Old Miami New Miami

*Old Miami! New Miami!
Days of old and days to be;
Weave the story of thy glory,
Our Miami, here's to thee.*

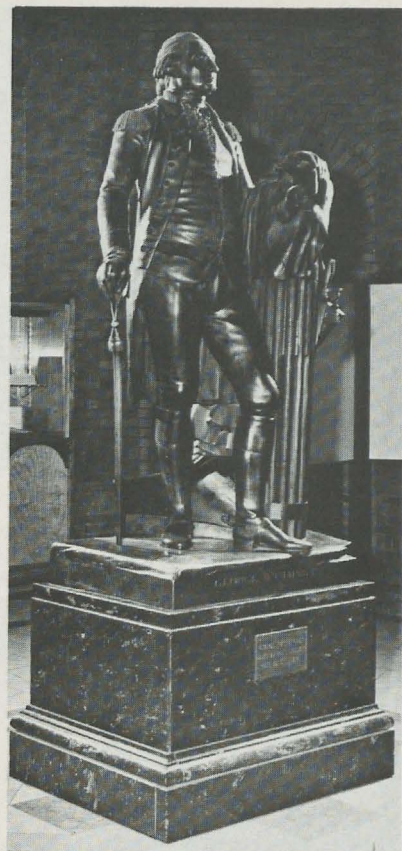

*by Lucile Crowell Cooks, A-Miami
Former Chairman of Miami University Board of Trustees*

This bicentennial year has renewed interest for many of us in historic buildings and events. Oxford, Ohio, has an unusual number of such buildings for a small community. It has been written that there were nine colleges for men founded before the Revolution in America and by 1800 there were twenty-one with Miami University considered one of the oldest with the founding date of 1809. However, for many years women had little opportunity for a higher education and so it is surprising to note that in the middle 1850s three female institutions were founded in Oxford.

Oxford College, founded as Oxford Female Institute in 1849 by John Scott, was the oldest Protestant school for women in the United States to confer the B.A. degree. Caroline Scott Harrison, wife of Benjamin Harrison, 23rd President of the United States, graduated from Oxford College in 1852 and became the first President General of the D.A.R. Oxford College merged into Miami in 1928.

Oxford Female College, chartered by the State Legislature in 1854, was also established by John Scott after breaking away from Oxford Female Institute. However, by 1867 because of financial difficulties, these two colleges merged, first residing in the Female Oxford College building (Fisher Hall) until it was sold to the Oxford Retreat Company in 1882, and then returning to the first or original building which had become an hotel in the interim. Miami University entered into a contract with the Oxford Retreat Company in 1923 and Fisher Hall became a part of the campus in 1926. This building is one of the most elaborate college buildings constructed during the Civil War antebellum period in Ohio. It is named in honor of Judge Elam Fisher, honor graduate of Miami, a member of the Board of Trustees for 36 years, and a member of the Ohio House of Representatives.

The Western Female Seminary, although organized in 1853, began offering the A.B. degree in 1903 when it changed its name to Western College for Women and then finally to Western College. The first president was Helen Peabody who was an 1848 graduate of Mt. Holyoke. Before coming to Western for 33 years, she taught at Mt. Holyoke for five years. Western has often been called the Mt. Holyoke of the West. Western became a part of Miami in 1974.

done by Jean Antoine Houdon which stands in Hall Auditorium.*

All three of the original female college buildings are now on the Miami campus and all are listed in the National Register of Historic Places.

Miami University opened its doors to women in 1902, primarily for education in teaching, shortly after Dr. Guy Potter Benton became President. Since Beta Theta Pi (1839), Phi Delta Theta (1848), and Sigma Chi (1855) had already been founded at Miami, Dr. Benton was most sympathetic and helpful to our six courageous founders of Delta Zeta when they sought his guidance in establishing a national sorority. The current Hall Auditorium was the original administration building, built in 1908 and eventually named for Dr. Benton. However, with the completion of the new Behavioral Science Building, it was dedicated in 1968 to the 12th President of Miami University 1902-1911, Dr. Guy Potter Benton.

"Old Main" was first occupied as a classroom building in 1824. In 1931 the Board of Trustees renamed the building Harrison Hall in honor of Benjamin Harrison, the 23rd President of the United States 1889-1893, and a graduate in the class of 1852. He was also a United States Senator and a Civil War Commander. Delta Zeta was officially founded in "Old Main" and a bronze plaque was placed in the hall in recognition of the event. It was later placed in the main hall of the "new" Harrison Hall which was dedicated in 1960.

*Thou shalt stand a constant beam
Crimson tow'rs against the sky;
Men shall ever seek thy guiding,
Pow'r like thine shall never die.*

Elliott Hall(1828) and Stoddard Hall(1835) were the first residence halls for men. The first residence hall for women was built in 1905 and named for a President of Miami(1871-73) who ironically was opposed to women at the University. At the time Hepburn Hall was torn down in 1972 to provide land for the new library, the corner stone was opened. Among the articles was a scroll tied with faded rose and green ribbons, noting that Delta Zeta was founded in 1902 and the initiates for the year 1902-3-4 were: Julia Bishop, Mary Collins, Anna Keen, Alfa Lloyd, Mabelle Minton, Anne Simmons, Elizabeth Coulter, Lillian Minton, Luella Crugar, Noble Miller, Edith Dininger, Mary Belle Martin, Mary Estelle Coulter, Jessie C. Denman, Marie Helen Hirst, Silla T. Stanton, Elizabeth Aleen Barnett, Maude Fitzgerald, Mary Fitzgerald and Helen Gaskill. This scroll is now in the archives of the University, but a replica hangs on the wall in National Headquarters.

McGuffey is a name not easily ignored at Miami. With three buildings—McGuffey Hall which houses the School of Education, McGuffey Laboratory School and McGuffey Museum bearing his name, he continues to retain some measure of the national fame he acquired in the last half of the nineteenth century. While he was a renowned preacher and lecturer, the 122 million copies of the McGuffey Eclectic Readers had the most influence nationwide.

William Holmes McGuffey was a professor of Philosophy at Miami from 1823-36. The McGuffey Museum is the original house in which he lived in 1833 and where he wrote four of his Readers as well as conducting an experimental school for children. Here can be located the most complete collection of McGuffey Readers in existence. The bronze statue of William Holmes McGuffey is in the courtyard of the School of Education and is largely the result of Dean Minnich's endeavors who was one of the founders of the Federated McGuffey Societies of America and a former Dean of the School of Education.

As new residence halls for women were built, beginning with Hamilton Hall in 1940, named for the first Dean of Women, sorority suites were included in the plans. Shortly after the completion of Hamilton Hall, Delta Zeta presented a portrait of Dean Elizabeth Hamilton to the University where it now hangs in the foyer of the residence hall. Alpha chapter resided in Hamilton Hall until the dining rooms at adjacent Richard Hall were remodeled in 1974 to provide larger accommodations. Since Delta Zeta was the first national sorority on the campus, Alpha chapter was given the first choice of the new suites.

Two more buildings should be mentioned, namely the University Center, built in 1957 and financed by student fees, and the Murstein Alumni Center(1968) bearing the name of a Hamilton and Cincinnati benefactor. The Climbers, class of 1917, gave the guest wing. Many of the furnishings in the Alumni Center have been contributed by alumni.

In the Hall Auditorium stands a statue of George Washington which is the sixth of 22 bronze copies cast from the marble original by the French sculptor Jean Antoine Houdon. Thomas Jefferson and Benjamin Franklin made the arrangements in France and eventually Houdon came to America in 1785. He went to Mt. Vernon and took measurements and a face mask of Washington and, because of these factors, this is generally considered to be the most accurate sculptural representation of George Washington. Lafayette said, "That is the man himself. I can almost realize he is going to move." The statue was given to Miami in 1920 by Samuel Spahr Laws, 1848 Miami graduate, who at the time was the oldest living alumnus at the age of 96.

From 1776 to the 1809 founding date of Miami University is a very short span of thirty-three years. Indeed Miami can be proud of its heritage and tradition, and Delta Zeta can be assured that it has a firm foundation upon which to continue building.

DELTA ZETA DIAMOND JUBILEE CONVENTION
 Sheraton-Columbus Motor Hotel
 Columbus, Ohio
 June 16-20, 1977

The 1977 Delta Zeta National Convention committee chaired by Past National President, Betty Heusch Agler, has been steadily at work planning for the Diamond Jubilee Convention June 16 to 21.

The theme of this our 75th Anniversary Convention is "Acres of Delta Zeta Diamonds," and our celebration together in convention holds the promise of being an exciting and inspirational as well as a rewarding and memorable Delta Zeta experience for all collegiate and alumnae sisters attending it.

The opportunity to meet sisters from all of our Delta Zeta chapters will draw each of us closer together as we realize the true meaning of our national sorority.

An invitation to attend is hereby extended to all Delta Zeta sisters. Come to Convention and enrich your life, renew your Delta Zeta energies as you walk softly on the Miami University campus and participate in Delta Zeta's Diamond Jubilee.

Florence Elizabeth Harvey
 National President

Carolyn Lee Wills on the job at Eastern Airlines

Whether on the job in her capacity as Regional Manager of Public Relations for Eastern Airlines or announcing an anonymous donation of $25,000 helping make the Atlanta Alumnae Chapter's "Evening at the Fox" a stunning success, Delta Zeta's 1976 Woman of the Year, Carolyn Lee Wills, Delta Delta chapter at Georgia State University, typifies many women today holding executive management positions in industry. Carolyn's present position as Regional Manager of Public Relations in the Southern Division covers the area from Atlanta west to Los Angeles as far south as Pensacola and north to Memphis and San Francisco.

Carolyn's responsibilities include the areas of radio, television and print media in community and public relations, special promotion and editing of an Eastern paper "Peachline." She joined Eastern Airlines in 1965 as the first representative of women's activities and then held positions as senior sales representative and public relations representative before assuming her present position. In addition, during a four month leave from the airline, Carolyn was hostess of the "Today in Georgia" television program aired on WSB-TV Atlanta.

Prior to joining Eastern, Carolyn spent a year traveling around the world and has since visited over 40 countries from the Far East to the Middle East across eastern and western Europe through South America and home! The purpose of the trip was to broaden her education by seeing, learning and doing as much as possible. The knowledge of people and their customs gained from her experiences has been a decided asset in her chosen field of public relations.

Carolyn Lee Wills

1976

Woman of the Year

by Dianne Fellows Guild, Δ-DePauw

At Georgia State University, Carolyn studied journalism but she says she majored in "activities" serving as President of the Panhellenic Council, President of Delta Delta chapter, editor of the yearbook, listed for two years in Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges, Dean's List, Mortar Board and sweetheart of Pi Kappa Phi Fraternity. During this time, she also did fashion shows for Atlanta department stores and daily television shows on two Atlanta stations as well as teaching visual poise and fencing at a charm school. She was the valedictorian graduate of Fulton High School in Atlanta.

But Delta Zeta's Woman of the Year for 1976 has never stopped working for or promoting Delta Zeta wherever and whenever she travels since her graduation from Georgia State University. For more than four years Carolyn was a Delta Zeta field representative traveling to colleges and universities throughout the United States as a "good will ambassador," training officers, supervising rush programs and calling on Deans of Women and other college officials. She is presently secretary of the Delta Delta House Corporation, chairman of the evening group of the Atlanta Alumnae Chapter and recently been elected as president of that alumnae chapter. She has served as Vice-President and President of the Atlanta Panhellenic.

Serving as the Publicity Chairman of the Atlanta Alumnae Chapter's recent "Evening at the Fox," Carolyn's many contacts and knowledge of public relations were instrumental in assuring the successful event of a lifetime for the Atlanta Alumnae Chapter. What began as a simple men's fashion show with expected attendance of 600, developed into a glittering social event filled with celebrities from the sports and entertainment fields with an attendance of over 2000 Georgians. Carolyn's article in the September issue of The Lamp featured the alumnae and highlights of the evening. Proceeds were donated to a special fund to save and preserve Atlanta's famous Fox Theater. Over $70,000 was raised and Delta Zeta can be proud of the efforts made to help preserve the famous landmark. All this could not have been possible without the public relations talents and know-how of our Woman of the Year.

Carolyn served on the Board of Directors of the Imperial Life Insurance Company for nine years. She served nine years on the Board of Directors of the Georgia State University Alumnae Association and the Board of Trustees of the Georgia State University Foundation. She created the Speakers Bureau for the Atlanta Dogwood Festival. She has served as Vice-President and Recording Secretary of the Young Matrons Circle for the Tallulah Falls School, an organization of young women supporting a school in North Georgia's mountains. In 1974-75 Carolyn served as the Second Vice-President for Membership.

She is presently on the Executive Board of The Fashion Group and its treasurer for 1976-78. She is a member of American Women in Radio and Television and a member of Eastern Airline's Management Council. She was Vice-President of the National Association of Media Women and was appointed by the Atlanta mayor to serve on the Atlanta Region Commission's Emergency Medical Service sub-committee. She also serves on the Air Transport Association Public Relations Committee and served on the ATA Airline Editors Association. In addition, Carolyn was a member of the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce International Council in 1972-74. She is a member of the Mortar Board Alumnae Association.

Carolyn was nominated for Atlanta Woman of the Year in business in 1965, the youngest person ever nominated. She is listed in "Outstanding Young Women in America" 1972-73, "Foremost Women in Communications" 1972, "25 Best Dressed Women in Atlanta" 1972, "Personalities in the South" 1973-74, "World Who's Who of Women" 1973-74, "Ten Leading Ladies of Atlanta" 1973-74, was the Brookwood Business and Professional Women's Club Woman of the Year for 1973. Her latest honor has been being named to "Who's Who of American Women" 1977.

Carolyn is married to Charles H. Wills who is in private law practice in Atlanta. He received the first Master of Laws Degree granted by Emory University and holds a Doctorate Degree from Emory as well as a Bachelor of Science Degree from the University of Kentucky. Chuck was Delta Zeta man of the year at Kentucky, and says the first thing that impressed him about his wife was that she was a Delta Zeta.

Delta Zeta is proud that our 1976 Woman of the Year has combined her professional accomplishments with continued interest in the activities of Delta Zeta.

Carolyn and Charles Wills. Before he even met Carolyn, he was voted Delta Zeta Man at the University of Kentucky.

Betty Heusch Agler, Past National President, and Florence Hohnbaum Harvey, National President, with Carolyn Wills at the banquet in Atlanta where she received her Woman of the Year medallion. (Details of the festivities will appear in the March issue.)

CONVENTION MEANS

ELECTION OF A NATIONAL COUNCIL:

EVERY DELTA ZETA CAN SHARE IN THIS

The Delta Zeta Constitution stipulates that in January prior to a National Convention, the Executive Secretary shall notify every chapter, collegiate or alumnae, and all other voting personnel, of their privilege to send to the official Nominating Committee, their personal recommendations for members they believe qualified to hold position on National Council.

A form for such recommendation is included in this issue of the LAMP, and the committee will appreciate, and carefully consider, all recommendations, at their meeting on March 6, 1977.

The 1977 Nominating Committee, following the specifications of the Constitution, represents each of the official participating groups of Delta Zeta Sorority. The 1977 Committee consists of:

Chairman, Grace Mason Lundy, Past National President
Mary Margaret Calhoun Fore, Province Alumnae Director
Linda Gregg Doyle, Province Collegiate Director
Linda Agler Hobbs, College Chapter Director
Theta, Large Campus Chapter

The plaque in the Phi Beta Kappa Memorial Hall at the College of William and Mary in Williamsburg lists the fifty members elected to Phi Beta Kappa during the first four years of the Society's history. At the top are the names of the five young men who organized the Society, and below these are listed the forty-five who joined their ranks before war-time emergency forced them to suspend Phi Beta Kappa activities in Virginia, according to the early Minutes, "in the sure and certain hope that the Fraternity will one day rise to life everlasting and Glory immortal."

On January 6, 1781 British troops were so near that a meeting was called "for the Purpose of Securing the Papers of the Society during the Confusion of the Times, and the present Dissolution which threatens the University." This, as it turned out, was the last meeting held by the Virginia Alpha for seventy years. The future of the Society would have been dim indeed if the Virginia members had not, in the preceding year, sent charters to the "universities of Cambridge and New Haven." The branch at Yale was formally organized on November 13, 1780, less than two months before the last meeting of the parent branch in Williamsburg.

The originator of the idea of Phi Beta Kappa and the Society's first president was John Heath, Jr., who was eighteen years old at the time, and a prize Greek scholar at the College of William and Mary. He is credited with forming the Greek phrase that gave the Society its name.

The first man to conceive of extending Phi Beta Kappa to colleges in other areas, as a means of binding together men of like mind at a critical time in the history of the young nation, was Samuel Hardy. Many years later William Short wrote of him, "He was a man of a most comprehensive mind, but as he was what was termed an irregular student, that is, not entitled to wear a cap and gown, he was not held in estimation by the pedantic and often thickheaded cap-and-gown students. I remember yet my surprise when he communicated to me his plan for extending branches of our Society to the different States. He expatiated on the great advantages that would attend it in binding together the several States.

Phi Beta Kappa 1776 - 1976

"I happened at that time to be acquainted with a gentleman from the Eastward who was a private tutor in the family of one of my friends, and as I knew he then contemplated returning to his native state, I suggested to Mr. Hardy the propriety of bringing forward his plan before the society, so that the charter might be ready to be sent by this gentleman."

Elisha Parmele, the "gentleman from the Eastward," had studied at Yale but received his A.B. from Harvard in 1777, and in 1779 was tutoring in a Virginia family. Elected to Phi Beta Kappa in July of that year, he applied for a charter for Harvard on December 4, and five days later for a charter for Yale. These he carried north in 1780.

This bronze tablet included, in addition to the names of a Chief Justice and of an Associate Justice of the Supreme Court, those of two members of the Continental Congress, five members of the U.S. Congress, two U.S. Senators, the first Librarian of Congress, eighteen men who served in the Virginia House of Delegates and three Virginia Senators.

Miss Rhode Island

Debra Cerroni
Esmond, Rhode Island

Delta Zeta was represented in the recent Miss America contest by two collegiate chapter members. Debra Cerroni, Miss Rhode Island, is Vice-President of Beta Alpha chapter, and was Homecoming Queen at Rhode Island University in her freshman year. An Art and Education major, she was chosen for Kappa Delta Pi, and is a Dean's list student. A talented actress and singer, Debbie has had the lead in two of the university's operettas, and had led the cheers for all four years, with the last two as captain.

Miss Wyoming

Carol June Wallace
Jackson, Wyoming

June Wallace was a member of Alpha Theta chapter at the University of Kentucky before transferring to the University of Wyoming. Also a talented musician, June represented Kentucky in the Miss U. S. A. pageant last year and was one of the finalists.

Both women want to teach and to perform professionally. In the resumes sent by the Miss America Pageant their statistics are enviable. Debbie is five feet six and weighs 110 pounds while June weighs 117 pounds at five feet seven and three quarters.

WICI Scholarship

Becky Tames of Indianapolis, a senior at Franklin College and vice-president of Psi chapter, was the recipient of the $500 Florence Herz Stone scholarship from the Indianapolis Professional chapter of Women in Communications, Inc.

Becky is copy editor and feature editor of The Franklin and has maintained a 3.8 grade point average on a 4.0 scale. She is aiming for a career in public relations, is a member of the Franklin Collegiate chapter of WICI and has worked for the Indiana High School Press association. WICI scholarships are awarded on the basis of scholastic achievement, personality, extra-curricular involvement, need, and the goal of a career in some area of communications.

ALUMNAE:

Their Privilege and Their Responsibility

To each of us has been granted the privilege of membership in Delta Zeta. The joys and struggles shared during college days served to draw closer the bonds of friendship. Surely we are not going to allow the precious gift of those friendships to lie idle and unused. The opportunity is ours to continue to foster those ideals and standards which marked for us a way of life so that other young women might learn to know and benefit from similar experiences. Surely none of us would accept a priceless gift from a friend and make no effort to say "thank you". The interest and influence of the alumnae is the greatest potential asset of Delta Zeta. Once a Delta Zeta, always a Delta Zeta, for it's true that with Alumnae: "It's the Everywhereness that Counts." *

Vice President Alumnae Affairs

During the past year particular emphasis has been placed on various segments of Delta Zeta's national alumnae program with the aim being the improvement of our sorority's total national strength. Two areas were of vital concern, not only to the National Council of Delta Zeta and the Province Alumnae Directors but to the alumnae chapters themselves. These areas of the national alumnae program were alumnae chapter programming and ways and means projects. The National Council of Delta Zeta this past June approved two new national chairmanships specifically to assist the alumnae chapters in these particular areas.

WAYS AND MEANS

*The purpose of Delta Zeta's national ways and means program is to stimulate alumnae interest by sponsoring "objects worthy of the highest aim and purpose of associated effort." ***

A well planned alumnae chapter ways and means project can assure not only a financially successful project but can unite the membership and give each alumna a sense of purpose as well as satisfaction in the group accomplishment. But it must be a project that not only is of interest to the alumnae chapter membership but considers the needs of the alumnae chapter.

The position of National Alumnae Ways and Means Chairman will co-ordinate the projects of Delta Zeta's alumnae chapters. A resource file will be created to help alumnae chapters find successful ways of raising funds specific to their chapter's needs upon their request and through newsletters in the alumnae chapter mailings. A list of proven successful projects on file with the chairman will be available to the alumnae chapters on a yearly basis.

Appointed to the position of National Alumnae Ways and Means Chairman is Susan Kuether, Zeta Xi chapter, University of Wisconsin at Stevens Point. Sue was born and raised in Wisconsin, but in May moved to the beautiful tropical island of Oahu and is presently residing in Kailua, Hawaii.

Sue Kuether, ZΞ-Wisconsin Stevens Point
National Alumnae Ways and Means
Chairman

Sue has served Delta Zeta as Province Alumnae Director for Province VIII (Wisconsin). In addition to her work with Delta Zeta alumnae, she held the position of Associate Director of Alumni Relations at the University of Wisconsin, Stevens Point, Alumni office. Her duties included the organizing and attending of alumni functions on the campus and throughout the state. She has also served on the UWSP Alumni Board of Directors and the UWSP Recruitment Committee. As a collegian, Sue served as president of Zeta Xi chapter. In addition to her college chapter activities, she was elected to the position of vice-president of the college panhellenic, and was listed in Who's Who Among Students in American Colleges and Universities.

Sue's hobbies are many and varied. Among them are rug hooking, photography, needlework, travel and since moving to Hawaii, letter-writing. She has traveled in Europe primarily staying with German families in the Black Forest and in Bavaria that she met while on a high school tour program.

Sue brings her knowledge of alumnae activities at the university level as well as her experience working with Delta Zeta alumnae in Wisconsin to her new position.

ALUMNAE PROGRAMS

*Alumnae programs should further fulfill the purpose of our sorority and "stimulate one another in the pursuit of knowledge; to promote social and cultural activities for its members."***

Probably no one area is of more importance to Delta Zeta's alumnae chapters everywhere than the area of alumnae chapter programming. Alumnae chapters must remember to reflect the needs of the membership in providing interesting and stimulating programs to assure top membership. Through the use of questionnaires, reports and newsletters, the National Alumnae Program Chairman will serve as the source center for distribution of information on alumnae chapter programming. Through her efforts Delta Zeta will help the alumnae chapters improve the quality of alumnae chapter programming thus increasing in turn, alumnae chapter membership.

The new National Alumnae Program Chairman is Judy Walker Ridgway, Iota Alpha chapter at Southwest Texas State University. Judy has been an active and enthusiastic Delta Zeta who has served in numerous capacities. Previous to her appointment as National Alumnae Program Chairman, she had served as president of the San Marcos Alumnae Chapter and as College Chapter Director for Iota Alpha.

At the present time, Judy is an active member and officer in the Corpus Christi Alumnae chapter. She received the Texas Outstanding Alumnae Chapter President Award in 1971 and in 1974 she received the Texas Distinguished Alumnae Service Award.

Judy and her husband, Wayne, and their daughters, Rayna Kay and Jennifer, live in Portland, Texas, near Corpus Christi. Judy is an elementary school teacher and is a member of several professional organizations. She is currently serving as Secretary of the Local Texas State Teachers Association. She is also busy as a Brownie Mother and in church activities. In their "spare time" Judy and her family enjoy sailing in Corpus Christi Bay and collecting shells along the beach of the Gulf Coast.

Among Judy's honors are her listing in the 1972 edition of "Outstanding Young Women in America" and the 1974 edition of "Outstanding Elementary Teachers of America." Our new National Alumnae Program Chairman brings her alumnae experience, her enthusiasm and dedication to Delta Zeta to her new position.

The addition of the two new National Alumnae Chairmen will indeed strengthen Delta Zeta's total national alumnae program. Our alumnae chapters must be strong if Delta Zeta is to maintain her place of leadership in the sorority world. Our goals are reflected in you, the alumnae of Delta Zeta, and in your active participation in alumnae chapter activities in our Diamond Jubilee year. Join us NOW!

SORORITY MATURES IN WAR YEARS

In the morning of December 7, 1941, the shocking attack on the U.S. Naval Base at Pearl Harbor killed many Americans in a two-hour air and submarine assault. The United States responded by entering into a full-scale commitment with our Allies in the European War which would not end until 1945.

After World War II, Americans continued to suffer from a severe case of the jitters . . . the fear of Communism, the fear of subversion, the fear of another war, even the fear of annihilation from the H-bomb. The nation's concern about aggression was sharply realized on June 25, 1950 when a massive invasion force from North Korea rolled into South Korea. President Truman ordered military forces into Korea; the U.S. 7th Fleet was sent to protect Formosa; and for the second time in five years, the United States was at war.

When Eisenhower was elected President in 1952, he declared that a Korean settlement should be one of his first tasks, and after seemingly endless negotiations, a ceasefire was arranged in July 1953. The Korean struggle had been a frustrating and costly era for the United States.

The great demand for labor during World War II drew millions of women into industry. By the end of the '50s, so many women workers continued to hold jobs, they composed more than a third of the country's labor force. With more working mothers, there developed a clear-cut change in the role of the male as wage earner and the female as homemaker. More and more husbands helped wash the dishes, put the children to bed and learned to cook. In the professions, women found new opportunities in many careers formerly open only to men.

As the war in Korea tapered off to a stalemate, Americans began closing their backyard bomb shelters and setting up barbecue pits. People settled down in front of their TV sets to watch GUNSMOKE, a type of detached violence they could better understand.

The woman of the '40s seemed never to go anywhere without a hat. Whether she was shopping in the daytime or attending the theater at night, she almost invariably had something on her head.

Francis Albert Sinatra, The Voice, crooned his way to stardom amid a total surrendering collapse of feminine pulchritude. He was a new phenomenon in entertainment, unrivaled for sparking wild adulation in his fans.

In this era, Delta Zeta proudly hailed such outstanding members as Ivy Baker Priest, Alpha Chi Chapter, who, among other outstanding honors, served as Treasurer of the United States from 1953 to 1961; Edith Head, Mu Chapter, who won Oscars for costume design from the National Academy of Motion Pictures in 1949, '50, '51, '52, '54 and '60; and lovely motion picture actress Gail Patrick, Alpha Pi Chapter, who served as Trustee of the Academy of Television, Arts and Sciences from 1959 to 1963 and as its national vice-president from 1960 to 1962.

By September 1957, more than three million veterans of World War II and Korea (many of them women and some of them Delta Zetas) had gone to college under the GI Bill. In general, the GIs were the most serious, mature and industrious students that had ever attended American colleges. The uncertainty of the future had its effect on the moral climate of the college campus as well as the country. Hope for the future — without blind illusion — became a more caustic attitude among collegians. The desire for fraternal ties deepened for thousands who entered college in the '50s, and by the end of the decade, Delta Zeta's collegiate chapters had grown to 128 with 175 alumnae chapters and approximately 39,000 members.

$75,000 DELTA ZETA FOUNDERS MEMORIAL FUND TO SPONSOR COLLEGIATE SCHOLARSHIPS

With the war's end, fashion designers decreed the skimpy wartime look was out and gave m'lady the full-flowered "New Look" with swirling skirts 12 inches from the floor, shoulders definitely without padding — and bosoms definitely with.

Postwar musicals enter the theater scene: ANNIE, GET YOUR GUN... CAROUSEL... KISS ME, KATE... OKLAHOMA... MUSIC MAN... SOUTH PACIFIC... BRIGADOON... THE KING AND I and SOUND OF MUSIC were among the longest-running and most-acclaimed musicals in history.

In 1952, a group of scholars from Oxford University in England paid this tribute to America:

The faults and shortcomings of America — which, unlike those of the Soviet Union, are wide open to the world and freely discussed by the Americans themselves — have led too many people . . . to ignore the plain fact that the U.S.A. has been the best "top nation" since Rome. It establishes order, resists the aggressor, defends the attacked, strengthens the weak, and succors the poor. The U.S.A. is the first world power to give money away, to tax itself for the foreigner in peacetime. We are too little astonished at the unprecedented virtuousness of U.S. foreign policy and at its good sense.

Before television, 63 percent of Americans were asleep by midnight. By 1951, three-fourths of those with TV were up late watching the tube. The late-night format has remained essentially the same . . . talk, lots of music and a chance to meet celebrities.

Why do Americans give? They give because they care about others. This matter of giving and getting is not only an affair of the heart, but of the mind as well. It is simply good business to get a return on your investment. THE DELTA ZETA FOUNDERS MEMORIAL FUND is a good investment which will provide scholarships for deserving Delta Zeta collegians who need financial assistance to continue their education.

We feel that you, a Delta Zeta, will want to help because you care. You may not be able to send as much as you'd like, but we hope you will send as much as you can. Please complete and send the form provided with your contribution to:

Jennifer Hooker—Olympic Swimmer

Delta Zeta Daughters

Cindy Wheeler, Frances Bird Wheeler and Connie Wheeler are all of Alpha Gamma chapter at the University of Alabama.

When the 200-meter freestyle swimming finals were held at the Olympic Games in Montreal this July, all of Bloomington, Indiana, and especially all the Delta Zetas, were watching with excitement. The reason was fifteen-year old Jennifer Hooker, daughter of former mayor John Hooker and his wife Norma Anderson Hooker, E-Indiana.

In the June trials in Long Beach, California, Jennifer finished third in the 200-freestyle. In her qualifying heat she finished second, and thus earned the next-to-last spot in the Olympic finals. Jennifer finished in sixth place, defeating an East German swimmer in the process. She also beat an East German in her qualifying heat. Needless to say, Jennifer is considered "a ray of hope" for the future of American swimming. All this and just fifteen!

Last year as a high school freshman, Jennifer moved to Louisville, Kentucky, to swim and train with the Louisville Tarpons. This year she will return to Bloomington High School South as a sophomore. She will train with famed Indiana University swimming coach, James "Doc" Counsilman, who coached the United States men's team at Montreal. Jennifer has her sights set on the 1980 Moscow Olympics. Having learned much about psychological methods, she intends to get better and better. And how does she relax? You've guessed it—"at the pool!"

Teaching the Pre-Academic Child, by Mary Mott. Published by Charles C. Thomas. A review from Early Years magazine calls this book "for you if you happen to teach pre-school children, or if you happen to teach deaf, hard of hearing, visually impaired, emotionally disturbed, mentally retarded or learning disabled children."

Since the author was Mary Parry Mott of Gamma Rho chapter at Northern Illinois University and so well written, your editor was of course very curious as to WHY this book was written as it somehow had an underlying subjective feeling. In answer to this question we have Mary's answer in her article. Her publisher is urging her to write her next book on the story of Alice.

In the early 1960's, knowledge of learning disabilities was not known to most teachers. When we discovered that our second daughter, Alice, was bright but having great difficulties with her school work, I began to correspond with authors of books or articles on the subject.

Although we live in an area where the academic level is high, the information was not yet locally available, nor was special help or understanding for Alice. Many, now well known authors, took time to answer my questions and provided me with some advice. Some of it was good, some not so good, but their advice was valuable to me in trying to help Alice.

We bought a larger house so she would not have to share a room with her sister two years older, nor with her sister ten years younger. We kept the room plain and free from distractions. We bought her a typewriter, a tape recorder and a "poor spellers dictionary" to help work with her fleeting memory. I also seriously considered not sending her to high school as we had been told by a physician in a well known university hospital that a trade school would probably be better due to the fact that she would probably level off academically. She wanted very much to go on to high school with her friends. My husband agreed with Alice and my Mother said to me, "Don't ever give Alice the chance to say to you that you didn't even let her try."

The turning point, I believe, began when Alice discovered a local park district drama club. She was motivated and determined to memorize play scripts. For the first two years of high school, I wrote each teacher describing her difficulties and they were very understanding, sometimes allowing her to take a test on a different day or under less distracting circumstances. The last two years of high school, Alice discussed her problems with her teachers herself. She graduated from high school with good average grades and the Drama award. She took her college entrance examinations in a room with only a few students and completed college with honors. While in graduate school, she earned membership in the honor society of Phi Kappa Phi.

I had been trained as a high school Home Economics teacher, but our first child Lynn was on the way when I graduated from Northern Illinois University, and I had never taught. When Alice was a high school junior, Lyn was in college and our bonus baby Grace was in first grade, so I decided to try substituting in the grade schools. While substituting, I realized that I could spot a child with learning difficulties and began to question as to whether the child was receiving any help.

To my great pleasure, I discovered that many were, and many more teachers were now aware of learning difficulties. I met the Special Education Director who told me of seminars that I could attend and urged me to go back to school and take some special education courses.

Before I made that decision, he called and asked me to teach a class in a regular school consisting of pre-school physically handicapped children. He said it was a pilot class for the state and that because I had been a Home Economics major and had classes in child care and nutrition, I qualified to be a teacher of pre-school children.

I was very excited and very apprehensive about this venture, but took the step and have never been sorry. I was provided with a former nursery school teacher as an aide and a physical therapist and a speech therapist available.

There we were with nine physically handicapped children of normal intelligence and really didn't know just how to go about creating a program. I returned to school at nights for certification to teach the physically handicapped, and finally for a Master's Degree.

During the first few years, I kept a collection of activities that we did in the classroom, and later learned to analyze them according to modes of learning. Eventually I learned that many of the children in my classroom had learning difficulties and that I could not expect them all to learn just one way. Sometimes a child couldn't learn if I just talked to him, but needed a picture presented to him. Sometimes a child might not learn from a picture, but could learn from an experience or manipulated objects. There were many situations and it was a thrill when I found the way.

The book was my Master's project. It explains processing systems, hints for classroom management, sample weekly planning, a sample teacher-made diagnostic test, and my collection of activities. Each activity lists the teaching objective and is organized according to materials and methods of use. This is the book I wish I had possessed when I started teaching my class.

Of course, I was thrilled when Charles C. Thomas of Springfield accepted it for publication. I hope it is helping teachers and many pre-academic children whether handicapped or not.

I feel very humble about this whole list of events that has happened to me, all because I had a little girl-Alice.

MIRACLE

I was blind, but now I see!
The joy of it sweeps over me like a swelling tide,
And my world grows wide
As my soul soars high with ecstasy.
Is this the miracle that came to me?
Is it really true that I can see?
Or is this some figment of the mind
Just pictured so — I scarcely know.

In some lights things are very clear;
In other lights I almost fear
This interval of precious sight
Will darken into endless night.
No! This cannot be, for God is just!
His Word is Law; In Him I Trust!

Margaret Boyd, O — Pittsburgh, now living in Winter Park, Florida, has just published a book of her verse which she calls Bits Remembered. After a long and fulfilling life, Margaret has lost almost all of her sight. But with her remaining vision, she keeps contributing.

Back in 1926 when serving as head of the English department in Bloomsburg, Pennsylvania, she spent three months in study and travel on an AAUW scholarship to Oxford University in England.

In 1929 she joined the faculty at Clarion and became involved in many activities in addition to her classes. She organized and became advisor to Panhellenic, was co-director of the College Players, advisor to Alpha Psi Omega and Pi Mu Gamma and co-director of Mid Western Pennsylvania Music and Forensic league.

In 1938 the senior class at the college dedicated their year book The Sequelle to her. Both Mary and her friend Marie Marwick retired in 1957 after 28 busy and happy years.

In 1969 the members of the board of trustees responding to the requests of many alumnae, named the beautiful new Fine Arts building in their honor and so it is The Marwick-Boyd Fine Arts Center.

Her poem Miracle came to her a few days after she received her new glasses and the world suddenly came alive again for her.

Ellen Donaven, BΩ — New York

Ellen A. Donaven, BΩ — New York, a prominent New York civic leader, headed the slate of candidates for the Democratic Judicial Convention in the recent primary election. Of the 16 named by the District Leader 8 were elected and Ellen received the highest number of votes and has since been re-elected to the Kings County (NY) Committee. She is Chairman of the Assembly District Delegates.

Ellen received her B.S. and M.A. degrees from the School of Education of New York University. She was a teacher of health and physical education in the New York City Junior and Senior high schools until her retirement. The first woman to be elected president of the Parish Council of Our Lady of Angels, Ellen has now been reelected to that office and as such participates in the meetings of the Community Council of which the Parish Council is a member. She is a delegate to the Civic and Political Education Committee, and to the Citizens United for Education (CUE) which indicates her continued interest in the education of our youth. An active participant on the church bowling team, Ellen also is an active member of the Brooklyn Teachers Association.

Ellen served for many years as the College Chapter Director for Beta Omega chapter. She also was president of the chapter's Alumnae Association.

Outstanding Young Woman

Jennifer Wiggins Cels has been named the Outstanding Young Woman of America for 1975 from the state of Arizona. Jennifer was initiated into Beta Nu-Miami, Florida, and graduated from Ball State University, Muncie, IN in 1970 with a degree in Business Administration.

Jennifer is a Senior Sales Representative for Hunt-Wesson Foods, Inc. in Phoenix, Arizona, and in 1975 she was named the Top Sales Representative of the Year for Hunt-Wesson. Jennifer was the first woman to ever receive this award and was also the first woman to win the top sales contest with Hunt-Wesson which resulted in a week's vacation for her and her husband.

Jennifer is also active in the League of Women Voters and the state chapter of Business Professional Women's Club. Jennifer has served as National Pledge Training Chairman for Delta Zeta and will serve as President of the Phoenix Alumnae Chapter for the next two years.

Shreveport alumnae honored Hannah Nell Harz Quin,  $\Sigma$ -Louisiana State, with a farewell party before her recent move to Texas. Pictured are Carol Hamilton Brill,  $\Theta E$ -Louisiana Tech, Hannah Nell and Tracey Tanquary Cox,  $\Sigma$ -Louisiana State. Hannah Nell is a former president of both the Shreveport and Baton Rouge alumnae chapters, and was Louisiana's Province Alumnae Director before taking on the responsibilities of National Reference Chairman.

Edith and Redford

Edith Head Ihnen, M-California, has added the real-life woman to her list of designs to make women beautiful. She has recently done a series of designs for Vogue patterns for their holiday-resort line which will fit the not too perfect figures as well as the glamour girls. On the movie side she is currently working on the new Mae West picture Sextette and Airport 1977 starring Jack Lemmon, Olivia de Havilland, Jimmy Stewart, and Brenda Vaccaro. She is conferring here with Robert Redford, who helped win her an Oscar for the costumes in The Sting.

Friends Help

Rosanne Coher, ΘΖ, shows her teacher, Ron Usiewicz, that a little bit of wine adds that extra flavor to a gourmet meal, prepared in food service management classes at The University of Akron.

"With a little help from my friends" are lyrics from a song popular with young people a few years back. Now it's the way Rosanne Coher, ΘΖ, describes how she completed her college degree at Akron University in minimum time with a B average, even though a vision problem makes it impossible for her to read from books.

Deciding to go into food service management because she "cooks all the time anyway," Rosanne received help from those friends—including her mother, Eloise, and sister, Donna—when they read study assignments to her.

Merely hearing, rather than seeing, words, sentences and paragraphs makes comprehension difficult enough, but being tested on words seen only in the mind's eye is a different story. Again, that little bit of help was all that Rosanne required in her determined effort to become a food service professional.

"In some courses, the teacher would allow another student to read the test to me as he or she was doing it," Rosanne explained. "This way it didn't slow the person down because he had to read the test at that speed anyway, and I would have an equal chance at the questions along with the rest of the class. It was just up to me to listen carefully to understand the questions the first time around." On other occasions, her teacher or an assistant would read the test to Rosanne.

For one course last fall, Dr. A. E. Misko's Personnel Practices, Rosanne listened to tapes of employment and personnel "situations," then responded with her answers.

However, the course Rosanne termed "most important" in her studies, Quantity Food Service, did not present any examination problems because the test of her ability as a cook and kitchen manager was in the actual preparation and serving of gourmet meals to more than 40 persons.

"Rosanne handled her responsibilities as a restaurant manager very well when she supervised her meal," explained Ron Usiewicz, food service instructor for the course. "Each week we have a different meal manager with the other students switching off in various positions as chef, salad chef, dessert chef, host or hostess and waiters and waitresses. The manager is responsible for the staff's performance, purchasing of the food and its preparation, and serving it in a restaurant atmosphere."

Food service students are not the only ones who benefit from the gourmet meals because the entire university is invited to the meals at a modest price. "This way we have a public to tell us what it liked and what it didn't," Usiewicz said.

As Manager of Medical Development Services for Schering Corporation, Dr. Sarah Ruth Norred, ΑΠ-Samford, is currently directing two research projects involving a group of orthopedic surgeons at various medical centers throughout the country. They are removing the hip joint in patients with severe arthritis and replacing it with an artificial joint made of metal and plastic.

The purpose of one project is to evaluate a particular acrylic plastic which is being used for the first time in this country as a bone cement to hold the two parts of the prothesis in place: the plastic socket in the hip and the metal ball with a stem in the leg bone. The second project is to study the use of an antibiotic in the bone cement to determine if a patient who has an infection in the hip can have it successfully treated and the joint replaced.

A Registered Pharmacist in the state of Florida, Sarah holds a Bachelor of Science degree in Pharmacy from Samford University and a Master of Science degree in Pharmacology from the University of Florida. She completed predoctoral studies at the Medical College of Alabama, Birmingham, and majoring in both pharmacology and biochemistry received her Doctor of Pharmacy degree from the University after she had served as Assistant Professor of Pharmacy at Samford University, and Graduate Assistant, then Hospital Pharmacist at the University of Florida Infirmary at Gainesville.

In 1954 Sarah's first assignment at Schering was that of Medical Advertising Copywriter. (As an undergraduate she had served as associate editor of the pharmacy magazine.) From this she advanced to Medical Education Coordinator acting as liaison between professional film producers and participants on technical films used to teach physicians. She wrote the scripts and, after studying film production at New York University, she filmed highlights of the American Medical Association technical exhibits for five years. Following this, Sarah advanced to Medical Education Manager and then Associate Director of Medical Education before assuming her current position.

A member of the American Pharmaceutical and American Medical Writer's Associations, Sarah has been elected to membership in Kappa Epsilon, the national women's professional pharmaceutical society which she serves as national publicity chairman, Rho Chi, pharmacy honorary, Alpha Epsilon Delta, premedical honorary, and Gamma Sigma Epsilon, chemistry honorary. For the Federation International Pharmaceutique she has been a delegate to the 1958 meeting in Brussels, moderated a career panel at the national convention, installed chapters at the University of Mississippi and Georgetown University, and been elected a delegate to the Pan American Pharmaceutical Congress in Washington, D.C.

A member of the Bloomfield, N.J. Presbyterian Church Choir, Sarah has just completed a documentary film on the life of composer Charles Ives who was organist at the church in 1899. The film is being shown periodically on educational TV during the American Bicentennial.

Because Schering is an international company, Sarah continues learning French and German. The bone cement with which she is working is manufactured in Germany and most of the original publications concerning it are written in German. She uses a short wave radio to hear the "Voice of Germany" (Deutsche Welle) broadcasts from Cologne to improve her speech. She also reads the German weekly magazines, Stern, and Der Spiegel, to improve her reading ability.

Josephine Lawless Reed, BN —Miami, and Esther Cassity Reid, ΓΓ —Missouri Valley were both chosen by their chapters of Beta Sigma Phi in Marshall, Missouri, as their candidates for Woman-of-the-Year. Both have been active in community affairs and have served Delta Zeta in several capacities.

Seletha Brown—Historian

Seletha Marrs Brown, BΣ-Colorado, would be a very appropriate speaker in honor of the nation's Bicentennial and International Women's Year. She has successfully combined being a writer of history, a teacher, a wife and a mother.

An extensive newspaper article revealed much about Seletha. She is a member of the Colorado Press Women, the Colorado Authors' League, the Longmont Writers' Club, the Bicentennial-Centennial Committee for the Colorado Council of Churches, chairman of the State PEO History Committee, National Librarian for League of American Pen Women, and a charter member of the State Home Economics Association.

Her "hobby of scribbling" and lifelong interest in people resulted in her publishing three books about local history, numerous magazine articles, and byline stories in area papers.

One of her books, They Came To Stay, was published by the St. Vrain Historical Society for Longmont's centennial celebration. As editor and chief author, she headed a project which took eighteen months. Despite the pressure to meet the centennial date, it was included in the National Library of the DAR—a testimony to its historical accuracy. The St. Vrain Historical Society formally honored her in 1972 for her work.

Another book, used widely in local schools and now in its third edition, is Rivalry at the River, an account of life in the area during the 1830's. The third book, Servants in the Service of Men, covers the history of Longmont's Congregational Church. This book took one year to compile.

Her travel to Africa, Europe and trips around the United States are background for travel articles she has published. Her articles and stories have appeared in Home; Christian Science Monitor; Highlights, a children's magazine; and a variety of church magazines and local newspapers.

Explaining her love of history, she said, "I came from a large family of pioneers that visited back and forth. I can still remember listening to the folktales." While raising her children—"In those days, women didn't work unless they had to"—she still found time for her "hobbies." She was honored in 1970 as a nominee for State Mother of Colorado.

These hobbies have given her and her community a rewarding written history that might have just faded away with the passing of time. (Excerpted from a story by Margaret Coel for The Daily Camera).

Life is a Lamp flaming in the darkness before dawn.

The many Delta Zetas who have carried The Delta Zeta Creed in their memories and hearts, as an inspiration and a life pattern, will feel a personal loss upon learning of the death of Dorothy Mumford Williams, who gave this Creed to her sorority.

Dorothy was a member of Alpha Zeta chapter, at Adelphi, class of 1929; and had her M.A. from the University of North Carolina, was for a time on the English faculty of Adelphi College.

From high school days on through her whole life, her gift for using words to express her ideals and vision of the beauty of nature, was the most natural outlet for her deep sense of beauty and poetry. She had had many poems published, especially in Journals of the Friends Society of which she and her family were lifelong workers. In later life she discovered a talent for painting, and this added outlet for her artistic and idealistic gifts has left many pieces of artistic distinction. In her enthusiasm for life and the elements that make it rich, she was active in the local Historical Society, a docent of the Hyde Art Collection of Glens Falls.

Dorothy and her husband Waldo, created a home of unusual happiness and achievement, and their five children were the living evidence. To Waldo, and to the children, Kay Felt, Carol Hartman, Jesse, Christopher and Jon, all Delta Zetas will extend loving sympathy, but equally loving gratitude for what Dorothy Williams has given to many thousands of Delta Zeta sisters, in whose lives her words live on.

We are reprinting some of her poems from previous Lamps. Dorothy served Delta Zeta as Ritual chairman and Province Collegiate Director. At the National Council meeting in Cincinnati in 1939, Dorothy presented her creed written especially for Delta Zeta, which was immediately accepted and is now an integral part of all Delta Zeta literature. It was reproduced as you see on this page, in color in two sizes, as a bookmark and the larger suitable for framing. These were introduced decades ago and are still available at National Headquarters.

Delta Zeta Creed

To the world,

I promise temperance and insight and courage,
To crusade for justice,
To seek the truth and defend it always;

To those whom my life may touch in slight measure,

May I give graciously
Of what is mine;

To my friends,

Understanding and appreciation;

To those closer ones,

Love that is ever steadfast;

To my mind,

Growth;

To myself,

Faith
That I may walk truly
In the light of the Flame.

Dorothy M. Williams

IONIC COLUMN

The poignant notes of other lutes than mine
Have hurried in the Grecian dawn to sing
The strength and sturdy beauty of a line
That shouldered cloud, and sky, unfaltering;

And other voices there, more consecrate,
With muted tone and hushed humility
Have sung of columns, tall, inviolate,
Mating the hills with durability.

And though I may not measure, voice to voice
With Pindar, yet my heart would sanctify Lines rising staunch and pure against the sun:
Ah, with a hallowed song I would rejoice.
If I might set my lamp of living high
Upon Ionic strength that I had won.

IF THERE SHOULD NOT BE LOVE

If there should not be love or charity
To live in simple ways;
If there should be no giving of the soul
To mark the sober days;

If there should be no quiet laughter shared
When mind meets kindred mind;
Nor hope, nor trust, nor understanding bared
Nor faith to seek and find;

If there should never be a table set
Where lonely people meet;
If vows were consecrated to forget
And dreams to know defeat,

Then you and I would not white visions
see,
Holding our flame against eternity.

A. Never before has the official Delta Zeta Seal been used on a jewelry item. Now for this very special event, a  $\frac{3}{8}$ " round disc has been designed for use as a charm or pendant. The front of the disc is a reproduction of the official Delta Zeta seal with the back engraved DIAMOND JUBILEE 1902-1977. Disc is available in yellow gold filled or sterling silver. \$8.00

B. Bent glass pin tray,  $2\frac{1}{2}$ " square, crystal with dark green printing. These make attractive, inexpensive Delta Zeta gifts. \$.50

C. A special item for plate collectors is the 10" gold rimmed china plate with a black and white artist's sketch of the Sesquicentennial Chapter at Miami University. This unique addition for your collection is available now until the end of our Diamond Jubilee Convention. $10.00

D. Wear on your blouse or lapel this embroidered rose and green rose. It has adhesive backing and is about 1" high. Order several for all your friends. Each rose is 25¢ with a minimum order requirement of 5 roses.

5 roses for $1.25

E. Many requests have been received for an embroidered crest in authentic Delta Zeta colors. This crest is approximately  $2\frac{3}{4}$ " x 3" and has many uses—jackets, purses, etc. \$2.75

F. This 6" silver plated teaspoon is adorned with the Delta Zeta Crest and engraved 1902-1977. A very special collector's item. $4.50

G. Genuine Walnut plaque with raised wooden crest in color. Polished metal plate is engraved, "DELTA ZETA DIAMOND JUBILEE 1902-1977. Overall size is  $4\frac{1}{4}$ " x 6". \$10.00 each

H. Seal all your letters with this Founders' Memorial Fund Diamond Jubilee seal and remind all your friends of this exciting Delta Zeta Celebration. Self-adhesive seals are silver with rose and green, and come in sheets of 48. Each seal is 1" x  $1\frac{1}{4}$ ". Per sheet \$1.00

I. The Diamond Jubilee Dangle with a white spinel  $\frac{1}{2}$  carat size stone, set in yellow gold is the same size dangle as our officer dangles. The quantity is limited and will not be available after our Diamond Jubilee celebration. Get one for yourself and maybe your "shiny pin" little sis or your Delta Zeta legacy. \$5.00

J. A real delight are these polyester, drip-dry scarfs designed by Lois Westerman Schrank, Theta, Ohio State. The turtle scarf has light blue, green and bright, bright red turtles on white background and is 27" x 27" square. The classic scarf is 22" x 22" square and has shades of rose, green and gold on white background. Do your Christmas shopping early and order several. $6.25

The joys of being a longtime Delta Zeta and an editor are the letters and contributions of Delta Zetas everywhere. Some of them, the flattering ones, we put in our rainy day file for re-reading. The courage of Margaret Boyd, (page 24) in the face of blindness after a long and rewarding career added to the patience and love of Mary Mott for her learning-disability daughter Alice make kinship through Delta Zeta a beautiful thing.

Grace Mason Lundy and your Editor have many times wished to write a truly subjective history, not with dates and facts and numbers, but with sisters, and the funny little heart warming things that have happened in Delta Zeta over the years. We both culled this picture from an old Lamp taken at the time of the unveiling of the Dean Hamilton portrait, which was Delta Zeta's gift to Miami University. We didn't put names under the picture so you might guess, but we'll give you a clue. The five be-hatted ones are past national presidents, and one of them even a Founder. As Grace says, "Oh to be young and wear a picture hat again."

Have faith, sisters! Would you believe they are holding classes in Ballroom dancing at the large universities, and according to one little senior darling at our own chapter, "Everyone takes the class sometime before they graduate." Hats may make it, too.

We must admit that the picture of Edith Head with Robert Redford was sent us by her as a special request, not admitting that he is even an oldtime Delta Zeta's Dream Man.

Television one Saturday night was enlivened by the performances of two Delta Zetas. Pat Priest, AX-UCLA, brightened a Mary Tyler Moore segment, and next came witty Marcia Wallace, ΔN-Parsons, on the Bob Newhart show.

Cincinnati's newsletter says "Happy Anniversary Delta Zeta! Seventy four years of Delta Zeta pride through Friendship, Leadership, Scholarship, and Standards." Do we get a Dewdrop award? This alumnae chapter gives them from time to time when an alum does something extra. They explain "We are all lovely roses, but a dewdrop makes a rose petal especially beautiful."

After the Associated Press story on people-passing at football games made the front pages of newspapers all over the country, Carol McHugh, president of Alpha Beta chapter at the University of Illinois, received clippings and notes from Delta Zetas everywhere. In case you missed it, the story started when the University Athletic Association requested all of the fraternities and sororities on campus to stop people passing. Coeds are picked up bodily and passed overhead up the rows of seats. Carol was quoted as supporting the ban, especially after petite Sue Dempsey was passed up 75 rows in less than ten minutes, and it was frightening. The passing got out of hand when scouts would pick particularly tiny and attractive coeds and race them up the rows. Yes, Alpha Beta's Sue is tiny, pretty, and with short curly hair.

Please, we do not talk about OLD alumnae. This from one of our communications:

"You can stay young indefinitely if you eat wisely, get plenty of sleep, work hard, have a positive mental outlook and lie about your age."

Headquarters tells us we mailed 70,571 copies of the September issue of The Lamp. Would you believe there are approximately 6700 members who do not receive The Lamp because of either no current address, or they are lost.

Pandora Patton, ΑΓ, Alabama, writes "One of the saddest times of my life was saying goodbye to my Delta Zeta sisters each May when they graduated and returned to homes all over the nation, and then it was my turn to leave. Many of these people I had lived with through college, I would never see again." So Pandora did something about it, and she and her classmates have a round robin letter which keeps them in touch over the miles.

But think how even sadder it is, Pandora, for a College Chapter Director or a Province Director to see her wonderful chapter members leaving each spring. But somehow with next year's rush, there are new faces to take their jobs so the chain of sisterhood is unending. The same songs are sung, and while the skits change with the actresses, the same message comes across loud and clear.

Sunshine and shadows, Laughter and tears,

We'll share together All through the years.
