glad of the opportunity of letting her get instruction in household work even at the sacrifice of her much needed wage. They didn't feel that they should take any money that was not earned. One day they asked if we liked cabbages and when we said we adored them, the whole family grinned like Cheshire cats, because they said that was the only thing in their garden this year. And they gave us eight beauties, the pick of the lot.

What worried Mme. Boulanger most was the baby, because the one just before him had died, and she did want to save this little one. Although she had never done it before, she patiently learned how to sterilize nursing bottles and wash nipples inside and out and measure out the food in grams. But Louis simply would not thrive. So one day we asked his parents to let us take him to the American hospital at Blerancourt for a month or so and get him in good condition and let the mother rest up with only five or six little ones to look after. She said I could if I would surely promise to bring him back. I didn't smile because I knew that another child of theirs had been taken to the hospital at Soissons just before a German advance and never seen again. So Louis rode off with me to find the scientific care his driven mother could not provide for him, and now is thriving gloriously.

Now Madame Boulanger has that rare nature that doesn't want to keep a good thing to itself. So she handed the American Committee over to a neighbor who often came to cry in her chimney corner. Madame Boulanger confided to us most confidentially that she didn't want the whole responsibility of preventing her neighbor's suicide, and this poor old soul was talking more and more about hanging herself. This troubled us because they do hang themselves sometimes. So we called on Madame Charpentier, the neighbor, and got her history. It was brief and to the point.

The war had descended upon her quiet little home which she owned. It has swept her and her savings away. Of the only two children left to her widowed old age the boy had been killed in action and the girl had gone mad and was in an asylum in the North. She had staggered back at last to the little house where all the fifty years of her married life had been spent to find it stripped clean and barely habitable in one corner. So she sat in that corner on a heap of rags all day long—remembering—and near her while she sat frisked a kitten, the one wholly alive thing in that desolate tomb.

Madame Charpentier is not going to hang herself now. We have coöperated so thoroughly with Mme. Boulanger that we consider the crisis past. But after we had brought a bed and mattress and kitchen utensils and food, and one thing and another to the old lady, she pressed the kitten upon us. So the gray Angora tabby of Cophetuan and Beggar Maid ancestry is now frisking with us at Vic and her name is "Hangit."

LETTER TO THE AMERICAN COMMITTEE FOR DEVASTATED FRANCE

PRESIDENCE DU CONSEIL
COMMISSARIAT GENERAL
DES AFFAIRES DE GUERRE
FRANCO-AMERICAINES

French Republic
Paris, July 22, 1919

The general Commission of French-American War Affairs

To Madam Dike, Commissioner in France for the American Committee for Devastated France

15 Boulevard Lannes, Paris

No. 1870

OBJET

Fonctionnement des Oeuvres
Americaines en France
4eme Direction T. B.

Madame:

You have asked me if the French Government desires the American Committees to continue for some time still the work that has been given them to accomplish in the Devastated Regions.

To answer this question it is only necessary to know the situation of our unfortunate regions and the gratitude such Committees as yours have received from them for the services these Committees have rendered and the magnificent devotion they have shown.

You know, as I know, the immensity and the complexity of the problem of reconstruction in our devastated country. You saw the condition of these regions at the times of their liberation; the roads and railroads destroyed; the bridges blown up; all the industries systematically annihilated; the agricultural material and the cattle taken into Germany; the homes razed; the people dispersed by the successive evacuations or weakened by years of suffering. You are able to understand what a formidable and agonizing task is incumbent on the French Government. This task is all the more difficult in that the regions which have to be reconstructed formed that part of France which was the richest and the most active.

The problem has been rendered more difficult still by the very fidelity of these unfortunate people to their native regions. Their insistent haste to return to the ruins of their villages, their touching determination to take up again their lives of other times, have aggravated a very critical situation.

It is true that the French Government has guaranteed to these suffering people the integral reparation, under certain conditions, of the damages under which they have suffered. But the system established by law concerning the reparation of the damages of war is necessarily complex and can function only slowly. The law will not go into full effect for many months and the reconstruction can be made only step by step. There is, therefore, between the urgency of the needs created by the return of the people of the invaded regions, and the means which the French Government has at the moment at its disposal, some gaps that experienced initiative ought to fill in.

We are counting on the American Committees not only to aid our unfortunate compatriots to endure the miseries of the period of transition but also to guide and counsel the people in the work of reconstruction itself. It is necessary, in short, in reestablishing the destroyed villages, that the inhabitants should be brought to realize the progress that has been made in material comforts and especially in hygiene. The authority which committees such as yours have acquired through their services and their direct contact with the people designates them particularly to fulfill this mission.

These are, Madame, the reasons for which the French Government very keenly desires that your committee, as all the American Committees, should continue to accomplish the task that they assumed with so much devotion and to which the Government cannot attach too much importance, and to accord to them their coöperation.

Please accept, Madame, the expression of my most respectful homage.

Company Halt!

Attention!

STOP YOU WHO ARE READING THIS ISSUE OF THE LAMP, STOP! Do not glance through this article and the following figures hurriedly but read them thoughtfully. Seriously consider the proposition which confronts us and write your Grand Treasurer any suggestions you may have to offer.

This coming summer we are to have a convention, a big rousing convention, and that convention requires money. We have exactly $387.50 in the mileage fund to defray the mileage expenses of Grand Council officers and delegate. All and everyone of you know that such a sum is a "mere drop in the bucket." Where will we get the money to meet the expenses of a conclave? Now please note. There is at this very minute due from alumnæ for dues up to June, 1919, the sum of $1,921.30 and $345.50 from active and alumnæ chapters, making a total of $2,266.80. The amount due from the chapters will soon be paid. But of the amount due from the alumnæ last February, I succeeded in collecting $587.20, leaving that appalling sum of $1,921.30 still due. I spent hours upon hours in trying to collect that sum and nearly $50 in stationery and stamps.

Alumnæ members, you who are in arrears today, this hour, this minute, send me your dues. If you cannot pay all, pay part. "Every little bit helps."

And you, good old "standbys," the "paid-up-to-date" alumnæ, your $1 for this year is due February 1. Send it now and do not wait for the morrow. Life dues of $25, payable in installments of $5 if necessary, will be gladly received. DO IT NOW.

Chapters, make your alumnæ members pay up. For, if they do not, we will have to levy an assessment for a convention. In this time of exorbitant prices, I do not think many of you could easily stand an added assessment. We will not need it if your alumnæ will pay up. Send me a list of your alumnæ and I will gladly tell you what each one owes.

Now please carefully study this balance sheet for this year. You will note that our Extension Fund is $5.95 in debt. This fund is made up almost entirely from donations and used for inspection and installation of chapters. We collected for extension last year $945.58 and disbursed $826.53. But the fund was $125 in debt at the beginning of the year, so you see we made a little gain, not much. Now that you do not have to spend your little "extras" for wool, send any donation, however small, to your Extension Fund Chairman, Hilda Eulenstein, Western College for Women, Oxford, Ohio. Alumnae chapters, take for your motto: "We will raise for extension this year at least $500."

Now as to our Loan Fund. It is made up of money received from rebate on regulation pins and has grown to $323.50. Out of that amount, however, Tau chapter has been loaned $125 and is just about to have another note of theirs for $125 taken up by the Grand Treasury.

The other items on the statement are, I think, self-explanatory. So after you have carefully studied it we will call

Among Us

MADELINE BAIRD

MADELINE BAIRD, Theta '14, is now a manufacturer. We should feel very proud of her achievement. While in college Miss Baird was greatly interested in chemistry and after graduation came back to Ohio State University as an instructor in chemistry. Not satisfied with her B.A. she went to Chicago University where she did graduate work. Upon her return to Columbus she became chemist with the Ohio State Board of Health where she worked up to the birth of the Bee Chemical Company of which she is the head. It was the good fortune of the writer to be admitted to the secret of Miss Baird's new enterprise before it was launched but now that it is launched we want all Delta Zetas to know about our chemist and manufacturer.

The Bee Chemical Company manufactures a line of chemical household necessities which includes dustless dusting cloth, ant and roach powders, mosquito chaser, ink remover, shampoo powder, bath powder, and foot-comfort. The products are marketed through church organizations, Y. W. C. A. clubs, etc., that wish to raise money. By avoiding the middleman an unusually liberal commission can be allowed. I am sure every Delta Zeta joins in wishing Madeline and the Bee Chemical Company success. Notwithstanding this work Madeline is never too busy to find time to carry on her work of Business Manager of the LAMP and Registrar, which she does most efficiently.

MARY DRANGA CAMPBELL

MRS. Mary Dranga Campbell, Epsilon, formerly acting superintendent of the State School for the Blind of Ohio, has been appointed a member of the Serbian Relief Committee of America and will sail from New York December 13. Mrs. Campbell will work under the direction of William J. Doherty, the recently appointed commissioner to Serbia.

Among the

MADELINE BAIRD, Theta

There are 500,000 fatherless children in Serbia, many of whom are living in the open and in tent orphanages. The committee plans to care for as many as possible of these children and to erect buildings for model schools and institutions of training. The bishops of the Serbian church have dedicated all the church lands to the cause of the war orphans, making available to the committee about 10,000 acres of land and four monasteries lying within a radius of 10 miles of Chachack. Headquarters of the committee have been established at Chachack, about 125 miles south of Belgrade. One of the important plans is the establishment of centers for the training of Serbian women in modern methods of relief work.

To what cause could Delta Zeta more worthily devote her time and money? It is the hope of the Editor that we will take this up as a national work and assist Mrs. Campbell in her work in Serbia.

Politeness is to do and say
The kindest thing in the kindest way.

WHAT IS PATRIOTISM?—Patriotism consists in faithful thoughts, words, and deeds toward our country.—Fletcher.

Our Need of a Convention

RUBY LONG

UNIFICATION of effort for a common cause is said to be the most significant trend of the day. In accordance with this modern spirit Delta Zeta has been attempting during the last four years to unite the efforts of thirty-one chapters. These chapters have endeavored to work whole-heartedly with the various colleges of the United States to maintain the many traditions and ideals of the splendid states of which they are representative.

During these four years we have awakened to the fact that America, though composed of a seemingly heterogeneous people, could yet accomplish the so-called impossible. How much then could college-trained people accomplish by working shoulder to shoulder for a common cause!

The war rocked and shook the very foundations upon which we stood. Our ideas and ideals have become so broadened that we scarcely recognize that they have developed from their small-sized antecedents. Things which were at one time parts of our very being have been swept into nothingness by the waves, calling for unselfish service, which have swept our land again and again. Peace, fraught with a strange, seething unrest, is again among us. Ideals are being re-crystallized into new and different forms.

By bringing together Delta Zeta women from North, South, East, and West, we can so shape our thoughts that the words, Delta Zeta and fraternity, will mean more than ever before.

Where we shall meet makes little difference so long as many Delta Zetas can be there. When we shall meet makes a great deal of difference. Nineteen twenty is our regular year for convention. It would seem that early in August would be the best time because then the girls could go back to their chapters just before college began, full of enthusiasm and vim for the coming year.

Meanwhile let us plan the changes and new business we want discussed. We must see that these things are written up and sent to the Grand Secretary in order that we may have our program well in mind and allow sufficient time for the discussion of the more important topics.

Above all, whenever and wherever it is, let us each one plan to be there, and laying all pettiness aside, work for the upbuilding of Delta Zeta.

Good breeding is the result of much good sense, some good nature, and a little self-denial for the sake of others.—Chesterfield.

Delta Zeta Convention

RENNIE SEBRING SMITH

THESE days are certainly anxious ones for the National Officers of Delta Zeta who have stayed with the ship.

It is impossible for the present official staff to continue doing this heavy work much longer. A big, rousing national convention is imperative and new officers must be elected and the work redistributed. During the war inspection trips have been impossible, and do you realize that it is almost four years since we have had a national convention and that last year we had no Grand Council meeting? I know you all appreciate the fact that with conditions such as these our chapters and alumnae need one big "get-together" meeting to inspire all Delta Zetas to more earnest work.

Our new chapters need to know the general plan of Delta Zeta work. We need to get the perspective of a great national organization. We must determine future policies and plans.

Wouldn't it be a help to have a convention with every Delta Zeta present? We certainly can get 500 Delta Zetas congregated. We must have every one of our founders with us!

Ruby Long and Myrtle Graeter Malott and committee are working hard to decide the time and place for this meeting. Present current opinion would probably locate convention at Ithaca, New York, or Columbus, Ohio. An equalization of fares may carry it farther west—perhaps to Denver.

Wherever convention may be held, let's work for a profitable one—profitable both from the point of view of program and number of members attending.

Don't read this and after a few hours of concern forget the things you can do to make this the best convention we have ever had.

But begin planning at once not only to be present but to encourage every Delta Zeta you know to be there with you!

This is your convention! Your opportunity to do your best for your fraternity. I trust in you!

Editorials

LET us make this new year the banner year for Delta Zeta. It is a foregone conclusion that we will have a convention this next summer and we must make this the biggest convention we have ever had; we must have at least 500 there. It matters little when or where we have it but the important thing is what we accomplish. We have important business to transact and new officers to elect and every Delta Zeta should consider the importance of this, our 1920 convention. We need wise judgment and sane counsel. Listen girls, begin saving your money right today and plan to go. We need you. However, you need not wait until convention to show your Delta Zeta spirit; you can begin showing it today. Have you paid your dues? Are you a subscriber to the LAMP? Do you write or visit your chapter? Do you help your chapter or grand officers with suggestions or offers to help? Have you helped with the Extension Fund? By answering all these questions in the affirmative we will say your spirit and love for Delta Zeta is all that we could ask, but if you must answer in the negative begin today by meeting some of your obligations and you will renew that fraternity spirit and be all the happier for it. Write and tell us what you think of convention, when you want it and where. Now all together, "Let's Go!"

An enjoyable gift—a year's subscription to the LAMP.

GEORGIA SAYLOR, alumnae editor of the LAMP, has resigned, much to the dismay of the Editor. We are sorry she feels it is necessary for her to leave the LAMP. Her work has been successfully done and we appreciate her help and coöperation. Please make it a point, Miss and Mrs. Alumna, to tell us something about yourself, let us know what you are doing. We are interested in you. Don't you remember how proud we were of you in college when you accomplished something? Of course you remember. Now let us know of your accomplishments so again we may bask in some of the reflected glory. The Editor will not appoint a new alumnæ editor but will endeavor to do this work herself. Please help all you can.

* * * *

LAMBDA Alumnæ chapter has been added to the chapter roll. Located at our national capital it tends to become one of our best alumnæ chapters. It was the pleasure of the Grand Secretary and Editor to be present at the establishment of this chapter. The meeting was held at the home of Dorothy Douglas Zirkle at which our first Grand President, Mrs. Alfa Lloyd Hayes, was elected president and Mrs. Zirkle secretary. Best wishes, Lambda Alumnæ chapter!

* * * *

DELTA ZETA extends a cordial welcome to all her new pledges. May you find the fraternity an organization of helpfulness and of large achievements and may your contribution to your fraternity be of the best and noblest.

Old Lamps

THE Business Manager acknowledges receipt of two nice bundles of old issues of the LAMP and is very grateful. But are there not more copies that could be brought out of dark attics and put to good use? One member is so anxious to complete her files and have all bound together that she makes this offer: for Volume II entire she will pay $5.00, and $1.00 each for the following numbers: Volume IV No. 1, Volume V No. 1, and Volume VI No. 4. Who has these numbers? The Business Manager will give name and address to anyone who can supply these.

The LAMP management is not in position to offer to buy any copies for its needs, but must appeal for theirs gratis.

Send all copies to Madeline Baird, Business Manager, 315 West Ninth Avenue, Columbus, Ohio.

Have You Paid Your Subscription?

WITH this number many subscriptions expire. Some few ended with last issue. We are sending this issue in advance to remind you. Of course you don't want to miss a single issue. This is going to be a banner year topped by the biggest and best convention ever! Help boost. Send your subscription, $1.50, RIGHT NOW, to Business Manager, 315 West Ninth Avenue, Columbus, Ohio.

Will the chapters please look over the directory in the front of the LAMP and send corrections to the Editor?

THE LAMP OF DELTA ZETA acknowledges receipt of the following fraternity journals: To Dragma of Alpha Omicron Pi; The Aglaia of Phi Mu; The Crescent of Gamma Phi Beta; The Key of Kappa Kappa Gamma; The Eleusis of Chi Omega; The Adelphian of Alpha Delta Pi; Banta's Greek Exchange; The Anchora of Delta Gamma; Alpha Gamma Delta Quarterly; The Garnet and White of Alpha Chi Rho; The Delta of Sigma Nu.

In Service

MILDRED VAN DUSEN MCKAY

I WANT to tell you of France. We landed at Havre early in the morning and it took us all day to get through with the formalities of landing and really started for Paris. That trip from Havre to Paris was the height of discomfort for the whole one hundred and ten girls in our Red Cross unit and I'll pass over it quickly to our actual arrival at the witching hour of 2 A. M.

I had a week in Paris before my worker's permit to leave the city arrived. During that time I frantically did my duty by as much sight seeing as twenty-four hours a day permitted. I was finally assigned to Marseilles, in southern France, and one night I left raw, wet, chilly Paris and slid down into a land of sunshine and flowers and beauty. Five of our Red Cross girls clubbed together and rented a villa on the edge of the city, high up along the famous Corniche Road. We were surrounded by lovely blossoming gardens and from our living-room windows and front balcony we had a magnificent view out over the Mediterranean with its gleaming white rock islands glistening at the entrance to the Marseilles harbor, against the bluest blue water you can imagine. We could see the battle and troop ships come and go from our windows. One day two American subs brought in a captured German sub. Another time four Japanese destroyers slipped up the harbor, the slimmest, triggest, greyest little quartet you can picture. And every day a French observation dirigible came sailing through the air, passing so close to our balcony that it seemed we might almost reach out and touch it.

Now don't think we had no work. We did and hard work too. Our canteen ran twenty-four hours a day and had eight-hour shifts for work that changed at 7 A. M., 3 P. M., and 11 P. M. My first shift was a week of night duty. My college French stood me in good stead. Little as it was, it seemed to be steen times more than what most of the rest had at their command. Also, I wasn't afraid to plunge in and talk regardless of grammar, and that helped a lot. In a very short time I had developed a rapid flow of bad French and suddenly found myself serving as interpreter. This last always seemed so hugely funny that I was simply "busting" inside at myself and my horrible French whenever I had to interpret.

An Episode

Mildred McKay

I WANT to tell you of France. I've landed at Havre early in the morning and took an all day to get through with the formalities of landing and really started for Paris. That was first shift was a work in good stead. Little as it was, it seemed to be an advance more than what most of the rest had at their command. Almost wasn't afraid to pitch in and take whatever of excitement and that helped a lot. In a very short time I had developed a real flow of hand French and suddenly found myself, as they put it, "in the front line." This last always seemed so funny, that I was simply "busting" inside at myself and my horrible French when ever I had to interpret.

I was shortly put in charge of my working shift and had the bossing of the French maids and likewise our German prisoners who did the heavy work of the canteen. My long-forgotten German returned as by magic and I had some tremendously interesting talks with our prisoners who really were fairly high class men. My work was entirely along the line of food. I served meals; dished out hundreds of desserts, made thousands of sandwiches from jam, cheese, and the famed "corned Willie"; handed out millions of cups of coffee; and through it all talked almost constantly with the continuous stream of boys who drifted through and out of our canteen. I had a great deal of the night-shift work and I really liked it the best though it was the hardest of the three shifts. We began to serve breakfast at 4 A. M. From five to six we would carry out huge pots of steaming coffee to the railway station and "coffee" the soldiers as they passed through, either to the south on leave, or to the north and work again. There were always a thousand boys to ladle out coffee for and oftener than not nearer two thousand. As the trains rolled in, we would pass along by the cars, tapping on the windows with our long-handled ladles to wake up those who might still be sleeping. In a moment each car would pour out its khaki-clad boys who came streaming up to the hot coffee stands. It doesn't sound like work, does it? So please try ladling out fifty gallons of coffee into cups at double quick speed—for the train won't wait for you to take even a reasonable time to it—and along with it speak to every boy as he comes up for his coffee. The sensations at the end are that you've lost one arm and have been kicked in the stomach. And then on the end of that endless line, someone says to you—someone you've never seen before and will never see again—"Gee, you don't know what it means to me to see you. You're the first American girl I've talked to in six months." That is your reward.

Once in May I was able to spend a week-end in Old Province—the Land of the Troubadours in the Rhone Valley. Here were romance and charm and beauty at every turn. At Nimes we saw the lovely old Roman baths and the lovely Temple of Diana, built in 65 B. C. and now a thing of shattered beauty. Here also I saw a bull baiting in the ancient Roman arena that the people still use. Avignon and its papal palace—a little fortified city within its own walls—held us for a day; and at the end we walked across the bridge leading over the Rhone and gazed back on the spires of the city, looking in the sunset glow like some fairy place within its quaint Roman walls.

Later I had a few days on the Riviera, making my headquarters at Nice. On one golden day, a big car holding ten of us Americans left Nice at eight in the morning and went south to Monaco and Monte Carlo, then on to Mentone and the Italian border. We came back in the late afternoon by the upper road, the grande Corniche, as it is called, that leads through the mountains. Every turn of the road gave a new picture of beauty to look at, that seemed too perfect to be real. Indeed one of our military police told me that he was glad when he was relieved from duty in Monte Carlo because "the scenery was too damned perfect—it got on his nerves."

Our canteen closed July 1 and I had a week in the devastated areas before I sailed. On July 2 I found myself bound for Chateau-Thierry and during the three-hour trip I decided to run away after I left there and go on to Verdun and the Argonne. So at 10:30 that same night I was speeding toward the east of France and wondering at just what point I would be held up and sent back, for I had no travel orders that permitted me to enter that district. However, I went through without being stopped and on the third and the fourth of July saw large sections of the country around Verdun and in the Argonne where so many of my dear boys still are. Indeed for me it seemed like a pilgrimage to holy ground.

Coming back I followed the devastated area west from Clermont-en-Argonne, Pershing's headquarters in that engagement. It was all a terribly scarred land: gassed trees, silent towns of heaped-up ruins, fields punctured with shell holes, junked machinery of every kind, auto, ambulances, tanks; piles of abandoned ammunition, barbed wire, mountains of it massed together that had been rolled up from the fields which the German prisoners had been putting in order; miles and miles of trenches and dugouts; tattered remnants of camouflaging for concealing roads; old cannon, gun emplacements, scattered clothing—everything you can picture in your imagination.

At Rheims I saw of course the cathedral: a shattered shell of walls only, with the interior wrecked and the outside carvings and pillars badly defaced. The city itself is simply beyond imagination. The wrecking was a completely finished job—horrible!

At Soissons I wandered over large areas of battlefield that have not yet been cleared up. The confusion of abandoned materials of every description is hard to imagine. I ran across an old corduroy road that must have been used for bringing up heavy artillery. Trenches wound across the land, miles of them, twisting in every direction and filled with the wreckage and clothing, helmets, guns, shovels, ammunition, and caving-in dug-outs. At one point I saw six field kitchens standing in a little group, just as they had been abandoned.

In your imagination cover all this raw earth of trench and shell hole with waving grass and red, red poppies. Standing a little way off, you get only the sense of stretches—miles and miles—of color. Everywhere you go, you see these poppies healing the torn land.

At Chateau Thierry and Belleau Wood the scene was somewhat different; yet the same too. I went through these places in a pouring rain, slipping and sliding in the mud and through the woods. The American Cemetery at Belleau Wood has hundreds of our boys; the white crosses marking each grave touch each other so closely that from a distance it looks like a white carpeting on the hillside. One marvels here as at Verdun that any living thing could come through to the end of that fight. To hear the stories of heroism displayed throughout all this American section makes one choke with emotion. And after I had really seen all this section, had seen the enemy entrenchments around Soissons, Chateau Thierry, and Belleau Wood, and really grasped the allied extremity and its depressed morale, I came away knowing that it is not national bravado and boastfulness but the solemn truth that America turned the tide that June and July of 1918.

A penny saved is a penny earned.—Franklin.

Conference Interpretations

From The Report and Findings of the National Student Conference, Y. W. C. A.

These two following articles have been written from entirely different angles—one comes from an undergraduate and one from a person outside the student movement.

“THERE’S a chiel amang ye takin’ notes, an’ faith, he’ll print ’em!” The pulse of a conference is often best felt in the free give-an-take of such groups as are apt to gather in any delegate’s room after an evening session. Here are typical reactions which were thus gathered toward the close of the Evanston Conference:

“They didn’t put any program over on us, and there doesn’t seem to be much that is definite to do. We’ve been awfully upset—but I like it!”

“When we go back to our colleges we don’t want to be reactionary, so we’ve decided we’re going to be revolutionary. You see, we have to be re-something!”

“I’ve thought more in the three days I’ve been here about what’s wrong on our campus than in all the three years I’ve been in college. Only before, I thought it was the college’s fault, and now I see it’s really the fault of people just like me.”

“The Pacific Coast folks were so absorbed in finding out, for the first time, how southern girls think, and vice versa, and we were all so busy having little private revolutions in our own minds about what our colleges and our Associations and ourselves are really going to amount to in the next terrific years, that we couldn’t produce a program, but programs are easy enough if some real thinking comes first.”

Finally, the comment of a secretary delegate who thinks from the viewpoint of a recent experience in France, points the whole matter as follows: “In the student movement, and in all our college life, for that matter, we have been choosing and developing leaders in activities, but not leaders in thought. The Evanston Conference was good in that it was a beginning of a new approach.”

The open forum method, an Association device of growing popularity, had never before been tried in a large conference. The Findings which grew out of the discussion hours when the undergraduates were turned loose to do their own thinking are perhaps not as finished as if any plan had been "put over" on them, but inasmuch as they represent what the delegates wanted to consider and will continue to talk and think about this spring, they are the stuff of democracy. May one respectfully suggest that if student discussion groups will also consider the Findings of the faculty group, point by point, there should be some lively hours on many a campus this spring.

The beginnings of two distant advances in student thinking were forged in those four days.

One of these is registered by a turn of vocabulary such as often takes place at a conference. The shift at Evanston from the over-worked word "leadership" to the fresher word "citizenship" would seem to indicate a new humility on the part of students and a new sense of their kinship with all kinds of people. Perhaps this brings us a long step nearer to Jesus' conception of "leadership," a word, incidentally, which He never used. "We wish people would stop talking to us about being 'great reservoirs of potential power,'" said one girl, "and count on us already as normal human beings who begin their citizenship and their responsibility as soon as they begin to think."

Another notable tendency in all organization conferences of today was demonstrated strongly at Evanston: the new awareness, on the part of each social group, of other kindred groups. One felt as if one were watching the Student Movement make a great bend as would the course of a river, until it put itself consciously in alignment with the constructive elements in the labor movement of today. This is, of course, not new; but tendencies to break academic bounds, which have been seething under the surface of student life for the last two college generations, have been sharply focused in the last few months, and the Evanston Conference simply gave them a channel for expression.

There is little superiority to be felt in student thinking today; there is practically none of the cock-sureness that for a time was thought to characterize this "privileged class." The cords of universal experience that bind the human family together have been drawn too close within the last year not to leave their marks on the present college generation, and out of their numbers there may conceivably come more servants of the people than from any previous group. They are bewildered with the greatness of their chance. But one genuinely felt at Evanston that with Peter of old they were turning instinctively to the one adequate interpreter of the new world, affirming even while they do not yet fully understand the meaning of his personality, "Lord, to whom shall we go? Thou hast the words of eternal life."

AN OBSERVER.

IF THE Evanston Conference were to be described in one word, the most fitting word would be "big"; it was the embodiment of "bigness"—in its representation, as may be seen from its statistics; in its subject matter, as may be seen from its speakers; and most of all in its thought, as may be seen in the reports of both the Faculty and Student Findings Committees.

It would seem from the reports of the discussion groups that all of the student representatives went to the conference with very hazy ideas, if indeed any, as to what was the purpose of so large a convention. In this lack of an evident purpose, to my mind lay the success of the whole thing. For the most part, college girls of today do not want a definite program worked out for them; they do not want to be instructed as to just what kind of work their Associations must take up, any more than they want to be instructed as to what kind of work they as individuals must enter upon in their own lives. Living, thinking girls want information—unbiased, accurate facts—and then opportunity to do their own thinking, their own solving of problems. And these two things sum up just what the Evanston Conference gave us. In spite of its being a distinctly Christian convention, the facts as such, almost without exception, were given in the most direct, unprejudiced way. Then the opportunity to think, the discussion groups, as organized here, were, to me at least, a new note in religious conferences, and one the importance of which cannot be overestimated. To be given this opportunity, not only to think, but to think with interested, wide-awake girls from all over the country, I consider one of the biggest things of my life. In just those few hours, the exchange of thoughts carried on with these girls, not on petty Association difficulties, but on the big problems of the day, such as international policies, the labor situation, education, immigration, and all the other enthralling problems which it is our privilege to face today—was, I think, of infinitely more value than the most interesting speech of the most famous and gifted speaker obtainable. A great many people will raise their eyebrows, no doubt, at that statement—but it is not exaggerated; the majority of people find it very difficult to formulate their thoughts in any clear, logical way unless they are trying to express themselves either verbally or in writing; and in those short discussions we not only thought out our own views but could learn the reactions of girls from all kinds of colleges in cities, towns and open country of the north, south, east, and west.

It may seem a bit amusing that students, young and inexperienced, should be so presumptuous as to try to solve problems which puzzle the wisest and most experienced of men. And yet, if there is any one group of people who should know how to think it is the students. The thing to do, then, is to lead them to use their minds on everything, to encourage them to be interested in world-wide affairs, and not merely in those few subjects which they study and those few words which they hear from their professors. From the colleges the world expects, and has a right to expect, clear, broad-minded thinkers and it is of the very material and methods of this conference that colleges need more.

Of course, our thought was guided along certain paths. In the discussion of any problem whatsoever, religion must play a part, religion of some kind. Here we discussed Christianity in the light of all problems and all problems in the light of Christianity; and we found that they would work together; that Christianity, meaning by that, the simple teachings and principles of Jesus Christ, will solve the problems of today if we as professing Christians will give them a chance. All the beautiful idealism of the present time—democracy, freedom, internationalism, the new chivalry, heroism, broadened pity and sympathy, selflessness, and many others—were all taught and lived by Jesus Christ. And if every Christian would take Christ as a living leader not only in a vague, abstract way for the world, but for his own individual life, problems would take care of themselves.

I have said that "bigness" was the one word which describes the Evanston Conference, and now I am going to say that the greatest thing which I gained from it was a new sense of individual responsibility. This may at first seem paradoxical—but it is not. I realized as never before that the need of today is an active religion—passive religion has no longer a place in the world. The mere refraining from wrong-doing will not suffice; we who profess to be Christians must be active followers of Jesus Christ, must definitely live his teachings, not merely read and talk them. Then, too, I learned to recognize my opportunities; I had always thought of college as a preparation for life; but I soon came to the realization that every minute of living counts and can be used to make up a life of service. So this note of individual responsibility was the message I brought back to my college; and we are aiming to make it the basis of our Association for the rest of this year.

The conference, then, to me, brought a new and broader knowledge of world facts, the necessity of an open mind on all things, the assurance that Christ through us must be the leader of today, and the sense of duty that I, as a representative of a Christian Association and of a Christian Church, must concentrate all my efforts on representing, through my living, Jesus Christ as He really is; in other words, on "exercising my Christianity more."

Chapter Letters

ALPHA—MIAMI UNIVERSITY

Dear Sisters in Delta Zeta:

There is so much to tell in this letter that it seems next to impossible to put it all in logical form, but here's trying.

This year Miami opened for registration on Tuesday, September 16, but on the Sunday and even the Saturday before, old students began to arrive in order to make preparations for the most strenuous rushing season. Please don't think us a sacrilegious group when I tell you that we spent nearly all day Sunday making Japanese kimonos out of pink and green crepe paper. But you know, it is said "The better the day, the better the deed," and in this case it was better because those kimonos brought the desired results.

On Monday morning with the coming of the nine-thirty train, rushing began in full force. From then on until Thursday evening our days were filled with a whirl of meeting freshmen, lugging baggage, feeding freshmen (not literally) and so on—you know how it goes.

Rushing rules at Miami permit two parties. So on Monday evening we gave a Japanese tea party. It was given at The Retreat, the cooks very kindly having put several suites of rooms and the ball room at our disposal.

Then on Tuesday we gave a dinner party. We had dinner at the Green Tree Inn, and then later we went to the home of one of the girls where we had just a jolly informal time.

Wednesday and Thursday were registration days and consequently days of more or less anxiety. But on Thursday evening when we "counted heads" we found that we had nine splendid pledges. It was really a larger number than we had expected to take as so many of our old members returned, but there was so much good material this year.

This list of our pledges is: Blanche Henderson, Cincinnati, Ohio; Margaret Hubbard, Piqua, Ohio; Martha Murphy, Greenville, Ohio; Betty Avery, Detroit, Michigan; Iris Miller, Bellefontaine, Ohio; Margaret McArthur, Dayton, Kentucky; Mildred Vandervort, Loveland, Ohio; Esther Vandervort, Loveland, Ohio. All of them are freshmen except Iris Miller who entered as a junior from Hood College, Maryland, and Esther Vandervort who is a sophomore.

Although college has only been going on for three weeks, our pledges have already shown themselves to be girls of ability. In the class election, Betty Avery got the vice-presidency. In Y. W. C. A. circles, our girls seem most promising as well as in the musical organizations. Seven of them made Arion Choir, and after a second try-out nearly all of them made Madrigal and one made the chapel choir. But we already knew that they could sing, this talent having been brought to light in "prep school."

We are looking forward to a most successful year and we sincerely wish the same to all of our Delta Zeta sisters.

Fraternally yours,

MIRIAM WEBER.

BETA—CORNELL UNIVERSITY

Dear Sisters in Delta Zeta:

Pledge Day this year was the occasion of the most happiness of which Beta Chapter has had the pleasure of writing you in its whole history. We pledged thirteen wonderful freshmen. We felt the greatest responsibility this year that we have ever known, as we had to furnish our chapter-house throughout. With the help of various alumnæ, parents, and several of the active and alumnæ chapters, as well as ideal spirit and the tireless efforts of most of our active members, however, we succeeded beautifully. Two Delta Zetas of 1919 came back to help us with the house and rushing, and we believe implicitly that without their invaluable help and encouragement we could not have come through the rushing season with nearly the success with which our efforts were crowned.

We are all settled now, pledging is over, and our freshmen are planning a big stunt for November 23. Two of them have moved into the house and are the most obedient pledges conceivable, just bubbling over with enthusiasm for Delta Zeta and the desire to help us in every way they can. Two more of our freshmen are younger sisters of Delta Zeta of 1915 and 1918, so of course they felt more or less like "members of the family" before ever arriving.

On Halloween we gave an informal dance with customary Delta Zeta "pep" and success. It was the first one given by the girls this year, which added a great deal to the enthusiasm and novelty of it. The decorations consisted of the usual witches, cats, skeleton heads, and jack o'lanterns. The color scheme of orange and black was observed throughout, and all of these, not to forget the delectable supper and the best music on the hill, combined to make it a wonderful evening.

At present we all feel a vacancy at meetings and at table, as a result of the temporary absence of one of our members who has been ill at home ever since the night of our pledge banquet. But we are hoping that Thanksgiving will see her back with us. We are also anxiously awaiting the new term when two Delta Zetas who have been West will be back at the university.

We have had some difficulty in getting a permanent chaperon but within the last few days we have been literally deluged with unexpected applications so it is now only a question of selecting the most congenial one.

We all hope that every chapter of Delta Zeta, and particularly our most recent affiliations, will have the same good fortune to report that Beta has, and also that we will have the pleasure of receiving delegates from each chapter next spring at the proposed convention. We are eager to have it here in the East as we have never had one here.

With all love, I am

Yours in Delta Zeta,

AGATHE MARCELLE PENDERY.

Dear Delta Zeta Sisters:

Here we are, seventeen of us, back at our dear old chapter-house in Greencastle, Indiana. Rushing is over and we surely have the finest bunch of pledges on the campus, each one showing such strong qualities for high scholarship and taking part already in many campus activities.

Delta chapter is starting out with bright prospects this year, with so many old girls back and each one having an active place in some of the many college activities.

We have found rushing this year very strenuous, as there are so many fine girls in college and each day some girl sees a new girl whom she wants us all to meet, until we have almost turned our house into a regular reception hall in receiving guests at all hours. We still have several girls whom we are rushing.

We have had some difficulty in securing a chaperon as the lady who had promised us to come, at the first of the college year sent us word she couldn't come on account of the illness of her father. But, after much effort, we have, at last, secured a most adorable woman, Mrs. Wray. She has a daughter who is a Delta Zeta in our Epsilon chapter.

I could just write you pages and pages of our good times together and about the joy of being a Delta Zeta at De Pauw. But it could never be written in one short letter. But it is enough just to tell you that each member of Delta is just full of "pep" for dear old Delta Zeta and sends the happiest of greetings to you all.

Love in Delta Zeta,

UNITY THOMAS.

Dear Delta Zeta Sisters:

My, how good it did feel to be together once more! We had almost a complete reunion this year, for so many of our "old" girls are back in college. Twenty-two of us, all told, in the fraternity.

We seemed to get some of the spirit of the university which certainly boomed this year. Our rush was unusually successful. On Sunday night the freshmen started coming in, and they continued to come all the next day. However, our formal rushing did not begin until Monday, the fifteenth. A "rainbow luncheon" started things off. It was really a "rainbow" affair with the tables decorated with asters and vari-colored candles.

Tea in the afternoon was just a quiet getting-together. In the evening we entertained our guests with our usual rose dinner dance. The dinner was so good—just perfect, and the dance came up to all expectations. It was declared that we had the best music in town.

But all good things must come to an end, and ours came only too soon at 11 o'clock. I think the majority of the girls were glad to go to bed, and contrary to the general run of slumber parties, to sleep.

On Tuesday we pledged thirteen splendid girls, and a week later, one more. We were proud to see each one of them wearing the rose and green.

Two of our freshmen, Wilma Waddell and Irene Willwerth, besides Bertha Phamus and Lucile Brownell, are members of the Glee Club. Eva Alsman is editor of the 1920 Arbutus, and three of the girls, Blanche Penrod, Charlotte Wheeler, and Luella Agger, are on the staff. Dorothy Simering is on the W. A. A. Board as athletic head of basketball.

We feel we have made a fine start, and hope this will prove to be a golden year for Epsilon. May I wish you all the same good fortune?

Sincerely,

LUELLA AGGER.

ZETA—UNIVERSITY OF NEBRASKA

PLEDGES

Ruby Loper	Lucille Ohlson
Ruth Fickes	Ione Benson
Ruth Siefken	Irene Leslie

Dear Delta Zeta Sisters:

At last from a year's leave of absence the old-time University of Nebraska's pep and life have returned. Our university is so crowded this year that those that are not up in their studies will be sent home Thanksgiving. The priceless oxygen is to be reserved for those that truly appreciate a college education and are willing to work for the same.

Our chapter this year consists of twenty-three of the liveliest, most congenial girls on the campus. All of them are active in some kind of an activity, including our adorable little freshmen. Ruby Loper is a dark-haired, witty little girl who specializes in architecture. Ruth Fickes, slender and graceful, has already been chosen for different aesthetic dances besides committees for all university parties, etc. Lucille Ohlsen has been chosen for Mystic Fish, a freshman honorary sorority. Ione Benson, whose uncle is a faculty member and aunt a former Delta Zeta, is a clever girl getting splendid results in all of her studies.

But not only our pledges are active in university activities; most of the old girls have received positions they desired. After a hard battle Dorothy Wolfe was elected sophomore president. Harriette Ford, an Alpha O, was running against her. Election day this year was very thrilling for Delta Zeta. Martha Krogmann and Ruth Fickes were both chosen on the W. A. A. director board. The last part of last spring we had a swimming tournament in which Martha Krogmann received the most and highest individual honors. Mable MacAdam, our beloved president, was made a Valkyrie, a senior honorary sorority. Mabel Hunter, one of our seniors, is assisting in chemistry, and so on, almost everybody is doing something special this year.

One Sunday last month we had open house for the fraternities. We had between two hundred and fifty and three hundred men callers that afternoon, representing almost all fraternities on the campus.

At present we are madly rushing for Thanksgiving pledging. We take in only a few girls at a time because we found that to be the best policy at our university.

Last Saturday we had a beautiful dance. The Halloween decorations were unique and artistic. It was just one grand success.

Tomorrow one of our girls, Mrs. Hamer, is giving us a party at her beautiful home in South Lincoln. It is to be a "spike" party. The reason? Saturday is pledge day. December 6 Mr. and Mrs. Shugart are giving us a dance. So you see we are being entertained or entertain all the while.

Oh, yes, I must not forget to tell you that darling little light-haired Dorothy Ann Gleason from Lambda chapter is with us this year. It's just fun to see her and dark-haired little Ruby foxtrot together. Besides Dorothy we have three wonderful girls from Eta chapter, Ruth Gibbon, Janet Gibbon, and Mildred Johnson.

Not very long ago we initiated Ruth Fickes and Celia Chandler.

Would you be interested to know what havoc Cupid has played in our Zeta chapter? No? Well, then, I won't tell you that: Ruth Burch married Dr. Frank Melan Barns; Grace White married Sinon O'Rourke;

Eleanor Wickett married John Mossman; Vinta Harrell married Clarence Penton; Hazel Stewart married Ralph Lotspeich.

Sincerely,
MARTHA LOUISE KROGMANN.

ETA—BAKER UNIVERSITY

Dear Delta Zetas:

I shall try to tell you how we began our university year. We returned to Baldwin a week before registration day. Of course, there was a great deal to do and although we worked like beavers, we had worlds of fun doing it. We feel that our rush week was really a success.

Rushing in Baker this year overshadowed that of any previous year. We wore our colors for the first time at the university reception and thus far we have been fortunate enough to pledge sixteen girls, each of whom we love dearly. They are as capable as they are sweet and are taking so much interest in Delta Zeta.

The first of the university year was full of social functions and added to our fraternity affairs have kept us busy. Our girls have been well represented in all the fall functions of the fraternities and they reported a wonderful time.

Words cannot express how much we think of our two new patronesses, Mrs. C. J. Fischer and Mrs. H. R. Harvey. Professor Harvey is our new violin teacher and a very fine one, indeed. He said jokingly that he would not object to her being our patroness if we would only allow him to be patron so we claim them both. Mrs. Fischer had been so good to us and had done so much for us even before she was our patroness that we cannot even begin to express our appreciation of her.

On October 13 we gave a reception for our patronesses and Mrs. Horrell, our housemother. We consider ourselves extremely fortunate to have Mrs. Horrell with us again. She is such a wonderful woman, motherly, kind, and wise.

The active girls gave a pledge party and invited pledges from the fraternities and as we kept all plans secret, the curiosity of the pledges was surely aroused.

We enjoyed a week-end visit with Minnie Wilson from Lambda chapter, who told us of the lovely new home into which the Lambda girls are to move.

I really believe I could ramble on all night but think it best to have some regard for your feelings so I will close now with love from the Eta chapter girls.

Fraternally,
IDA HUNT.

THETA—OHIO STATE UNIVERSITY

Dear Delta Zetas:

Greetings from Theta chapter! We are looking forward to such a lovely year under the capable leadership of our new president, Marie Smith.

We have sixteen pledges of whom we are very proud and who give every promise of carrying on the spirit and ideals of Delta Zeta.

Next to our pledges we are most interested in our new house. The return of former students to the university this year necessitated our leaving the fine fraternity house leased from the Newman club during the war for a smaller but more cozy house. We are furnishing it with the coöperation of the Columbus Alumnæ chapter, for whose assistance we are very grateful.

We are proud to have Ernestine Cookson, from Alpha chapter, at the head of the Y. W. C. A. on the campus. She has been here only a short time but the results of her supervision can already be seen, and Theta stands back of her in everything she may propose to do.

This year we have resumed our former custom of having teas every other Sunday afternoon. These little social affairs help our pledges to become better acquainted, and afford them an opportunity to meet our patronesses and alumnæ.

On Founders' Day the alumnæ arranged a banquet at the Chittenden hotel. There were about fifty in attendance and we enjoyed a splendid talk by Mary Collins Galbraith, one of the founders of Delta Zeta. She told us how the first chapter was organized and the trying things which happened to that plucky little group of girls. Arema O'Brien, who has been elected chairman of the Editors' Conference of Panhellenic, gave us an interesting account of the National Panhellenic Congress which met in Washington.

Sincerely yours,
EDNA G. VOLLRATH.

IOTA—UNIVERSITY OF IOTA

Dear Delta Zetas:

Here we are, writing to each other again after the busiest of busy summers I suppose. But in Iowa it feels far from summery this morning. It is easy enough to envy our sisters in the sunny south and those out west in the land of sunshine and roses while we discuss the relative merits of coals. But for picnics, wiener roasts, and campfire parties this Iowa weather can't be beaten. Tonight at the all-university mixer we will prove it. The committee in charge promises us 150 pounds of marshmallows, five barrels of apples, fifteen bonfires, pie-races, and hosts of other things. Doesn't it sound like a good time?

I maintain that the first letter is the hardest to write. There is so much to tell that the weeding-out process is difficult. Just being back in our house, eating together three times a day, sleeping sometimes several hours at night, and talking most of the time, was excitement enough for a while. Then we saw that the damage last year's commencement did to us would have to be repaired, and we set to work at once. Accordingly, we are having pledge service tonight for three mighty fine girls, Agnes Johnson, Rowena Bedell, and Helen McAlvin. We hope to report them full-fledged Delta Zetas soon.

All of us have been so busy helping with Y. W. C. A., literary society, and various other organization beginnings that the time has gone very fast indeed. However, last Saturday we entertained our patronesses, local alumnae, and some upperclass friends at a chrysanthemum breakfast, which we felt was quite a success. The early morning was rainy, but the sun came out in time to make the yellow decorations a real bit of sunshine. As head of the social committee, Dorothy Banks is proving to be a skilful general.

Do you find that many of your alumnae go into the same sort of work? This fall we are thinking very often of four of our Iota girls who are doing Y. W. C. A. work. One of last year's seniors, Edythe Saylor, is assistant Y. W. secretary at Minnesota University, and another, Lucile Matyk, studied in New York this summer for work abroad. Our two other seniors are teaching, Geneva Wiles in Iowa, and Lucille Goodykoontz in northern Minnesota. We miss them all, but are proud of the work they are doing.

As the year is just beginning, Iota sends best wishes to you all for the successes you most desire.

Sincerely,

BESS GOODYKOONTZ.

KAPPA—UNIVERSITY OF WASHINGTON

Dear Delta Zeta Sisters:

I may not be able to write coherently because I am still celebrating our victory over Pullman. Last Saturday our football team played Washington State College and we won. About 250 rooters went in the all-Washington flyer. Among them were three girls from Kappa chapter, Anne Lewis, Hazel Davison, and Irlene Pence, and they were royally entertained by the Delta Zeta girls at Pullman.

We have seventeen wonderful new girls. Four of them are sisters: Sarah Lewis, Blodwen Lewis, Sally Sissler, and Beatrice De Bard. The others are Leona Smith, Julia McMahon, Hazel Davison, Beulah Nelson, Marie Schafer, Dorothy Schafer, Grace Morrell, Margaret Rigg, Louise Guerney, Margaret De Lancy, Margaret Raine, Ruth Eules, and Katherine Murray. Six of these girls are house girls and things have been much livelier in the house since they arrived.

We have the same house that we have had for the last two years and we are very well satisfied with it. At present there are twenty girls living here, all of them full of pep. One of our charter members, Mareta Havens, lives with us and she keeps us out of mischief.

Our alumnae chapter has been lovely to us and last week presented us with a set of dishes. Hooray! no more handleless cups or cracked plates! The alumnae are also giving a tea for our mothers and for us this week-end.

Last Friday night we had our informal given at the Mt. Baker clubhouse. Thanks to our social committee it was the best dance we have ever had. The floor was slick, the music grand, and the eats couldn't have been better. It was a pleasant change to see pretty evening dresses after the usual rain-coats and rubbers.

So far this letter sounds like nothing but a good time but college life is not all that. Everyone is working hard and we are proud to say that none of us received any of the conditions, which were just sent out.

Kappa chapter wishes you all a happy Thanksgiving and a merry Christmas.

Yours in Delta Zeta,

DORIS SLIPPER.

LAMBDA—No letter.

MU—UNIVERSITY OF CALIFORNIA

Dear Delta Zeta Sisters:

College opened earlier than usual this year, and so it was on October 25 that we pledged seven lovely Delta Zetas. Several of these were sophomores and so could be initiated, but those who are still pledges are Grace Graves from El Cajon; Arline Rice from Modesto; Avis Caldwell, a sister of Augusta Caldwell who was graduated in 1916; and Dorothy Crane, a Berkeley girl. Since that time we have pledged Edna Wheeler, from Berkeley, and Fay Orndorff, of Chico.

During our rushing season we were delighted to be able to entertain at our chapter-house Mrs. McElfresh, of Beta, who is now on the faculty of Oregon Agricultural College. We enjoyed her visit very much and were sorry she could not have been with us longer.

As Mrs. McElfresh was in San Francisco early in September, we decided to have an early initiation, and so, on September 14 we initiated eleven girls. Seven of these girls were pledges of last spring—Sally Boyle, Doris Adams, Mabel Hamilton, Isabel Jennings, Ileen Taylor, Dorothy Dow, and Helen Kendall, and three were girls pledged this fall, Ruth Tyler, a sister of Freda Tyler, Muriel Klette of Fresno, and Elizabeth Marble of Santa Barbara. We also had the pleasure of initiating Gladys Powell, a North Dakota girl and a member of their petitioning group, by proxy, for Upsilon chapter.

At our initiation banquet there were six chapters of Delta Zeta represented: Mrs. McElfresh of Beta; Else Jaeggi, our transfer from Zeta who is now teaching in Oakland High School; Gertrude Dallock of Iota; Gladys Powell of Upsilon; Esther Campbell of Kappa, who is living with us and working for her master's degree, and our own Mu girls. Well, we made a happy group of sisters.

We lost one of our dearest sisters late last spring when Marie Bowes Hicks passed away in Baltimore, after a short attack of double pneumonia. Her husband, Lieutenant Hicks, was with her, having just returned from France. She left a three months' old daughter.

I must tell you a few of the honors won by our girls at the close of last semester and the beginning of this one. Helen Atkisson, one of our juniors, besides making Istyc, women's journalistic honor society, was elected treasurer of the Associated Women Students, and has now won a part in the junior farce. Edith Daseking, another junior, also made Istyc, and is a junior editor on the Daily Californian, besides being chairman of publicity for Partheneia, the woman's annual masque. Bea Whittlesey, who was manager of last year's Partheneia, has gone on to Columbia to take graduate work in education. Gladys Gerrish, who had the solo dance in last year's Partheneia, and who was appointed manager for this year, is seriously considering leaving college to study dancing in New York. Bernice Hutchison made Prytanean, upperclass women's honor society, and three sophomores, Arline Rice, Zelda Battilana, and Gladys Palmer, are in Ukulele club. Zelda is also a member of Treble Clef, Women's Glee Club.

All but three of our last year's senior class are back with us this year, and two of those girls are expecting to return after Christmas. Besides this, Edith Weland, of the class of '18, is back with us for a sixth year. She is working for her M.A. in psychology, while teaching gymnasium classes here at the university.

We are quite proud of our scholarship record thus far this semester. We have received only two "cinch notices" (deficiency notices) this semester, and we usually get fifteen or so. In a chapter of thirty-seven active members we think it quite remarkable. Speaking of having such a large chapter, we have almost decided to eliminate all rushing until next semester. Our custom is to have at least one rushing date a week all during the semester, but this seems impracticable now.

Mu chapter sends its best wishes to each and every one of you.

Sincerely,

BERNICE HUTCHISON.

Dear Delta Zeta Sisters:

Lombard College opened its doors September 9 and oh, how glad we were to be back at work once more. The hall from the very beginning was overflowing with wonderful new girls and it was a mad rush from the first for prospective girls. Although we had a hard time getting some of our pledges, it was well worth the effort. Through the six weeks of "rushing" season we were continually entertaining with dinner parties, spreads, theater parties, and dances. As a climax to rushing, we had pledge day, October 16, when we brought ten lovely and adorable girls into our chapter. On October 22 our new pledges entertained us at the Elks' club. The dining-room and table beautifully decorated in Halloween fashion presented a very striking appearance. After the delicious five-course chicken dinner, ribbons leading from the centerpiece, which was a large pumpkin basket, were drawn and each girl received a tiny orange and black package. Upon opening these they found fancy paper hats, fortunes, and some even discovered pictures of future life partners. On October 31 our chapter gave a Halloween masquerade dance at Knoxville. The hall was artistically decorated in yellow and black streamers, pumpkins, and leaves. An orchestra of four pieces furnished the music. The programs of yellow pumpkins contained suitable fortunes for each guest. Favors of every form and variety furnished entertainment for those present. The costumes, though decidedly original in their make-up, were yet artistic. Unmasking was done after the third dance. Cider and popcorn balls served as refreshments.

We have been kept busy lately with showers and such things since, so many of our alumnae are getting married. Marian Mowery was married May 11 of last year to Ward Husted of St. Joseph, Missouri; Norma Robbins was married early this fall to Leonard Moburg, Galesburg, Ill. Lucille Gray was married September 24 to Ray E. Denny, of Quincy, Ill., and Edith Taylor was married November 13 to Harold Smith of Chadwick, Ill. So you see we are in a way losing a number of our alumnae girls although they have promised to come to see us quite often.

But I must tell you about our plans for this spring. You know, we have no chapter house and so we are thinking of building. We have been promised a splendid lot by the college directly across from Old Main and between Professor Davis' residence and the Vocal Art studio. We expect to have the structure well under way by spring and ready to live in next year. I know that all the other chapters are sending us their best wishes for this prospective year just as we are sending each and every one of them ours. Each girl of Nu chapter sends her love and best wishes to all the chapters for the coming year.

Faternally yours,

JANET E. MYERS.

XI—UNIVERSITY OF CINCINNATI

Dear Delta Zetas:

If I might wait just a little longer to write, I could tell you all about our new pledges. But our rushing season here lasts until Thanksgiving, so we have only prospects now. They are, however, most promising ones, I assure you. We have closed rushing for ten weeks and during this time each fraternity gives two parties. Our first one was a charity bazaar and our second a more formal dinner party. I wish I might tell you all about them but that would take too much space.

Xi started the year with eighteen active members in the chapter—a good beginning, for many of the older girls hold important offices and the younger ones are interested in many student affairs. Mary Kramer is president of the Girls' Panhellenic Association and is also manager of the girls' basketball team. Elaine De Beck is president of the Literary Society and an assistant editor of the university paper. Arlie Daniels is secretary of Student Council, which is the governing body of student life at the university. Louise Lilly is secretary of the Chemists' club and Catharine Swing is vice-president of Y. W. C. A. and treasurer of the French club. Both Elaine De Beck and Mary Kramer were elected last spring to Mystic Thirteen, an honorary sorority. It is composed of twelve of the best sorority girls and the best nonsorority girl in the university, so it is indeed an honor. It seems boastful to go on enumerating what our juniors and sophomores are doing, so I will just tell you that they are all active in the university.

Last month we had the pleasure of affiliating Dorothy Work with Xi chapter. Dorothy was initiated at Miami but is studying kindergarten here this year. The old saying, "It's an ill wind that blows nobody good," holds true, for we are profiting by Alpha's loss.

On December 13 there will appear in Cincinnati The Varsity Vanities. That sounds good, doesn't it? It is a big musical revue given by university students—the largest thing of its kind that we have ever undertaken here. A big theater in the city has been procured and we are hoping for a great success because the money is to be used for the Memorial Fund. Delta Zeta is well represented in the cast so many of us are busy with rehearsals night and day.

In my next letter I will be able to tell you all about our pledges, our Christmas dance, and the outcome of the Varsity Vanities.

The Xi girls send best wishes to Delta Zetas everywhere.

Sincerely,

CATHARINE SWING.

OMICRON—No letter.

PI—EUREKA COLLEGE

Dear Delta Zetas:

September has pronounced our vacation ended and we are all glad to be back in Eureka, although there is a sense of loss, for six of our old girls, Hazel Bacon, Juanita Stinyard, Lila Russell, Georgia Smith, Neva Ford, and Alma Tool, besides our six who graduated last spring will not join us this year. This leaves us with the small number of eleven. What we lack in numbers, however, we hope to make up in energy, for everyone has come back full of vim and the prospects are good for a most successful year.

We are happy to have pledged three charming girls, Mildred Cameron, Lucy Wetzel, and Velma Loveless, who will become our sisters in a very short time. The nineteenth of September the Delta Delta Pi Sorority delightfully entertained the fraternities at an interfraternity stunt show, giving everyone an opportunity for an old-time visit, aside from the enjoyment afforded by the clever stunts which were presented by each fraternity.

Another cozy evening was spent at the home of our big sister, Mrs. Jones, where we never fail to have the jolliest time, although Mrs. Jones is so good at telling creepy ghost stories that we are usually afraid to go home.

October 4 we took dinner with our sister, Neva Ford, at her home in Peoria. She is to be married this month and we became so interested in her plans that the evening passed all too quickly. If best wishes come true, Neva will be a happy bride, for Delta Zeta wishes her joy.

Our rushing season does not open until the fourth of November, so we have pledged no new girls as yet. There is a number of lovely new girls, however, and we hope to tell you of several new pledges in our next letter.

We hope this year will be a happy and prosperous one for every chapter of Delta Zeta.

Fraternally yours,

Dear Sisters in Delta Zeta:

Surely it is a great privilege for a group of college girls to correspond with so many other groups and to learn of their activities and to become acquainted with the traditions and life of other colleges.

On the beginning of this greatest year for Delta Zeta the girls of Rho welcome the pledges of all the chapters and wish for all a most happy and fruitful year.

Among those delightful experiences which Rho has had this year was a visit from Mrs. Shugart and her cousin, Josephine Graves. We are always happy to see our National Big Sister and look upon her as a real inspiration.

As we have no house we appreciate social evenings by ourselves now and again, for it is our only opportunity to really know each other. Our patroness, Mrs. Georgia Warren Moler, entertained our chapter at a football dinner given in her beautiful country home—and what a lovely time!

It has been the custom in the University of Denver for the men to give an annual interfraternity dance. So we thought it a splendid idea for the girls, too—we tried it out last year and this and found that we could carry out our plans quite as successfully as the men.

A new organization has been started here, called the "Forty Immortals." A representative from each organization in the university makes up its membership and the purpose is to do away with politics by having all measures passed by this body before being submitted to the Student Commission. We are awaiting results.

Rho, though a young chapter, has enough alumnæ to form an alumnæ chapter. Our petition is in the slow process of evolution but nevertheless we hope to have it completed in time so that when convention comes we will be "old enough to vote."

With love and best wishes,

OLIVE H. JOHN.

SIGMA—LOUISIANA STATE UNIVERSITY

Dear Delta Zetas:

Here we are again after a most delightful vacation, happy to be together once more and looking forward eagerly into the year.

We were fortunate in getting our same home this year, and there are twelve girls 'neath its roof. Our "freshies," Eleanor Ott, Camille Currie, and Claudia McConathy, have completely won our hearts. But we feel lost without our big sister, Ella May Atkins, who surprised us all this summer when she permitted Cupid to persuade her to become Mrs. Moore. At our reunion we gave her a lovely little shower.

Prospects at the "Ole War Shule" surely look fine this year. A better looking bunch of freshman girls could not be found anywhere, and we are trying every day to become better acquainted with them.

At a rushing party several nights ago we had a lovely time making the new girls give some unique stunt. Saturday night we took a bunch to that delightful little play, The Trail of the Lonesome Pine, and afterward we had one of those famous "slumber" parties, wherein no one sleeps but all listen breathlessly to a mysterious goblin story or the like. Miss Jenny Richley, our chaperon, whom we all love so well, had a delightful breakfast for us Sunday morning.

Yes, we are here—expectant and ready to work for Delta Zeta.

With best wishes,

PERSIS MEANS.

TAU—UNIVERSITY OF WISCONSIN

Dear Delta Zetas:

The big rush is over at last and things are gradually calming down to the old routine. Although it meant a lot of work at the time we were able to hold our own and succeeded in pledging the girls we wanted.

Our first function was a formal tea on Monday, which was all the rushing we could do on that day. On Tuesday we gave a cabaret luncheon and on Wednesday was our Dutch chocolate, the plans for which were very kindly given to us by another Delta Zeta chapter. Our last and big function was a rose dinner-dance on Thursday evening in which we carried out the decoration with roses as far as possible, our place-cards being tied with green maline holding tiny pink roses, and our ice cream being served in rose molds. We probably shouldn't have gotten along half as well if it had not been for Miss Putcamp and Mrs. Merle Hedden, who gave us more than their share of help and advice.

On Monday night we formally pledged Nell Laird from Watseka, Ill.; Helen Ponder from Indianapolis; Carrie Oestreich from New London, Wis.; Irma Hatch from Eau Claire, Wis., and Bernice Lainson from Council Bluffs, Iowa.

We feel that these girls will make strong Delta Zetas and consider ourselves fortunate in having them.

Due to the large enrollment at Madison we know we shall have a wonderful year, and only hope that all the other chapters have had as good a beginning.

Fraternally yours,

ESTHER COHEN.

Dear Delta Zeta Girls:

We arrived on the campus and were delighted to have our cozy and freshly painted home to come to. There are nine of us and we are being chaperoned by Luella Hall, our alumna member, who is instructor in sociology. We have two of last year's graduates with us, Constance Stegenga and Julia Rue, who are here on fellowships and who also were elected to Phi Beta Kappa last June. Of course we are studying, as we were second in scholarship the second semester of last year and want to improve our record, but we are not neglecting to have our good times too.

Rush week was remarkably successful and besides enjoying the social events we were well pleased with the outcome. We had a full program including an informal party, a formal tea, an automobile party, a theater party, a taffy pull, and a formal dance. Our patronesses opened their homes to us that week so with our own house we had good opportunity for changes of scene.

On Saturday afternoon, October 18, we held initiation services at our house for Agnes Berget, Florence Busdicker, Elsie Freeman, Olga Jacobson, Rea Lillicrap, Ella Moen, Luella Marcotte, Ruth Stearns, Ruth Trangsrud, and Florence Wilcox. After the services a banquet was held at the Frederick Hotel. Some clever toasts were given and a number of our songs closed the occasion. Gladys Powell, one of our Alpha Sigma Epsilon alumnae, was initiated at Mu chapter for us and from her we have heard glowing accounts of our California sisters.

This year a new plan is being tried at the university in forming an organization of the girls according to classes. Helen Lehman was elected president of the freshman girls and Luella Marcotte of the senior girls. These two girls with Laura Black, who is president of a residence hall, are members of the Dean's Assistant Council, which is reorganizing the Student Self-government Association.

Many of our student activities have not been started this early in the year, but Delta Zeta is represented on each of those organized. Florence Wilcox was elected vice-president of the sophomore class. Agnes Berget is the literary editor for the Student, Laura Black is vice-president of the Y. W. C. A., and Ella Moen is on the cabinet. Our representatives in Panhellenic for the year are Gudrun Hulteng, Laura Black, and Florence Busdicker.

There are also some musically talented girls among us. Helen Lehman is a member of the Philharmonic Orchestra and Laura Black of the Junior Philharmonic Orchestra. Agnes Berget, Elfie Freeman, Olga Jacobson, Eveline Kloster, Clara Nygaard, Ruth Stearns, and Florence Wilcox are our members of the Women's Glee Club.

We have passed the one thousand mark in enrollment and everything promises to make this year the most successful in the history of the university. We are anticipating many interesting events. This week we have the memorial service for the U. N. D. students who served in the war and the reconstruction program which lasts three days. Among the eminent speakers are "Ralph Connor" and Glenn Plumb.

Upsilon sends her greetings to each chapter of Delta Zeta.

LUELLA E. MARCOTTE.

CHI—OREGON AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE

PLEDGES

Myrtle Burnap (alumna)	Evelyn Fulkerson
Lois Hathaway	Anna Hobart
Lois Davis	Florence Laird
Ruth Rosebraugh	Alice Komm

Dear Delta Zetas:

Rushing season is finally over and I can head this letter with the names of our eight new pledges. They are all charming and worthwhile girls and it is needless to say how happy we are to have them. Myrtle Burnap is an alumna and a sister of one of our active members. Lois Hathaway is one of our old girls, who was a Zeta Chi and is back with us again to finish up her senior year. Lois Davis is another worthy senior. Evelyn Fulkerson is a pledge from California where the Mu girls found her and pledged her and then sent her up to us. Ruth Rosebraugh, Anna Hobart, Alice Komm, and Florence Laird are our four new freshmen who seem to have caught the O. A. C. and Delta Zeta spirit in these first four short weeks.

All but three of our girls returned, so we had a large crowd of actives to start in our season's work. Arline Barnum is now Mrs. Eslinger and is living in Forest Grove. Frances Parker has a position in Salem, Oregon, and Elithe Loughary, one of last year's graduates, is at her home at Monmouth, Oregon.

We have gotten nicely settled in our new home, which is but two short blocks off the campus. Such busy times as we have had, buying furniture, waxing floors, making and hanging curtains, hiring a cook, and all the details which come when you start housekeeping for the first time. Our home is not very large but very attractive and homelike. There are fifteen of us living here and we fill up every nook and corner.

College opened September 22. Registration was completed in two days and rushing season began. The season lasted three weeks, during which each fraternity on the campus had three closed dates. We had two Sunday dates, one in the afternoon, another a dinner date, and the third an evening affair. As a culmination of our three weeks' rushing we pledged last Thursday morning at six o'clock. I know that that sounds fearfully early, but we wanted the girls to have their ribbons and pins in time for their "8 o'clocks" Thursday morning.

This week holds lots of good times. Tomorrow night we entertain our patronesses in order that they may see us all together in our new home and that they may know our new girls. Founders' Day we shall have a dinner here at the house for the whole chapter and go as a group to the rally in the evening. This week-end is "home-coming week" and one of the season's big games will be played. Sunday is open house for all the campus and its visitors.

Mrs. McElfresh has been with us these first four weeks. We are going to miss her so much this year as she has a leave of absence from the college. We have been so glad for these four weeks and she will not be so far away that she cannot come down for any of our initiation ceremonies or any other celebration.

Wishing all of you the most successful year, I am,

Yours fraternally,

WINIFRED HAZEN.

KAPPA ALUMNÆ—SAN FRANCISCO

Dear Sisters:

Now that the war is over and college activities have begun again in real earnest, we of Kappa Alumnae Chapter are just bristling with schemes and plans and wish we might see you all to talk them over with you.

Our first meeting this year was held at the home of Marguerite Henrich in Berkeley and we were so fortunate as to have as our guest, Mrs.

Gertrude McElfresh, former Grand Treasurer. The election of officers was held first and resulted as follows: President, Helen Myer; vice-president, Nelda Archer; secretary-treasurer, Marguerite Henrich; LAMP correspondent, Frances Mills.

Then the real business of the day began when we laid our plans for a house building fund. The campaign is now under way and we hope to have a goodly number of pledges made by November 1 when the first instalments are due. We will surely welcome all advice from chapters that have been working on like projects.

Our second meeting, held at the Delta Zeta house in Berkeley, when Edith Leland acted as hostess, was spent largely in a continuation of the house building discussion. We also had a number of social events to talk over.

We hope to have many other things to tell you in the next issue and wish for you all a most busy and successful year.

FRANCES BROWN MILLS.

Be not simply good; be good for something.—Thoreau.

Those Registrar Reports

DEAR Secretaries, if you could spend a day with me in the Registrar's office you would see the great importance of those monthly reports. You would experience with me the trouble, worry, and extra labor, besides the inaccuracy, when I encounter a poor and carelessly compiled sheet. On the other hand there would be the joy of recording the neat, careful, and complete sheets. Some chapters are going to have better and more perfect records of their membership in Delta Zeta than others, and the difference all lies in the monthly sheets. In years to come it will be increasingly difficult to secure this data. We must have a full and complete record of every Delta Zeta from the time of her pledging. At convention next summer, I hope that I can show you the two ponderous volumes in which all these facts are kept. You want your record to be there, don't you? And so does every other sister. Girls, see that your chapter secretaries are furnished with all the data they need for these reports and help them in every way you can, and I'll meet you at convention next summer and show you the results.

Below is a brief statement of the standing of each chapter in regard to these monthly reports for the two months of this year, September and October.

ALPHA—September 3 days late. October on time. Some mistakes, which have been corrected.

BETA—Both on time. Some mistakes, which have been corrected.

DELTA—Both on time. Some mistakes, which have been corrected.

EPSILON—September 14 days late. October 14 days late. Many mistakes.

ZETA—September 8 days late. October 1 day late. Many mistakes.

ETA—Both on time. Very good, only one omission.

THETA—September 13 days late. Very poor. No October report.

IOTA—Both on time. Good, few points lacking.

KAPPA—No reports received. Have written twice. List of names and addresses not on form sheet, received November 4.

LAMBDA—Both on time. Good.

MU—Both on time. Very good. Complete and neat.

NU—Both on time. Very good.

XI—Both on time. Good.

OMICRON—September 40 days late. Included back reports from last year. October 10 days late. Now that you are caught up, let's keep up.

PI—Both on time. Good.

RHO—Both on time. Very good.

SIGMA—No reports received. Have written twice. No response.

TAU—September 1 day late. October 7 days late. Fair report.

UPSILON—Both on time. Good.

PHI—Both on time. Good. A few mistakes.

CHI—September 3 days late. October 4 days late. Back reports included.

These reports are due between the first and tenth of the month following, and are counted as late after the tenth.

Every time they are late or are incorrect in particulars which I can discover, it means a letter must go to the chapter seeking the correction, or else an inaccurate record for you.

HERE ARE THE BANNER CHAPTERS

Their accounts with the LAMP and Registrar are all paid for last year: DELTA, KAPPA, MU, PI, RHO, SIGMA, UPSILON, PHI, CHI.

Some of them have paid for this year, too. Come on, the rest of you. Volume 10 becomes due now. Keep this record clean.

AND HERE IS THE BLACK LIST

These chapters have not yet paid their old accounts and new ones are becoming due now, besides. You can't vote at convention if you are not in good standing. And you know what a wonderful lot of things are to be decided this summer. Get out your check books at once.

Old accounts due as follows:

	Due the LAMP	Due the Registrar
Alpha		$ 6.75
Beta	$ 15.00	5.00

Second Supplement to the Directory

BELOW is a list of all new chapters, members, and all changes and corrections reported to the Registrar between July 23, 1919, and December 6, 1919. A few more of the "lost" have been found, thanks to their friends. Can't we find the rest? Surely some Delta Zeta some place is in touch with them. The Registrar will be grateful for corrections and suggestions at any time. And above all, please notify the Registrar promptly of any change in your address or occupation.

These pages taken from THE LAMP and added to your copy of the Directory will make your record as complete as is the one in my office at this time.

MADELINE BAIRD, Registrar.
