IN VICTORY LANE

Founders Day Proclamation

During the 41st Convention there was a very special "Day in Oxford" shared by the convention body. Throughout the day we were reminded of the commitment, the high ideals and the values of our Founders as we toured the campus of Miami University and visited the Delta Zeta Historical Museum.

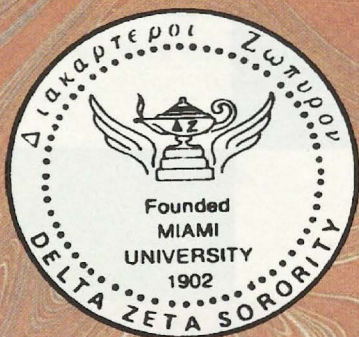

While we enjoyed seeing where our traditions began, it was equally exciting to see the plans for our Headquarters expansion and to dedicate the Lucile Crowell Cooks Conference Center where we will continue to build on our rich heritage.

As we celebrate this Founders Day may we all enjoy the warm memories of our sisterhood and rededicate ourselves to the values and ideals of our six Founders.

Given under my hand and seal, I proclaim the twenty-fourth day of October, in the year of our Lord, nineteen hundred and ninety-three, as Founders Day.

ABOUT THE COVER

Delta Zeta in Victory Lane was the 1993 Convention theme. Newly elected International President Sandra McAlister Nesbitt leads from the pace car as the next biennium begins! Convention photographs by Jim Aquino, Photography-Video Services.

1993 Convention

Delta Zeta in Victory Lane

A flag-waving welcome and a call for "Delta Zetas — start your convention," a soft-mellow rendition of Back Home Again in Indiana, and a wide-screen filled with the colorful sights and sounds of Indiana opened Delta Zeta's 41st (and first International) Convention on June 26 in Indianapolis, Indiana.

Nearly 500 convention delegates and visitors, donning black and white sparkling attire, were gathered in the Grand Ballroom of the Westin for the black and white opening gala, orchestrated by International Treasurer Lynnda Wolf Hoefler and choreographed by Province V (Ohio).

A procession of Past National Officers, Women of the Year, the Foundation President and the International Council heralded the beginning of the evening activities. Lynnda reflected on Delta Zeta's Indiana tradition as members again gathered in the shadow of the Capitol Building. Shelley Tackett, Kent State-ΓΚ president, presented the musical interlude which included a bluesy rendition of Indianapolis, Indeed. She was accompanied by Music Chairman Julie Stewart Pride.

The keynote speaker for the event was Balfour Distinguished Lecturer Dr. Margaret E. Mohrman, Phi Mu Fraternity. The video was provided by ABC Sports of New York.

Delegates and visitors were seated by province and applauded Historian Florence Hood Miner as she announced the winners of the award named in her honor. One of the six was present to receive her award — Laura Alred, Northeastern (Oklahoma) State University-ΔΦ.

Honored with the Alice Huene-feld CCD Award was Catherine Lentz Fryer of CSU/Fullerton-ΙΨ.

Sunday morning's formal opening featured the seating of delegates from 17 new college and alumnae chapters, recognition of Delta Zeta's new international status by the singing of Oh, Canada in addition to the Star Spangled Banner; and the dedication of this biennium to Founder Julia Bishop Coleman.

International President Marvona Easley Tavlin's State of the Sorority address received a standing ovation. Statistics included the fact that we now have 174 college chapters, 3 colonies, 180 alumnae chapters, 44 alumnae clubs and a total living membership of 131,295.

Marvona's concluding remarks stressed "that Delta Zeta is not an hour — a day — a college term only organization. Delta Zeta is for life. Delta Zeta was here for you because those who went before you cared enough to make the kind of personal investment of both financial and human capital necessary to assure Delta Zeta's survival. We must never forget our lifetime commitment to Delta Zeta. 'We do not plant trees for ourselves; we plant trees for the next generation.'"

The financial seminar concluded the morning's program.

Collegiate 500

Collegians headed down Victory Lane in high gear at Sunday's Collegiate 500 Awards Luncheon with Vice President of Collegians Merry Westbrook Adamcik presiding. Paying heed to green and black racing flags, collegians took the runs with care then roared up for top honors in collegiate programming: activities, academics, sorority education, standards, ways and means, financial excellence, newsletter, risk management, social and alumnae-collegiate relations.

Long-time champions, Sigma chapter at Louisiana State University, held on to their 33-year record of quota in rush and new qualifiers finished to win coveted membership honors.

Workshops in the afternoons included sessions for college presidents, college chapter directors, province collegiate directors, alumnae presidents and province alumnae directors.

Lamplighting

Sunday evening's activities started with a most beautiful and moving initiation service conducted by Council members for Dawn Shriver, the president of Omicron Sigma chapter at Gallaudet University.

Later, the Grand Ballroom was aglow in gold and white with Director of Pledge Education Phyllis Berens Ross presiding over the festivities. Nineteen former Grace Mason Lundy award winners were introduced and former GML recipient, Ritual Chairman Karen Kind Veitch, presented the 1993 GML Awards to seven graduating seniors for their "evidence of loyalty, devotion and service to their chapters and to the Sorority as a whole."

Two of the recipients in the audience were Michelle Lamance, Wright State-KI, and Michelle Jones, Auburn/Montgomery-AN. The Caryatides statuettes were presented to six chapters for outstanding programs in pledge education.

International Council members performed the initiation service for convention initiate Dawn.

Mother-Daughter-Sisters at convention: Standing, Robin Morris, Jeanie Morris, Heidi Narber, Tiffany Narber, Lisa Horton, Sandra Hart Horton, Sadie Plucinski, Cynthia Plucinski, Marla Barker, Kara Barker Price. Seated: Lee Carey, Bridget Carey, Dianne Fellows Guild, Alecia Lee Soyk, Karen Fellows Soyk.

Past National Officers: Standing, Carolyn Barnes Gullatt, Sandra Hart Horton, Dianne Fellows Guild, Susan Mease Long, Connie Teaford Wilt, Carol Selway Bertz, Gwen Moss McKeeman. Seated, Florence Hood Miner, Carolyn McCandless Woodling, Deanne Alleman Pendleton, Lucile Crowell Cooks.

Following these presentations, President Marvona Tavlin (herself a GML girl) gave delegates an inspiring look at Convention Initiate Dawn Shriver. Dawn's brief, but excellent "thank you" speech was received by delegates who applauded by signing.

Historian Florence Miner, assisted by Province Alumnae Director XV-C Catherine Clay Lassenes surprised the audience with a message of discovery. After a search of many years, Delta Zetas were pleased to hear that the elusive Killarney Rose is alive and well in California.

A final highlight of the banquet was a musical presentation with handbells performed by Karen Mast Hoskey, NW Missouri-EP.

Panhellenic Luncheon

Monday morning's business meetings introduced reports of various committees.

The Panhellenic luncheon followed at noon with Vice President of Membership and NPC Alternate Delegate Sandra McAlister Nesbitt presiding. Special guests included members of NPC member groups. The parade of sorority flags preceded the luncheon.

Guests at the head table included NPC Chairman-Elect Harriet Rodenberg, Sigma Delta Tau; Sherry Tilley, immediate Past National President of Zeta Tau Alpha and current NPC Delegate; Maureen Syring, a Past International President of Delta Gamma; Kay Powell Bales, Northern Kentucky-KB and Director of Student Activities at Ball State University, and Gwen Moss McKeeman, Past Chairman of National Panhellenic Conference.

The Gallaudet Dancers and Delta Zeta Singers provided the entertainment.

The Carolyn Barnes Gullatt Symposium which followed featured a panel composed of Mrs. Syring, Mrs. Rodenberg, Mrs. Tilley and Kay Bales. The topic for discussion was "The Challenges and Choices of the '90s leading us to the 21st Century."

Kennel Club

"Sit. Stay." With those commands, Karly Klemp Burns and Patricia Canady Rosser brought the International Kennel Club to "heel." Loud, unruly pups announced their presence at their first convention with assorted yips, growls, woofs and barks.

According to kennel club procedure, the barking continued with others adding their voices to the den. Seven-year barkers paused to scratch their fleas (seven year itch) and Carol Harper and Gwen McKeeman proved they are each a 10 (10+10=20). Lucille Cooks counted 22 conventions with assistance from Florida delegates. Our ILL (International Living Legend) Florence Miner mustered up enough energy for 30 woofs, assisted by collegians led by Kim Saari Johnston and Kathy Bray Heatherly.

The deejay didn't need to warm up the crowd at the Westin Diner a la DeeZee which followed. Just one spin of Chubby Checker's Let's Do the Twist was all it took to spin the crowd into a bopping, twisting, shouting fun night group.

While the alumnae grooved down memory lane, collegians strutted their stuff in some pretty cool poodle skirts, pony tails and bobby sox. Both groups were primed for fun and didn't waste any time ordering from the Diner menu. Waiters were grooving too, in '50s garb. They shouted the diner orders (greasy fries, coke floats, cheeseburgers, Blue Plate Specials) and twisted around a standing-room only dance floor, to serve those taking a break from the dance scene.

Later, Province Alumnae Directors entertained and delighted their audience with their own interpretation of "Sister Act." In their special way, PADs displayed their humor, talent and singing voices while honoring retiring Vice President of Alumnae Dianne Fellows Guild. Complete with nun costumes and a "flying nun" headpiece for Sister Dianne, the PADs showed everyone that PAD stands for "pretty awesome dames."

It was "hammer time" as the Province Collegiate Directors strutted their stuff. Dressed in jackets, hats and shades, the PCDs were "too legit to quit." They rapped about due process, FIPG and chapter visits.

A Day in Oxford

Delta Zetas walked in the footsteps of the Founders and savored

the rich tradition of Delta Zeta when they traveled to Miami University on Tuesday for a day in Oxford. Delegates and visitors boarded 11 chartered buses (named after the Founders and early Delta Zeta leaders) for the two-hour drive to Oxford, Ohio, where the National Historical Museum and the founding site of Delta Zeta waited.

Tour bus leaders served as coordinators and distributed packets about Miami University and the day's upcoming events. Upon arriving, everyone enjoyed lunch at Shriver Center and Scott Dining Hall and then proceeded to Hall Auditorium for the presentation of Foundation awards and the commemorative service.

Free time enabled visitors to tour the Miami campus or stroll downtown for shopping. A short walk then took everyone to the National Historical Museum for tours of National Headquarters, the Museum and the recently purchased Cullen House, which adjoins Delta Zeta property.

At 5:00 the highlight of the day began as all moved to the west side of the Museum for a special ceremony. The large trees shaded the bright afternoon sun as special guests and Delta Zeta dignitaries began the program, which was coordinated by Past National President Norma Minch Andrisek. President Emeritus Phillip R. Shriver of Miami told anecdotes of the early women at Miami, of Dr. Guy Potter Benton and of the Founders. Architect Thomas Wayne Parker, Bryan, Texas, presented a chronology of expansion plans. President Marvona Tavlin announced the completion of the long-awaited merger between the Delta Zeta Foundation and the Historical Museum.

Norma Andrisek explained to the audience that today "we will not turn" or "dedicate" the expansion building program. "In our Delta Zeta we break ground every day. Concrete stones are not necessary. Our foundation is firm and our building is never complete." She asked Delta Zetas to be mindful of our proud heritage and to "rededicate ourselves to Delta Zeta."

Chairman Emerita Lucile Crowell Cooks of the Historical Museum was surprised to find her daughters Connie Roberts and Mella Davies present at this ceremony and then it was announced that the recently purchased Cullen House would be named the Lucile

Crowell Cooks Conference Center. The ceremony concluded with the hanging of the sign from a wrought iron post in the front yard.

A buffet dinner followed the bus trip back to Indianapolis.

The Rose Luncheon

Wednesday morning's business meeting was completed with final reports, selection of the 1995 nominating committee and the announcement of the election of the new International Council.

Golden Rose members and Order of the Pearl honorees were among those recognized at the Rose Luncheon on Wednesday.

Vice President of Alumnae Dianne Guild and Director of Chapter Finances Pamela McClure Cronenwett served as toastmistresses for the luncheon. Chapters were honored for excellence in province and national cooperation, programs, public relations, ways and means, newsletter, alumnae chapter achievement, outstanding chapter achievement, chapter excellence. Individuals were honored with Achoth Awards for continued involvement on the local level. Alumnae Programming Chairman Trudy Wheeler read Jean Haley Harper's (North Dakota-Y) poem, Sonnet to My Sisters.

Workshops continued throughout the afternoon.

Circle of Friendship

An evening "centered on the Delta Zeta circle of sisterhood and friendship" was the theme of the Installation Banquet. President Marvona Tavlin presided over the banquet and was assisted by all of the outgoing Council in presenting Delta Zeta's most coveted alumnae and collegiate chapter awards.

The installation of the 1993-1995 International Council followed, with Marvona conducting the candlelit ceremony. Newly installed president is Sandra McAlister Nesbitt, Auburn-BE. Vice President of Membership is Lynnda Wolf Hoefler, Kent State-ΓK. Vice Presidents of Alumnae and Collegians are Phyllis Berens Ross, Fort Hays State-ΔΩ, and Merry Westbrook Adamcik, Houston-ΔΘ. Charlotte Davis, Auburn-BE, is secretary and Pamela McClure Cronenwett, Northwestern-AA, is treasurer. The elected Directors are Karly Klemp Burns, East Carolina-ZA; Ruth Weider Patterson, Wittenberg-BX, and Jeanine Peterson Triplett, Louisville-BΓ.

And so the 41st Convention became history, concluded in an atmosphere of sisterhood and friendship. Delta Zeta is indeed in the winner's circle and in Victory Lane.

Your editor is indebted to Lampkin Editor Diane Jones Skelton and her staff for much of the material used in this story.

collegiate chapter no matter where she lives, and she wants to affiliate with the local alumnae.

Jennifer Hughey Illinois-AB

Jennifer served as pledge educator and president of Alpha Beta at Illinois, the largest Greek campus in the country. She is credited with designing a program called "ESP" . . . enriching sisterhood pride, which has targeted problems of apathy and morale and greatly enriched the chapter. Jennifer graduated with a degree in accounting. She hopes to continue her Delta Zeta involvement by working with either a chapter or the alumnae in whatever area she settles in.

Michelle Jones Auburn-Montgomery-AN

Also a chapter president, Michelle graduated with a biology/pre-dentistry degree and has been accepted at the University of Alabama at Birmingham School of Dentistry. A member of Who's Who, she was also active with SGA, Panhellenic, Greek Council and AUM Representatives. She was named Miss Province XXIII and was an honoree at AUM Honors Day. We thank her older sister for introducing her to Delta Zeta.

Michelle Lamance Wright State-KI

Michelle served as vice president of membership and as pledge educator for Kappa Iota and was recently selected as a chapter consultant for Delta Zeta. She graduated with a degree in art and was also president of the Greek Council, on the Dean's List and was named sister of the year by Kappa Iota for her sisterly love and friendship and devotion to her chapter.

Meredith Phillipp Houston-ΔΘ

Meredith has worked with the German Club, University Dance Theatre, serving as its president, and with Greek Cabinet among other campus activities while serving as vice president of membership, pledge education and then as president. She also worked at three jobs for a total of 40 hours a week. Meredith received her degree in May with a bachelor of arts in psychology and dance certification for teaching.

Seven outstanding seniors were named Grace Mason Lundy award winners at the recent Convention in Indianapolis. The award, established in honor of Past National President and Historian Emerita Grace Lundy, recognizes outstanding devotion and service to Delta Zeta.

Erin Dill Auburn-BΞ

Erin was president of Beta Xi and served as a collegiate representative on the 1991 National Nominating Committee. A pre-optometry/biomedical science major, she has entered the University of Alabama Optometry School in Birmingham. On campus she was actively involved with Order of Omega, Rho Lambda and Panhellenic. Later, Erin would like to be involved with a collegiate chapter, possibly as an advisor.

As a two-year president of Gamma Chi at Ball State, Tonia received a Bachelor of Science Degree in Telecommunications. Active in Women in Communications, Rho Lambda and Order of Omega while on campus, Tonia wants to continue working with a

Three Honored Among Top All-Time Female Grads at University of Alabama

Standing beside the permanent marker erected in honor of 31 top female graduates of the University of Alabama are these Alpha Gamma alumnae: Jenny J. Hudson, Jean Wickstrom Liles, Minnie Caddell Miles.

by Sue Griffin Charles
Alabama-AG

In recognition of the admittance of female students to the University of Alabama in 1893, a celebration of women at the Capstone was held to commemorate the contributions of women to the life of the campus. A week in September was designated by University President Dr. Roger Sayers for centennial activities.

The XXXI, a women's leadership honorary composed of junior and senior women leaders from the student body (including collegians Angie Pope, Whitney Mashburn and alumna Ginger Bobo), faculty and staff, as well as alumni and other Alabamians, has led the celebration by already hosting a weekend of activities to honor the university's top female students.

These 31 women honorees were chosen for outstanding achievement in one or all of three categories — professional achievement, character and community service. These graduates were honored the weekend of April 24-25 with a banquet at the University Club of Tuscaloosa, home of the University of Alabama.

The XXXI Club also erected a permanent marker on campus which lists the names of the 31 honorees and relates the events leading up to the admission of female students to the university. In addition 31 trees were planted at the Presidential Pavilion on campus as a tribute to these leaders.

Alpha Gamma chapter is proud to have three members of the 31 outstanding graduates of the last one hundred years, more than any other sorority on campus.

One graduate is Jenny J. Hudson, a resident of New York City. Jenny graduated in 1959 and is the Senior Producer of Reader's Digest Music/Home Entertainment division. She has earned four gold records through her work as a producer. She had produced records for CBS Records and Reader's Digest Music. Before her producing career, Jenny worked as a professional singer for 22 years.

The second Delta Zeta honoree is Jean Wickstrom Liles, 1961, of Birmingham, Alabama. Jean is the Senior Foods Editor for Southern Living magazine and has written 10 cookbooks and hundreds of food stories. She was named National Home Economist in Business in 1984 and Alabama's Outstanding Home Economist in 1985, also receiving the American Home Economics Association's Leaders Award in 1992.

Delta Zeta's third recipient is Dr. Minnie Caddell Miles who lives in Tuscaloosa and is semi-retired after being the first female professor to teach at the University of Alabama School of Commerce and Business Administration in Management. Among her numerous achievements, she chaired President Kennedy's Advisory Committee on Women in the Service, which opened the door for military women to advance to the rank of admiral or general.

She also served as International

Fort Collins Alumnae Have Victorian Tea as Their Final Meeting of the Year

by Sandra Larson Axelson,
Wisconsin/Stout-ZB

Picture a table filled with food such as cucumber sandwiches, salmon rolls, scones and trifle. Add lace, flowers and delicate tea cups from each member present and you have the beginning of a wonderful evening Victorian tea party. Such was the setting for the Fort Collins, Colorado, alumnae as they gathered at the home of Carol Webster Carroll, Parsons-ΔN. Her home was recently chosen to be on the historical home tour in Fort Collins, and was a perfect place to retreat for tea.

Individual tables were set up in the living and sitting rooms, where two or three members gathered at each table to enjoy tea and conversation. As in Victorian days when communication was face to face, calling on friends was fundamental in order to keep abreast of social events. Delta Zeta members enjoyed each other's company, discussed clothing and activities of their school days and installed their new officers.

As an additional feature to the tea party, those present watched a short video of the background on inviting guests to tea. When the reception of guests was held, what they were fed, what they brought with them such as a calling card, and what they wore were all a part of the presentation. Some of the members did bring calling cards, wear gloves and hats, and some even had on period clothing. What a fun way to share with young and old the historical significance of the past!

Happy Anniversary, BΓ

University of Louisville-BΓ was inadvertently left off the birthday list of chapters in the spring issue. Beta Gamma is celebrating its 65th anniversary this year. Congratulations and best wishes for a happy celebration!

1993-1994 CHAPTER CONSULTANTS

HEATHER ANGOVE

From Xi Lambda chapter at the University of San Francisco, Heather served as recording secretary, corresponding secretary and Panhellenic president. She is looking forward to continuing her contact with college chapters.

STEPHANIE BLOOMFIELD

Rho chapter in the mile-high city of Denver claims Stephanie, who was ritual chairman, recording secretary and president. She is a strong believer in the Greek system and is excited to experience new chapter traditions while sharing a few of her own.

KAREN LEE JOHNSON

Omicron Alpha's Karen served as ritual chairman and rush chairman at St. Mary's. Her biggest fear is losing her luggage — all seven pieces. Other than that, she's ready to let her wanderlust take over!

MICHELLE LAMANCE

Michelle was sorority education chairman and rush chairman at Wright State University-KI chapter. She's really looking forward to her year of "living out of a suitcase."

SHELLIE LITTREL

A member of Pi chapter at Eurkea College, Shellie is serving her second year as a consultant. She thinks her position is perfect because it allows her to combine her two loves, Delta Zeta and travel. She spent most of her last year with the Omicron Xi colony at Mars Hill College which was installed in April.

ANDREA MARSALA

Gamma Lambda chapter at San Jose State University gave us Andrea. She served her chapter as social chairman, recording secretary and pledge educator. Also on the Judicial Board, Andrea looks forward to serving Delta Zeta as a consultant.

TANYA MILLER

Tanya is a member of Beta Xi chapter at Auburn University where she served as social chairman and pledge educator. She considers it an honor to be selected as a chapter consultant and is thrilled to have the opportunity to represent Delta Zeta throughout the year.

STACEY NAUMAN

The latest member to join the ΔZ travelers is Stacey who hails from Epsilon Omicron chapter at Western Illinois. She hopes to bring spirit as well as knowledge to the chapters she visits and is looking forward to "friendly smiles over the miles."

CHRISTI OSTENDORF

Florida State-AΣ chapter gives us Christi. She served as sorority education and alumnae relations chairman, Panhellenic president and as a member of the Judicial Board. She is looking forward to a fun year filled with "little sleep, lots of smiles and many frequent flyer miles."

AMY PORTER

Amy, who served Gamma Delta chapter at Penn State as treasurer, is hoping to be sent to all of the chapters winning financial excellence awards!

CHRISTEE ROGERS

President, philanthropy chairman, judicial board member . . . these assets Christee brings from Xi Sigma chapter at the University of North Carolina/Chapel Hill. Christee is looking forward to seeing new faces in new places.

SHANNON ROWAN

A member of Zeta Psi chapter at Stephen F. Austin in Texas, Shannon will join the consultant team in January when Jennifer Yeagley goes "off the road."

JENNIFER YEAGLEY

Jennifer, Kent State-ΓK is the second two year veteran. Jennifer says it is the close friends, "some of the best friends I'll ever make" among the consultants and chapters that make traveling so rewarding. "It's exciting to see how different and yet how similar we all are," she said.

Former Chapter Consultants attending convention include (back row) Cheryl Halley, Julie Stewart Pride, Trudy Wheeler, Kathi Bray Heatherly, Jane McCaslin, Leann Danner Eisenreich. Seated: Kathryn Mitchell, Connie Teaford Wilt, Debbie Raziano, Jeanine Peterson Triplett.

DAP Woman of the Year

Nancy Yokomizo

Denver alumnae chapter's Nancy Kishiyama Yokomizo, Western State (Colorado)-EA, was recently named Denver Alumnae Panhellenic's Woman of the Year.

Nancy represented Delta Zeta in Panhellenic for nine years, took two years off, and then returned to go through officer rotation for another six year commitment. She served as president three years ago.

Twice president of the Denver alumnae chapter, Nancy has also held almost every other chapter office. She received the Achoth Award at Convention this summer.

President of the Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs. In addition, Minnie is active in the Tuscaloosa alumnae chapter and has been instrumental in establishing two endowed scholarships at the university in honor of Alpha Gamma Founder Frances Pickens Lewis and in memory of Alpha Gamma member Kimberly Lynne Lancaster.

Alpha Gamma chapter and indeed all Delta Zetas are proud of the accomplishments of these three fine graduates of the University of Alabama.

FHM Award Winners

Pages could be written of the accomplishments of this year's FHM award winners. This leadership award for juniors, named in honor of Historian Florence Hood Miner, is presented to six collegiate leaders who have brought honor to themselves and to their chapters.

Laura Alred Northeastern (OK)-ΔΦ

Laura, or Buffy to her friends, is majoring in Speech and Language Pathology and is a continuous Dean's Honor Roll student. She performs with the Majestics drill and dance team, is fine arts chairman for the Activities Board, is a Redman Ambassador and is serving her second term as chapter president, and so was at convention to receive her award personally.

Laura Alred
Northeastern (OK)-ΔΦ

Christy Ames Louisville-BT

Christy was recently elected president of the Student Government Association at Louisville and won a scholarship to attend the Sears Women Leaders Conference, one of two women invited from each state. As song chairman for Beta Gamma, she led the chapter to first place in the Fryberger Sing this spring. She is also a new member of Omicron Delta Kappa, national leadership honorary.

Christy Ames
Louisville-BT

Jana Beddow Nebraska Wesleyan-BT

Jana is a member of Cardinal Key, Beta Beta Beta (biology honorary) and Phi Alpha Theta (history) but her greatest honor came this spring when she was awarded the $30,000 Harry S. Truman Scholarship, a prestigious scholarship presented to only one student in each state. She serves as a community volunteer and for Delta Zeta has served as homecoming chairman and as piano accompanist for rush and special events.

Jana Beddow
Nebraska Wesleyan-BT

Andree Braud
LSU-Σ

Active in Student Government Association, Angel Flight, Gamma Beta Phi, Society of Professional Journalists to name a few, Andree is also a news writer and anchor for KLSU radio, writes and operates a camera for LSUTV and is a staff writer for Greek Columns, the Greek newspaper. She has held several offices for Sigma chapter and was pictured in a recent LAMP as Plaquemines Parish Fair and Orange Festival Queen.

Andree Braud
LSU-Σ

Dorothy Campbell
Auburn-BE

Active in Panhellenic, SGA and Recruiters at Auburn, Dorothy wants to become a youth minister after graduation. She lists Lambda Sigma (sophomore leadership), Cardinal Key as activities and spends a lot of time in community service, namely campus blood drives and for the American Heart Association and Habitat for Humanity.

Alumnae Chapters Write . . .

ARLINGTON (Texas) alumnae chapter co-hosted the 25th Anniversary Rose Ball with Iota Psi members at Texas/Arlington. State Senator Jane Gray Nelson spoke at the event. The chapter hosted its third Golf Classic with all proceeds donated to the House Ear Institute and the Arlington Regional Program for the Deaf. They presented a $200 scholarship at the collegiate/alumnae awards dinner.

ATLANTA (Georgia) alumnae held a successful raffle to assist ways and means and planned a cookout to attract recent graduates.

ATLANTA-Cobb (Georgia) alumnae chapter received its charter on April 7. The new chapter's monthly gatherings have included dinner at a local restaurant, lessons in giving a great massage and a night at the movies. Movie night featured a video on the speech and hearing impaired. Several danced for a good cause at a "Big Brother, Big Sister" sock hop and the entire chapter bowled to raise money for the foundation.

ATLANTA-GWINNETT (Georgia) alumnae chapter organized a county wide fund raiser sponsored also by the Speech Pathology Programs of the Gwinnett Hospital System and the Gwinnett County School System. During the May "bring your own salad" dinner the chapter acknowledged Speech and Hearing Month with a presentation on hearing and language disabilities by President Dwana Guntrum, coordinator of Speech Pathology and Audiology Services of the Gwinnett Hospital System.

Members of the AUSTIN (Texas) alumnae chapter participated in the spring Austin Alumnae Panhellenic's fund day and style show. This fund-raiser provides two qualified young Greek women with financial assistance through a scholarship. Austin Panhellenic scholarship contributions have totaled over $16,000. Members also contributed their time and effort in a morning of yard detail at the Vaughn House, a workshop teaching deaf, multi-handicapped adults the necessary vocational and independent living skills so they may live and work in the community. Delta Zetas pruned trees, cleared away yard debris and planted new shrubs and flowers.

BAYOU (Louisiana) helped Kappa Alpha celebrate its 25th anniversary on May 15 with a tea at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Quentin Falgoust. This was followed by a reunion in the evening. The chapter presented its annual award to a collegian to Kappa Alpha's Amie Ranson.

The CHICAGO FAR WEST (Illinois) alumnae

Atlanta-Cobb County (Georgia) alumnae chapter was chartered on April 7.

The fifth alumnae chapter to be organized in the Atlanta area in the last two years is Atlanta-Stone Mountain. Province Alumnae Director Sara Rosier Bush (standing, center) is to be congratulated for "marching through Georgia" with such fantastic results! tage of Jewel, a local grocery store chain, during its fundraiser days by shopping there with the chapter receiving 5% of what the members spent.

CLEVELAND EASTSIDE (Ohio) alumnae chapter had a program with representatives from the Women's Community Foundation. The organization focuses on women and girls in need and offers grants to local emerging programs which might have difficulty finding access to other funding sources. Pat Higgins Leach, Miami-A, chaired the Secretaries' Day Tote of Terrific Treats project for Bellflower Center for the Prevention of Child Abuse, a newly adopted project of the chapter.

COLUMBUS (Ohio) alumnae chapter held its 23rd annual Flame Fantasy style show and luncheon with proceeds of more than $570 going to the Ohio School for the Deaf and the Delta Zeta Foundation. Alumnae will spend the summer cross-stitching pin pillows for Ohio State-Θ and Ohio Wesleyan-AP pledges and will present them at a joint Founders Day celebration.

DALLAS (Texas) alumnae chapter members were volunteers at a silent auction and dinner honoring the National Champion Dallas Cowboys, with the proceeds benefiting the Autistic Treatment Center of Dallas. Other volunteer events include the annual golf tournament and Dallas Auto Show. For Easter the alums sold big baskets well stocked with baked goods, candy and bunnies to the parents of members of Kappa Zeta at North Texas University. Alumnae also honored graduating KZ seniors. Recent fundraisers included a garage sale, candy and Tupperware sales.

EL PASO (Texas) alumnae chapter president Prestene Dehrkoop and her husband hosted an ice cream social and tour of their extensive rose gardens for the members. The installation of officers was enhanced with a gift of live roses for each officer.

FAIRFIELD COUNTY (Connecticut) alumnae chapter won chapter excellence awards at Province Weekend and member Pat Clarke Bliedorn, Minnesota-Γ was named Pride of the PAD. In May alumnae cleaned out their attics and garages and staged a giant tag sale where they earned over $500 profit.

GOLD COAST (Florida) alumnae will be hosting a Delta Zeta Worldwide Reunion on Saturday, January 29, 1994, at the Ocean Club, 1155 Hillsboro Mile, Hillsboro Beach, Florida. All Delta Zetas in the area whether residents or visitors are invited. For more information call Carr Lee March, Gold Coast's president, at 305/735-6427.

INDIANAPOLIS NORTH CENTRAL (Indiana) alumnae chapter members participated in a March of Dimes walkathon and several participated in a canine walk to benefit the Indianapolis Humane Society.

MONTGOMERY (Alabama) alumnae chapter planned their inaugural Flame Fantasy fashion show for August with proceeds benefitting local and national philanthropies. The show was covered both by a local TV show and society sections of local newspapers.

Linda Brueggemann Seymour, Moorhead State-ΘΝ (right) received the Betsy Bradley Leach Alumnae Service Award from California Lamp-lighter President Betty Barbieri Bragg, Penn State-ΓΔ at Province XV Day.

MUNCIE (Indiana) alumnae chapter activities include making a donation to the Ball State University Speech and Hearing Clinic, donating pennies to Pennies with a Purpose which benefitted Hillcroft Center for the Developmentally Disabled and filling Easter eggs with candy for residents of the Delaware County Children's Home. Long-time Muncie member and former National Officer Dorris Pike Silverthorn, Northwestern-AA, received the state's Lamp Lighter Award for her consistent and ongoing contributions to Delta Zeta.

NORTHERN VIRGINIA (Virginia) alumnae chapter was busy last spring with the newly established Omicron Sigma chapter at Gallaudet. At installation, they presented the chapter with a banner. They gathered "toys for tots" for the Marine Corps campaign and later toured the White House.

ORANGE COUNTY (California) alumnae chapter took their share of awards at Province Day in San Pedro and Linda Seymour was presented the Province Alumnae Service Award. Girls Night Out included a bowling party.

CENTRAL PHILADELPHIA (Pennsylvania) alumnae chapter received good publicity in an article in the April Courier-Post. The article read: "This Sunday's USA Weekend recognizes the approximately 197,000 Americans who volunteered to join its Make A Difference Day. Linda Dennison Tapp (Drexel-EZ) of Cherry Hill told the Sunday magazine about her sorority's volunteer work at the Archbishop Ryan School for Children with Hearing Impairment. The sorority, the Central Philadelphia Alumnae Chapter of Delta Zeta, worked to clean up the yard around the school in North Philadelphia. The group raked up 92 bags of leaves, then cleared out the glass and trash under the leaves."

GREATER SEATTLE (Washington) alumnae chapter hosted its 30th annual Flame Fantasy luncheon and style show with proceeds benefitting local and national philanthropies for the hearing impaired and collegiate projects.

ST. PETERSBURG (Florida) alumnae chapter installed new officers at a spring luncheon and Karly Klemp Burns, East Carolina-ZΛ received the Alumnae Service Award in recognition of her accomplishments and commitment to Delta Zeta, and especially to the alumnae chapter. The award was presented by Lucile Crowell Cooks, Miami-A, President Emerita of the National Historical Museum.

TUSCALOOSA (Alabama) alumnae chapter and Alpha Gamma chapter at Alabama hosted their annual Easter egg hunt on the grounds of the President's mansion on campus. Mary Claire McDermott and Miriam Webster McFarland, both Alabama-AΓ, organized the collection and hiding of over 400 eggs for the children served by the Center for Hearing and Speech Impaired Children. After the hunt, the 40 children had refreshments at the Delta Zeta house. The chapter also gave a monetary gift to the Center and honored Alpha Gamma seniors with a salad supper.

Phyllis Prater Porter: Girl Scout

by Jane Andrews Bedke, Utah-BZ
Salt Lake City Alumnae Chapter

Phyllis Prater Porter, Utah-BZ '29 has been an active member of Delta Zeta ever since that graduation date and has also distinguished herself as a 68-year member of Girl Scouting.

Phyllis became a member of Troop 4, in Salt Lake City, Utah, in 1925 while attending West High School. The meetings were held in the Lafayette School with Mrs. Cletting as leader of the troop. Phyllis worked constantly and very hard, earning all the merit badges offered at that time — 48 in all.

In 1930 along with three other young women, she was awarded her Golden Eagle Scout Badge at a special service hosted by then Governor of Utah, George Dern. The following summer Phyllis was a counselor at Camp Andre Clark, located in upstate New York, across the Hudson River from Sing Sing Prison. There she taught pioneering to 50 new girls every two weeks, some from as far away as Europe. Along with the fun, they were plagued with mosquitoes, poison ivy and fireflies.

Every summer after that until her marriage in 1935, Phyllis was a counselor at Camp Pinar, in Big Cottonwood Canyon just five miles below the famous ski resort of Brighton. Phyllis' Scout name was Breezy, and she still answers to that name. In addition to the counseling, she was a leader of two different troops in Salt Lake City.

The four young women who were awarded their Golden Eagle Badges in 1930 are all still alive and are called the Golden Eaglets. And of the group of counselors at old Camp Pinar, 12 are still alive and are called Pinarites. While raising her son and teaching school, Phyllis was only semi-active but did work with Tree-Foil, (older scouts) planning and working with all their activities.

Phyllis can still wear her original khaki uniform adorned with her merit badges and various pins and identifying emblems. When she has no more use for it, it will be displayed at the new Scout Museum in Salt Lake City. To show that she is still a working Scout, in April Phyllis took charge of a Girl Scout Cookie Sale at her retirement home with cadettes from Troop 14 helping her with the sales.

Ruth Gaddis Jeffries

Delta Zeta's first editor of The LAMP, Ruth Gaddis Jeffries, Miami-A '08 has died in Tucson, Arizona.

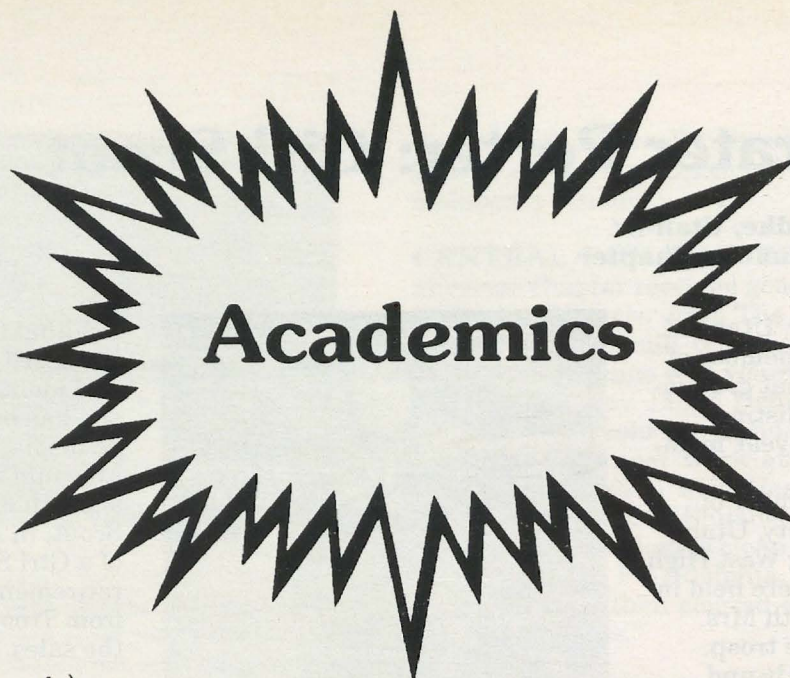

Our pioneering editor, Ruth was an old hand at trail-blazing for Delta Zeta. She was one of those selected for the reviving of Alpha chapter in 1908; she assisted at the installations of Delta and Epsilon chapters. But, best of all, she was an enthusiastic and tireless worker.

Ruth was present at the 1910 convention when it was decided that Delta Zeta should have a magazine and she was everyone's choice for editor. She began her duties and in December of that year presented the sorority with Volume 1, Number 1. It is a slight little thing of 46 pages, with a brown cover completely lacking in eye appeal, but it was perused with delight by the Delta Zetas.

Subscription to the magazine had been made compulsory for college members at the 1910 convention but that was the sole financial arrangement made by the national organization for financing this venture. Ruth thus performed her work with the handicap of a treasury too much like Old Mother Hubbard's cupboard. The printer of that first issue was her uncle, a DePauw Sigma Chi. We suspect the cost was very modest, knowing Ruth and her persuasive ways. She later said she wanted a green cover but brown paper was all they had!

After marriage and moving to Arizona, Ruth became very involved with Republican politics. During the Eisenhower days she was Regional Director for the Southwest and then vice president of the National Federation of Republican Women. One of her nicest political stints was representing Arizona when Hawaii became a state. Ruth always kept in touch with Delta Zetas through her friends and her granddaughter Pat, who was initiated at Gamma Nu chapter at Eastern Illinois. Her last national convention appearance was in 1970 in Phoenix, where she was accompanied by Pat.

Delta Zeta on Campus

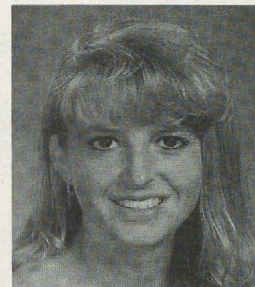

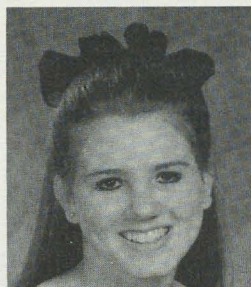

by Diane Jones Skelton

Today's writer writes for a sophisticated, diversified audience particularly sensitive to vocabulary. In our specialized world, there are numerous vocabularies and jargons — education, computer, legal, to name a few. There are gender-sensitive dictionaries and word lists for writing about the disabled. No Greek-sensitive lists are in print, but a Greek thesaurus could help today's alumna reader. Old terms, quota, ceiling, limitation, total, still hold true, but trendy "sensitive" words are emerging.

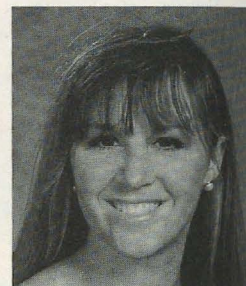

To remove the stigma of the word pledge (long gone is the true meaning of promise) new members will soon be called just that, new members. They are taught about the sorority by "educators" not "trainers." Getting together with sorority sisters for girl-fun means going to an SNO (Sisters Night Out) or a sisterhood. Chapter officers and "executive boards" have transformed into "E-Boards" or Exec Boards.

Many chapters have "family trees" where they can trace long lines of big and little sisters or (what some chapters call) pledge moms and daughters. Many can trace over five generations!

Jewelry language includes being ribboned, pledged (or pinned) or initiated. When love sparkles a woman can be lavaliered (dropped in the South) if she wears a fraternity charm or drop around her neck. Those not "dropped" might choose to participate in a chapter social function. "Socials" might be a "crush" party (invite a fellow you've got a crush on by sending him a Crush soda) or grab-a-date. The term grab-a-date is akin to a "date-dash." Members learn minutes before the social event and simply "dash" out and find a date for themselves and/or someone else. They might go to a "mixer" or an "exchange" (swap is passee) with a fraternity group.

The newest term refers to dress. If the occasion calls for a nice Sunday dress, Delta Zeta badge included, notice is given for "pin wear" or "badge attire."

By the way, Delta Zeta is composed of women not girls, and we women belong to an international, not national, sorority.

ALABAMA

Alabama-Huntsville, Lambda Kappa

— Members celebrated sisterhood with a retreat at Lorraine Miller's home. Delta Zetas spent the evening getting to know each other, playing games, and learning a new country-western line dance. Delta Zetas joined with other Greeks for three-legged races, barrel races and Greek Stepshow during Greek Week. Lancers includes Jana Jobes, Jennifer Whitman, Jennifer Johnson, Nichole Crutcher and Anissa Moore.

Auburn, Beta Xi — At province festivities, the chapter won the Grimes-Sturkie Award for best chapter; Best Overall Pledge Program honors; the philanthropy award; merit awards for rush quota, total, fewest depledgings and highest initiation. Beta Xi also won certificates for activities, social and pledge program. Panhellenic honored Delta Zeta with its Social Butterfly Award, and Dolly Campbell was named Auburn's Greek Woman of the Year. She also reigned as a queen in New Orleans Mardi Gras and serves Student Recruiters as vice president. Dolly Campbell won the Margaret Bunn Merit Award as most outstanding junior. Beta Xi honored graduating seniors with two events: a cook-out social and a chapter party where seniors read their last wills and testaments. Serving on the SGA Cabinet are Heather Bearden and Tanya Counter. Members of honoraries are Heidi Schiller, Lambda Sigma; Kelly Ann Ernest, Kristen Strack, Dolly Campbell, Order of Omega; Tara White, Rho Lambda; Dolly Campbell, Mortar Board, Cater Society. Brandi Morgan won the 1992-93 Alabama Mother-Daughter Pageant, and Jennie Refit is a fraternity sweetheart.

ARKANSAS

Central Arkansas, Epsilon Xi — In Greek Week competition, Delta Zeta won overall games, overall spirit honors, and placed second in All Greek Productions. Their entry was a western skit, dance and songs. Epsilon Xi won second place, sorority division, in spring intramural events. Epsilon Xi sponsored a crime prevention program for all campus sororities; the guest speaker provided tips on protecting self and surroundings. Parents were treated to an open house, an informative slide show, and lunch at the English Tea Room for Parents' Day. Sisterhood events included the Rose Ball, an ice cream sundae party, and a pizza party. Amy Wiedower is an All American Athletic Scholar and Dee Martin (with a 4.0) is a Presidential Scholar. Amy Wiedower is a UCA Ambassador, and Cheri Tidwell is a fraternity sweetheart. Amanda Hedges is a cheerleader, and Jennifer Duke is Miss Knock-Out.

CALIFORNIA

California State-Fresno, Epsilon Epsilon

— Members welcomed parents for a week-end in May. Fathers enjoyed a trip to a baseball game, while moms were treated to a mother-daughter brunch. Delta Zeta co-sponsored several events in the campus Vintage Days. The chapter raised funds with an unusual raffle: win a date with the entire chapter. The lucky winner was treated to pizza with all the Delta Zetas. In Panhellenic sorority exchange, Delta Zeta enjoyed pizza with another sorority. Members offered fraternities an opportunity to compete in the Second Annual ΔZ Bowl, a flag football showdown. Pledges raised funds with a spaghetti dinner.

California State-Fullerton, Iota Upsilon

— Since Province Day, members have been continuously working to maintain and improve on their Most Outstanding Chapter Award. In anticipation for the Spring Rose Formal, a week was set aside to honor new pledges. Daily, pledges received gifts and special notes. At the formal at the Tustin Ranch Golf Course, Delta Zeta honored its own with chapter awards. Debbie Chien chaired Greek Week, which provided an opportunity for the entire Greek community to raise over $18,500 for Camp Titan, a camp for underprivileged children of Orange County. Greeks, by the way, originally started the camp. In the week's events, Delta Zeta teamed to win a first in lip-sync competition and for the second consecutive time for the Sportsmanship Award. The chapter bid farewell to its three graduating seniors and proudly announces 100% initiation of the spring pledge class.

California State-Long Beach, Delta Alpha

— In a fraternity duckball competition, Delta Zeta won first place in spirit, second in the games, and first in cheer competition. Thirty alumnae were on hand for the Alumnae Dessert. This year's annual Pancake Breakfast, which featured a western theme, raised $1000. Twenty seniors were honored at the chapter's senior ceremony. Delta Alpha initiated 13 pledges.

California State-Los Angeles, Theta Rho

— A busy spring included honoring chapter members at the Rose Formal, participating in softball, inner tube waterpolo and Greek Week, and bidding farewell to 11 graduating seniors.

San Francisco, Xi Lambda

— The chapter's tenth anniversary celebration began with a 9 A.M. initiation service, followed by an anniversary luncheon at the Holiday Inn Union Square. The luncheon featured displays of chapter memorabilia and readings from chapter historians' reports. A special commemorative service honored Carolyn Crispi Ellingson, who had been killed in an auto accident only a few weeks before. Collegians were delighted with the presence of eight chapter founders. Other chapter activities included the rose formal, a pledge-initiate party, and Easter Gram sales. Delta Zeta placed third in Greek Week bowling.

San Jose, Gamma Lambda — At Panhellenic Awards Banquet, Delta Zeta won prestigious awards: most improved chapter grade point average, most improved initiated grade point average, highest overall chapter grade point average, highest initiated grade point average, and overall chapter excellence. College Chapter Director Coleen Hurley was named outstanding advisor, and Gamma Lambda President Andee Nieto was named Sister of the Semester. Debbie Truhe was honored as Greek Woman of the Year. Delta Zeta initiated seven new members, and is now the largest sorority on campus! Spring chapter events included an alumna pool party, a Sister Appreciation Week, and a mother-daughter luncheon. Members also helped "kick off" Greek Week by attending an all Greek picnic. Jan Diehl serves Panhellenic as vice president of communications.

COLORADO

Denver, Rho — Province Weekend began when the Delta Zetas from Fort Hays spent the night in Denver with Rho. Together, both chapters then drove to the mountains for province festivities at Estes Park hosted by Northern Colorado. Rho won awards for quota plus, highest chapter grade point average and highest pledge grade point average. Stephanie Bloomfield was named outstanding member and Susan Ammer was honored as outstanding senior. Heather Tomlinson won the Spark Award, and Laurie Scarbrough won the alumnae scholarship for her perfect 4.0! Rho looks forward to hosting next year's province events in Denver. Over 100 people were on hand to honor seniors at the chapter's formal at Embassy Suites. Delta Zeta participated in Greek Week and in five philanthropic fraternity competitions. Delta Zeta won first place in two of the competitions. Susan Ammer is a fraternity sweetheart. Delta Zeta won the Coordinator's Cup at the All-Greek Awards Banquet, and won second place in GAMMA competition for their efforts in alcohol awareness.

Northern Colorado, Delta Xi — Delta Zeta welcomed collegians and alumnae when the chapter hosted Province Weekend in Estes Park. Collegians and alumnae stayed in lodges and participated in events as country dancing, skits, seminars and games. Delta Zeta initiated six pledges, and won third place in Greek Week. Members raised chapter funds with a Bowl-a-thon. Alumnae were honored with a barbecue. Members also enjoyed their Kilarney Rose Ball. Incoming freshmen toured the Delta Zeta house to experience an example of Greek life.

year's Greek Week was geared primarily to improving the Tallahassee community. In the biggest event of the week, Frenchtown Fix-Up, fraternity and sorority teams each repaired a house. Social events of the week included Skit Night, where Delta Zeta and the chapter's fraternity partner won first place with Guys and Dolls. Greek Week ended with Walk America, a March of Dimes benefit. Though the weather didn't cooperate for the walk, members were still able to collect their pledge money for the charity. Members enjoyed a sisterhood picnic at Lake Ella, and the chapter's team placed first overall in the sorority division of softball. Liza Park, campus homecoming chairman, is a member of Omicron Delta Kappa. Diane Boettger is member of Phi Beta Kappa. As a Greek Ambassador, Melissa Allen promotes Greeks in high schools. Lisa Bigazzi and Melanie Hildenbrand won third place honors in a sorority tennis tournament benefitting philanthropy.

GEORGIA

Georgia College, Lambda Pi — A busy February included the initiation of 12 pledges and an alumnae weekend. The chapter's homecoming float won most creative honors and the chapter homecoming representative earned second runner-up honors. The chapter's intramural basketball team placed second. Members raised money with a jewelry raffle and held a walk-a-thon for the American Cancer Society.

Georgia State, Delta Delta — At Province Day, Delta Delta was honored for the second consecutive year with Pride of the Province honors. The chapter was also honored with the Reporting Award and the Turtle Award. Kristie Morris won a GPA Award for her 3.67 cumulative grade point average. Parents enjoyed a parents' dinner and white elephant auction planned by the chapter. Faculty members enjoyed Apple Break, a Delta Zeta event featuring apple pie and drinks to recognize and honor the faculty. To raise funds for the chapter treasury, members sold Blow Pops and magazines, and worked a booth at Six Flags.

ILLINOIS

DePaul, Theta Theta — At the University's annual Greek Council Awards Banquet, Delta Zeta was honored for the best rush program, the best educational programming, and as most active chapter on campus. Kerry Wantuck was named freshman of the year, while Jennifer Stransky was named sophomore of the year. Kristie Savage was named senior of the year and Nicole Reed was pledge of the year. Over 300 people were on hand for the chapter's annual Greeks of the Year Dance. More than 35 alumnae returned for the chapter's tea honoring alumnae. For the first time, the chapter had its awards banquet (chapter awards) at the formal.

Eureka, Pi — Several Delta Zetas were among those honored by Eureka College: Tasha Somers is Outstanding Freshman Student of the Year; Jennifer Arbuthnot is Outstanding Sophomore Student of the Year, Lisa Wells is Outstanding Junior Student of the Year; and Stacy Sarat is the Woman of the Year. Chanee Howard is Junior Class president, while Jennifer Zucaro is Pre-Law Society president. Leading the freshman class are Dawn LaFollette, president, and Sarah Lunt, vice president. Delta Zeta is again the largest sorority on campus. Graduating seniors were honored with a ceremony, and members traveled to Decatur for province festivities.

Illinois, Alpha Beta — Delta Zeta teamed to win first place Showstoppers honors with their rendition of Peter Pan's Adventures in the annual Atius-Sachem Mom's Day Sing. At Province Weekend in Decatur, AB won honors for highest grade point average, highest pledge class average and activities. Lynn McDonald was named outstanding recording secretary, and Sandy Bierbauer was named outstanding treasurer. Members enjoyed a Medieval Masquerade Dance where Delta Zetas and dates dressed in medieval garb, danced, and were entertained by a medieval storyteller and fortune teller. Mom's Day activities included a silent auction, a brunch, and a ceremony honoring moms. Graduating seniors were honored with Senior Week, which included a picnic, pizza party, senior pals, and senior ceremonies. Members of honoraries are Kristi Champion, Linda Rock, Krista Machovina, Kris Van Lake, Pam Hartman, Golden Key; Kristi Champion, Krista Machovina, Kris Van Lake, Kim Wilson, Phi Kappa Phi; Karen Scheeler, Seema Chandarana, Melissa Ray, Sandy Jodlowski, Toni Pelaez, Nora Lawrence, Deb Meyer, Phi Eta Sigma; Seema Chandarana, treasurer, and Toni Pelaez, Alpha Lambda Delta; and Jenna Deysher, Toni Pelaez, Shi-Ai sophomore honorary. Kim Wilson serves Alpha Pi Mu as president and was honored with their Outstanding Junior in Industrial Engineering Award. MaryBeth Kauss is membership director for Society of Women Engineers, and Andrea Park is art director for the Daily Illini. Working with Panhellenic are Kris Van Lake, Krista Machovina, Shawn Marie Pelak, Rho Chi rush counselors; and Becki Stanley, co-chairman of the Greek Risk Management Committee. Jennifer Hughey was honored as Panhellenic's Outstanding Chapter President. Dana Ruther, a member of Phi Beta Kappa, won a bronze tablet award for graduating in the top three-percent of her class. Kacey Gates is a member of Alpha Zeta, and Melissa Holub is a member of Omicron Delta Epsilon engineering society. Fraternity sweethearts are Jennifer Jorgenson and Gina Pogue.

Southern Illinois, Gamma Omega — In a successful spring rush, Delta Zeta added a quota pledge class of 32, the second largest in chapter history. Denise Doerge was named Chief of Staff for Undergraduate Student Government. Kathleen Lange is secretary of Egyptian Divers Scuba Club, and Heather Perry was elected treasurer of the Student Dieticians Association. Michelle Kinnamon is a new member of Order of Isis. Sphinx Club includes Tara Coyle, Lezlie McEvers and Jennifer Tygett. Renee Lenart is a member of Aviation Management Society, Aircraft Owners and Pilots Association, and 99s-Women in Aviation. Fraternity sweethearts are Holly Kohlman, Shelly Merrick and Judi Quigg. As a chapter fundraiser, members usher at Shryock Auditorium.

INDIANA

Ball State, Gamma Chi — At Province Day, Gamma Chi won awards for rush programming and philanthropies and were honored with the Grace Mason Lundy Outstanding Pledge Education Program Award and the Pride of the Province award. Michelle Laidlaw was named outstanding senior. Tina Prather won the Derby Days scholarship. Volleyball and swimming were just a few of the activities when the chapter "retreated" to the local YMCA for a sisterhood retreat. Mira Coleman was named Outstanding Student of 1993 by the Student Leadership Board, and Michelle Laidlaw won first runner-up honors for Miss Ball State. Serving on campus steering committees are Sheri Hall, homecoming, and Nadine Conway, Greek Week. Fraternity sweethearts are Heather Hall, Karen Holtsberg and Shannon Arthur. Amy Hayes was among the top five finalists for Greek Week Queen.

DePauw, Delta — After only six years since recolonization Delta Zeta has been honored with the prestigious President's Award for Fraternal Excellence. The award, presented at Greek Leadership Conference, recognized Delta Zeta's continuous achievements and growth and "recognizes outstanding chapters in the Greek community who demonstrate achievement in the areas of scholarship, chapter leadership, community relations, and Panhellenic relations." The chapter also won awards for Outstanding Alumnae Relations and Outstanding Campus Involvement. Each chapter on campus was required to submit a detailed application which was reviewed by members of the DePauw community; the final approval was delivered by the DePauw's President. Seven chapter members were on hand at the conference to accept the award for the chapter. Social events included a semiformal Valentine Dinner at the house and the Kilarney Rose Ball honoring seniors at the Walden Inn. Seniors were also honored by alumnae with a Senior Salad Supper. Alumnae were honored with the chapter's first Little 5 Alumnae Cook-out. Delta Zeta co-hosted a standards program on eating disorders. Members traveled to Indianapolis for Province Day activities which included workshops, award presentations and lunch. Staff members of The DePauw are Anne Keller, assistant news editor, and Karen Reeves, assistant features editor. Anne is also a deejay for WGRE campus radio. Carrie Schaefer and Renee Schuler are peer counselors.

Indiana, Epsilon — Gabe Mickels, Holly Andrews and Heather Hardin trained all semester for the Sixth Annual Little 500 Women's Race. The training paid off, as they placed 13th and finished the entire 100 laps. Tricia Thompson and Stephanie Sharp won province awards at Province Day in Indianapolis. Alexis Sternstein is a member of Blue Key honorary, and Laurel Larson is a fraternity sweetheart. Delta initiated 34 pledges in the spring.

Southern Indiana, Lambda Beta — Delta Zeta earned the highest grade point average among sororities! The chapter placed second in the Annual Eagle Grand Prix, and top honors in the campus All-Greek intramural competition. Seniors were honored with a farewell dinner. Fundraisers included a taco dinner on campus and an auction. Sisterhood events included roller skating parties, pizza parties, and a trip to play miniature golf. Nancy Sieben was honored as Woman of the Year at USI, and Nicole Brown reigned as Greek Goddess. Jena Knopfmeier will serve as next year's Presentation Ball Chairman, and Michele Jones will be Panhellenic's vice president of rush.

IOWA

Iowa, Iota — Special guest for the chapter's 80th anniversary celebration at the Highlander Inn was Florence Hood Miner. Many chapter members traveled to Omaha for Province Day. Delta Zeta won a bronze plaque for Greek Week participation, and captured first place honors in a fraternity softball competition. Sales of magazines and compact discs were profitable fundraisers. Seniors were honored with a barbecue and Senior Wills.

KENTUCKY

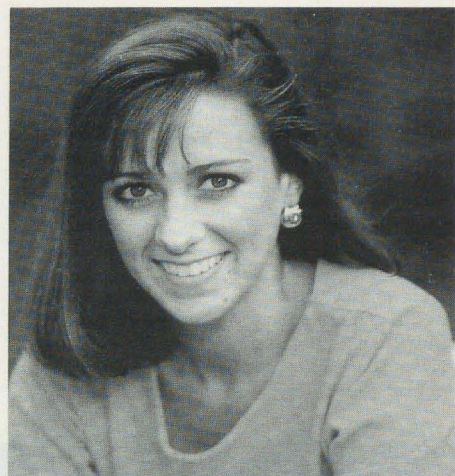

Eastern Kentucky, Xi Beta — Members honored the memory of Delta Zeta pledge Holly Goodrich at a campus memorial. Delta Zeta planted a tree in the ravine located in the center of the campus in her memory. Members enjoyed an all sorority mixer, Back to the Beach, and sold cotton candy at Spring Fling. Topics for standards programs included self defense, etiquette and beauty care. Graduating seniors were honored with a banquet.

Louisville, Beta Gamma — Delta Zeta has been honored as the IFC Sorority of the Year, and won championships in both Greek Week and Fryberger Greek Sing. Honored with Greek Choice Awards were Rebecca Cox, Emily Miller and Jenny Jackson. Cindy Cunningham was named most outstanding athlete and Jen Robben was honored as most Greek spirited. Stephanie Beck took second place honors in the Greek Goddess competition. Delta Zeta also won intramural competition and ranked second academically. Chapter activities included a spring formal on the Star of Louisville, senior send-off and the annual cook-out. Jenny Jackson and Lisa Clephas will serve on the Student Orientation staff for Freshman Orientation. Christy Ames is the newly elected U of L Student Government President. Jenny Jackson is president of the School of Education and Lisa Kay Carpenter is a senator. Lisa Clephas serves as president of SOAR.

Moorhead, Kappa Tau — Delta Zeta, teamed with two fraternities, won the Greek Week championship for the second consecutive year! The chapter's carnival booth, Hawaiian Ice, raised money for St. Clair Hospital and was the hit of the carnival. KT also won the annual song competition for the second consecutive year. This year, they presented a rendition of I Love Him from the movie Sister Act. For the third consecutive year, Delta Zeta won Anchor Splash, a grueling swim and water game competition. Paula Creech won second runner-up honors in the Miss MSU Pageant.

LOUISIANA

LSU, Sigma — Delta Zeta dads were honored with the chapter's annual St. Paddy Daddy's Day, a fun-filled day including lunch at the house and games on the fields of the LSU Parade Grounds. Moms, too, had their special time — an afternoon spring luncheon with collegians and the Baton Rouge Alumnae Chapter. Sigma honored its own at a chapter academic banquet, and at a senior picnic. Delta Zeta was honored as a participant in Old Row, which recognized the first few sororities and fraternities to be established on the LSU campus. The chapter proudly opened its doors for incoming freshmen visiting LSU during spring testing. Prospective coeds were given a preview of fall rush as they became acquainted with the chapter and the house. Seniors Kathleen Ansel and Wendy Turner

Brandi Morgan, Auburn-BE won the Alabama Mother-Daughter pageant and will represent the state in the national competition.

Kathy Hebert is commander of Angel Flight, while Auban Burr is Angel Flight pledge educator. Nancy Trahan is vice-commander of Scotch Guard and serves on the overall homecoming committee.

Nicholls, Kappa Alpha — Members celebrated the chapter's 25th anniversary with an afternoon tea for alumnae and colleagues at the home of Marie Falgoust. That evening, all enjoyed a party and the spring formal. The theme for festivities was Delta

MICHIGAN

Ferris State, Zeta Nu — Panhellenic honors for Delta Zeta include most improved grade point average and most improved sorority. By two points, Delta Zeta placed second in Greek Week. The mock rock entry won first place again this year, and the chapter's entry in Greek song and dance placed second. Zeta Nu continues its safe ride program to rent buses to provide students with safe rides home on Thursday nights from various night spots in the Big Rapids area. Two members ride each bus until 2:30 A.M. Parents' Day activities include a brunch at a local restaurant. Members happily welcomed six new pledges with a pizza-sub party, and sadly bid farewell to seniors — in a ceremony that lasted three hours!

Michigan Tech, Lambda Theta — Delta Zeta reached campus total by adding ten new pledges. The chapter was honored by Panhellenic for both most improved grade point average and highest grade point average. Individuals honored by Panhellenic were Kristin Schwalbach, most active; Lisa Saturnino, high grade point in Delta Zeta; Cathy Kuntze and Leah Soules, most improved grade points in Delta Zeta. Chapter activities included a get-together to work on chapter scrapbooks, a rush school, and City Lights, the rose formal held at the Memorial Union Ballroom. Lambda Thetas raised $250 with a car wash; the proceeds will help defray province weekend expenses. Members bid farewell to 15 graduating seniors with Seniors Gift Night.

Northwood, Xi Eta — On March 9, Xi Eta celebrated nine years of Delta Zeta on the Northwood campus. Following a chapter meeting they gathered for cake and reminiscing. In Winter Week, Delta Zeta placed second overall and first in Mock Rock. Their mock rock entry featured a skit based on the movie, The Little Mermaid. Melissa Laydon reigned as Winter Week Queen. Delta Zeta placed third in Greek Week activities, and second in the Mock Rock skit with a rendition of a Prince number. Cindy Davis is one of three seniors listed as Northwood Outstanding Seniors. She joins five other Delta Zetas in the 20 students selected to Who's Who of American Colleges of Business. Honored with Cindy are Cheri Waskevich, Sheryl Droszcz, Melissa Laydon, Valerie King and Anji Roberts. Working on the Entrepreneur campus paper are Cheri Waskevich, editor-in-chief; Valerie King, associate editor-internal; Sheryl Droszcz, advertising manager; Carrie Bellinger, advertising; Dawn Reitz, photo/graphics editor; and Jennifer Shovlin, sports editor. Coming on staff for next year will be Beth Wischman, advertising manager; Stefanie Dabrowski, billing manager; Amy Grice, Meggan Hayes, Sherry Van Steenkiste, advertising sales staff. The homecoming court included Amber Ventimiglia, Michelle Nunner, Katy Kochendorfer, Amy Grice, Dawn Reitz and Michelle Gricar. Cindy Davis earned Dean's List honors and served as a senator.

MINNESOTA

St. Cloud, Theta Mu — Members traveled to the Minneapolis Metrodome Hilton for Province Weekend where they attended workshops dealing with topics as hazing, ritual and Panhellenic procedures. Shelly Monitor was honored as outstanding senior and Michele Hurley was named outstanding Delta Zeta at province weekend.

MISSISSIPPI

Southern Mississippi, Epsilon Mu — During USM Greek Week, Delta Zetas and other Greeks celebrated Great Things Come in Greek Letters and the university's birthday. Delta Zeta was honored by USM Greek Life as the Most Improved Sorority. The chapter was also honored by another sorority with the Rape Awareness Award and a pizza party. At province conference in Thibodaux, the chapter won the Margaret Buchanan Attendance Award. Individuals honored were Sarintha Steepleton, Jackson Alumnae Pledge Scrapbook Award; Christina Chadwick, outstanding pledge award; Chrissa Roberts, Hattiesburg Alumnae Senior Scholarship Award; Karen Moody, spirit award; and Sheri Miller, crest award. Members enjoyed meeting Marvona Tavlin, international president, at province conference. Members welcomed a visit from a chapter consultant and honored parents and alumnae with a banquet. Jenn Hammond was tapped for Gamma Beta Phi and Robyn Armstrong was named most outstanding resident assistant.

MISSOURI

Central Missouri, Epsilon Gamma — The chapter hosted Province Day festivities at the Adam's Mark in Kansas City, and took home awards for Most Sisterly Chapter, total, quota, Dr. Ruth Towne Cooperation Award, Most Outstanding Chapter, sorority education, standards and philanthropy. Members enjoyed a sisterhood event at a chapter member's house. Activities included a barbecue, games, trampoline bouncing, a hayride and singing songs around a campfire. Deanna Rehagen was named one of Top Five CMSU seniors.

Missouri-St. Louis, Iota Xi — At Province Day in Kansas City, Iota Xi won awards for total and outstanding pledge program. Both the chapter treasurer and corresponding secretary, Laurie Hargis, were honored as outstanding province officers. Patty Graziani won the St. Louis Alumnae Panhellenic Scholarship and was honored as Greek Woman of the Year. Christy George was named a Greek scholar. Delta Zeta won first place in swim and sign competitions and second place overall during Greek Week. Beth Titlow is a founder and president of College Republicans. Earning Dean's List honors are Christy George, Laurie Hargis, Kim Keachie, Kimberly Tanner, Joanne Tipp and Stephanie Walton.

Northeast Missouri, Delta Sigma — At Province XI Day, Delta Sigma won awards for outstanding activities programming and outstanding pledge education. The chapter tied for first place as the chapter with the highest grade point average! During Greek Week, Heather Smith won third in the stand-up comedy competition, and the Delta Zeta airband won second place in competition. Denise Mulhearn was named NMSU's Outstanding Woman of the Year, and Kris Siena is a fraternity sweetheart.

Northwest Missouri, Epsilon Rho — EPs traveled to Kansas City for Province Day and brought home awards for total and quota. Terri Schroer was honored for creating the best scrapbook. Lee Hawkins was tapped for Phi Kappa Delta and participated in national forensics competition. Francie Miller played Maria in a production of West Side Story. Jennifer Shug reigned as Tower Queen during Northwest Week.

Southwest Missouri, Epsilon Nu — Each weekend from March to May was booked solid with chapter activities. According to Chapter Editor Melissa Hragyil, "surviving the number of important events that just so happened to run concurrently . . . and still trying to meet above average (academic) standards" was the most important event in the chapter. The busy schedule allowed only two and a half weeks for practice for Greek Week talent night. But, she reports, Delta Zetas work best under pressure and their alphabet theme with appearances by Big Bird, The Count and Oscar the Grouch, and a small group house dance "brought the house down." The EN entry won second place. The theme for Greek Week was No Matter the Letter, We're All Greek Together. The spring formal, Delta Diamond, was a black tie affair where the chapter honored its own. Members attended a date rape seminar. For the third consecutive year, EN is intramural soccer champion. Chapter president Leigh Urhahn and past chapter president Tina Kremer organized a Striving for Excellence presentation which fea-

ed them, but Delta Zetas were lining up possible dates for each other or themselves. Panhellenic Rho Chi rush counselors are Shane Weiss and Stacey Lee. Kimberly Knowles is vice president of rush for Panhellenic. Jay Jay Held is serving her second term as vice president for Consolidated Students of the University.

NEW JERSEY

Stockton, Omicron Beta — They welcomed 15 new pledges, then bid farewell to 25 seniors. New turtle costumes and banners kept Delta Zeta's spirits high during Greek Week. The chapter placed in volleyball, softball and spirit, won the key toss, Kappa Chis at Youngstown won first place in 1993 Greek Sing.

tures faculty, staff and Delta Zeta excellence in financial management, pledge education, academics and community relations. More than a dozen Delta Zeta were tapped for Order of Omega Greek honorary; officers include Rachael Nordman, secretary, and Amy Bailey, president. ENs bid farewell to seniors with a ceremony. Suzi Hobbs is a fraternity sweetheart.

NEVADA

Nevada-Las Vegas, Iota Phi — The chapter won province awards for highest grade point average, quota, most improved grade point average, and alumnae relations. The chapter also won the Greek Week theme contest with their entry: The Day Zeus Broke Free — Greek Week '93. Iota Phi organized a tuition raffle for a fundraiser, and raised $100 for the chapter in Unity Fest. Members decided they needed a "Grab a Date" party when Sunday night roll call indicated that 75% of the chapter did not have a date for Rose Ball. Therefore, every Delta Zeta invited two men to a Grab A Date party. Men did not know who invited them, but Delta Zetas were lining up possible dates for each other or themselves. Panhellenic Rho Chi rush counselors are Shane Weiss and Stacey Lee. Kimberly Knowles is vice president of rush for Panhellenic. Jay Jay Held is serving her second term as vice president for Consolidated Students of the University.

NEW YORK

Clarkson, Xi Rho — The chapter boasts five President's Scholars: Bethany Haynes, Jennifer Wu, Erin Fahey, Carleena Breed and Katherine Zambrano. Bethany, Jennifer, Carleena and Katherine also earned Dean's List honors along with Kerry Burke, Kim Marie Curtice, Wendy Phraner, Christine Gillmet, Beth McCage, Dana Francesconi, Mary Szypajlo, Christina Anderson, Michele Kelley, Stacy Baltus, Claudia Geppi, Chrissy Howard, Alyson Giorlando, Kathy Crowe, Beth Sweda, Kymberlie Sweenor and Tara Yoraschek. Campus senate includes Shelley Wagner, Kathy Crowe, and Carleena Breed. Members of honoraries are Kim Marie Curtice, Tara Masiak, Sigma Tau Iota; Christina Anderson, Pi Tau Sigma; and Alyson Giorlando, Kathy Crowe, Order of Omega. Alyson was also tapped for Phalanx Senior Honorary. Clarkson Ambassadors includes Alyson Giolando, Carleena Breed and Jennifer Wu. Jennifer, who serves on the Academic Advisory Board, won honors including the Outstanding Student Award, the Elinor McGill Award, and the Thomas Sawyer Award. Carleena Breed won the Florence Carrough Scholarship, and Shelley Wagner is tennis captain. The chapter initiated 18 pledges in March.

Rochester, Lambda Iota — Two days prior to senior graduation, Delta Zeta, with special permission from National Council, initiated the mothers of seniors as alumnae initiates. Other spring activities included senior send-off, philanthropy projects and Province Day. Lambda Iota was recognized for outstanding Inter-Greek Relations on campus. Honored at Province Day were Gail Speakman, outstanding senior, and Abbie Marter, outstanding sophomore. Abbie serves Panhellenic as secretary. Tapped for Order of Omega are Laurie Ferguson, Pam Jordan and Hillary Nixon. Phi Beta Kappa tapped Jen Russell and Jenni Czepak. Studying abroad will be Jen Cunningham, in Germany, and Sheryl Dresser, in England.

NORTH CAROLINA

Barton College, Theta Omega — Delta Zetas bobbed up and down in an imaginary cornfield and told jokes in their Hee Haw, Where Oh Where Are You Tonight? entry in Greek Sing. Their number included rollicking tunes as Rocky Top, What I Like About You, Mountain Music and Boot Scootin' Boogie, and featured musical props as cardboard fiddles, spoons, jugs and washboards. The entry was complete with choreography and a few Delta Zeta tumblers! And, for the second consecutive year, Delta Zeta won Greek Sing competition. Other Greek Week events included creating spirit banners, games, and competing with faculty in a Greek-Faculty Basketball Game. As a fundraiser, members sold raffle tickets for merchandise donated by area businesses. Winners were announced at Pre-Exam Jam. The chapter honored its own with awards at the Rose Ball. Tapped for Gamma Sigma Alpha Honor Society for junior and seniors earning a 3.5 or better were Gina Fadool, Anna Pray, Dottie Bunn and Lisa Broadstreet. Honored by Panhellenic were Anna Pray, Outstanding Greek Woman, and Lydie Gurganus, Outstanding Greek Advisor. Delta Zeta was honored by Panhellenic as outstanding chapter.

Lenoir-Rhyne, Zeta Xi — Delta Zeta hosted a St Patrick's Day party for more than 20 children from the Big Brother-Big Sister program. Zeta Xi said farewell to 11 seniors.

Mars Hill, Omicron Xi — Delta Zeta's first pledge class, which numbered 16, was the largest spring pledge class on campus. At the chapter's first Mother-Daughter Weekend, all enjoyed activities which helped them get to know each. Most embarrassing moments and proudest moments were recalled by moms, and mother-daughter teams played The Mother-Daughter Game, a parody of The Newlywed Game. The weekend ended with a banquet at which fun awards were given, as the mother and daughter who most looked alike and to the mom who had traveled the greatest distance. The chapter traveled to Zeta Xi at Lenoir-Rhyne for a sleep-over. Earning Dean's List honors were Glenda Crompton, Tonia Royals and Patty Curtin. Dolly Bush was tapped for Sigma Tau Delta English honorary, and DeAnn DeBrand won an academic scholarship presented by the Inter-Greek Council. Members learned to "sign" the Delta Zeta Creed and performed it at the chapter's installation banquet.

North Carolina-Charlotte, Kappa Phi — Pledges were honored with a banquet arranged by Pledge Educator Christy Sorahan. The banquet focused on the pledging experience and good times with new sisters. Sisterhood awards were presented at the banquet's closing. Breast cancer was the topic of a chapter standards program. Kappa Phi fundraisers included a car wash and the ever-successful sale of exam packages to parents. New members of Student Alumni Ambassadors are Dee Evans, vice president; Kim Andrews and Shana Hefner. Dee is also recipient of the James and Edith Winningham Scholarship.

North Carolina-Wilmington, Xi Theta

— The chapter's "worst nightmare" came true as the evening of the Rose Cotillion approached. Everyone thought nothing could ruin the great event, but the "Storm of the Century" hit Wilmington with hurricane-force winds and pouring rain. The entire city lost power for days, and the formal had to be cancelled. Social Chairman Shannon Harrington, determined to have a formal, diligently replanned the formal for April 23, and it turned out perfectly! Xi Theta won a first place in balloon toss in Greek Week games, and a fourth place with their talent show entry, Rockin' Through the Years. All Delta Zetas participated in the Take Back the Night March in support of sexual assault awareness.

North Carolina State, Omicron Lambda

— For the last three years, the same sorority has clenched the Greek Week Championship title, that is until Delta Zeta came to NC State! On a beautiful April afternoon, Delta Zeta shocked the Greek community by winning the 1993 Greek Week competition. After not even being chartered a year, Delta Zeta demonstrated what team work and faith can do. The success came not only from winning sports events like volleyball and basketball, but by having the highest sorority participation in the Greek Week Work-a-thon benefitting the March of Dimes. When Paula Payne and Susan Kernodle received the trophy in ceremonies they were so excited that part of the statue broke. The screaming mob of Delta Zetas didn't care, though, and they simply held the trophy together when they posed for victory pictures! Members prepared for rush with a workshop where they discussed plans and conversation ideas, and played word association games and did a little role playing. Real practice came, however, when they joined Xi Sigmas from UNC for a "mock rush" workshop. Social events included going to a Raleigh Icecaps' hockey game and painting the "Free Expression Tunnel" on campus pink and green. They also enjoyed a night of stand-up comedy at a local club, and a grab-a-date party at Lake Boone Country Club. The year was brought to a close with a Senior Send-off and first year birthday party for the chapter. The banquet was complete with birthday cake, a slide show of the year's events, and some seniors' baby pictures. Little sisters, turtle twins, and chapter members spoke about their favorite senior; the evening ended with a candle-light ceremony and a friendship song. After reporting Xi Sigma's many successes in its first year, Chapter Editor Sabrina Peake concludes with "The excitement and pride my chapter has in being a part of Delta Zeta is immeasurable." Stately Lady athletic recruiters are Kristen Cannon, Paula Payne and Carrie Shields. The freshman honor society, Phi Eta Sigma, tapped Carrie Shields and Dana Timar. Heather Sullivan is a member of Alpha Psi Omega theatre honorary. Textile honor fraternity Sigma Tau Sigma includes Sabrina Peake and Jennifer Randall. Jennifer is also a member of the textile leadership honorary, Kappa Tau Beta. Laura Pate is a member of the national residence hall honorary.

Western Carolina, Theta Iota — The chapter sponsored its first Mother-Daughter Weekend in May. Moms were "rushed" by daughters with a theme party, where the guests learned about Delta Zeta's activities. That evening at the scholarship awards banquet, moms learned the importance of academics to Delta Zeta. The chapter won first place honors in talent show, variety show and chariot race in Greek Week to help win a third place overall. Chancellors Ambassadors are Kim Peele and Maggie McKinney.

OHIO

Ashland, Theta Psi — In Ashland's AIDS Awareness Week, Theta Psi sponsored a panel of AIDS patients who discussed ways of contracting AIDS and their own personal experiences with AIDS. The spring pledge class teamed with other sorority pledge classes to produce a night of entertainment for sororities. For a fund-raiser, members raffled cash prizes. In Greek Week, Delta Zeta teamed with a fraternity who dropped out the week before the competition. Determined Delta Zetas decided to compete alone and won second place in banner competition and participated in volleyball, softball, olympics and a lip sync contest. Dads are now included in what was traditionally the "mother-daughter banquet," so now fathers and mothers are on hand when the chapter honors seniors. This year's event was held at the Ashland County Club. Seniors were also honored with Senior Week, which was filled with fun, exciting and sometimes sentimental activities. At Ashland Leadership Awards, Delta Zeta was honored for outstanding philanthropy work while many Theta Psis were individually honored. Jen Spirko and Jen Miskell received Leadership Recognition Awards, while Shari Spiewak won the Senior Honor. Who's Who went to Vicki Medved. Order of Omega includes Jen Miskell, secretary-treasurer; Kelly Lally and Janet Mociolek. Kelly Lally and Erica Kestner will coordinate Student Ambassadors next year. Stephanie Bailey and Dawn Warmoth were recognized for service to the student senate, and Jen Miskell will serve as junior class vice president. Chamber Singers includes Libby Carswell and Tina Roberts. Members of the 1992 All-GLVC Volleyball Team are Tonya Zink and Katrina Kaza.

Baldwin-Wallace, Gamma Alpha — At the beginning of the quarter, collegians honored alumnae with a banquet. Five chapter members modeled fashions from a local store at the banquet. Delta Zetas also enjoyed the 30% discount they received the next time they shopped at the store! Delta Zetas teamed with Greeks and other campus organizations to participate in May Day sporting events.

Bowling Green, Gamma Tau — Delta Zetas were active in Greek Week which included an All Greek Meeting, Wear Your Letters Day, a variety show, awards night, and an All Greek Tea. Gamma Alpha Julie Gumban headed the Greek Week variety show. Linda Bertsch was named Outstanding Panhellenic Representative. Orientation leaders for fall are Shannon Adams, Christi Perz and Jen Whisler. Stephanie Von Almen was tapped for Pershing Rifles.

Kent State, Gamma Kappa — Kent State's Student Alumni Association has named Delta Zeta the Most Admired Organization at KSU. The chapter also won the Gold Achievement Award among Greek organizations; they had worked hard to improve from their last year's Bronze Award. Members participated in the games, carnival, dating game, and God and Goddess competition during Greek Week, and enjoyed a Greek Week speaker. Gamma Kappa bid farewell to 11 seniors with a Senior Tea.

Ohio Northern, Zeta Kappa — Chapter President Cassandra Hicks organized an effective day-long chapter retreat based on "brainstorming." Chapter members brainstormed dozens of ideas in all areas of chapter programming from designated drivers to sportswear sales to monetary incentives to selling refreshments to sunbathers. Cassandra then instructed each chairman to be ready to implement at least one of the ideas by the fall. She felt the retreat would only be productive if chapter members pulled together and followed through on the excellent brainstorming ideas. During Greek Olympics, ZK sponsored a crest drawing contest: four people from each Greek organization had five minutes or less to draw their crest with chalk! At the Panhellenic-IFC awards ceremony at the end of the week, Delta Zeta won awards for outstanding community service and philanthropy and outstanding rush program, and was honored as the Chapter of the Year. Greek competition awards came for Greek Sing, Cabbage football and most spirited. Kim Christlieb was crowned Greek Week Queen, and the chapter placed third overall in Greek Week competition. To prepare for rush, Panhellenic Council organized a mock rush among sororities. Workshops, skits and speeches helped prepare sororities. Panhellenic vice-president Heather Butler, Delta Zeta, read the 1993 formal rush rules. Order of Omega Greek honorary includes Cassandra Hicks. She is also a member of Kappa Delta Pi and joins Alicia Burt in the English honorary, Sigma Tau Gamma. Rachel Hefner is president and Jennifer Ehas is a member of Phi Epsilon Kappa, health-physical education, sports study honorary. Susan Rathbun edits The Polaris, ONU magazine of the arts; Johnna Young is associate editor. Fraternity sweethearts are Katie Hutchman and Amy Sayre.

Ohio University, Omicron Gamma — For three days in May, Delta Zeta co-sponsored the AIDS Quilt at Convocation Center at Ohio University. Philanthropy Chairman Amanda Arnovitz worked day and night to make sure everything ran smoothly. Following the unfolding of the quilt, Delta Zetas volunteered their time during the visiting hours and the entire chapter made the event a success! The chapter initiated 13 pledges in the spring. The chapter calendar included Greek Week competition, crush parties, socials, and a spring date party on a riverboat. Diana Smith is a member of Phi Kappa Phi, Mortar Board, Golden Key and Omicron Delta Kappa honoraries. She is also advertising representative for the Ad Club and a member of the WPA Judicial Board. Chris DeGroff serves as secretary-treasurer for the Recreation Education Club. Nancy Emmerling is a member of Golden Key and Andrea Giha is a member of Alpha Lambda Delta freshman honorary.

Wright State, Kappa Iota — Chapter members put their creative abilities to work for the annual Valentine's Date Party. Each member created dinner for herself and her date. Dinners were brought to the party in picnic baskets which contained some elegant surprises . . . fine china, candles, etc. Alumnae were honored with a Christmas party planned by pledges; Christmas carols and a gift exchange completed the evening. For another sisterhood event, KIs ate pizza, played games and sang along with the mechanical bears at Chuck E. Cheese. Kappa Iota made a special effort to support the basketball team by attending games and cheering them on.

Youngstown, Kappa Chi — Members practiced two months and were prepared when they took the stage to present a medley of five Disney songs in Greek Sing at Stambaugh Auditorium. The medley included When You Wish Upon a Star, Mickey Mouse Club, Someday My Prince Will Come, A Spoonful of Sugar and Zip-a-Dee-Do-Dah and won first place honors in the formal class competition. Colonnade Chairman Maureen DellaPenna and the mothers of the Colonnade Club organized the Spring Mother-Daughter Tea. The event honored members, mothers and grandmothers; the afternoon included refreshments, house tours, an auction, and award presentations from the Colonnade Club. Among the cash prizes and awards was a scholarship to Sheri Ingram for her winning essay, What Delta Zeta Sisterhood Means to Me. Melissa Silhanek added something different to the spring formal when she produced a slide presentation for members and dates. In fraternity philanthropy competitions, Kristin DiPasqua was crowned MayFest Queen. The Spring Lock-In featured a busy schedule with activities ranging from Greek Sing practice to circle discussions to rush conversation to a philanthropy dinner at a fraternity house. Honored by YSU were Kelly Dietrich, Foundation Scholarship recipient, and Michelle Donley, YSU Pin Award. Delta Zeta was co-recipient of the University Constellation Award for service. Fraternity sweethearts are Laura Dedo and Catherine Wang. Lori Hamrock is programming chairman for Greek Activities Council, and Maureen DellaPenna and Sherry Merrit are student government representatives. Sherry is also student government disciplinary chairman. College Chapter Director Regina Reese was featured in the Youngstown Playhouse production of Nunsense.

OKLAHOMA

Northeastern, Delta Phi — Community residents, other student organizations, and faculty members have voted Delta Zeta the Outstanding Sorority on Campus for 1992-93. The award reflects both academics and community service. Student Affairs has honored Linda Watkins and Buffy Alred as two of the ten top Greek Men and Women on campus. Activities included Panhellenic-IFC Greek Week which featured talks with high school students, a canned food drive and campus clean-up. In Greek Week sports events, Delta Zeta took a close second overall after winning second in flag football, volleyball and softball. The chapter enjoyed a standards program on Europe and attended a Pow Wow at the University Center. Graduating seniors were honored at the Mother-Daughter Tea. River City Revue Singers includes Amy Rolison, Lisa Lawrence and Cheri Gray. Cheri is also a member of River City Players. Fraternity sweethearts are Dena Barrett, Jamie Glass and Wilma Terwilliger. NSU Majestics includes Buffy Alred, Spring Kreeger, Amber Park and Dawn Humphrey.

Oklahoma State, Alpha Epsilon — The chapter's newest fundraiser consists of selling "shares" to OSU students to enable their name to be placed into a scholarship pool. A selected committee of Stillwater residents, as well as Greeks, awards the scholarship based on candidates' applications, academics and activities. Greek Week activities included a blood drive, Golden Greek Awards Ceremony, and seminars on hazing and stress management. Alpha Epsilon Officer Training, a day-long event at the house, provided an opportunity for officers to share ideas with the chapter as a whole and formulate the semester's calendar. Officers also played games that taught leadership and organizational skills.

PENNSYLVANIA

Lehigh, Xi Pi — At III E Province Day, Xi Pi was honored as Pride of the Province. At Lehigh, Delta Zeta won the Pride Award as the Greek organization which best exemplifies a set standard of guidelines as determined by the award committee in conjunction with the Greek Affairs office. Standards criteria include the chapter's academic standing, social program, and upkeep and appearance of the chapter house. Xi Pi also won first place overall in Greek Week competition.

Mansfield, Iota Theta — Province awards for Iota Theta include Panhellenic spirit, activities, philanthropy, 100% initiation, significant increase in rush, and province cooperation. Province weekend was held in Pittsburgh. Delta Zeta participated in Greek Week and planted a tree on campus in celebration of Earth Day. The chapter added six pledges in spring.

Shippensburg, Kappa Psi — Delta Zeta won Greek Week and was honored as Best Greek Organization. To raise chapter funds, members sold candy and subs and washed cars. Members volunteer evenings to babysit at a local Catholic church. The 16 seniors were honored at a Senior Sendoff where they willed items to underclassmen and received scrolls from their "sorority family." The chapter initiated 14 pledges in March. Order of Omega tapped Jennifer Maruca, and Joy Zeamer won a Golden Heart at province weekend. Melissa Brown and Jennifer Hutton are fraternity sweethearts. Jennifer Scannell is a newly elected cheerleader. Christie Morrissey will be studying abroad in Paris.

Temple, Delta Tau — At Temple's annual Greek Week, Delta Zeta was strong in every category. At Greek Sing, the chapter placed third with a tribute to Cheers and songs from the Fifties. Yvonne Serafin raised an impressive amount of money for scholarships at Gallaudet and thereby won second place overall honors in Greek Goddess competition. Honored at province day were Sandi Laiss, outstanding rush chairman; Nicole Fairfield, outstanding activities plaque; Melanie Konopka, honorable mention for Colonnade and a Golden Heart; and Peggy Dougherty, a Golden Crest. The chapter was honored for its outstanding academics program. Past National Officer Charlotte Fields Silversteen visited the chapter to present a chapter award established in her honor. Kim Hoffert and Michelle Tyrell are Owls cheerleaders. Allison Mark is a lead performer for a science fiction radio play. Adrienne Kemp is a member of Temple's symphony orchestra.

Beta Gammas at Louisville won the Fryburger Sing for the second straight year. This year's theme was "Come Rain or Shine."

RHODE ISLAND

Rhode Island, Beta Alpha — To honor graduating seniors, chapter members gathered for a dinner that featured a "Good Luck" cake for dessert. All seniors received roses and gifts from their little sisters. Everyone was able to share heartwarming and funny Delta Zeta memories. During Campus Sisterhood Week, each sorority on campus hosted at least one workshop for all the houses. BA hosted two: one on birth control and one on self-defense. Along with attending workshops, chapter members enjoyed evenings of popcorn and VCR movies and participating in a campus walk for women's unity. This enabled Delta Zetas to meet other sorority women who also believe in the importance of women in today's society. The week ended with a scheduling party, where older members assisted undergraduates in selecting next semester's classes. Delta Zeta placed second among sororities and second overall in Greek Week. The chapter placed second with its lip sync entry, It's A Hard Knock Life from Annie. The Greek Dance entry and Greek Sing (Grease) entries also won second place honors. At province festivities Julie Pritchard was named outstanding corresponding secretary and Christine Boucher was named outstanding president. During initiation week, pledges received care packages, candy, flowers and balloons from initiates. Beta Alpha Colleen Lynch, who holds a black belt and teaches karate, shared her talents with the rest of the house in a self-defense workshop. She taught members basic moves to ward off an attacker.

SOUTH CAROLINA

South Carolina, Beta Delta — Members bid farewell to the nine graduating seniors on two separate occasions. They celebrated their graduation with a ceremony at the Rose Ball where each senior was recognized and presented with a rose. The formal was held at the downtown Marriott and featured a buffet table and music by a deejay. Seniors were again recognized at the spring banquet where close friends spoke about each senior's accomplishments and achievements at USC and for Delta Zeta. The spring banquet also celebrated the initiation of the spring pledge class. Leading Mortar Board are Maribeth Brune, president, and Kelly Stuck, vice president. Kelly is also director of institutional affairs for student government, while Maribeth co-directs student government's presidential projects. Tara Hardee is the reigning Miss Columbia and will travel to the Miss South Carolina pageant. Rho Chi rush counselors are Stephanie Komenda and Meredith Mills. Tanya Hall will be Delta Zeta's resident advisor. Mary Bass serves on the Greek Steering Committee and Tristan Bode was tapped for Order of Omega. During Earth Week, members sold wildlife t-shirts as a fundraiser.

South Carolina-Spartanburg, Omicron Nu — The chapter celebrated its first anniversary with the installation of the Spartanburg Alumnae Chapter. Delta Zeta received the Chancellor's Cup Award as the campus organization with the best overall philanthropy program. In spring, Omicron Nu initiated six pledges, and bid farewell to three seniors. Fortunately, two of the seniors will return to USCS for second degrees next semester! Activities included a sisterhood picnic, study nights, a semiformal, and an executive council retreat. Lori Georgueson was honored by the Campus Activity Board with an award for outstanding service and named to Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities. Ashley Sengchan won a French-American internship to study and work in Paris over the summer. Tammy Brock is Panhellenic vice president, and Dana Davis is a mock trial team member. Sally Smith directs publicity for the Campus Activity Board.

Winthrop, Lambda Sigma — The dream of a Colonnade Club for the chapter is becoming a reality. At the chapter's Parents' Weekend, parents toured the house and enjoyed barbecue cooked by Glen Strange, dad of president Kendra. Next, they discussed the formation of the Colonnade Club!

TENNESSEE

Memphis State, Gamma Iota — For the fourth consecutive year, Delta Zeta won Greek Week events! The chapter also won the participation award in Hurricane Week. Members raised $250 for the chapter treasury from candy bar sales; pledges washed cars and used the proceeds to purchase a print for the chapter suite. The Greek All Sing competition is an unusual one in which group entrants sing a medley and use hand motions, but are not allowed to move their feet. For this year's entry, Delta Zeta chose a medley of Songs Throughout the Ages from God Bless America to Boogie-Woogie Bugle Boy. Honored by MSU Greek System for earning a 3.0 were Paige Baker, Michelle Cervetti, Kristen Glorie, Kelly Keel, Glenice Lester, Mistie Pennington and Robin Swafford. Terry Mitchell and Cynthia Britt were honored for a 3.5 and Juli Stokes was honored for earning a 4.0. Order of Omega tapped Robin Swafford. Linda Clark is the intramural swimming champion. Michelle Cervetti is recording secretary for the Memphis Jaycees. Kelly Keel serves as chief justice for Panhellenic Council. Glenice Lester won Miss Congeniality honors in the Miss MSU Pageant.

TEXAS

Angelo State, Lambda Omicron — Members traveled to Donna Long's ranch outside of San Angelo for the pledge retreat. Retreat activities included a lasagna dinner, a hayride with plenty of laughs and songs, playing the Newlywed Game (big and little version), and watching a movie. Another highlight of the spring semester was the Rose Ball Formal. Under the direction of social chairman Terri Trevino, the Ramada Inn Banquet Room was transformed into a tropical paradise in the colors of turquoise and black. The background for pictures featured greenery, black and turquoise balloons, and tiki torches. The centerpiece of each table was a goldfish bowl with real fish swimming inside! The event also included an awards ceremony and dinner. Members dressed in Delta Zeta attire to welcome incoming freshman at ASU College Day.

North Texas, Kappa Zeta — Family, friends and Dallas alumnae helped the chapter raise money when they attended a pizza party fund-raiser at a local pizza party. Family and friends were on hand again for the chapter's annual senior banquet. Graduating seniors were formally honored and bid farewell with the banquet and a ceremony. KZ raised $1000 with a $250 tuition raffle, and washed cars to help defray the cost of the formal. The formal, An Affair to Remember, was held at the Hyatt Regency in Dallas. It featured a formal dinner, slide show and awards presentation, as well as dancing. At the annual Panhellenic-IFC Greek Awards Banquet, Jana Dillard and Tracy Casstevens both received academic awards. Delta Zeta won second place overall honors in Greek Week. Mary Ellen Morris, as chairman of the Panhellenic public relations committee, wrote and produced a rush video. It will be distributed through Texas high schools. In Panhellenic spirit, KZs participated in a sorority progressive dinner and treated three other sororities to a get-to-know-ya pizza party. Mary Ellen Morris and Erin Foster will be Rho Chi fall rush counselors. Rho Lambda national Panhellenic honorary includes Erin Foster, Traci Motley, Brenda Erickson and Tracy Casstevens. Other members of honoraries are Kathy Graham, Order of Omega; Bonnie Kirk, Alpha Phi Omega; Erin Foster, Beta Beta Beta; Jana Dillard, Golden Key; and Cynthia Vick, Alpha Epsilon Delta, Beta Beta Beta. Jana Dillard won Gamma Beta Phi's community service award. Mary Ellen Morris serves as executive rules and elections director for the Student Association. Karen Anderson is a student ambassador and Tracy Casstevens serves on the executive board of the Athletic Top 20. Laura Barth earned Dean's List honors for her perfect 4.0.

St. Mary's, Omicron Alpha — For the third consecutive year, Delta Zeta has claimed the Greek Week championship. The chapter was also honored during Greek Week for providing the Most Support to Philanthropy. Omicron Alpha, with the largest pledge class on campus, held a Big Sister Little Sister Breakfast to establish better relationships. Midway through pledgship, the chapter honored pledges with a party. To raise money for initiation expense, pledges sponsored a car wash and a bake sale. The 13 graduating seniors were honored with Senior Week. Each Omicron Alpha "adopted" a senior and made sure her week was special and included gifts. The week ended with a special dinner and a slide presentation dedicated to the seniors. Anna-Melissa Cavazos, Colonnade Chairman, is hard at work organizing programming to include parents. She has published two chapter newsletters; each issue even includes a Dear Myrtle question-answer column. She organized the chapter's first Parents' Day where officers explained their duties and members performed a rush skit. The day ended with a slide show and a presentation of the Delta Zeta Creed in sign language. New resident assistants are Francisca Aguirre and Valerie Garcia. Student Orientation Assistants are Monica Rodriguez and Christine Serrano. Norma Bustamante is a contributing writer for the Rattler newspaper. Francisca Aguirre earned Dean's List Honors. Peer counselors are Melissa Holscher and Tricia Owen. Varsity soccer team includes Denise Stanley and Monica Gonzalez. Valerie Gutierrez is a member of the Code Blue Dance team.

Stephen F. Austin, Zeta Psi — Collegians and alumnae alike stepped back in time at the 30th anniversary of the chapter. A highlight of the program at the celebration tea was a slide show of chapter history — 1965 to the present! An alumna then entertained with rush songs from her era. In Greek Week, Zeta Psi participated in soccer, volleyball, softball, football, a talent show, a highway cleanup and Games Day. The $100,000 from the talent show benefited the East Texas AIDS Association. In Diversity Week, Greek groups sponsored a forum to explain the history of their groups and the opportunities that their groups have to offer. Speakers then addressed the audience's questions. Receiving Panhellenic certificates for merit were Jana Wales, Wendi Turner, Tracy Bridges, Cristi Cotton, Jana Bullock, Lori Saxton and Amy Schnapp. Campus senators are Amy Edwards and Daniell Long. The last sisterhood of the year was a farewell cookout.

Texas-Arlington, Iota Psi — Honored by Order of Omega for academic performance were Ruby Bhandari, Nathalie Beloeil, Janet Fitzgerald, Amy Hudson, 4.0 Awards; Kim Brunson, Alice Kahanek, Mary Kramer, Lisa Mahadi, Marta Mally, Kellee Rayburn, 3.5 Awards. Named as Distinguished Greeks by Order of Omega were Shannon Peterson, Jeanne LaBarr and Jennifer Cunningham. Jennifer was also named Greek Woman of the Year and recipient of the Rosemary Steeg Outstanding Senior Award. Jena Curry won Order of Omega's Omega Kappa Award. Shannon Peterson is an Area Six officer for the Western Regional Leadership Conference. April Wheat traveled to Houston to compete in preliminaries for American Gladiators. She passed the grueling tests of strength and endurance and is off to California for the finals. At the Greek Awards banquet which concluded Greek Week, Delta Zeta was named Most Improved Chapter and Most Outstanding Chapter and overall winner of Greek Week. Shirley McCracken was honored for her outstanding Panhellenic spirit. The chapter celebrated its 25th anniversary at the Rose Ball and welcomed Iota Psi Jane Gray Nelson, now a Texas State Senator.

West Texas A&M, Zeta Zeta — When merger plans were announced between Texas A&M and West Texas State, an "unpopular" name change was suggested. It seems the proposed change (Texas A&M at Canyon) caused such an uproar of emotions, that Delta Zeta joined hundreds of others in sending letters and faxes to voice their opinions. The official name is now West Texas A & M, and Delta Zeta is proud to have been a part of the "naming" accomplishment. With the help of alumnae, ZZ raised $375 with a garage sale. Proceeds go towards the fall rush budget; items not sold were donated to Goodwill. Delta Zeta teamed with a fraternity to present a rendition of American Bandstand in University Sing. The chapter also participated in Greek games, and was recognized for perfect attendance at the Dean's Roundtable. This award was presented by Mary Hill, Dean of Students, to Debbie Thompson, ZZ and Panhellenic president. Becky McKone was named to the Rhea F. Schultz Honor Court at Province Weekend, and Sabrina Baker was honored for outstanding work as pledge educator.

VIRGINIA

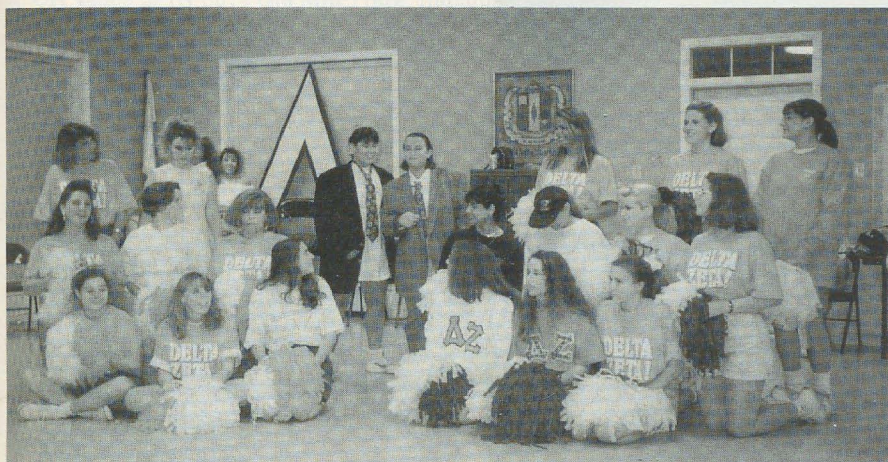

Longwood College, Epsilon Tau — Thirteen ETs were named to Longwood's Dean's List for spring semester, and Jennifer Moore was honored with the Province Rose Award. Members of honoraries are Laura Claydon, Mary Miller, Order of Omega; and Laura Claydon, Michele Lebo, Kelli Martin, Meredith Van Asdian and Amy Kappel. Gamma Sigma Alpha. Serving on Panhellenic Council are Monica Thorp, treasurer, and Hope Jones, public relations. Heather Moulin is a resident assistant. Members and the 15 new pledges have enjoyed educational chapter programs including a video on hazing and a program on sign language. Members have also enjoyed dinners on the Hall and attending Milena Ciotoli's senior art exhibition. During Spring Weekend, Delta Zeta was honored for having the most spirit at the Best Man on Campus competition. Epsilon Tau was also honored as Pride of the Province!

Randolph-Macon, Omicron Zeta — The chapter boasts 100% initiation of its quota pledge class of 23! The initiation was held at Duncan Memorial Church and was followed with a chapter celebration. Delta Zeta's Second Annual Big Man on Campus featured 13 contestants, representing campus organizations who competed in three importance of such an issue." Members got to know pledges by organizing potluck dinners; banded together to do their best in all sports activities; gathered to clean their Adopt-a-Spot; and participated in another successful Greek Week progressive dinner. Kappa Theta received a social award at Province Day. Mortar Board tapped Jen Chopin, Kristen Emanuel and Kelly Smith. Golden Key Honor society includes Jen Chopin, Jen Hill, Kaki Mayhue, Eva Nguyen and Kelly Smith. Order of Omega tapped Hope Parker. Kristen Emanuel serves as Panhellenic rush chairman. Erin Lee serves as president of the American Society of Interior Designers. Wesley Tuck won the Edwin C. Marsh Scholarship for academic excellence in marketing.

sessions: introduction, question-answer, talent. The event raised over $600 for Galaudet. Delta Zeta placed second in Greek Week events which included a banner contest, blood drive, talent show and Greek games. Members enjoyed the spring semi-formal at the Burkewood Country Club, and brought the semester to an end with a Charter Day Celebration. At Charter Day celebration, Omicron Zetas officially recognized and bid farewell to graduating seniors; viewed a slide show of the year's events, and shared stories and conversation with each other.

Virginia Tech, Kappa Theta — Chapter Editor Erin Lee writes "while enjoying Greek Week activities, a small, but noticeable event took place that made the chapter feel good. At a special presentation on AIDS given to all Greeks, the majority of the girls there were Delta Zetas. They may have walked in individually, some with friends, and some with other sisters, but they attended. It was a very enlightening talk given by educated individuals, including two young adults with HIV. It was truly inspiring to look around to see so many sisters . . . knowing that everyone knew the Washington, Kappa — Delta Zeta calls itself "Back to Back Champs" after having won Greek Week for the second consecutive year. This year's victory was by 11 points and included first place wins in Project Cool (a school supply drive for needy children); and a canned food drive. Delta Zetas teamed to help Robin McPherson in her campaign for ASUW Board of Control elections. Lisa Kester handled the campaign, while Kappas distributed lawn signs and flyers on campus. Robin won with the largest number of votes of any of the new Board of Control members. Kappa welcomed the youngest sister of chapter member Kristine Kiner to dinner in May. The sister, ten-year-old Brianne, is a fortunate survivor of the E. Coli bacteria hamburger contamination in the Pacific Northwest. Serving as members-at-large of the ASUW Governance Committee are Beth Niendorf and Kelly Moore. Order of Omega tapped Jennifer Judkins. Phi Eta Sigma academic honorary tapped Melissa Suckow. Joelle Dold is captain of the swim team.

WASHINGTON, D. C.

Gallaudet, Omicron Sigma — Twenty-

five charter members were initiated in April and Chapter President Dawn Schriver was honored as convention initiate at convention in Indianapolis. Dawn, however, had discovered the life-long meaning of Delta Zeta long before that. While shopping in a fabric store for green velvet material for chapter dresses, Dawn met a Delta Zeta alumna who hugged her, and then volunteered to make the dresses for no charge! For Greek Week, Delta Zeta created a much talked about banner that featured a turtle wearing a Delta Zeta shirt and holding balloons featuring the Greek letters of all campus fraternities and sororities. During Greek Week, Delta Zeta won third place for best overall performance and second place as most spirited sorority. Dawn Schriver was voted Ms. Blow Out Queen at the Greek party. The chapter's intramural softball team, CRAZY, reached the semi-final championship game. Members served as ushers for a campus production of Dance for Earth. After two car washes, members boasted suntans and nearly $800 for the chapter treasury. Earning Dean's List honors were Elizabeth Lucey, Lisa Parker, Alice Maxwell and June Prusak.

WEST VIRGINIA

Concord College, Epsilon Delta — Members traveled to Ripley for Province Weekend and brought home awards for excellence in social programming, highest chapter grade point average, and reaching formal rush quota. Jennifer Jones was named the outstanding president of the province, and Amy Goodwin was honored as model pledge. Delta Zeta won third place overall honors in campus intramural competition. In Greek Week, Epsilon Delta won third place honors as best sorority on campus, in Greek Sing, and in two sporting events. They won a second in another sports event.

Marshall, Delta Upsilon — Mothers of chapter members were honored at Delta Upsilon's first Mother's Day Banquet at the Holiday Inn. In Greek Week competition, Delta Zeta placed third overall after winning second in song competition. They also finished second in a fraternity Chop Ball tournament. Seniors were honored with a ceremony.

Shepherd, Kappa Mu — Members served as hostesses for Province IV Weekend. They created decorations and lead many of the activities including the quiz bowl, and Win, Lose or Draw. Seniors were honored with a ceremony, and moms were honored at the Mother-Daughter Banquet. Delta Zetas assisted other Greeks in showing appreciation for the faculty: they washed the faculty cars! Members learned about searching for a job and writing resumes from a guest speaker at a chapter standards program. KMs raised funds for the chapter treasury with a bake sale and a car wash.

WISCONSIN

Carroll College, Gamma Theta — When

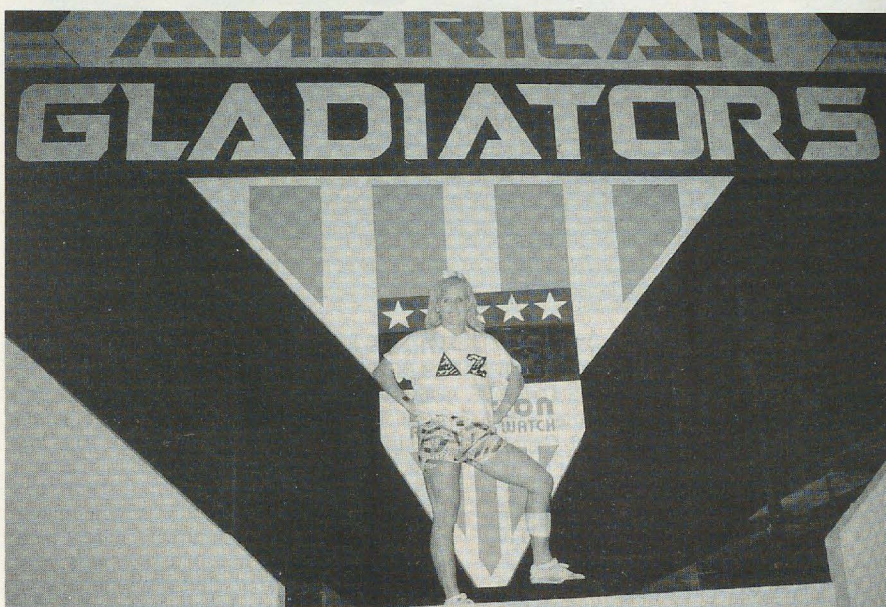

concluding her report about a busy Delta Zeta semester, Chapter Editor Michelle Ann Sankey writes, "Overall, it has been a very busy semester. Our Delta Zeta sisterhood has deeply grown and bonded. Together, we have become a closer chapter and are concerned about the future for our chapter. It is a great chapter with great girls." Michelle also organized a chapter self-defense standards program where members learned kicks and punches to fight off potential attackers. The course was taught by a police officer at the Four Winds Martial Arts School. Lana Beyer hosted another standards program, one of a lighter note. She organized a "dress party" where members could try on clothes, from casual to formal — all under $40! The party was held in the chapter suite and many Gamma Thetas found the perfect dress for formal dessert. Members bid farewell to seniors with a dinner and award ceremony. Academic Advisor Dr. Settle and his family treated the chapter to hamburgers and hot dogs at his home. The chapter also participated in Greek Week and in Spring Fling, a day-off for students and faculty to participate in games and activities. A busy weekend included a rummage sale and a walk-a-thon for Galaudet. Parents were honored at the First Annual Mother-Father-Daughter Brunch at the Oak Room. The day's festivities included a brunch buffet, complete with Delta Zeta cake! Members then presented three songs for parents and concluded the events with a capsule of facts and chapter activities. Members traveled to a Milwaukee Bucks basketball game at the Bradley Center, and were delighted to see the words Delta Zeta on the scoreboard marquee at halftime. Gamma Thetas also received free Bucks umbrellas. Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities lists Carrie Tara Hardee, South Carolina-BA represented Columbia in the South Carolina pageant last summer.

Gibson and Lynda Koller. Recipients of senior awards were Carrie Gibson, Lynda Koller and Jill Sharp. Jill Nowicki won the Sociology Award as the outstanding senior in sociology. Lynn Mueller serves as president of Panhellenic.

Wisconsin-Eau Claire, Epsilon Omega — The chapter pledged a quota pledge class in winter rush to reach campus total! Epsilon Omegas traveled to Minneapolis for Province Day and, for the second consecutive year, were honored for earning the highest grade point average. Bridgette Carey was named outstanding pledge. Ten members sold concessions at a Twins game to raise money for the chapter treasury. Other events included a spring formal, and participating in a Panhellenic luncheon and Greek Week.

April Wheat, a senior at Texas/Arlington-IV, recently spent five weeks in Los Angeles filming for the athletic competition show, American Gladiators. April tried out for the show in Houston and was selected from 10,000 athletes who tried out nation-wide. Thirty-two men and women were selected to appear on the show for the 1993-94 season. April competed in three shows and made it to the semi-final round. Her shows are projected to appear September 11, October 30 and November 13. April is head cheerleader at UTA.

Alpha Betas Julie Ohlson, Sandy Jodlowski and Allison Greenfield are in costume for the Atius-Sachem Mom's Day Sing at Illinois. They placed first in competition.

From the Lampwriter

From the first wave of the green flag to the final checkered one at the close of convention, it was a fast-paced, smooth running convention, this our return to Indianapolis. It seemed such a short time from greeting arrivals in the Indy Connection stretch limos to the late night province parties and sleepy early morning departures.

Thanks in large part go to Convention Chairman Anne Marie Jones Gavin and her convention coordinators. Assisting Anne Marie were Sandra Sebrell Bailey, Barbara Hunt Martin, Cindy Winslow Menges, Kathryn Mitchell, Ruth Weider Patterson, Sue Adrianson Skambis and Eileen Sheehan Wollering.

And then there were the smiling Chapter Consultants. What if sleeping was something of the past . . . they were always smiling. Shellie Littrel and Jennifer Yeagley are our second year travelers. Newcomers are Heather Angrove, Stephanie Bloomfield, Karen Lee Johnson, Michelle Lamance, Tanya Miller, Christi Ostendorf, Amy Porter, Christee Rogers, and Shannon Rowan.

And again, heartfelt thanks to that committee of all committees . . . The Lampkin. Diane Jones Skelton and her staff issued four wonderful newspapers filled with great stories and interesting tidbits. Serving on those late night stretches were Debbie Chien, Carol Harper, Susan Mease, Debbie Behler, Linda Allen, Teresa Scanlon, Susan Smith, Barb Bodell, Ellen Gigliotti and Sherri Klem.

This is the first convention since 1979 that my daughter Marianne Cravens has missed . . . but for good reason. My first grand-legacy Katelyn Marie "Katie" Cravens arrived on May 28. That old song keeps running through my head . . . "Katie . . . Beautiful Katie!" And she is, you know!

One of Delta Zeta's newest legacies is the reason her mom, Marianne McKeeman Cravens, former Chairman of Collegiate-Alumnae Relations, missed convention this summer. Katelyn Marie (Katie) Cravens arrived in Fort Collins, Colorado on May 28. Naturally your editor is excited at the arrival of her first grand-legacy!

There have been some wonderful notes and letters relating to the spring issue. I want to share a few.

From Jean Haley Harper: "Thank you so much for the beautiful story you wrote about me for The LAMP. I am flattered and very honored that you chose to put my picture on the cover. (I didn't realize, however, that my crow's feet were so noticeable — but I guess passengers want to see that in a captain!)"

From Carol Kaiser Wasson (Northwestern-AA): "This is a short — and late — note to congratulate you and everyone who helped put together the spring 1993 issue of The LAMP. It is surely one of the best, if not the best, I've seen. I personally have, as yet, no history or any family history, of any kind of cancer, but nevertheless felt your several articles on that subject, particularly those by survivors, were among the best I've seen in any magazine, and certainly in a prime place to be read by all our sisters and the friends with whom we share your magazine!

"Also fascinating was the story on Captain Jean Harper; I really love reading the success stories of fellow Delta Zetas, while I continue in my career as musician and music teacher. And I love flying!

"Thank you very much for the incredible and wonderful job you do in continuing this project. Congratulations!"

And from Elsie Wheeler McTee: "I have been wanting to write you about reaction to my breast cancer article in The LAMP . . . I have gotten some of the nicest notes, letters and phone calls from Delta Zetas whom I know and some whom I don't know. I made copies of the article for my friends and all of them have responded very favorably, also . . . Just yesterday two friends here in town called me to see if they could copy it to give to a friend who is having breast cancer surgery, and of course I was pleased.

"One of the letters which I received asks about making copies of the article for the local cancer association. . . . I need to know if Delta Zeta allows copies of articles in The LAMP if credit is given to Delta Zeta? Thought I better find out."

Editor's note: I am delighted that people are interested in reprinting this article. Print away!

Then my heart was saddened to receive a brief note: "I feel I should have you remove my name from your mailing list since I no longer have an active interest in Delta Zeta or The LAMP."

Oh, well.

I can't leave you on a down note, so here's an upbeat letter from Lois Klein of the St. Petersburg, Florida, alumnae chapter. Lois writes about one of their members, Mary Broadbent Platz, M.D.

Mary, Indiana-E '23 is one of the most prominent alumnae in the St. Petersburg chapter. After graduating from Indiana University she entered Case Western Reserve Medical School — a true challenge to any woman in those days entering a field almost entirely dominated by males. She practiced medicine in Public Health, married, and when she retired from her career, moved to St. Petersburg and became an active member of the alumnae chapter.

She served as chapter president and was the first alum to receive the Alumnae Service Award in 1986, recognizing her commitment and dedication to Delta Zeta. She was a recipient of the Achoth Award in 1989 and received her Order of the Pearl membership at Founders Day in 1992.

Mary is a member of DAR and was a state historian. She continues to attend meetings. A faithful member of Pasadena Community Church, she has served as president of the Women's Circle.

Behind all these activities is a warm, loving but very modest person who dislikes revealing anything about herself. For years Mary has been and continues to be our luncheon hostess for special occasions. She personally investigates suitable restaurants, even trying them out first to insure the choice will be satisfactory. Then she completes the reservations for the set date. After that she plans and arranges for program printing, makes sure there are pink and green party favors, oversees the tables long before anyone arrives, and she brings fresh pink roses from the florist for each table. When the luncheon and program is over, Mary graciously gives a rose to each one there. St. Petersburg alum chapter would not get along without our hostess with the mostest!

There have been some name changes in the official family since last convention. Two recent brides had such great pictures and good ΔZ stories to go with them, I couldn't resist.

Progress Through Education

by Phyllis Berens Ross

Change, though vital to advancement, is often difficult to accept. The old ways and the traditional manner of operating are hard to give up. "It was good enough for me," is the objection heard. But good change is necessary at times, and then viewed as "progress." As Delta Zeta approaches its 100th anniversary, it has become increasingly apparent that we are ready for some "progress" in the area of pledge education.

During the past year a committee comprised of twenty-seven members from every level of Delta Zeta membership and leadership has dedicated itself to examining, evaluating and refining our approach to educating and incorporating our newest members.

This study began for a number of very valid reasons. Among them was a desire to provide both a more relevant and realistic program for the '90s pledge — a woman who's often self-supporting, who's very involved with campus and community activities, whose academic success we strongly advocate, whose interaction with her family, church, sorority and perhaps a boyfriend, demanded that she prioritize her time.

Too, Delta Zeta has always been committed to the elimination of hazing from our campuses. Any form of hazing is a deplorable and unproductive practice, and it sometimes stems from lengthy and/or poorly planned and executed pledge educational programs. We seek to eliminate all forms of hazing and to provide only worthwhile, supportive, and fun-filled educational activities for our women. University officials are mandating that fraternal organizations on their campuses develop more effective programs or face extinction. In response to that type of pronouncement Delta Zeta asserts that we plan to be around for a long time!

Seeing the successful examples set by other National Panhellenic Conference groups, it's apparent how effective a shortened and enhanced program can truly be. They cite improved academic success, better assimilation of members and a superior quality of membership for all. (Twelve of the NPC groups have already made changes to their membership's educational process while eight more, including Delta Zeta, are in the development stages of such change.) To remain competitive in rush situations we must offer women a similarly sound membership plan.

Additionally, the two-tiered status evident in some of our chapters where pledges may be deemed

"less than" initiates demands reformation. Our newly pledged members are indeed members and this new program strives to make that status more equitable. With their responsibilities of membership should also come rights and privileges. This plan will stress the idea of CHAPTER UNITY rather than just pledge class unity.

SPECTRUM, the title we've chosen for our total membership plan, represents a multi-faceted unit, with each segment retaining individual characteristics, yet blended together to form a whole. Overall it seeks to offer programmatic advances to improve the quality of membership throughout each facet of the Delta Zeta experience.

Additional study and refinement of Delta Zeta's initiate and alumnae programming will continue in the next few years, but Phase I of SPECTRUM is our New Member Education Program. This nationally structured six week program (tied in with our six Founders) includes five actual weeks of education focusing on topics like Delta Zeta history and traditions; our organizational and operational structures; NPC/IFC Greek responsibilities, opportunities and interaction; FIPG (risk management), Delta Zeta anti-hazing and alcohol policies; leadership; a continued stress on academics; time management and communication skills.

Each chapter will be required to hold a retreat for all members, plus alumnae as invited guests, in the first two weeks of the program. Here, interaction among participants will be fostered by team-building exercises, introspective activities and one-to-one communication. It will provide an opportunity for members to get to know each other more fully in a relaxed, yet supportive, atmosphere.

The sixth and final week includes evaluation of the overall new member experience and three days of inspirational Lamp-lighting activities designed to prepare our candidates for initiation. It is immediately after this week that initiation for Delta Zeta women would be held.

In this program a woman would both pledge and initiate in Delta Zeta using the same grade point, which now will be a cumulative of 2.5 (for either high school or college work). She must be enrolled in ten (10) credit hours the term of pledging, unless otherwise dictated by campus full-time student policy. We have outlined five different methods by which these facts can be documented and anticipate the cooperation of the local Panhellenic, the Registrar's Office, the Dean of Students' Office, the Greek Affairs Coordinator and/or the woman herself in demonstrating her eligibility to us.

Realizing the high cost of education overall, our membership fees have been maintained at the same level and only the method and timing of payment have been restructured in an effort to assist each new member in meeting all her financial obligations. Each initiate will continue to order and wear the beautiful Delta Zeta badge which is an outward sign of our membership.

The National Pledge Exam, which used to be given before initiation was allowed, has been eliminated. This new program allows more effective avenues for the women to demonstrate an understanding of our basic principles and ideals than the reiteration of numerous facts learned simply for a test.

Not only does this new program aim to integrate our pledged women more quickly, we have redefined their role within the chapter. One way in which we hope to emphasize this component is a name change; our former "pledges" will now be called "new members," suggesting from the outset a more equitable level of membership involvement. Along with the responsibilities of membership given them, their rights and privileges have been increased. Among those are the right to attend general chapter meetings (which address all business of the chapter but include no ritual) and the right to exercise full voting privileges.

Coupled with our Big Sister/Pledge Mom system of familial guidance, we have provided for triads (Delta Sisters) comprised of a new member, initiate and senior member and/or alumna for continual interaction and participation during each term through academics, activities, philanthropy, etc. This will provide additional support for each new member and afford further opportunities for the women to work together in building chapter unity and in effecting lifetime commitment.

By endorsement of the International Council, the program was introduced at this summer's convention and begun as a pilot program with twelve of our 177 chapters this academic year. The chapters selected represent every area of the country, every type of campus and living situation and every size of chapter. We have contacted the administrators and Greek advisors on these campuses seeking their involvement and cooperation in executing this developmental program. With input from our pilot chapters during the 1993-94 year and with close supervision by the College Chapter Director, Province Collegiate Director, chapter advisors and the Director of New Member Education, we hope to fine tune the components of this program so that it may then be utilized with all our chapters. With more effective education and positive public relations we can strengthen the Greek system overall.

Delta Zeta invites you to join us on this journey into the future as we anticipate the successful implementation of Delta Zeta's SPECTRUM on campuses this fall. Let's make "progress" together!

Omicron Sigma: A Dream Come True

Dawn Shriver accepts the president's gavel from Marvona Tavlin.

by Robin DeArmond,
Chapter Consultant

Delta Zetas across the country have dreamed of having a chapter at Gallaudet University. We have often thought how wonderful it would be to visit with Delta Zeta sisters during a road trip to Washington, D.C. We have watched the Gallaudet Dance Company and wondered if any of them would have been Delta Zetas. It only made sense to be represented on a campus that Delta Zeta had supported for nearly 40 years. Those thoughts and dreams came true when OE was installed at Gallaudet University on April 24-25, 1993.

It all began during the spring of 1992 with three Gallaudet students. These three women decided that Gallaudet University needed a Delta Zeta chapter and they wanted to be in it. Their minds worked quickly as they devised a plan, contacted Delta Zeta and began recruiting other women.

A few months later, International President Marvona Tavlin, Director of Extension Sandra Bailey, some Northern Virginia alumnae, and a chapter consultant went to Gallaudet's campus. These women conducted a presentation for the new Delta Zeta interest group. It was love at first sight but as with any interest group, Delta Zeta gave the women some guidelines and requirements that needed to be met before a colonization could begin.

Throughout the year Lisa Parker, president, and Sharon Zuhkle, vice president, kept in contact with Mrs. Bailey. By February of 1993 the interest group had held strong with 16 members. Furthermore, they had elected officers and gained recognition from the university as a student organization. Now they only needed to be pledged into Delta Zeta to fulfill their dream.

A chapter consultant was sent to Gallaudet to assist the interest group with their membership. These 16 women pulled together as they had in the past to do something they had never done before . . . RUSH!! After a week of intense rushing a formal pledge class was selected. On February 28, 1993, Delta Zeta pledged 34 women at Gallaudet University.

February 28th was really just the beginning for these women. I remember their first pledge meeting when I handed out their Alumna initiates: Jerry Frank, Diane Hottendorf, Sue Gill-Doleac. When Diane accompanied the Gallaudet Dancers to Convention, she said, as she described her joy at becoming a Delta Zeta: "I became a pledge, an initiate and an alumna — all in less than a week." Diane has worked with the dance company for 12 years.

Omicron Sigma chapter at Gallaudet University, Washington, D.C.

Dawn Shriver is Convention Initiate

Dawn Shriver, president of the newly chartered Omicron Sigma chapter at Gallaudet University, was the 1993 convention initiate.

The 1991-1993 Miss Deaf Indiana, Dawn is a Hoosier of many accomplishments. At the Indiana School for the Deaf she participated in all sports, earning recognition as the most valuable volleyball player, and serving as vice president of the Student Council and two years as president of the Junior National Association for the Deaf.

In her senior year she starred in the University of Indianapolis' production of Children of a Lesser God and graduated third in her class. At Gallaudet, Dawn has been a cheerleader for the basketball team, played women's volleyball and has a major in criminology.

Her short term goal is a Master's Degree. Her long term goal, by age 30, is a Ph.D.

Dawn's mother, Kathleen, joined her at the Lamplighting Banquet.

pledge books and the calendar as if it were yesterday. There was so much excitement and energy in that room that it reminded me of how proud it feels to be a Delta Zeta. It seemed that I could not plan enough activities for these eager women. They were thirsty for Delta Zeta knowledge, Delta Zeta activities and Delta Zeta friendships.

Shortly after the first pledge meeting a colony retreat was planned; however, it was scheduled the same weekend as "the storm of the decade." Those of you on the East Coast can recall how that blanket of snow kept just about everybody homebound for days. That was not the case with Omicron Sigma! Nothing was going to stop them from getting to know their new sisters and it was a wonderful time!

It was exciting for me to watch these women work as a team. Suddenly their thoughts, ideas and actions became the group's thoughts, ideas and actions. They proved this as they made an outstanding appearance at Greek Week. Dawn Shriver, the colony president, won Miss Greek Week. These women had made a name for Delta Zeta at Gallaudet University in only a month. They were already the leaders of the Greek community and the campus.

This fast pace did not slow down and then it was Lamplighting Week. It was hard to believe that initiation was only a week away. As excitement soared, the women of Delta Zeta used that week to discover even more about one another and the group. They could not believe that only a year before this was all just a dream. And now only a week away they would have thousands of new Delta Zeta sisters across the country and in Canada.

It could not have been a prettier day in Washington as 28 women were initiated by the International Council as the Omicron Sigma chapter. The installation banquet was very special and guests included collegians from our new chapter in Canada, collegians and alumnae from surrounding areas, Gallaudet President Dr. I. King Jordan, Foundation President Joan Dondrea Lowry, Past National Officers and nearly the entire International Council.

In his comments, Dr. Jordan expressed most eloquently, "It's about time Delta Zeta came home to its home, its spiritual home — here at Gallaudet University." With these words, Delta Zeta's dreams came true on April 25, 1993.

Omicron Xi First at Mars Hill

Marvona Tavlin presents the gavel to Omicron Xi President DeAnn DeBrand.

by Shellie Littrel,
Chapter Consultant

The interest group of women at Mars Hill College, Mars Hill, North Carolina, had a vision to bring the first national sorority on campus. The campus already had four local sororities, but these women did not find what they were looking for in a Greek organization with these choices. So they formed their own local sorority in order to be recognized by the Greek Council. A few months later, in April, 1992, Omicron Mu chapter at University of South Carolina at Spartanburg pledged Omicron Xi colony into Delta Zeta.

However, Omicron Xi had many obstacles to overcome before they were initiated and installed. When Chapter Consultant Shellie Littrel arrived in September the Inter-Greek Council (IGC) was in chaos with Delta Zeta the cause of it. Due to the lack of a Panhellenic system and the IGC's inexperience with national sororities, Delta Zeta was being put on probation for a semester to "prove" themselves as a sisterhood to the IGC. This consisted of the inability to participate in fall rush.

For a semester, Omicron Xi completed their pledge education program, elected officers and were trained in their positions, participated and placed in events at Homecoming, publicized Delta Zeta by attending campus and community events as a sisterhood. They wore their letters or pledge pins, sponsored fund raising activities, and "bonded" through a variety of sisterhood, social and philanthropic events.

Delta Zeta was the leader in sponsoring a campus beautification project to "Light Up Mars Hill" during the holidays. During a visit to Lenoir-Rhyne College, the sisters of Zeta Xi adopted Omicron Xi members as their "little sisters." The visit to Zeta Xi brought renewed enthusiasm and motivation as Omicron Xi prepared for their first rush in January.

"Country Spree with Delta Zee" was Omicron Xi's rush theme. The week of rush proved to be successful as they doubled their numbers and pledged the largest pledge class that Mars Hill had ever seen. Delta Zeta, after only one rush, was the largest student organization on campus!

Because there were new pledges, there were also new activities; big and little sisters, different sisterhood events, a pledge retreat and new ideas. Chapter Consultant Andrea Cooper visited the colony for officer training and gave them new ideas to build a stronger sisterhood. While the pledges were learning about Delta Zeta, they were also anxiously awaiting their initiation and installation.

Finally, almost one year after the original members had been pledged into Delta Zeta, Zeta Xi chapter at Lenoir-Rhyne College initiated Omicron Xi colony. The installation was on April 18, 1993.

The installation luncheon was held at The Grove Park Inn and Country Club with Director of Extension Sandra Sebrell Bailey presiding as toastmistress and International President Marvona Easley Tavlin as the installing officer.

As Omicron Xi members were called forward to sign the charter, they were presented with their certificates of membership. Mar-

Omicron Xi members at Mars Hill College, Mars Hill, North Carolina.

Marvona Tavlin presented the chapter to Dr. Fred Bentley, President of Mars Hill College. Robin Dillingham Cole, Assistant to the Vice President of Student Affairs and Omicron Xi's initiated CCD, served as the special guest speaker. The sisters of Omicron Xi entertained their guests by doing the Delta Zeta Creed in sign language. Chapter Consultants Andrea Cooper and Shellie Littrel assisted the chapter throughout the luncheon.

PCD-XXI-W Debra Wood Pressley, PCD-XXI-E Karen Thomas Shiels, and PAD-XXI Patricia Menendez Tector welcomed Omicron Xi and read greetings from Delta Zetas and chapters throughout the nation. Also in attendance were Chapter Consultant Coordinator Ruth Weider Patterson, representatives from Lambda Phi, Appalachian State; Zeta Xi, Lenoir-Rhyne College; Beta Delta, University of South Carolina; Omicron Mu, University of South Carolina at Spartanburg; Theta Iota, Western Carolina University, Lambda Sigma, Winthrop College, and representatives from other Greek organizations on campus.

Omicron Xi started as a small group of women interested in having a Greek experience unlike any other on the Mars Hill campus. They found that experience in Delta Zeta and are now interested in sharing Delta Zeta with more women at Mars Hill College. The sisters of Omicron Xi discovered that Delta Zeta is more than a group of women. Delta Zeta is a lifelong commitment to sisterhood and high standards and Omicron Xi will build their future upon that strong foundation.
