A Chat with an English College Girl

IT WAS no suitable time to write a paper on Wordsworth's theories of poetry. Outside, the rain drizzled gently but continuously. Inside, the few coals in the tiny grate failed utterly to banish the chill. I pulled my sweater-coat more closely about me and glanced around the bare little room, wondering what it was like when college was in session, when Oxford town was not over-run with tourists and with summer-school students, when this particular college was crowded with English girls. If they were like the half dozen who were still in the college this summer, working in the library, they were an interesting company. One roomed directly across the corridor from me and we had become a bit acquainted. I had asked her to come to see me some day, telling her I worked with girls in an American college and should be so much interested in any account of English college life that she might give me. Just then there was a knock, I opened the door—and there she stood.

The afternoon seemed suddenly brighter so bright were her eyes, so red her cheeks, so straight and strong her figure. No attempt to be slim had she made, no attempt to appear blasé or sophisticated. Her smooth black hair was combed in the style that many English girls affected that summer of '28, parted to the nape of the neck, braided, and coiled round and round over each ear.

"I wonder if you'd care to have tea with me," she laughed. "Only it must be in your room, not mine, for you have a fire." Before I could express my delight she had balanced a small kettle on the coals. "And see what came with the last post. Some particularly plummy cinnamon buns from the mater."

"And I have a tin of Huntley biscuits, and a basket of cherries I bought between lectures this morning," I announced with pride as I rummaged behind the curtain of the book-shelves.

"This will be a tea," my guest-hostess said exultantly, and in no time the water was hot, the tea brewed, and she on the lumpy couch and I in the one wicker chair, were drinking hot tea, and devouring buns and cherries with the greatest sociability. Why had I ever made the error of thinking English people cold and formal? She talked easily and well.

"Tell me what an ordinary college day is like," I said.

"We start rather early," she replied, "with breakfast at eight-thirty although we may have early tea in our rooms at eight if we prefer. Morning prayers follow immediately, and although they are not compulsory most of us attend. Of course some of us pose as free thinkers and would not deign to go to prayers. And then we settle down to our reading—in our rooms, or our own college library, or perhaps we must do some research that will take us to the Bodleian Library or the Radcliffe Camera. Possibly a lecture may be given that gives light on our particular field of work, and if we think it will be helpful we attend. You probably know that attendance on lectures is not compulsory; in fact, some students, particularly men, almost never attend. Of course, once a week, and sometimes twice, we have appointments with our particular tutors. My own field is history and the problem that my tutor assigns me each week takes all my reading time and more too. He is very particular about the papers I write, and his questions are very searching. It is not enough for me to know my authorities: I must think for myself and uphold my opinions in argument. After reading all the morning, our luncheon at one is welcome. It is quite informal, but we are still in academic costume, having worn it to breakfast, prayers, or anywhere in town where we have found it necessary to go. From luncheon till tea is our recreation time. We all ride bicycles, and we take long rides on them; we go on numberless walks; we play tennis—all the women's colleges have excellent courts; if the weather is suitable we go in punts on the Char, that charming little river that winds in and out near so many of the colleges. Or if we prefer we may go shopping on The High—that street has marvelous shops as I'm sure you have discovered; or we may go to a cinema—there are several in town of varying merit. Tea-time usually finds us back at college, although sometimes we prefer to go to a tea-shop in town. Between tea and dressing for dinner we usually read again. Dinner is very formal. We are no longer in academic costume—and, by the way, the more ancient and tattered our gowns the better we like them; no, we wear dinner dress and go to the dining hall quite ceremoniously. There we stand behind our chairs till the head maid gives the signal. All conversation ceases and we turn to face the Head and the faculty as they march into the room and up to their table on the dais. The Head says a Latin grace, and then, and not until then, may we speak. When dinner is over, the Head stands; we do the same; another Latin grace is said; the Head and faculty file out and we follow them. We usually go to the drawing room for coffee and a cigarette, and a little chat with the faculty, and then we go to our own rooms where we settle down to hard reading for as long a time as we feel we should give."

"And what about your social life?" I asked.

She smiled. "There is not much time for that. Of course we do not read every night. Once in a while a few of us meet in one girl's room, and there we eat a little, smoke a bit more, and talk a great deal. We attempt to settle the problems of the universe. American girls do that, too, I fancy. We are allowed to go to a very few dances a year. These are approved by the Head. The university has a dramatic club which gives many plays. These we may attend, although we may not take part in them. I do not understand about all the organizations American college women have. We feel a loss of individuality if we are organized, and so we don't go in for clubs and societies. And, moreover, we have so little spare time. You must remember that college is in session only three terms of nine weeks each. No, don't smile; we work when we are not here. I spent almost all of my holiday last summer in reading, for my tutor gave me in May so many problems that must be solved before I saw him again in October. Perhaps you would like to see some of the examinations we must pass before we can receive our degrees."

She ran across the corridor and returned with several pamphlets in her hand. "Here are the examinations of last year in English, history, and Romance languages."

I glanced at the examination in English. It consisted of fifteen papers, each having from thirteen to fifteen questions, six papers being on Gothic, Anglo Saxon, Old English, or Middle English, and the remainder on periods of English literature through the early nineteenth century. They were amazing questions. I knew of no B.A. in the States who could have passed the examinations, and they would have floored many a Ph.D.

She watched my expression. "Of course, we study only in our field," she said. "In the first year we have three subjects, but in the second and third we concentrate on one. The work is very thorough. We are supposed to get our degree in three years, but occasionally it takes four. And then, besides," she laughed, "Oxford is not very cordial to us women. A man may take a pass degree, but a woman who registers in Oxford must work for honors and take an honor degree. I wish you might see a 'degree-giving,'" and she launched into a vivid description of that imposing ceremony which lasted until the gong that announced it was time to dress for dinner.

"Oh, I'm frightfully sorry," she apologized, hastily collecting kettle, teapot, and the box that had once held buns. "I've talked too much, I'm sure, and I wanted to hear about American colleges. But I did enjoy my tea with you!"

"And I can't tell you how much I have enjoyed tea with you, and how much I have enjoyed you yourself. We'll do this again some time, and if you wish, I'll talk about American college women."

She smiled and hurried away. The bare little college room seemed warm and alive now. I glanced out the window. Yes, I saw a bit of blue sky, and a watery sun struggling through the clouds. I turned to the books on my desk and closed them. Wordsworth could wait; I could work with him at any time. But such a delightful study as that I had just enjoyed was a privilege to be taken when it was offered. I should not soon forget the hour I had spent with an English college girl.

Creed of a Pledge

Do the little things which might have been overlooked. It is fun to surprise folk! Try to do daily good turns to your sisters. They'll appreciate it and return your favors! Share your joys with them; be alert; be a good fellow; know how to keep up your end of the conversation; be interested in doing the things they like to do; and simply revel in knowing that you are a Delta Zeta Pledge. It's great to be able to point out an attractive girl on the campus and say, proudly,

"She's my sorority sister!"

Impressions of the Centro De Estudios Historicos, Madrid, Spain

REALIZING that most of the evils of Spain come as the result of ignorance, the interest of a group of innovators has centered around education. The most logical thing I would think, would have been a complete reformation of the entire educational system. This however, was impossible due to lack of funds, so at the instigation of the well-known Giner de los Rios one discovers the evolution of a plan beginning from the university downward. The universities of Spain, as all old universities, were very bureaucratic in nature; so an institution devoid of religious requirement, and of any discrimination in the matter of sex, was deemed necessary. As a result, we find this Centro de Estudios Historicos, a place where the enlightened youth of Spain come into contact with the intellectual leaders of the country. The influence of the Centro has spread into Germany, France, Switzerland, Great Britain, and the United States, where yearly scholars are sent to study. The number of students from these countries who study annually in Madrid increases with promising rapidity.

So, if you are looking for an ideal place to spend your vacation and are in the least ignorant of things Spanish I vouch that four weeks spent living among these splendid people will greatly increase your knowledge and will give you a wider vision. For the school is not in the least bit old-fashioned—in fact for some of us who are used to the narrow and bigoted rules of a small college, it seemed almost preposterous that we could call the sereno to open the door for us after a bull fight at two-thirty in the morning.

The school is situated on the outskirts of Madrid on a hill overlooking the Hippodrome, the quarters of the civil guards, and the Museum of Natural Science. The snow-peaked Sierras of Guadarrama may be seen in the north and it is the refreshing breezes from these mountains that makes sleeping at night possible. The buildings of the school are very modern, there being five including three pabellons used as dormitories, the scientific laboratory, and one for class recitations. The main building is divided into a dining room, lecture room (which in the evenings and especially every Friday evening is converted into a living room) and a dormitory. The sleeping rooms are furnished completely but plainly. With white walls, a wardrobe, a table, a chair, a bed, a washstand with a huge metal pitcher, a mirror, and a towel rack, one can live conveniently and with satisfaction.

The sources of study were not many, but if one were to attend every course given the amount of work would be tremendous. To those who know no Spanish a delightful course is given by the American wife of the secretary. The general course is comprehensive, dealing with phonetics, pronunciation, literature, and the practice of conversing in the language itself. These are given in the morning from nine to one. Mail is sorted by eleven o'clock, so it is with eagerness that one scans the board upon which the letters are grouped alphabetically. The advance courses are given after the mid-day siesta.

Each week-end, excursions are conducted to near-by places of interest. Toledo, the ancient capital of Spain and the center of the famous "Toledo Ware," Segovia famous for its cathedral, the Royal Palace, the Royal armory, the prado, and other places too numerous to mention.

The courtesy and the sympathetic manner displayed at all times in Spain deserves some commendation and mention. The Spaniards who attend this school are more than anxious to be of assistance and to help the strangers enjoy and understand their country. It is not only pleasurable but thrilling to live with people so entirely different in culture and civilization. Spain is romantic, not too hot, healthful, and last but not least satisfying.

The 1931 New York City Scholarship Award Announced April 1, 1931

MISS KATHERINE NOBLE, a member of Pi Beta Phi and a graduate of Knox College, Galesburg, Illinois, has won the 1931 Scholarship Award of $500 given by the New York City Panhellenic, Inc.

Miss Dorothy Brown (librarian) of Alpha Chi Omega, a graduate of William and Mary College, Williamsburg, Virginia, and Miss Honor Gregory (journalist) of Zeta Tau Alpha, a senior this year at Butler University, Indianapolis, were announced as first and second alternates.

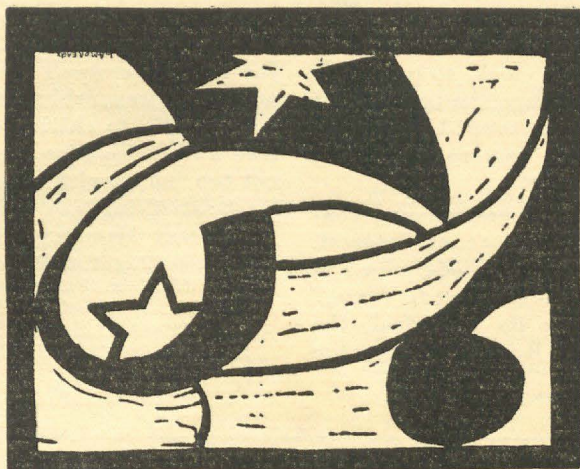

Miss Noble is expected in New York City in September where she will prepare herself for the position of dean of women, taking a special course in this work which is given at Columbia University. At present she is a teacher of Spanish and Latin in the public high school in Ann Arbor, Michigan, and has served for one year as the chaperon of the Pi Beta Phi house in Ann Arbor. She has shown unusual ability in this field in which she wishes to develop herself.

The fifteen candidates submitted this year for the award were all of outstanding merit. They represented fourteen colleges scattered in almost as many states. The types of training sought also showed much diversity. Two of the applicants sought to be librarians but there was only one in each of the other fields—bacteriology, teacher of physical education, Latin, English literature, speech and dramatics, journalism, dietetics, mathematician, child development, French, diplomatic service, college administration (one registrar—one dean of women).

The 1931 New York Panhellenic Scholarship Award committee was composed of Mrs. Beverley Robinson, chairman, Alpha Xi Delta; Mrs. Margaret Wardell, Alpha Omicron Pi; Mrs. C. Grant Cleaver, Pi Beta Phi; Miss Winifred Weeks, Phi Mu; Miss Dorothy Woodward, Sigma Kappa; Miss Marion Boyd, Chi Omega.

Part Time Sorority Editors' Salaries Average $601 Yearly

By WILMA SMITH LELAND

*Editor, To Dragma of Alpha Omicron Pi
Secretary, N.P.C. Editors Conference*

SORORITY editors are doing their work for a very small financial return. Unlike their contemporaries, the fraternity editors, their work is, for the greater part, a "labor of love." Out of twenty-one questionnaires sent out, sixteen were returned; one of them was unanswered but came with explanation. We will base our results on fifteen editors' experiences.

Salaries varied from nothing to $2,750, the latter being paid for editor-secretary services. There were eight salaried editors out of the fifteen receiving an average of $601.50 a year. Five editors hold other fraternity offices—three are editor-secretary, one, editor-historian and one, editor-registrar. Two of the editor-secretaries hold full-time positions. All other editors do their work, while tending to families, doing office and professional work, or teaching.

Few could tell how many hours are spent on editorial work. The answers varied from eighty to three hundred per issue, and the word "plus" followed even the three hundred. Suffice it that many hours go into each issue.

It was interesting to note that the editors who do not receive salaries are usually well paid for stenographic services and office expenses. The allowance varied from $100 a year to $400. Every editor replying was allowed all expenses connected with her work, such as postage, telegrams, stationery, et cetera.

Eight sororities publish secret publications. Usually the editor has charge of all publications, including these. They vary from a monthly membership letter to post-convention issues. Two editors failed to answer this question so we suspect they, like the remaining five, do not issue secret bulletins.

It was interesting to note that twelve sororities elect their editors; three appoint theirs. Two were elected for six and four years, respectively. Only one of the appointed editors is paid.

We were surprised to find that but three of the fifteen are not members of their governing board, executive committee, or what have you. In each case where an affirmative answer was found, it was followed by "This is a distinct advantage," or "I can't imagine not being on the Executive Committee."

Ten publications are self-supporting, deriving their expenses from life subscription plans.

The other paid officers in most cases were office assistants or secretaries who have charge of central offices. One treasurer received a stipend of $250 a year; another is paid $150 a month. No doubt both of these have charge of files and do other office work. One assistant editor receives $50 per issue for her services.

A Swarthmore Senior's Sentimentalities

NOT so long ago Dean Walters startled me in Collection by saying "This is the last Collection to be held in Collection Hall. For fifty years Collection has been held here, but the Clothier Memorial is now ready for use and Collection will be held there on Wednesday mornings." Then he went on to talk about something else but my mind was far away from him in spite of my second-row seat. Fifty years—half a century . . . our fathers and mothers went to Collection here, some of our grandfathers and grandmothers, and it seemed only natural that our children, our grandchildren, and even theirs should sit here through a few minutes of the Silence of the Friends' tradition guarded on all sides by paintings of some of the people who made Swarthmore what it is today. The dean of women during father's time was there, his professors, Lucretia Mott, and members of the board of managers all kept watch from the walls. I was afraid they would all start speaking, "What are thee doing? Why leave us for something new? We have been tolerant with thee and now thy happiness makes us lonely here." Hard seats, a miniature stage, amateur theatrical devices, lack of dressing rooms, hopeless facilities for lighting, the absurd balcony, where, as a freshman, I sat in Collection obscure from the glances of the deans, all made me anxious to get out and over to the new.

So, on February 18 the seniors in cap and gown filed down the aisle of Clothier followed by the faculty and board of managers in their brilliant academic costumes. I was glad to be a senior—this seemed almost a tribute to us—an advance warning of commencement yet to come. The silence fell just after the organ died away. . . . I wondered about old Collection Hall. . . . But a spirit of new life at Swarthmore was alive around us. A building for the future planned by those of our immediate past in memory of Isaac Clothier's forty-eight years of service on the board of managers seemed to link old and new together. It wasn't just another building

... all the old tradition was in the air without any obvious reminders. The rich simplicity of the room was perfect. It will teach the humility which our college gives us with our success and never-satisfied ambitions. The Inner Light of the Swarthmore Meeting of the Society of Friends has traveled across the campus from the little Meeting House, through Collection, to Clothier. How good it is to be a connecting link between the old and the new. June is coming and I'm glad and yet I shudder at it. But when it does come I will leave thankful that we've had our Meeting House, old Collection, and our new Clothier. The silence in all has been an opportunity to grow.

Epsilon Delta Zeta at the Sorbonne

AURORA YETTA, '32, Epsilon, is spending this year abroad as the result of a $300 scholarship awarded her by the committee on foreign study of the Institute of International Education. She is a major in the French department and each year seventy American colleges and universities send one or more students to France to remain abroad one year in foreign study. Aurora was the recipient of that award last year, an honor due to her high scholastic record in the university. She received a scholarship to Indiana University in her freshman year and in the two years that she attended here was a member of W.A.A., French club, and was recognized as an outstanding freshman by Mortar Board.

In one of her recent letters Aurora tells of her Thanksgiving abroad. She thinks she had about as nice a one as she will ever have away from home. Certainly, it was an unusual one and long to be talked about. "In the morning," she says, "our group visited the cathedral of Notre Dame, and one of the profs who knows everything there is to know about Gothic architecture explained things to us. We've been studying about it in our history of art course, so it was a very profitable visit. It is such an imposing edifice that we just stood open-mouthed and awe-stricken, and wondered how any man could conceive it. And the sculpture and stained glass windows are beautiful! We climbed way up in the church by narrow dark, winding, stone stairways—made us feel as though we were in some old medieval castle; and then from way up above we looked out over Paris. I could hardly believe I was really here—it just isn't possible—but there was the great city, Seine and all, spread out before me." Their Thanksgiving dinner sounds very American—they ate at a place called l'Hostellerie du Coq Hardi. They left the table at four-thirty!

Her first three months abroad were spent at the University of Nancy in preparation for her study at Sorbonne. At Nancy she lived with a lovely French family who treated her royally, breakfast in bed, and tea every afternoon! And anywhere in France, if you don't take second helpings of the food, they think you don't like their cooking!

Life in France is perfectly lovely, but sometimes an American does have difficulties in getting what he wants. "After asking Madame Bricau how to say 'fix the heels,' I took my shoes down to the shoe shop. Well, I was talking to one of the girls and saying what a dumb way you have to say 'fix the heels,' when she opened a package under her arm and said, 'Look here. I took these shoes down for new rubber heels, and they not only put on rubber heels but also rubber soles!' It was too funny for words. Here were these very nice dress shoes with rubber soles. Such are the trials of an American in France!

Two Beta Etas Handing a Line in New England

TWO Beta Eta girls, Margaret Zabriskie and Mary Betts, went on what was to them a grand tour of the metropolitan and pine tree districts of New England. The whole purpose I think was to duly impress some of the college men and women there, as to just what sort of women come out of Swarthmore and what big things they expect to do in the world. They visited four colleges altogether, arguing with opponents from each, the weighty question of whether women should or should not emerge from the home. The remarkable versatility of the young women from Swarthmore was demonstrated when on successive nights they changed so completely from sweet, simple, submissive little home bodies to budding young geniuses brusquely announcing their denunciation of the home and all it stands for. The discussion with men's teams at Bates College and Bowdoin in Maine was particularly interesting since the women staunchly defended the emergence of their sex, and the men stood by their age-old ideals of the home, always, now and forever.

The Swarthmore girls were loud in their praise of New England hospitality. They were entertained delightfully by the Connecticut and Radcliffe women and by the Bates and Bowdoin men. There were many comments on the wonders of the New England landscape—the deep snow, with the huge snow plows lying ready here and there, so different from the sunny southland—Pennsylvania—the pine trees dark and green against the snow, miles and miles of them; and the low, white, rambling farm houses with barns attached. Last of all there was Boston, Boston in driving rain and snow, but they saw the Commons, the Charles River, Cambridge, and Harvard. All in all it was a wonderful experience for these Beta Eta girls. A change of scene, interesting people, fun, a good question, snappy arguments and some little renown, for they debated the Bates College team, and that debate will go down in history as one of the best of the year in the 1931 edition of "Inter-collegiate Debates." A little pat on the back for Beta Eta, we would say.

ALPHA GAMMA CHAPTER

UPSILON'S NEW TROPHY CASE

HISTORIC KINGSTON, RHODE ISLAND

KINGSTON, like a little old lady, rests under her stately arched elms dreaming of her heyday. The atmosphere of calmness, of sweet peacefulness, is in full keeping with the dignified old buildings that still stand, reminders of Kingston's historic past.

Most important of all the buildings is the old courthouse, which was occupied from 1776 to 1791 by the General Assembly and from 1776 to 1891 by the county court. It retains its original design and finish and exhibits the dignity and stateliness of colonial architecture although some additions have been made to it.

The materials used in the building are chiefly oak and chestnut which came from virgin forests not a mile away. Every nail put into the building was made by hand here at Kingston forges. The frame is of solid oak and the window frames are of red cedar. The court room was on the second floor, and here can be seen the beautiful old paneling, one panel in particular is noteworthy in that it measured 3'10"  $\times$  5'8" and is worked from a single board. Some of the old spindle back benches which have San Domingo mahogany tops used in this room over a century and a half ago are still in use about the village. The pillars in the lower hall and such wainscoting as remains reveal an interior wrought out in accordance with a generous plan.

Next in importance to the courthouse is the old Academy. Important as the building is in itself and for the youths from many parts of the world it trained for college, it is more important yet as a memorial to that historic figure of colonial times, Samuel Sewall, and his wife Hannah. Hannah was the daughter of John Hull, the Boston mintmaster who, on her wedding day, placed her on one arm of his big pair of stillyards and filled the other pan with pinetree shillings until they balanced, giving the money to her as her dowry. In 1695 Samuel Sewall and his wife set aside a tract of land to be sold, the funds from the sale to be used for educational purposes. For a time this fund was used for a sort of community school on Tower Hill, but in 1823 the Kingston Academy was granted use of the money. The Sewall fund is administered at the present time by a board of trustees for the South Kingston School Fund, so that the "Love, Kindness, and Goodwill of Samuel Sewall and his wife Hannah" are still shown to the people of South County.

An old catalog of the Kingston Academy states that tuition for instruction in English was $3 a quarter, while instruction in Latin and Greek was $5 a quarter. Board and lodging was $1.50 per week including laundry!

Kingston boasted three Inns, only one of which remains today. Kingston Inn is a splendid example of New England Colonial architecture, having the entrance in the center, two windows on either side of the door, a window above the door and windows in the second story directly above those in the first. The rooms are arranged in New England Colonial manner and the fireplace rooms, typical of old structures, together with the fine old fireplaces are the outstanding features of this building.

More interesting, however, than this, perhaps because it is inaccessible, is a long, low building on the other side of the main street from the present Inn. This old building, erected in pre-colonial days, was also an Inn. Its central stone chimney is nearly fourteen feet square at its base. In the fireplace is a huge oak lintel. Pots and kettles were hung, not from a crane, but from huge chains or withers from an oak beam built in the throat of the flue. In the back of the fireplace is an oven in which a whole pig may be roasted at once. There is a saying that there was an underground passage beneath this house which was used by runaway slaves during the Civil War but there is no proof that this is true. In this tavern the legislative body and the court attendants were served. Here tales were told that were "an argument for a week, laughter for a month, and a good jest forever."

At one end of the Helme house there is an old door that artists come miles to copy because of its fine proportions. There are many beautiful doorways in the village but none so simple yet so beautiful in design. It has pilasters and the Greek entablature while the paneling of the door is of the Christian design, forming a cross in the center.

An old building of much interest is the old French House built around 1700 and noted as a beaver hat factory. The place has been in the French family for over a century and is noted for its double porch and for the beautiful walk edged with flowers which stretches above the main road. Lillies of the valley and violets still grow there and with the beautiful lilac bushes are all that remain of a once famous garden.

Tucked away in a corner of the village is a tiny little house set in back of a pocket handkerchief lawn in front of which is a little picket fence. Here Baker Green lived and had his marvelous oven and here he made the golden gingerbread and sweet buns which remain an unsurpassed Kingston tradition. His house is peculiarly fit for a baker since it looks as though it might have come freshly frosted, ready to eat, from his own ovens. It reminds one of a New England edition of Hansel and Gretel's house in the woods.

Dignified and calm the old church stands, giving the worshipper a sense of peaceful security as the pew door is locked behind him. As the fresh spring air comes through the plain open window, we sit in our wooden benches wondering about the men and women who lived in Kingston in those early days, and as we walk slowly home through the arched aisle of stately elms we think again of the little old lady dreaming of her youth.

And How Does the Chapter Profit?

Written for N.P.C. Publicity Committee

By MILDRED TINGLEY BEISEL

Delta Province President, Pi Beta Phi

TO THE undergraduate student the official visit of a national or province fraternity officer often seems something of a nuisance—another social event on an already crowded calendar. The desire to make a good impression on the visiting officer arouses general excitement and anxiety, all social engagements are sacrificed, all chapter skeletons are covered up, and everyone's "best foot is foremost." She wonders how much the chapter really profits. There is a certain amount of truth prompting these undergraduate reflections: why then is the frequent visit of an inspecting officer becoming more and more recognized as a vital and necessary factor in the strength of a fraternity?

A visiting officer brings to her chapters a consciousness of the organization at large—its aims and ideals. It is not desirable that chapters develop in a stereotyped manner after the same detailed pattern, but it is necessary that they build upon the same basic foundation, that they keep before themselves the ideals of their fraternity, and that they do not become lost in the petty details of the moment or in unjustified self-satisfaction. The desirability of close supervisory contacts between a national fraternity and its chapters is confirmed by the opinion of Dr. Edward A. Ross of the University of Wisconsin, one of America's greatest sociologists, who says: "History shows a marked drift of authority from the local toward the general. . . . A Greek-letter fraternity will see its standards lost sight of if it lacks in district organization and a strict supervision over its local chapters. Owing to chance, circumstances, and faults of leaders, any local association for general objects is subject to vagary and fatuousness unless it is steadied by membership in a general organization, which of necessity has attained to clear-cut aims and rational methods."

After all, it is well that local and personal interests of a chapter be set aside occasionally—at least for the time of an officer's visit. Local and immediate problems and methods are scrutinized closely before an officer arrives: if a chapter finds that the purposes of the national fraternity are being sacrificed to petty demands upon chapter attention or to local standards of questionable value, these things are apt to be put out of sight of the visiting officer or

"hushed-up" during her visit. A chapter feels a keen pride in parading a good plan or a worthy accomplishment: when, therefore, it finds that some favored ideas or methods need to be kept from the knowledge of the visiting officer, it often gains an understanding of their futility which results in their permanent abandonment. Time spent in thoughtful comparison of local accomplishment with national ideals is never wasted.

Because of her wide contacts a visiting officer can do much to eliminate the costly "trial and error" method of chapter developments, since she can save a chapter from experimentation with a plan which, to her knowledge, has already proved itself unable to accomplish its intended purpose. An ever-present problem in the development of group life is the lack of continuity not only in personnel but in leadership. Given a second chance, almost any chapter officer could do better because of her experience, but this is not always either possible or desirable. The visiting officer provides the experience which makes possible continuity of development and progress even under constantly changing local leadership.

Mothers are notoriously unable to see anything but the best in their children: it takes a stranger to make an impartial judgment. So, it is often easier for those not closely associated with a chapter to see fairly its points both of strength and weakness. Many times a visiting officer can give more understanding and impartial advice than is possible for alumnae close at hand. The opportunity for a chapter to present both sides of a situation to an unbiased person will often, of itself, clear away a misunderstanding which would otherwise spend itself in conflict and wasted energy.

Membership in a chapter which has responsibilities to a national organization is one of the greatest socializing agencies in college life. The visit of an inspecting officer emphasizes to each girl her personal responsibility for maintaining standards and helps her realize that not only the individual but also the group suffers when she fails to meet those obligations. Membership in a national fraternity must mean, she learns, the subordination of petty personal desires to the good of the larger group, even while it also means untold and invaluable opportunities to express initiative and individuality.

And how does the chapter profit? It gains everything—wise counsel, incentive, and inspiration. It is the responsibility and opportunity of a chapter to express the ideals of its fraternity in terms of its environment and so no two chapters are ever exactly alike, but the growth and development of every chapter is limited only by its desire and ability to use the help which national and province officers, with their advantages of experience and breadth and vision, offer to them.

When in Detroit, Michigan

By MRS. HAROLD PHELPS,
Sigma Kappa

HOW about looking up that sorority friend the next time you're in Detroit? If she has married and you do not know her present address, do not falter. Go directly to the Book-Cadillac, the Intercollegiate Hotel, and ask at the main desk to see the Panhellenic directory file.

Miss Mary Helen Holmes, Gamma Phi Beta, has worked out a file for the Detroit Panhellenic that will enable the visitor to find her Detroit friend instantly. A triple filing system has been used, so that you can find the name of your friend under the name of her sorority, under her maiden name, or under her married name. Each card bears the correct address and telephone number so a search through only one of the files is all that is necessary to give you the complete information.

Eighteen of the twenty-one sororities represented in National Panhellenic Congress have alumnae organizations in Detroit and comprise a group of more than 3,000 women who are represented in the Detroit Panhellenic chapter. Two delegates from each sorority alumnae group compose the Detroit Panhellenic Council which manages a scholarship fund, and plans the annual intersorority luncheon and ball. The 1930-31 officers of the Council are: president, Mrs. Hobart Hoyt, Zeta Tau Alpha; vice-president, Miss Catherine Oakley, Alpha Chi Omega; secretary, Mrs. George Snider, Alpha Omicron Pi; treasurer, Mrs. James Maxwell, Kappa Kappa Gamma.

The eighteen sororities whose Detroit members can be found in the Book-Cadillac files are: Pi Beta Phi, Kappa Alpha Theta, Kappa Kappa Gamma, Alpha Phi, Delta Gamma, Gamma Phi Beta, Alpha Chi Omega, Delta Delta Delta, Alpha Xi Delta, Chi Omega, Sigma Kappa, Alpha Omicron Pi, Zeta Tau Alpha, Alpha Gamma Delta, Alpha Delta Pi, Delta Zeta, Phi Mu, Kappa Delta.

Are You Coming to New York This Summer—or Next Fall?

EVERYBODY does sometime and of course if Everybody is a fraternity girl (or a fraternity girl's friend!) she will want to stay at the Panhellenic, which is the fraternity girl's New York home! The Panhellenic is situated in the Grand Central Zone, barely ten minutes from the Grand Central Station—that implies that it is in midtown New York, most conveniently located with regard to the theater and shopping district! The rates are extremely reasonable and the accommodations among the best in the city.

Every summer the Panhellenic has an influx of summer visitors. They come by train, by boat, by motor, by bus, and now even by plane! Students who come here for the summer session at New York University, Columbia, and other schools find at the Panhellenic the coolest rooms in the city! Motor parties who strike New York for the week-end find at the Panhellenic a homelike atmosphere which the ordinary metropolitan hotel does not possess. They may park their car in a garage across the street; they enjoy the cafeteria breakfast which enables them to start the day early and be off! They like to return to a comfortable room and refreshing bath after a hard day sight-seeing or shopping. They make use of the laundry to keep themselves trim and to keep expenses down!

This year there are to be four national conventions in the East and the Panhellenic expects to entertain many post-convention house parties. For their benefit and also for other fraternity girls passing through New York, the Panhellenic has converted many rooms into doubles at the rate of $4.00 a day or $18 a week. These rooms are equipped with twin beds and private baths. For their convenience also a representative of the house will meet trains if desired and an information bureau with all data about trains, theaters, sight-seeing buses and New York generally will be maintained at the hotel.

Contrary to the prevailing impression, the Panhellenic is not restricted to fraternity members or even to college women but is open to their relatives and friends as well. So they may bring their mothers, their cousins, their sisters, and their aunts—but unhappily not their brothers! And all will be made welcome!

Another mistaken notion about the Panhellenic is that it is a sort of glorified dormitory with many rules and regulations! To be sure, it has a college atmosphere that is delightful but it has no rules or regulations other than those in use in the best New York hotels. There is a telephone in every room and all night desk, telephone, and elevator service is maintained.

Transients may come to the Panhellenic at any time, with or without a reservation. Come by day or by night, any time you will! And the Panhellenic will be ready to take care of you. Single rooms may be engaged at any time as low as $2.50 a day.

For fraternity members and their friends who expect to come to New York next fall to enter school; to embark upon a career or to do the thousand and one things that always attract youth to New York, it is not too early to make your reservations. Fall is the busiest time at the Panhellenic and the best accommodations are secured in advance. If you should be one of those coming to art, dramatic, or secretarial school or the department store training squads, get in touch with Panhellenic as soon as possible to obtain a choice of rooms and to secure the lower rates. Write for application forms and get your arrangements made before September 1.

To Die

*I saw a man die.
His face was torn with anguish;
His eyes bulged with fright;
He sank, wracked with terror,
Into eternity.*

*I saw a man die.
His face was lined with hatred;
His eyes gleamed with bitterness;
He cursed, and death mocked him
Into silence.*

*I saw a man die.
His face was soft with resignation;
His eyes were dull with tiredness;
He sighed, and stumbled
Into oblivion.*

*I saw a man die.
His face was bright with love;
His eyes were trusting, comforting;
He smiled, and passed unfaltering
Into immortality.*

Syracuse Forms Independent Organization

A DEFINITE organization of Independents has finally been achieved at Syracuse University. Over three hundred men and women met in Hendricks Chapel on March 23, indicating that such a union is of keen interest to students on this campus.

The importance of such an organization on campus was expressed by Dr. Ernest Griffith, dean of the undergraduates. Dr. William Powers, chaplain, advocated the institution but stressed the fact that it should not be formed as a device method but as a contributive campus influence.

A tentative plan of organization was adopted with minor details to be worked out by various committees. A central committee will formulate policies, call general meetings, publish a bulletin, and conduct the business for the group.

Sub-committees made up of the general membership of the Independents according to their particular interests, will be employed to cater to the desire of the average student. These will be concerned with public affairs, literature and drama, music, art, philosophy, science, athletics, and politics.

Chairmen of all sub-committees meeting with a committee of ten will constitute the central committee. The committee of ten was appointed by Independent representatives of the sophomore class and constitutes the executive body launching the project. The chairmanship of that group will rotate, being held alternately by a man and a woman.

Social functions will also be sponsored by the group. Arrangements are under way which will enable the organization to sponsor the all-university dances.

Not only is interest being shown in the Independent organization by students, but also members of the faculty and administration have offered their aid and advice. The influence of such an institution at Syracuse may be great when the fact is considered that approximately one third of the students registered are affiliated with sororities and fraternities. Whether this new activity will seriously affect the rushing is a matter which may not be determined until next fall.

HOLLY SMOKE

•[iffen when]•

WHAT with the skirts getting longer and longer, we have had to sew two and three dresses together to keep up with the fashions, until it looks as if we wouldn't have much left to wear "back to the house" for commencement this year.

We didn't think we'd go, anyway, on account of a suspicion that the president of the university, together with the Delta Zeta freshmen, could pull off commencement without us this year.

Besides, we went to commencement faithfully, every year that we first received our A.B. degree, and we feel that we have commenced enough. (More, probably, than we can finish in a day. See appendix ii, "Rome wasn't built in a.")

But just to prove our loyalty to the old landspots and the other professors, we thought we'd investigate and find out about a trousseau for commencement this year.

We started in at Toni's, the little shop on the corner where they sell fish and macaroni, but we didn't see anything there we would care to wear to commencement. So we went on to Toni's cousin, Giuseppe, who sells used army clothing and sporting goods. Giuseppe brought out a nifty little model overseas cap and some nice long leggings, but they looked a little warm for June. He also had lovely long fishing rods. How we wish we could wear fishing rods. And fishing hooks, they are the keenest-looking things!

However just as we were about to give up in despair, Giuseppe (who had no intention of giving up before we bought something) brought out a pair of corduroy coveralls.

Said he, "How abouta da corduroy zipperon?"

There was something familiar and peculiarly Delta Zeta about the costume. It was not altogether due to the pink rose sticking in the buttonhole of the zipperons. The very name made us faintly reminiscent. (No, dear reader, we did not really faint—not then anyway, not until we got home with the package and discovered we had actually bought "da corduroy zipperons" to wear to commencement.)

We have a feeling that René and probably Lois Higgins would not approve this costume. So we shall not wear it.

So we shall not be at commencement this year, but we hope you'll enjoy yourself anyway, just the same. Besides we haven't anything to show off—neither a new husband, a baby, nor a divorce. So what's the use?

* * *

Somebody ought to say something in behalf of the husbands of Delta Zeta officials. Here's Margaret Pease (see appendix iii, "as like as two peas in a pod") galloping around the country so fervently that her War Department has to fry his own pancakes. And we have heard that poor Mr. Lundy had to get permission from National to see his wife now and then, and so on. Now gentle readers, and those of you who are not so gentle (i.e., Lois Higgins and Marie Ballinger, Epsilon) do you think this is smart? We don't approve of it. A little desertion goes a long way, we believe, and we think somebody ought to appoint a committee to look up ball-and-chain sets for all Delta Zeta officials.

(Pause while chorus of amens goes up from husbands.)

We always wondered what the chapter inspectors really do when they inspect, besides giving teas, receiving candy and flowers, and dressing up five times an hour? What would happen if they found a few paragraphs missing out of the chapter? Or a whole page—oh, horrible thought! We remember once back in the dark ages when an inspector (name furnished on receipt of ten cents to pay shipping charges)—an inspector came to inspect us, and the treasurer (our roommate at the time) sat upstairs and cried in fright. We remember the personal interview with that inspector. We were pretty mad at her for coming about that time and when she asked us what we thought was the matter with the sorority we said—but what's the use to bring that up now—those upperclassmen are long since graduated and gone.

That brings back the thought of commencement again. Oh, dear (meaning the janitor), so saying the Lampadary will run up to the sewing machine and sew up a new wick to wear to commencement.

* * *

(P.S. Pease didn't really have any trouble frying his own pancakes. He used Aunt Jemima's pancake flour which is much better than the mixture Margaret Honeyfed Pease makes.—Adv.)

Sigma Girl Wins Travel Scholarship

Marguerite Pecot of Franklin, Louisiana, senior in journalism and editor of the Gumbo, college annual, has received the annual travel award for 1931 given by Pi Sigma Alpha, national government fraternity. A summer's travel in Europe with six weeks in Geneva for study in connection with the League of Nations constitutes the scholarship. Marguerite will sail for Europe about the middle of June. She is the fourth L.S.U. student to receive this award and is the first woman to be so honored.

Marguerite was graduated from the Franklin High School in June, 1927, and entered the university the following fall.

During her four years at L.S.U. Marguerite has been prominent in scholastic and social circles. She received the Blazer award for the most outstanding freshman girl in 1927-28. In her sophomore year Marguerite was secretary of the co-ed student body. She has been a member of the Reveille, college weekly, and of the Gumbo, college annual, staffs.

Marguerite is a member of Delta Gamma Delta, inter-sorority; of Theta Sigma Phi, national journalism fraternity; of Scribblers' Club; and of Blazers, honorary organization for women.

GOING HIGHER

HIGH SCHOOL GRADUATION APRIL THIRD

The seniors will receive their diplomas on Friday, April 3. Graduation exercises will take place at one o'clock in the assembly room. Everyone is invited to come.

This is the second step on the ladder of success suggested by their motto, "Going Higher."

IMPORTANT EVENTS OF THE YEAR

There have been a lot of important events in our school this year. There has been built a two-story log cabin for some of our teachers to live in. There has been built an upstairs to our school house which is to be used for a library.

We have received some very valuable books for the library. We have also received some equipment for the biology laboratory.

The basketball team received some new suits and a basketball.

The boys and girls have set out shade trees around the school building. The school boys have painted the inside of the school house, which has improved the appearance a great deal.

The improvement committee has done unusually good work in helping to better the school. On the committee are Mr. Gibson, Mr. Lee Patrick, Mr. Peyton Richie, Troy Martin, Chester Sutton, Rebel Hays, and Miss Buck.

EIGHTH GRADE GRADUATION APRIL NINTH

Six students expect to receive diplomas from the eighth grade. They are Ida Gibson, Cinda Lawson, Ethel Gayheart, Ruby Terry, Chester Shepherd, and Matthew Combs. They expect to enter high school next year.

Motto: Wisdom is better than rubies.

SENIORS BID US GOOD-BY

I have spent many a happy day here at Vest, but the parting hour is now near. Just to think I am finishing now never more to return gives me a heartache. When I think of the memorable moments of the days gone by I wish that I might recall that time and live again that reality that will live in memory for me. I bid to you all farewell.

—GERTRUDE SUTTON

The time has come to leave old Vest, How sad I am I cannot tell; I love my teachers, I love my friends, But I must say farewell.

—CURTIS BAILEY

I am now ready to take up my trend of life somewhere on life's rugged path, away from the things I have always known and loved. Farewell.—OSCAR SEARS PATRICK

ARBOR DAY PROGRAM

On March 20 a very interesting Arbor Day program was given in the assembly room. Both Miss Cleveland and Mrs. McCarty's rooms helped to entertain. Arthur, Rebel, and Oscar sang "Bluebells of Scotland" which proved to be a great success.

In the afternoon the high school boys, several of the girls, and Miss Ragsdale went up on the hill for trees which were planted on their return. Some of the trees were pin maple, willow, and red bud. The trees are growing and already have improved the looks of our school.

Mr. Lee Patrick and Mr. Dan Gibson helped us plant the trees.

LOOKING AHEAD

We are all looking forward to next year already. We like vacation but I imagine we will spend most of our time wishing for school to begin. Rebel, Thelma, and Polly will be our dignified seniors. The jolly juniors will be represented by Bertha, Jenny, Hetty, two Elsie's, and the four boys. The freshmen will be the wise old sophomores who will laugh at the greenness of the newcomers just like we laughed at them.

The library will be established in the new room upstairs. The science room will be well equipped and probably in another room. And maybe our trees will give us some shade.

The log house which will be completed will have a clinic for the benefit of the school.

We hope all the old students will be back and that we can make next year a better school year in every way.

LOAFER'S DELIGHT

SCHOOL will start again July 1. The past year has seen many improvements and next year will bring more. The teachers were all from "the outside" and worked diligently and successfully for the school. The nurse teacher was particularly busy this year as the winter influenza epidemic did not overlook our community. The clinic and the new science room and the new library quarters will prove very helpful next year. And don't forget the handicraft room! Save your old silk hose and patch pieces and send them down for the rug-makers. Remember, "kiverlids" are for sale, and so are the all-wool hand-woven blankets. The "kiverlids" make stunning sport ensembles, hat, coat, bag.

A reminder! When you are house-cleaning and have out the moth balls ready to pack away winter garments, look at them again (the garments, not the moth balls) and decide to send them to Vest instead. We particularly need men's and boys' clothing, all shapes, sizes, and styles and send them parcel post.

Mildred Pate, Beta Delta, president of Panhellenic at South Carolina, is also president of the Federation of Women Students, is on student council, the Y.W.C.A. council, and W.A.A. council. She is prominently mentioned in the Who's Who of South Carolina.

Guess this one from the Howard Crimson.

"Red lips, red tam, red shoes, red frocks, red jackets! When her name is mentioned our mind becomes a confusion of mental pictures—vivid red ones. In our opinion she should be given the title 'Campus Cardinal.'"

"Her outward boyish appearance belies her true femininity. She possesses the rare ability of capability scarcely found in a girl of her age.

"We are proud of our 'Cardinal.' If you were told that her picture was numbered among those in College Humor Hall of Fame, do you suppose you could testify as to her identity?"

Give up? It is Margaret Fitzpatrick, Alpha Pi.

Miss Wood is with the Northern States Power Company.

And this endeth Volume Twenty of THE LAMP OF DELTA ZETA. And so saying the editor would like to toss a few bouquets to the kind souls who have contributed to said volume. And the party of the first part says to the parties of the second part (we lawyers always talk like that) "What this country—I mean magazine—needs is a good many more like you."

And while we are throwing bouquets, let me right here and now thank the senders of the many, many bouquets (verbal, no graft in this business) thrown at this said party of the first part. They have been appreciated, more than s.p. of the f.p. could ever tell, and though it has been impossible to answer all of them personally, they have many times served to oil up the wick when it was just about ready to quit and smoke up the works. (Wholly Smoke, please copy).

And as my good friend the Lamp-dary said when Hiawatha tripped and fell out of her story and Minnie just died laughing, ha ha, "We'll see you subsequently."

And what are you going to do with your vacation? If you want to travel, why not see Europe with a Delta Zeta, Adele Renard, Alpha Nu? Or, if you can't quite make the grade, why not attend a province convention? You are always sure of an enjoyable time, lots of enthusiasm, congenial company, inspiration, and just plain fun.

We are about to have a new Directory. Elsewhere in this issue will or rather may be found, if you will but look, a blank to be filled out by alumnae. Not only to be filled out, but to be sent to National Headquarters. Look for it and send it in. The sooner the quicker the new Directory.

And now, with the earnest hope that Sir Oracle finds no split infinitives in his alphabet soup, we will sign off for the year, with the closing garnered from "Psi-Chology":

"Yours in the bond that keeps me true,
To a dream of myself and a faith in you."

Chargant H. Pease.

BERKELEY ALUMNAE CHAPTER

Helen Meyer Craig has just sent around a copy of the Daffy Dill (which we incorrectly reported was out of print). We now proffer apologies in large quantities to the editor. This time the Daffy Dill was so voluminous that we were forced to contribute another two cents postage when it was left on our doorstep. Of course, it was well worth it, for Helen and her cohorts have a way about them of gathering news. In fact now that that publication is flourishing we should have very little trouble finding stimulating items for a LAMP letter. Helen has a neat way of dispensing facts and fancies about our clientele that we could care to appropriate.

The one date which we have rubricated on our calendar and without which we would be stumped for "copy," is Saturday, April 18. Our annual spring party is to be held at the Women's City Club in Berkeley, and at this point everything seems most propitious for a successful one. We expect to see large numbers of alumnae from all parts of the state for everyone has had a very alluring invitation to be there. Again Ileen Taylor Wilson and Peggy Stein are in charge of arrangements. We remember with great delight the interesting party they planned for us last year so we have numerous reasons to be sanguine about April 18.

At our May meeting we will elect officers for next year. I shall be there to electioneer for a new chapter editor.

BIRMINGHAM ALUMNAE CHAPTER

Birmingham alumnae have been all agog recently. Really, it's nothing unusual for them to agitate that way.

First, consider visitors. We had them! And they do inspire so much entertaining and genuine fun. Personally, I get a great kick out of seeing everyone kiss each other when the visitors arrive. I'm doubtful as to whether they kiss so promiscuously in all sections of the country—but here—oh! . . . they positively slobber over each other! (If Mrs. Pease doesn't like that, she must try to realize that I cannot afford to sacrifice my ART to her sensitive delicacy.)

Louise Wheeler McEachern has been a visitor here and Naomi Wells stingily gave us what wee bit o'time she had between A.E.A. and a permanent wave.

Mary Bunn Gay has come home after a long absence, and everyone is treating her like a visitor, which is rather disgusting!

Daisy Hoover sped down from Akron via the lowly automobile, and brought a charming guest, Zola Wilson. Sammie Hoover Bancroft gave a bridge luncheon to assemble Daisy's old friends.

Annabel Hendon and Alice Brooks Fruit-ticher were hostesses at a tea honoring Daisy Hoover, Zola Wilson, Mrs. Ruth Alexander Putnam, and the members of the Howard chapter, Alpha Pi. Sammie H. Bancroft received at the door and Ora D. Bohannon and Nell Hodges Howard poured tea.

Gladys Harlee Nunn (Mrs. R. L.) and little son Rodolph, Jr., who have been visiting in Birmingham, have joined Mr. Nunn in Kingston, North Carolina, where they will make their future home.

We congratulate the Howard chapter on their selection of a president and we congratulate Anna Stuart Dupuy on falling heir to a dignified and responsible office which she fills with grace and ability.

Congratulations are in order for Naomi Poole Regan, and for Kathleen Wright Fuller. Naomi has named her daughter Sarah Ellen. Kathleen has named her son (It's a boy!) Kenneth Pritchard, Jr.

Alumnæ, met at the home of Marie Newsom Norton on March 21. After games of bridge the meeting was called to order by the president, Annabel Hendon. Attractive yearbooks were distributed, and a rising vote of thanks given to Augusta Piatt and Jean Lang Kitchell, who composed the books. Mrs. W. E. Bohannon, Beta Province president, gave out illustrated letters and registration blanks for the province convention which is to be held this year at the Henry Grady Hotel, Atlanta, Georgia, on April 24-25-26.

Hostesses were Marie Norton, Sara Yauger, Edith Ferrell McElroy, and Jean Lang Kitchell.

Birmingham Delta Zetas deeply regret the death of Mr. Herman D. Beyer whom they knew and revered as the father of Margaret Beyer, Alpha Pi.

CHICAGO ALUMNÆ CHAPTER

At the March luncheon at the Illinois Athletic Club, some of the Chicago alumnæ who had visited in Europe gave talks. Marian Dittman Kasang, Alpha Alpha, talked about Italy; Catherine O'Gara, Alpha Alpha, Ireland; Nell Laird Martin, Tau, Africa; Vivienne Morin, Alpha Alpha, England; a guest, Mrs. Warren LaBarthe (sister-in-law of Harriet LaBarthe, Mu) and a native of Russia, a resident of the United States for two years, answered questions on Russia. The talks were so interesting and the questions asked so many, the party did not break up until dinner time.

The Chicago alumnæ have chosen the color scheme of orange and green, decorative brasses, brown walls and walnut furniture for our handicraft room at Vest. The room will also be used as the living room. To help purchase the furnishings a new type of party has been decided upon. The first "Little Party" for Vest was given by Alpha Lloyd Hayes, Alpha, and Marie Dunlap, Iota. Two others have been planned: One to be given by Lucille Muenzenmeyer, Eta, and Merle Holton, Sigma; and another by Esther Dice, Tau, and Eleanor Schweitzer, Alpha Beta, and Yvonne Wilson Toof, Lambda. The parties are given for small groups in the home; the charge is fifty cents per person and very simple refreshments are served.

The plan for meetings for the balance of 1931 has been made: In May there will be the north, west, and south side meetings and the guest tea at the Alpha Alpha house in Evanston; in June will be the luncheon play-off for bridge champion; July, beach party; August, luncheon down town and Men's Party; September, graduate luncheon and side meetings; October, Founders' banquet; November, side meetings, and December, Vest Party.

COLUMBUS ALUMNÆ CHAPTER

Greetings, everybody! We've had a birthday and in another year we'll be old enough to vote! On January 21 all Columbus Delta Zetas celebrated the twentieth anniversary of the founding of Theta Chapter at Ohio State University. The alumnæ chapter entertained the actives and pledges at a dinner party given at the house. In the center of the table was a beautiful, white birthday cake with twenty pale green candles in rosebud holders. Tall rose tapers were at both ends of the table. Our guests of honor were Mary Collins Galbraith of Columbus, Julia Bishop Coleman of Loveland, Founders, who were responsible also for the founding of Theta Chapter, and Mae McElroy, of New Philadelphia, one of the chapter's charter members. We were so happy to have them with us for our celebration. After the dinner Dorothy McKinney presented a short musical program.

Dorothy McKinney, whose home is here, is heard regularly over one of our local radio stations. She has a beautiful soprano voice.

Anne Tilley is another of our gifted alumnæ. She has her own studio where she teaches both voice and violin. She is active in music circles and she, too, possesses a lovely soprano voice.

This year we have foregone the usual large benefit party and have had a series of small parties instead. These were held at the house, the girls grouping themselves by classes for this. It has been quite a successful arrangement. This month the classes from 1912-1916 will have a pot-luck supper at Gladys Stoneman's.

Many of our members are in affairs of the city. Amanda Thomas, Dorothy Hayes, and Elizabeth Darragh Petrie are members of the local D.A.R. chapter. Amanda is state radio chairman for D.A.R. She recently was elected head of all the twigs or groups of our Children's Hospital. Some nine hundred women compose the various groups. Amanda has been chairman of her own twig. Lillian Johnson Raymond is secretary-treasurer of this twig and Margaret Neff Reed and Margaret Neff Hartford are members. Other alumnæ belong to various twigs.

Dorothy Hayes who, since graduation, has been a librarian in Bexley, has just told us of her engagement to Mr. D. Ludwig Linke. They will be married in the early fall.

Marjorie Van Bolt, Dorothy Carr, and Mildred Worley are also in library work in the city.

Marguerite Loos has left town. She has joined the Glen Bogie Company and is their stylist for the eastern states.

In May we will entertain the actives and pledges with a dinner. This will be in honor of the seniors. At this dinner a guard set with pearls will be given to the active having the highest scholastic standing for the year. The pledge having highest grades will also be given recognition. These are yearly awards given by the alumnæ chapter.

We have had a most successful year under the leadership of our president, Gladys Laughlin Stoneman. We hope to keep up the interest which she has stimulated this year and to carry on next year with renewed energy.

KANSAS CITY ALUMNÆ CHAPTER

How to get rich quick is the topic occupying the most thought and energy here in Kansas City. We are thinking of Vest and some of its needs, of dues, and of province convention at San Antonio. Perhaps through it all we shall produce some Delta Zeta who will rival Wall Street's financiers. And we're not going to talk anymore about "depression" than we can help. We have information from Alpha Alpha alumnæ about how to get a mile of pennies—or nickels—or dimes, and we have an idea from Yvonne Toof of having fifty-cent bridge-teas at different homes, several girls acting as assisting hostesses. This will prove much more satisfactory than paying to someone else the price of a luncheon or a tea.

Several of the girls went up to Alpha Phi for semester rushing—leaving the rest green-eyed with envy to think they were going to sit once again in the glow of candlelight at a Rose Dinner. The results were so satisfactory that Alpha Phi had better prepare to receive some of us everytime they put on a rush party. Even now we are thinking of September.

Lydia Nissen Hopkins has left us, and very suddenly, too. Her husband is an engineer and was transferred to Neodesha, Kansas, for several weeks. We'll miss "Lyd" as she is one of the reliables.

Panhellenic is discouraging summer rushing, and with too warm memories of the weather last summer we feel it is a splendid idea.

JOYCE M. HAWES, Editor

LINCOLN ALUMNÆ CHAPTER

My, how time does fly! It hardly seems time for another letter to THE LAMP, but it is.

The most interesting activity right now, among the Lincoln alumnæ, is the bridge tournament. There are four different groups which meet on the average of once a month. These parties have been a lot of fun and I think everyone has enjoyed them. They have been held at the homes of members and have been the means of renewing friendships and getting better acquainted. The date for the final has been set for Friday evening, May 15, and we are all anxious to see who will win.

Friends of Fayette Davis will be sorry to learn of the death of her husband, Dr. J. R. Davis, on February 18. He was ill only a very short while.

ELEANOR P. JENNINGS, Editor

TWIN CITY ALUMNÆ CHAPTER

The Twin City chapter, for the past two months, has devoted most of its time to increasing its membership. Instead of having two meetings a month, we have decided to have only one (that on the second Tuesday of each month) in the hope that more of our members will be able to find the time to attend. We have just initiated this plan, beginning with our January meeting so it is hard to say whether or not it will prove satisfactory. You see, we have cut out our social meeting entirely, and in some ways we fear it may tend to keep some of the girls away, because we all know we like to come to a meeting where there is to be fun and food. But on the other hand, it seems to be so hard for our members to give up two nights a month, that we thought we would try this new plan for the rest of this year anyway. We have a telephone committee whose members call every alumna in the Twin Cities each time informing her of meeting just in case it happens to slip her mind, and this method has helped considerably in getting the girls out for meetings.

Our Vest party which I mentioned in my last letter proved to be an even greater success than we had hoped. We sent Vest $50 as our profit from the sale of tickets to the bridge party and movie of Vest. Everyone had a lovely time and the movies of Vest were so enlightening and interesting.

The mothers' club gave a lovely tea about a week ago for the mothers of the new Delta Zetas. We alumnae, who could, came and enjoyed meeting so many nice mothers. We only wish the alumnae could come in contact more often with the mothers.

This is rather a short letter, but it seems as though the weeks have flown by and all our efforts having been concentrated on making the Vest party, we have relaxed for the past month—but next time we will be able to tell all about our carnival! . . . wait and see!

WANDA EVERETT

WASHINGTON ALUMNÆ CHAPTER

Spring has come to Washington at last, bringing with it the promise of cherry blossoms for Easter. There are many visitors in the city already and many more to come. We trust that any Delta Zetas among them will visit our alumnae meetings.

The most important event since the last letter was the Zoo supper given by the alumnae for the active chapter and a few of their guests. In case you have never heard of a zoo supper perhaps we should explain that it is a perfectly respectable supper and that the animals do not enter the picture until the supper is safely over. After the supper the animals, very much in disguise, were placed around the room in their cages of cardboard with bars of string. Prizes were awarded to the guests who were able to penetrate successfully the disguises of the greatest number. Following the animal hunt we played other games which tested our guessing ability, our vocabulary, and our wits.

Our regular meetings for February and March were held in the Alpha Delta chapter room, which has been repainted and redecorated after the very smoky fire which left it badly streaked. At the March meeting we were much pleased to have with us Mrs. Edith Finney Ryland, former president of Washington Alumnae Chapter. Mrs. Ryland was married last fall and is now living in Buena Vista, Virginia.

BOULDER ALUMNÆ CLUB

In looking back over the past year we find that our organization has progressed very satisfactorily. We have added several new members: Clare Ohlsen, Betty Brown, Helen Tracey, Irene Crowder, Genevieve Johnson, Hazel Walton, Venu Wilson Bremmer, and Edith May Small.

Clare, Betty, and Helen Tracey are doing graduate work in the university. Irene is back in Boulder and is working for her father. Genevieve is teaching in a junior high school and Hazel Walton is an instructor in a business college. Edith and Venus are keeping house and to all appearances are enjoying it thoroughly.

Now that we have introduced our new members we have some news that we think quite interesting. Muriel Sibell, acting head of the art department of the university, won new honors for her paintings exhibited in New York. She has designed the settings for all the campus productions this year.

Marian Park is prominently connected with the A.A.U.W., Girl Reserves, and Y.W.

organizations. At present she is coaching the dramatic cast of The Mikado. Mabel Dickson is becoming well known in Boulder for her physical education and folk dancing classes.

A few weeks ago our club gave a tea for Mrs. Friedline and the pledges at Edith Small's home. Betty Brown, Helen Tracey, and Hazel Walton entertained the members at our annual St. Patrick's party.

We have an engagement, a marriage, and a birth to announce. Helen Tracey announced her engagement to Frank Allen of Schenectady. Mildred Jamison and Everette Luce, Delta Sigma Phi, are married and are living in Midland, Michigan. Gladys Jones Burr has a son.

All of us are looking forward to our spring and summer rushing and hope for wonderful results.

If any of you come to Boulder this summer be sure to look us up.

IRENE CROWDER

HOUSTON ALUMNÆ CLUB

Mrs. Hallock Raup (Lillian James, Alpha Tau), has a baby girl, born November 11, 1930. They now live at 1825 Greenfield Ave., Westwood Station, Los Angeles, California.

Mrs. Cecil Faris (Ruth Bell, Alpha Tau), has a little girl, too, born January 2, 1931. They are living at 904 Westheimer Ave., Houston, Texas.

A Delta Zeta, Mrs. C. A. Chase, was re-elected President of the City Panhellenic Association of Houston. One of the altruistic projects is that each sorority deliver Easter baskets on Easter morning to a specified number of poor families. Delta Zeta will make three families happy on Easter with fruits, canned goods, clothes, Easter bunnies and eggs for the kiddies.

Helen Converse of the University of Minnesota who was with our alumnæ club here last year, has moved to Kansas City. Her address there is 1025 E. 11th St.

Mrs. Thomas B. Wheaton, President of Houston Alumnæ Club, is touring Georgia and Florida and will return to Houston in May.

Sibyl Thomas from Oklahoma A. & M. is now affiliated with our alumnæ club. She is Supervisor of Home Economics of the Southeast Texas District for the State Department of Education.

The Houston Delta Zeta Club entertained their husbands and friends with a George Washington buffet bridge party Thursday evening, February 25, at the home of Mrs. T. E. Kennerly.

Ardis Malarkey of Alpha Tau Chapter, who lives now at Uvalde, Texas, was a guest of the Delta Zeta Alumnæ Club at its monthly luncheon, March 14. Mrs. T. E. Kennerly and Sybil Thomas were joint hostesses at this meeting.

SYRACUSE ALUMNÆ CLUB

We are now in the second year of the life of our organization, and are happy to boast eleven members, eight of whom are Alpha Kappas who have more or less permanently settled in Syracuse.

For this letter we would like to present a brief résumé of the personnel of our group and their various activities.

Florence Morehouse Enos (Mrs. Everett Emerson), Alpha Kappa, '24, was the organizer of the group and has been the president for the first two years. "Jackie" studied home economics which she taught before her marriage. For six years she was Delta Zeta representative to the Interfraternity Conference at Syracuse; for three years alumnæ editor of the Lamp-Lit, the Alpha Kappa publication; and for three years a trustee of Alpha Kappa of Delta Zeta Sorority, Incorporated, the business organization of the active and alumnæ groups.

Mary Grant Miller (Mrs. Frederick Miller), Alpha Kappa, '28, is secretary and treasurer of the club. Mary is Delta Zeta representative to the Interfraternity Conference this year. She is vice-president of the Alpha Kappa Alumnæ Association; she is continuing in her position as family case worker with the Associated Charities. Catherine Atwell Bubie (Mrs. Carl Bubie), Alpha Kappa, '25, studied interior decoration and is a member of Alpha Xi Alpha, the honorary interior decoration fraternity. After graduation Catherine at various times did decorating work for the Butler Manufacturing Company, makers of furniture, reproductions of antiques, etc.

Irma Loope Zimmermann (Mrs. Jordan Zimmermann), Alpha Kappa, '26, taught before her marriage. She is one of the alumnæ editors of the Lamp-Lit this year.

Esther Conroy Loucks (Mrs. Clinton J. Loucks), Beta, '27, has been living in Syracuse since her marriage. Esther is working for her M.A. degree at Syracuse. Jane Ellen, their wee daughter, is a prospective Delta Zeta.

Ada Robbins, '27, Alpha Kappa, is assistant statistician in the Bureau of Vital Statistics of the City of Syracuse. Ada is the treasurer of the Alpha Kappa Alumnæ Association. Her engagement to Lawrence Carr, contractor, of Syracuse was recently announced.

Lucille Crowell Cooks (Mrs. Rudolph Cooks), Alpha, '26, has been in Syracuse for four years, and has been alumnæ adviser to the active chapter.

Mildred Curtis, Alpha Kappa, '25, was the first president of the corporation and was greatly responsible for the purchasing of the house in 1925. "Milly" came to Syracuse this year to take the position as chief social worker at the new State Psychopathic Hospital. She has held various offices in the chapter, alumnæ groups, and Alpha Province, attending several Delta Zeta conventions.

Winifred Stafford, Alpha Kappa, '26, is a charter member of Alpha Kappa. Winie has been president of the corporation and has always taken an interest in chapter affairs. She studied home economics and has been employed at Dey Brothers in Syracuse. She is now buyer for and head of the Kayser Shop in the store.

Carmaleta Hebblethwaite Long (Mrs. Walter Long), Alpha Kappa, '27, has just returned to Syracuse this year, where her husband has established a department in sculpture. "Carmie" who was always an active member of the chapter is a welcome addition to our group. Her small daughter, Shirley, is a splendid prospect for our chapter in the future.

Alice Gard O'Geran (Mrs. E. Graeme O'Geran), Alpha Beta, ex-'30, who was married in January and came to Syracuse, is the newest member of our group. She is a graduate of the Columbia School of Music and her husband received his Ph.D. degree from the University of Michigan, and has been teaching in the economics department at Syracuse University for three years.

We are planning to hold a dance at the Syracuse Yacht and Country Club in May, obtaining the guest privilege through the courtesy of Mildred Curtiss, who will act as chairman of the committee. We have a committee working upon plans for an evening of novel entertainment for delegates and guests attending the Alpha Province convention here in early June. It is with a great amount of pleasure that we anticipate the convention.

TACOMA ALUMNÆ CLUB

On the evening of September 19 the Delta Zetas of Tacoma and vicinity met at the home of Mrs. Grace Stoddard Arneson and formed a Delta Zeta alumnæ club. The president of our new club is Grace Arneson, 1109 North Alder Street, Tacoma; the secretary, Gertrude Tunnard, 1002-4th Ave. N.W., Puyallup.

Meetings will be held the first Friday of each month at 8:30 P.M.

Plans are being completed for a Founders' Day dinner, which we shall have in Tacoma this year. Also, we have invited the Seattle Alumnæ Chapter to a November luncheon in Tacoma.

MARION R. MANLEY

Pathetic Face

*Did you ever see a dreary face
Pressed against a window-pane?
Eyes which lift to clouds that race
Low and scudding through the rain?*

*Hopeless faces, tired eyes,
Leaning on a surface cool
Seeking solace from the skies
That seem a gray inverted bowl.*

*Though I saw one weeks ago
A fleeting glimpse of dingy glass
It haunts me—why . . . I do not know—
A lonely face—I hurriedly past.*

On March 7, we initiated two girls, Esther Nordin, '34, and Margaret Pederson, '34. After the ceremony we had a banquet at the house. The big event of the evening was the arrival of a five-pound box of chocolates to announce the engagement of Mabel Lewis, '31, and Arthur Parry, '31. We also gave a dance for our new initiates.

Every Wednesday we have members of the faculty to dinner. In this way, we have already entertained our dean of women and several of our professors and their wives. We have also been doing some informal rushing, and we are planning to have our student tea and our spring formal dance soon after we return from our Easter vacation.

Arlene Van Derhoef, '32, has won the O'Connor cup for fencing again this year. She is a member of the senior fencing team, while Antonetta Cantafio, '32, is a substitute on the junior team. Doryce Scudder, '32, is on the rifle team.

Already we are beginning to look forward to Spring Day which comes in the latter part of May and brings to Lake Cayuga the greatest regatta in years.

GAMMA

INITIATES: Margaret Anderson, Anita Howard, Mary Jane Ring, Minneapolis; Bernardine Courtney, Geraldine Lundquist, St. Paul; Jeanette Barquist, Wayzata; Vera Button, Glasgow, Montana; Esther Daley, Watertown, South Dakota; Esther Loomis, Ruth Loomis, Enderlin, North Dakota; Lorraine Sogge, Windom; Mary Swanson, Bufalo.

PLEDGES: Barbara Bell, Luverne; Bernice King, Minneapolis; Martha Mattola, Ely.

The spring quarter opened on March 30 with the informal rushing season. Marion Gross was the rushing chairman. Luncheons, teas, and dinners were scheduled for the entire week.

On April 1 a silver loving cup will be presented to the Delta Zeta debate team comprised of Esther Daley of Watertown, South Dakota, and Maxine Kaiser of St. Paul, Minnesota. The Delta Zeta team, after winning the intersorority debate contest, will compete with the Phi Delta Theta team, winners of the interfraternity contest, some time during this quarter.

The Delta Zeta Chorus danced at the Minnesota Theater for the Dayton Company of Minneapolis on March 29. On April 6 an open musicale will be held at the university music auditorium. Delta Zetas participating in the Bach Cantata are Ruth Olson and Bernardine Courtney with Bernice King also one of the musicians.

Toward the close of last quarter, the annual student-faculty banquet was held at the house. On February 14 a valentine formal was held at the house.

On February 10 and 11 Mrs. H. V. Hornung, province president, was entertained. Miss Louise Clousing was in charge of the tea given in honor of Mrs. Hornung.

EPSILON

INITIATES: Wilda Striker, '33, Elwood; Helen Stout, '32, Orleans; Ann Crisman, '34, Gary; Alta McNeley, '34, Fort Wayne; Mary Katherine Murray, '34, Indianapolis; and Betty Macy, '34, Bremen.

Fitting, I suppose, to begin a news letter with a word about the newest things we have . . . six initiates.

Initiation services started at eleven o'clock on Saturday, February 28, and were followed by a formal banquet at six o'clock that evening. We were happy to have some of the Bloomington Alumnae Club members at the dinner.

On March 21 we enjoyed one of the loveliest events of our social season, our Evening-of-Paris formal dance. The decorations were laboriously carried out, but we felt well paid for our efforts. The ceiling was lined with blue wall-paper on which had been pasted dozens of silver stars and crescents of different sizes. Here and there, too, an occasional larger star hung down from the ceiling, while on one end wall of the long dining room was a large crescent-shaped moon lighted by electric bulbs concealed within it. In addition to the light of the moon, the rooms were dimly lighted by small blue bulbs, and you can imagine the beauty they reflected on the room and the couples. We didn't feel blue though.

Epsilon had as dinner guests, March 11, Miss Agnes E. Wells, dean of women, and Miss Lydia Woodbridge, assistant dean.

Our seniors tell us of the lovely time they had at a luncheon-bridge given in their honor, March 21, by the Bloomington Alumnae Club, at the home of Mrs. F. H. Batman. The seniors who are spending their last semester with us now are Winifred House, Irene Johnson, Bonita Neese, Grace Porter, Ann Stuprich, and Rive Todd.

We are enthusiastic at this time about our plans for attending the Indiana State Delta Zeta luncheon and dance at the Columbia Club, Indianapolis, April 18. The activities this year are to correspond with the luncheon theme, a Tournament of Roses. Epsilon Chapter is planning a float and a rose dance in keeping with the theme.

Our honoraries for this semester include the election of Alta McNelley to Alpha Lambda Rho, honorary freshman scholastic sorority, Dorothy Meyer to Der Deutsche Verein, German society, and Dorothy Thomas to Eta Sigma Phi, honorary classical fraternity.

You might be interested in knowing something of our building program on the campus. A new chemistry building is ready for dedication Thursday, April 2, and the excavation for our enormous Union Building has been begun. This building has been the "student's dream" for years, and, though it probably will not be completed until the last of next year, when it is finished it will cover considerable territory and be reached by a lovely circular drive. The Union Building is being built directly in front of the Delta Zeta house and will add greatly to our lovely surroundings.

Indiana University is to be the host for the Classical Association of the Middle West and South that meets in Bloomington, April 2 and 3. Among Delta Zeta alumnae who will be guests of the house during the association will be Jane Durrenberger of the Shelbyville High School and Helen Matlock of the Rushville High School. Any others will be most welcome, too.

ZETA

PLEDGES: Jean Culbertson, Dorothy Luch-singer, Bernice Preston.

INITIATES: Helen Boelts, Mary Katherine Bourett, Jeanette Garvis, Laura and Luella Geyer, Katherine James, Norma Klein, Lucille Magher, Lucille Mills, Helen Runkel, Olga Sharp, Gwendolyn Thompson, Meredith Thoms, and Helen Volin.

Fourteen new initiated members! You can readily guess what has been foremost in our minds the last few days. We held our initiation March 28 and everyone has been radiant with pride ever since. Saturday evening our initiated members were guests at a formal banquet at the chapter house—and what a merry time we had with the initiates in their new rôle as "actives."

The two months since our last letter have been busy ones. February 6 we held our formal at the Cornhusker Hotel. A special orchestration of "Dream Girl of Delta Zeta" was the theme song of the evening. Then, on February 12 the alumnae, actives, and pledges celebrated Founders' Day with a dinner and program at the chapter house. The celebration furnished a delightful opportunity for the girls to meet and get acquainted with our alumnae.

Our next social event was a St. Patrick house party, Friday, March 13. You gasp at the date, but we assure you that "bad luck" and "gloom" were not among the guests. However, they made their appearance the following morning when all the pledges were called in to be the chief figures in the "Courtesy Day" activities. It was a gala day for the actives—the opinions of the pledges have not been solicited!

A recent check-up on activities among our members reveals the fact that we are well represented in a large number and variety of campus societies. Gertrude Chitenden, our president, is vice-president of Omicron Nu, treasurer of Phi Upsilon Omicron, secretary of the Home Economics Association, a member of the Y.W.C.A. cabinet, and a member on the agriculture executive board. Florence Anderson, another outstanding senior, is president of the Girls' Commercial Club, president of Phi Chi Theta, and secretary-treasurer of Bizad executive board. Norma Klein, a senior, is a member of the university rifle team, secretary of the art club, and a member of Nebraska League of Women Voters. Meredith Thoms, a graduate in the engineering college, is a member of the American Society of Civil Engineers, and of Sigma Xi. Maxine Wullbrandt is vice-president of Phi Chi Theta and a member of Girls' Commercial Club. Evelyn O'Connor, a sophomore, is a member of Tassels, chairman of the research staff on the Y.W.C.A. cabinet, member of Nebraska League of Women Voters, Vesper Choir, Kappa Phi, and society reporter for the Daily Nebraskan.

Our three pledges are also in activities. Dorothy Luchsinger is a member of the Junior Farmers' Fair board, secretary of the Tassals, and a member of Phi Upsilon Omicron. Jean Culbertson is a Tassel and prominent in ag college activities. Bernice Preston, a sophomore in agriculture college, is chairman of the finance staff on the ag Y.W.C.A. cabinet.

Gwendolyn Thompson with an average of 95 per cent received first place among the newly-initiated girls. Her name will be engraved on the freshman scholarship cup.

We have begun practice on our songs for the intersorority sing, an annual contest held on Ivy Day. Judging from the enthusiastic response of the girls, we cannot help but win the cup for being the most successful "songsters."

The province convention at San Antonio is holding first place as a topic of conversation now. All the girls are anxious to go, and from the plans we feel sure that we will have a large representation there.

ETA

INITIATES: Dorothy Canham, Zella Heyward.

PLEDGES: Lola Borton, Frances Olsen.

The school year is drawing to a close before we are aware of the fact. We feel that there are a great many things we must accomplish before vacation. There are also many things we may be proud of accomplishing.

Eta Chapter is planning to have an informal April 18. It will be carried out in Oriental style, with Persian rugs adorning the walls and soft lights under them. The first floor will be for dancing. On the second and third floors the rooms will be transformed into small living rooms and dens. There will be incense and small tables will be placed in cozy corners. The refreshments will be served upstairs and the couples may eat wherever they wish. We are planning to have an orchestra up from town and hope it will be another successful party for Eta.

Election has been held. Marcial Burroughs is president. We are beginning to rush for next fall and we can hardly wait until rush week really comes.

The pledges entertained the pledges of the other sororities. They were kind enough to invite the actives and we surely enjoyed their party.

With greetings to all Delta Zetas.

LAMBDA

INITIATES: Mildred Bohnenblust, Leonardville; Loraine Chrisman, Hutchinson; Dorothy Crans, Lenora; Katherine Hess, Manhattan; Helen Hoffman, Haddam; Pauline Patchin, Parsons; and Laura Stepanek, Cuba.

PLEDGES: Louise Newcombe, Hutchinson.

Life at Lambda has been very interesting since our last letter to THE LAMP. The arrival of spring has brought with it a flurry of new pins and new officers. Even though it is almost impossible to concentrate on textbooks, meetings and such like, writing a letter to THE LAMP is somewhat different.

To keep quiet about all our interesting as well as exciting events would almost be impossible. The most important thing, of course, was initiation which was held at 7:00 p.m., on March 4, 1931. Each year the chapter presents a Delta Zeta recognition pin to the initiate having a "B" average for the semester. This honor was earned by Laura Stepanek of Cuba, Kansas.

Delta Zeta went out for basketball this year and we certainly enjoyed our games. We were defeated by the Phi Omega Pis but won three games from the Kappa Deltas, Beta Phi Alphas, and Alpha Xi Deltas. Four of our girls made class teams: Dorothy Crans, freshman team; Helen Hoffman, sophomore; Laura Stepanek, junior; and Mildred Bohnenblust, senior.

Pauline Patchin, our brilliant chemistry major, made the college debate team, and had the privilege of participating in seven out-of-town debates. Although most of the debates were non-decision, the team won the five in which they participated at Winfield, Kansas.

During the past two months, we have had open house for the Lambda Chi Alpha, Kappa Sigma, and Acacia fraternities. One evening we were guests to open house and dinner at the Delta Sigma Phi Fraternity.

Three of our girls have been initiated into Kappa Phi, Methodist national organization for girls. They are Zora Knox, Mildred Bohnenblust, and Rose Grossardt.

We have four new pledges in Enchiladas, honorary dancing organization. They are Lucia Kirkwood, Dorothy Crans, Rose Grossardt, and Helen Hoffman. The organization is having a sport party on May 15.

On March 20 we gave an informal party and everyone had a most enjoyable time. Our alumnae and patronesses had a benefit bridge on Saturday, March 14. We certainly appreciate all they have done for us this year.

Ruth Widestrand of Topeka and Mildred Bohnenblust of Leonardville, our two seniors, will graduate in June. Ruth was our very efficient president this year and we certainly will miss her next year. We are very sorry to lose these girls, but send our love and wishes for success to them and to all seniors of Delta Zeta.

LAURA STEPANEK, Editor
HAZEL RONEY, President

MU

PLEDGES: Elizabeth Pope and Agnes Young.

INITIATES: Eleanor Hovey, Lillian Araxa, Elizabeth Archer, Lois Decker, Anne Taylor, Anna Nathan, Dorothy Yagger, and Marie Schmidt.

Mu chapter has been increasing its extra-curricular activities every semester. This term every committee or activity is sure to have a Delta Zeta on it. To begin with Gladys Young is president of Panhellenic, and she was nominated for the honorary colonel of the annual military ball. Lois Decker is making herself a necessary person around the Daily Californian publishing office. Peggy Perkins, Lois Decker, and Anne Nathan are star entertainers on the deputations committee. The last is an organization whose members visit the high schools and junior colleges attempting to interest the students in a college education. Also many of our freshmen are in the Parthenia; our seniors are casting glances toward the Senior Extravaganza.

This semester the informal came the weekend before St. Patrick's Day. Martha Casey who was in charge of the dance carried out the shamrock idea in the clever decorations, and in the programs which she designed. Many of our alumnæ of last year returned for the dance.

The tea that we had for the mothers and fathers one Sunday proved to be more successful than the dinners for them that we had had before.

Initiation was on February 15, and eight girls were initiated. After the service a banquet was held, at which Ernestine Payne was toastmistress; she used the tale of Aladdin's magic lamp as her theme. A member of each class was called upon to tell what magic she had found in her connections with Delta Zeta. Elizabeth Archer was given a crest ring which we present at each initiation banquet to the neophyte making the highest scholastic record. The ring is held by the girl until the next class is initiated. Lois Decker was complimented upon her splendid work in activities.

The very beautiful wedding of Eleanor Vanderslice to Richard Sellman was a thing Mu chapter will not soon forget.

We have had a busy, enjoyable time this semester and are looking forward to the Easter breakfast, and the senior banquet with much excitement.

AUBREY KENNEDY, Editor
KATHERINE E. AXLINE, President

XI

PLEDGE: Amanda Tashinger.

INITIATES: Mildred Willis, Margaret Lynd, Gladys Mosier, Ruth Johnston, and Ruth Liebenrood.

Our initiation was held February 23 at the Chamber of Commerce Club. After the initiation a banquet was held in honor of the new Delta Zetas. The table, which was U-shaped, was beautifully decorated with Killarney roses and corsages which were at the place of each new initiate. In the center of the speaker's table was a large Delta Zeta lamp.

After the banquet our president, Betty Wuest, awarded the customary honors to the new girls. Ruth Liebenrood was given the guard for having the highest average; Mildred Willis was awarded the ring for being the best all-around pledge; and because of the fine attitude and true Delta Zeta spirit of Gladys Mosier, she was presented with a Delta Zeta recognition pin. The next big social event of the year will be our annual spring formal dinner dance, which will be held on March 27 at the Sinton-St. Nicholas Hotel.

As this is the last letter until September, we want to wish our senior girls success and good luck. Ruth Granger, Grace Nichols, and Virginia Morse are graduating from applied arts; Dorothy Caldwell is graduating from liberal arts and hopes to teach philosophy; and last but not least, our president, Betty Wuest, is graduating from the household administration department. Betty has very definite plans for the future which were disclosed recently when she announced her engagement to Mr. Harry M. Grizzard, a lieutenant in the U. S. Army. She will be married in the fall and sail for Hawaii, where she will make her home.

We are sorry to lose these girls but we know they are on the road to success. Xi Chapter wishes everyone a successful rushing season next fall.

BETTY HEUSCH, Editor
BETTY WUEST, President

SIGMA

Springs finds Sigma very eager for province convention. It also brings nearer the time when nine of our members tell our alma mater good-by. Irma Wall, Leona Cordell, Marguerite Pecot, Anna Mae Pitre, Goldie Hause, Naomi Kennard, Sara Frances Lurry, Virginia Wells, and the writer are the graduating seniors. We leave eleven initiates to carry on and we feel confident that through their efforts Sigma will become a greater and better chapter.

We've received several honors these past months. Edna Guilfoil was chosen by the student body as the most collegiate girl and Louise Dyson was chosen Queen of our annual carnival and she played her part to perfection. Louise also came second in the election of the prettiest girl. Marguerite Pecot received a Geneva fellowship.

We're already planning our rushing for next year and with Joyce Love Allen as rush captain we have bright prospects.

TAU

PLEDGES: Margaret Nelson, Margaret Lutze, Marie Richardson, Dorothy K. Miller, Jane Bergstrom, Enid Davis, Jane Cosner, Eleanora Pfeffer, Katherine Snodgrass, Ruth Eberhardt.

INITIATES: Marjorie Rittenhouse, Margaret Grether, Ruth Zodtner, Louise Lisor, Dorothy K. Miller, Marie Richardson, Margaret Lutze, Alice Morgan, and Lillian Tu-reck.

Tau was quite pleased with the lovely group of new pledges this second semester brought them, and we are greatly indebted to Marjorie Mariam who had charge of the rushing functions. Our first social affair including the new pledges was a formal dance held at the house.

On the week-end of May 24 Wisconsin will entertain its mothers with an extensive and enjoyable program. Many of our girls are due for some work: Mary Esther Brooks, '33, is co-chairman of the decoration committee, Marjorie Rittenhouse, '33, and Eleanora Pfeffer, '33, are on the arrangement committee, and Marilla Egger, '33, is working on the special feature committee.

Betty Findley, '33, was recently elected to Orchesis, the honorary dance organization at Wisconsin.

Last week was the annual formal Matrix banquet, sponsored by the honorary journalistic sorority, Theta Sigma Phi. We were represented by ten girls, all of whom returned with gay accounts of the menu, formal, and entertainment.

On March 9 we entertained for our house-mother, Mrs. Lillian Davis, with a tea to which the other housemothers were invited.

We just received the happy news that one of our alumnae, Mrs. George Hotten, formerly, Esther Higgins, has a new baby girl.

March 10 will see the installation of Tau's new officers: president, Charlotte Ayres; vice-president, Marjorie Olman; recording secretary, Jennie Gratz; corresponding secretary, Betty Findley; treasurer, Ruth Kuehne; historian, Marilla Egger.

Summer will soon be here, and many of us will be leaving Madison. Nevertheless, there will be a few who will remain to keep the Welcome Mat at the front door, and we hope that there will be many others who can join them and enjoy the summer months at school here.

MARILLA J. EGGLES, Editor
CHARLOTTE AYRES, President

UPSILON

INITIATES: Edna Vaksvik, Adelaide Hardy, Ardis Rice, Aileen Rice, and Ruth Anderson.

This year has been such an interesting and happy year for Upsilon that we are already talking about our return next fall. Before summer is with us once more we would like to tell you about ourselves and some of the honors which have come to Upsilon Chapter.

First of all we are happy to announce the initiation of five girls, on April 19, 1931. The beautiful ceremony was followed by a banquet in honor of the new initiates.

This semester was ushered in by our annual Flickertail Follies in which Delta Zeta won second place. Of course, we were all very thrilled about it and did our very best. Doris Rathje was our star tap-dancer and also our director. To her cleverness and ability we owe much of our success. Shortly after the Follies, Doris was elected sponsor of the American Legion of the city of Grand Forks. She will be given a free trip to the National Legion Convention at Detroit, Michigan.

Today Mildred Owens received the happy news that she had been awarded third prize in the National Short Story Writing Contest sponsored by the American College Quill Club. Recently Mildred was elected president of Quill Club on our campus. She will also be vice-president of Y.W.C.A., vice-president of Kappa Psi Omicron, and has been placed in charge of the Big Sister movement here. We feel justly proud of Mildred, who is only a sophomore.

Stella Peterson and Margaret Kindsche have been appointed new members of the Y.W.C.A. cabinet.

Blanch Harding recently coached a very successful play, Rose Petal, the cast being composed chiefly of little children. Blanch, who is a member of Zeta Phi Eta, was elected president of that fraternity. She will attend their national convention in Los Angeles.

The university glee club took its annual tour from May 3 to May 11. The Delta Zetas chosen to go on the trip were Louise Thompson and Adelaide Hardy.

Among our journalists Dorothy Mathys was elected desk editor of the Student, our university paper. A short time ago Dorothy was pledged by Matrix, honorary journalistic group.

In May of this year the university presented a ballet. Two of our girls danced in it. They were Mary Ford and Doris Rathje; Doris did a lovely solo number.

Jean Gunness has been elected as one of the five most popular co-eds of the University of North Dakota. Jean and the rest of us are very happy over the good news.

The active chapter of Delta Zeta ranks fourth in scholarship among all the fraternities and sororities on our campus.

A new trophy case graces our music room. I am sending a picture of it, hoping it will be printed in THE LAMP. It was presented to the chapter by the pledges of this year and by the seniors of '31. These ten girls we will miss very much next year for they are graduating this spring: Carol Krostue, Florence Hoven, Eunice Iverson, Eleanore Hoven, Doris Fisher, Marjorie Miller, Alida Gunderson, Evelyn Day, Mary Hennessy, and Doris Rathje.

Among the Delta Zeta dinners held this spring are the Founders' Day banquet, the mothers' banquet for all the seniors, the alumni banquet, and a dinner for all the Delta Zeta brothers in Grand Forks. We are looking forward with much anticipation to our spring formal, which will be held May 30, and also to our country club party which follows a week after the formal. Then comes June, and it's good-by for another joyous vacation.

RUTH ANDERSON, Editor
JEAN GUNNESS, President

CHI

PLEDGES: Mary Miller, Beverly Schoenborn, Louise Crillo, Ruth Morris, Josephine Beresford, Opal Stuart, Dorothy Rowe, and Eileen Morency.

Chi Chapter's outstanding event last term was the formal. It was the first one to be given in our new house so we were all thrilled about it. The whole house was filled with streamers of pastel shades. Each light held a shade with a silhouette and reflected soft shades of blue, yellow, green, and various other colors through the silhouette and upon the wall. Many of our alumnae came down and we had three Delta Zetas from Omega Chapter as our guests.

A week later we put on a stunt at the annual Women's Stunt Show which was quite a success. The idea was a take-off of college movies with the names of our own campus celebrities used for our characters. The girls all worked hard and the result proved that their time was not wasted.

This term brings many events such as our Chi Rendezvous at which all of the alumnae return to the campus. Our mothers all come to visit us on mothers' week-end which is always a success. Our dance will be a rush dance. Each girl turns in names of friends from out of town. Along with the dance there is entertainment provided for the guests the entire week-end. Those who have not participated in this function, as well as those who have, are eagerly looking forward to it.

Several of our alumnae have come back to school this term and we are very happy that they are with us again. Next year we hope to have a number who could not return this spring back with us.

CATHERINE BRAINARD, Editor
MARY BENNETT, President

OMEGA

INITIATES: Diane Fisler, Metola Allen, Jean Husband, Fern Baker, Willametta Logsdon, and Elizabeth Phillips.

PLEDGES: Alyce Cook, Anna Evans, and Dawn Frances Pipes.

A successful year is anticipated for the new officers of Omega Chapter, who were elected at the last house meeting of winter term. Kathryn Allison, a junior in Romance languages, now heads the house, taking the place of Eleanor Wood, who served as president during the term when Virginia Peyton did not return to school.

Eleanor Wood, the retiring president and a senior in English, has been exceptionally busy, with her time divided between chapter duties and dramatic activities on the campus. She played important parts in two plays, directed a one-act play, was costume manager for the university production of Twelfth Night, and served on the directorate for the high school drama tournament. She is also a member of the Y.W.C.A. cabinet.

During the health week observance on the campus Delta Zeta was well represented. Ethel Mason was general chairman, and Alyce Cook handled the publicity.

Another activity entered by the house as a group was the radio contest in which thirty organizations participated. Eleanor Wood wrote and directed the skit, a small-town theater idea. Parts were taken by Louise Smartt, Jessie Judd, Emma Meador, Alyce Cook, Kamilla Kleckar, Margaret Stalker, and Margaret Atwood.

The honor roll for fall term boasted three Delta Zeta names, Margaret Atwood, Beatrice Bennett, and Thelma Nelson.

Three honoraries elected members of the chapter, Anna Evans to Pi Lambda Theta, Virginia Patterson to Gamma Chi, and Margaret Atwood to Mu Phi Epsilon. Margaret is also the new president of Wesley Club.

Agnes Marks is vice-president of Thespians, freshman service honorary, and is working on a committee for the Frosh Glee, an all-campus dance to be held spring term. Diane Fisler is another member who has participated in dramatics and Y.W.C.A. work. Alyce Cook, one of the new pledges, is to appear as a solo dancer in the annual spring dance recital next term. She is reporting, while going to school, for the Eugene District News, a weekly town paper. Louise Allen, another pledge, was a member of the intramural basketball team. Betty Carpenter was in charge of the ticket sale for the Gamma Alpha Chi Fashion Dance, an all-campus affair, and was chairman for a tea given in honor of the wives of delegates to the Oregon Press Conference.

Alpha Tau, a local pre-nursing organization, is headed by Jessie Judd, who is secretary for the play group of Philomelete and the house representative to Panhellenic.

Initiation was held on February 22, when six girls were taken into the chapter. Three girls were pledged during the term.

THELMA NELSON, Editor
ELEANOR WOOD, President

ALPHA ALPHA

PLEDGES: Leona M. Demare and Harriet V. Sienkeiwicz, Chicago, Illinois.

INITIATES: Mary Jane Bigger, Margaret Dutcher, Donna-Mae Hancock, Dorothy Johnson, Louise McKenzie, and Carol Pelton.

Nearly half a semester has elapsed since our last letter with the result that we have quite a few events of interest about which to tell you.

February 8, 9, and 10 we gave our second semester rushing parties and pledged two Chicago girls. On February 20 the annual Panhellenic dance (known on Northwestern campus as the Hell 'n' Panic Dance) was held at the Orrington Hotel in Evanston. February 22 was the date of our faculty tea at the chapter house. We held initiation services on March 8 for six girls and the services were followed by a formal initiation supper.

On March 14 the annual Panhellenic luncheon was given at the Hamilton Club and it was our year to be one of the three sororities to sing. We are happy to say that we had the second highest number of representatives at the luncheon. Our benefit bridge which was held at the chapter house on March 21 was a great success. Forty-three tables were in play. March 28 was the day of our spring rummage sale and we considered the outcome most satisfactory.

And now for individual activities! Leona DeMare has been elected president of the Anonian Literary Society into which Lois Lamoreaux, Mary Jane Bigger, and Harriet Sienkeiwicz were recently initiated. Jane Hayes has lately been elected head of water polo.

Queta Brenner is on the sophomore class basketball team. Marion Nessler is corresponding secretary of Craig Club, a religious organization. Louise McKenzie and Marion Nessler have been invited to join Meristem, a botany club of which Jane Hayes and Lois Lamoreaux are members. Mary Jane Bigger and Leona DeMare are news assistants on the Daily Northwestern staff.

The thoughts uppermost in our minds at present are the circus stunt (an animal act) which we are hoping to have accepted for the Northwestern Circus in May, and our spring formal which will be in the form of a dinner-dance.

MILDRED E. MARSH, President

ALPHA GAMMA

INITIATES: Katherine Carver, Margaret Cathey, Kathryn McDuff, Virginia Pellerin, Nina Wakefield, and Carmen Widney.

We started last week with a bang, and I know you can guess why! Because Monday morning found us with six brand new wearers of the lamp.

Monday evening found us in the lovely Peacock Tavern, enjoying our annual Rose Banquet. It was quite a pretty affair with its decorations of roses, fern, and corsages for the new initiates. In the candlelight we all sang Delta Zeta songs, and at the end of a most delightful evening the scholarship cup was presented Virginia Pellerin. This is the first year we have given a Rose Banquet, but we assure you that it is soon going to be a tradition.

Sara Herndon had to go to the Piedmont Sanatorium in Atlanta for an operation, and she probably will not be with us for the rest of the semester. We miss her very much and wish her luck.

Beta Province Convention is in the near future, so we are all saving our pennies, so that we may go and spend an enjoyable as well as beneficial few days with our other sisters.

Honors for the second semester: Chi Delta Phi, Mary Silver; Corolla staff, Mary Silver and Katherine Carver; Caroline Hunt Club, Alma Vaughan; beauty section of the Corolla, Virginia Pellerin and Katherine Carver; Delta Phi Mu, Nina Wakefield; fellowships in psychology, Marie Willey and Alma Vaughn.

ALPHA DELTA

Helen Clarke is our new initiate. A dinner in her honor was given immediately after at the attractive Brick Wall Inn.

Second semester rushing began March 2. The zoo party, which the ever-helpful alumnae gave for us at the home of Annette Ladd, was one of the most successful parties of the year.

The murder party in Elizabeth Graham's apartment was very exciting and quite popular. To the relief of the majority of those present, Margaret Hicks was not really strangled by the electric iron cord! The clever plot was kept a secret by a very few of the actives.

These two parties were the outstanding events of our spring rushing program. We also entertained at tea, several luncheons, and a swimming party.

The Panhellenic scholarship luncheon, an annual affair, took place at the Hay-Adams House on March 15. Helen Clarke, as pledge with the best marks, Virginia Gummel, highest active, and Margaret Hicks, Panhellenic delegate, were our representatives.

Mildred Phillips, Alpha Theta, is attending school here this winter. She is becoming increasingly active in chapter affairs.

Helen Clarke was recently made freshman manager of tennis.

Mary Williams and Virginia Gummel took part in the dance recital given under the auspices of the physical training department. Mary cleverly executed a tramp clog and Virginia won praise for a character clog.

Alethea Lawton had a card party at her home as a finale to rushing. The prizes were charming. Plans are now under way for the Easter dance. This year it is going to be at the home of Frances Owen.

Last but not least, to put it tritely, tomorrow is the day we get the answers to our bids. As this letter can be delayed no longer, and since it is the deadline hour now, we shall tell you all about it next time.

ALPHA EPSILON

INITIATES: Opal Marie Marshall, Stillwater; Frances Hardesty, Cushing; Iola McVey, Calumet; Eula Jack, Stillwater; Lota Gill, Ardmore; Cleopatra Cardwell, Frederick; Sophia Slater, Enid; Zula Mae Anderson, Stillwater.

In a hall transformed into a veritable rose garden Alpha Epsilon members and pledges entertained guests with the sorority annual Rose Formal, Saturday evening, March 14. Picturesquely intertwined with rose and green foliage, lattices covered the sides of the hall with arched openings for the entrances. A full moon in the center of the hall together with pastel-shaded floodlights cast a roseate glow over the dancers. Partially concealing the orchestra was a huge spider web, holding in its meshes a tiny spider. The web motif was further emphasized in the interwoven strips of rose and green crêpe paper which were suspended from the ceiling. Completing the lovely picture, a wicker garden swing was placed as a seat for the chaperons.

Alpha Epsilon has two newly-crowned queens: Iota McVey, a peppy little pledge from Calumet, Oklahoma, was elected freshman queen for 1930-31, and Juanita Hunt, freshman, from Enid Oklahoma, was elected by the student body as one of the three most popular girls on the campus this year.

We are expecting to have another initiation soon and will have more members to make next year a great one for Alpha Epsilon.

ALPHA ZETA

PLEDGES: Mrs. Doris Butler, Ada Patterson, and Helen Denton.

On February 10, we entertained the rushes at a tea at Dorothy Skivens' home at Douglas Manor, Long Island.

On February 14 the alumnae chapter gave the actives a tea. We certainly appreciated our "Big Sisters" hospitality.

Evidently, this is the tea season for on March 1 Delta Zeta held an open tea at the Panhellenic in New York.

A supper meeting on the ninth in Douglas Manor proved extremely worth while.

We also had quite a few tables at the alumnae bridge.

Initiation is planned for April 9 at Clarice Gee's residence.

May 16 will be the big night when we have our dance at the Bellrose Country Club.

It would be lengthy to relate the campus activities of Alpha Zeta Chapter, but let it suffice to mention that our girls are prominent in dramatics, athletics, clubs, and in school government.

Eight seniors will step forth into a new world in June.

FRANCES BEARDSLEY, Editor

ALPHA THETA

PLEDGES: Mary Wieman, Sara Bethel, Ida Mae Shearer, Maurice Terrile.

INITIATES: Virginia Collins, Gayle Elliott, Margaret Allen Smoot, Nancy Kincheloe, Mary Happer Laytham, Helen Fry, Elizabeth Howard.

We are very proud to have the president of our chapter, Louise Schmitt, president of Panhellenic this year. Louise is a senior in the college of education and is a member of Le Fleur de Lys, Kernel staff, Pitkin Club, V.W.C.A., and W.S.G.A. council.

We were honored by the presence of two of our charter members—Gertrude Collins and Lillian Rosch—at our initiation and tea which was held March 20.

Virginia Mills, one of our sophomores, was selected to wear our Delta Zeta ring. The opportunity to wear this ring is given in return for outstanding service to the sorority.

We lost our treasurer, Virginia Ellis, by graduation in February. Virginia was active in Mortar Board, Kappa Delta Phi, Pitkin Club, Le Fleur de Lys. Her position has been filled by Florence Ryan who is a member of Kappa Delta Phi, English club, History club, and Le Fleur de Lys.

Our plans for the convention of Gamma Province are well under way and we are expecting a large attendance. Kentucky is known for her hospitality, fast horses, and beautiful women. At the time of the province convention we are going to attempt to make Kentucky's reputation ring true as far as hospitality is concerned.

ALPHA IOTA

PLEDGES: Jean Dorn, '33; June Holman, '34; Genevieve Mann, '34; Betty Ritchie, '33; Sally Rulo, '34; Margaret Thomas, '33.

INITIATES: Gladys Buckner, '33; Gladys Goodsell, '32; Mabel Alice Hachten, '34; Mary Keller, '33; Marie McFadden, '34; Margaret Nelson, '32; Lyda-Blithe Richman, '33; Charlotte Smale, '34.

We are very proud to announce that two of our girls were recently honored by their election into Amazon, honorary (very!) upper class society. Membership is offered to those women of junior or senior standing who have been especially active on the campus. Our two members are Billie Rogers, '33; and Gladys Goodsell, '32. Both girls are journalism majors and both have been prominent on the staffs of our college publications, all-university social committees, play productions, and other extra-curricular activities.

Gladys Goodsell was also elected to Alpha Chi Alpha, national honorary journalistic sorority, and Theta Sigma Phi, national professional honorary journalistic sorority. Billie Rogers has just been pledged to Alpha Chi Alpha. Spooks and Spokes, junior women's honorary organization, has also bid Gladys Goodsell. A scholastic average of 1.75 must be maintained in order to be eligible for membership.

Our new chapter officers are: president, Marie Drake; vice-president, Alice Jordan; secretary, Dorothy Delavan; treasurer, Ruth Mitchell; corresponding secretary, Billie Rogers.

We are looking forward with great interest to a shower for the house which our alumnae intend to give on May 18. There are a number of small, necessary articles which the house needs and we are indeed grateful to our grads for taking it upon themselves to supply these needs!

April 24 we had an informal dinner at the chapter house for our off-campus friends who are planning to enter our university in September. The table decorations carried out our sorority colors, even to avocado cocktails and strawberry shortcake! After dinner we took our guests to the all-university Extravaganza, a musical comedy written and directed entirely by students and given each spring in Bovard Auditorium.

May 2 will be the night for our annual spring formal which we are holding at the California Yacht Club. The girls picked that night and the Yacht Club because of the general effect of the full moon on the ocean. I think it a lovely idea, don't you?

Only four weeks and finals will be upon us. Then for that grand and glorious event known as summer vacation!

ALPHA KAPPA

PLEDGES: Viola Jacobson, Hartford, Connecticut; Margaret Twinem, Baldwin, Long Island; Catherine Doige, Chateaugay; Alice Melville, Buffalo; Lillian Tweedy, Walton; and Dorothy Bryan, Syracuse.

Following two weeks of joyous Christmas festivities, we returned to Syracuse and first-semester examinations. Judging by the generous sprinkling of A's and B's and the absence of many D's or F's, Alpha Kappa will make a decided jump in scholarship rating this year.

The first social event of the semester was an informal dinner on February 10 with Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph Cooks and Mr. and Mrs. Jordan Zimmerman as guests. Mrs. Zimmerman acted as Alumna Adviser in the absence of Mrs. Cooks from Thanksgiving to Christmas.

An informal Valentine's dance was enjoyed at the chapter house on February 14. The decorations were large valentines, hearts and arrows.

Dr. and Mrs. Franklin J. Holzwarth, Dr. and Mrs. Robert Carroll, Alpha Kappa patrons and patronesses, were guests at a formal dinner, February 19. A program of piano and vocal selections brought the evening to an enjoyable end.

Following the chapter meeting on March 2, the active chapter was entertained by the pledges at a pajama party. A skit of slams and take-offs, banjo and vocal solos kept us in throes of laughter. After much too much ice cream and cake, we danced, sang Delta Zeta songs and concluded the evening with a parade to the dormitory. And so to bed.

The chapter examinations which took place at the chapter house March 16 were in charge of Mrs. Lucile Crowell Cooks, alumnae adviser. The results have not been announced but it is rumored that grades are unusually high.

Syracuse is to be the scene of the Alpha Province convention in June. Preparations are under way and include besides the regular business meetings, formal dinners, rides, and swimming parties. We hope to have a gala time meeting our Alpha sisters. Josephine Roberts, president-elect for 1931-32, will represent Alpha Kappa at the convention.

The Syracuse Alumnae Club was the guest of Alpha Kappa at an informal dinner March 25. A new member of the club whom we were happy to meet is Mrs. Alice Gard O'Geran, Alpha Beta. Bridge was enjoyed during the evening.

Actives and pledges will entertain Sigma Beta Fraternity at a hard times "gang date" March 27. Portions of our prize winning Panhellenic skit and dancing are to furnish entertainment for the evening.

Palm Sunday, March 29, the chapter will attend church in a body in accordance with an established custom. This year we will go to Hendricks Chapel which was dedicated at commencement in June, 1930.

Spring formal is scheduled for April 17 in the Hiawatha Room of the Hotel Onondaga.

ACTIVITIES: Marion Wescott has been initiated Pi Lambda Sigma, honorary and professional library society; Katherine Flickinger, women's editor of the Onondogan, and Josephine Flick, associate editor of the Daily Orange, are pledges of Theta Sigma Phi, honorary and professional journalistic fraternity; Mabel Milligan has been elected Alpha Kappa delegate to Silver Bay convention June 14; Josephine Flick was elected publicity manager of Women's Student Senate during the campus spring elections March 11; Beverly Chisholm is a new initiate of Sigma Xi Beta, honorary and professional bacteriology fraternity; Margaret Twinem, a pledge, is pledged to Alpha Xi Alpha, honorary design fraternity; Eloise White, a pledge, has survived cuts and obtained the position of assistant reporter on the Daily Orange, the campus newspaper. She also made three cuts toward the women's cheerleading squad.

MILDRED V. CAMPBELL, President

ALPHA LAMBDA

Alpha Lambda has been extremely proud about the announcement that Kathleen M. Crannell, one of our juniors, is the highest ranking woman in scholarship of the junior class in the college of arts and sciences. Her average for the fall quarter was 92.4.

Since this is my last opportunity to write the letter to THE LAMP I must tell about our five seniors, Virginia Dannenbaum has been very active in dramatics during her four years in college. She has taken part in Players Club, Little Theatre, and the annual Operetta. Danny was also our rush captain this year. Lorene Hodges, our president this year, has majored in home economics, and will probably teach next year, Sylvia Machin, our transfer from Rho Chapter, was recently initiated into Kappa Delta Pi, honorary national educational fraternity. Marian Rodell has been president of the glee club this year. She is a member of Asaph, honorary musical society. We shall, indeed, miss Marian when the time comes for song practices. Margaret Kohler has taken part in the university women's club work. She has been a member of the council.

With these girls graduating and leaving we shall feel almost lost. We wish them luck in whatever they do.

On February 11 we held an informal dinner dance. The decorations were attractive, the color scheme being red and white, with bouquets of red tulips surrounded by valentines pasted on white lace paper doilies as the centerpieces. Cupids were present in all available places with hearts, bows, and arrows.

The Senate, the ruling body for women at the university, has announced that we shall wear cotton dresses to school next quarter. King Cotton is to reign! Perhaps many a romance will come out of this. What could be more delightful than for the men to see the girls in charming frilly gingham dresses as they might appear in the kitchen at work in the rose-covered cottage they all dream of though deny it.

Another quarter is over and finals are things of the past. After a hectic week of studying, burning the midnight oil, eating with a book in one's lap, merely existing, not actually living, fourteen of us celebrated the end of finals by attending the St. Patrick's dance given by Rho Chapter in Denver. The dance was perfect and the girls were lovely to us. We feel that we are very fortunate to have the chapter so near us.

Now, we are all enjoying the spring vacation. After the rest we ought to start off the new quarter with a bang. There are a great many things in sight to work on already. On April 9 there will be the song fest. Each fraternity and sorority enters a chorus and sings one of its own songs. Prizes are given by the local merchants. Then the Women's League Vaudeville will come the latter part of April. I wish I could tell about the act but it is still in the making. A.S.U.C. elections will come next. Really there are so many coming events that one could write on incessantly.

VERNA M. COLLINS, Editor
HELEN N. COFFIN, Vice-President

ALPHA NU

PLEDGES: Florence Condrey, Elizabeth MacDougall, and Dorothy Dean.

INITIATES: Beryl Boller, Ruth Goans, Esther Hutsell, and Dorothy Neptune.

When Butler was readmitted into the North Central Association every organization on the campus heaved a sigh of relief and went on with the work of getting or keeping a house. So far Delta Delta Delta and Kappa Kappa Gamma are the only sororities that have built on the campus, but we are all waiting for the day and the time now.

Of course the big event this spring was the state luncheon and dance. The alumnae certainly outdo themselves every year in showing us all a good time. This year marked the fourteenth anniversary for its celebration in Indianapolis, and the festivities came up to the event. The luncheon was lovely, and the dance, a cabaret effect, was a huge success. Both were at the Columbia Club.

Two of our pledges walked, or in some way, made away, with athletic honors and were pledged to W.A.A. They are Harriet Ford and Billie McElroy. Alice Higman, who represents us in Thespis and Intercollegiate Players had a part in one of the major productions, Lady Windemere's Fan and everyone was enthusiastic about her performance. Betty Wilson was initiated into Kappa Tau Alpha, honorary scholastic journalistic fraternity.

We are beginning a new practice for Wednesday nights that we all feel will be successful. Once a month our regular Wednesday night supper is to be formal.

BETTY WILSON, Editor

ANITA BROWNLEE, President

ALPHA XI

PLEDGES: Sue Byerly, Lancaster, Pennsylvania; Catherine Callen, Urbana, Indiana; Leila George Cram, Greensboro, North Carolina; Sarah Foreman, Mobile, Alabama; Genevieve Hunter, Hammondsport, New York; Emma Gade Hutfaff, Wilmington, North Carolina; Catherine McLaughlin, Bluefield, West Virginia; Catherine Plunkett, Dallas, Texas; Helen Vaughan, Atlanta, Georgia; Jane Whittle, Brunswick, Georgia; Sarah Williams, Atlanta, Georgia.

The annual pledge banquet was held Saturday night, February 28, at Jenny's Tea Room in Lynchburg, Virginia. There were present besides the pledges and chapter members the alumnae faculty members: Almeda Garland, Marguerite Risley, Marjorie Harris; alumna in the city: Mrs. Max Guggenheimer (Mary Strickland, '29); other alumnae: Mrs. W. E. Thomas (Mary Rebecca Wilson, '30), Lamira Bennett, '30, Adele Berger and Janet Berger, '30, and Elizabeth Hibbs.

The scheme for the banquet was the rose motif. The table was beautifully decorated with centerpieces of roses, snapdragons, and ferns. Beside each plate was a corsage of roses tied with ribbon of rose and green.

The placecards were in the shape of roses (rose color tied with green ribbon). Inside the placecards was written the menu which was carried out in Delta Zeta colors as far as possible. The toast scheme which also carried out the rose motif: the chapter was the garden, the president was the maiden, the initiates were the roses. The favors were bracelets on each one of which was a Delta Zeta lamp.

Sarah Foreman, one of Alpha Xi's pledges, has appeared in several recitals given at Randolph-Macon and is scheduled for another in April. She is an outstanding violin pupil and promises to become even more well known.

Nell Hogan Bray has recently been elected to the staff of the Sun Dial, Randolph-Macon's weekly paper, as associate editor.

Katherine Hartfelder is chairman of Odd Day, the annual celebration held in honor of the "odd classes" (those graduating in the odd-numbered years).

SARAH MENDENHALL, President

ALPHA OMICRON

INITIATES: Ouida Bryan, Brooklet, Georgia; Louise Bullock, Portsmouth, Virginia; Carolyn Eylar, Georgetown, Ohio; Betty Hoover, Miami, Florida; Rae Lieberls, Savannah, Georgia; Marie McKinney, Greenville, South Carolina; Mildred Potter, Princeton, Indiana; Virginia Schwarz, Middletown, Connecticut; Kitty Zipperer, Savannah, Georgia.

We are looking forward to being hostess to the Beta Province Convention to be held at the Henry Grady Hotel in Atlanta, Georgia, on April 24, 25, 26. Alpha Omicron is planning many trips of interest for the delegates and hope that we may spend a very pleasant as well as profitable time together.

Alpha Omicron has been recognized in campus life in several ways. Margaret Adams was recently honored by being elected to the national honorary fraternity of music, Mu Phi Epsilon. Louise Bullock, one of our new sisters, has already shown that she is of the stuff Delta Zetas are made by proving herself worthy to be a member of the honorary artists club of the Brush and Palette. Three of our new members Mildred Potter, Virginia Schwarz, and Marie McKinney were selected to represent the school in intercollegiate debates. The girls who represent our chapter in the School of Speech have also done creditable work. Emily Crovatt and Mildred Potter played the leading rôles of Demetrius and Lysander in A Midsummer Night's Dream, the annual Shakespearean play. Ouida Bryan, Jane Sherrard, and Margaret Adams also took part in this production. In a recent drama tournament held at Brenau in which seven Georgia colleges competed Brenau won first place and Mildred Potter played the leading rôle.

Emily Crovatt will be presented in her senior recital on Tuesday March 31, when she will read The Fool by Channing Pollock.

In the school elections we were well represented by having Johnnie Magruder re-elected business manager of our school paper, The Alchemist.

JANE SHERRARD, Editor
MARGARET ADAMS, President

ALPHA PI

PLEDGES: Marjorie Mauney, '34, Majel Mangun, '34; Glendolyn Cole, '34; Dorothy Craddock, '32.

INITIATES: Zou Steele Bass, '32; Dorothy Cason, '34; Mary Claire Randle, '33; Odell Turner, '33.

Alpha Pi is proud of her new initiates. On Saturday night, March 14, we had the Rose Banquet and dance at the Tutwiler Hotel. The banquet table was in the shape of a Delta. In the center a fountain played and with the dim glow of the candles a lovely scene was created. Boudoir lamps were given as favors. Stuart Dupuy presided. Everyone was in good spirits so we had a wonderful time at the dance.

In the way of student activities Alpha Pi has been most active. The Allied Arts Club recently presented a play, The New Co-ed, in which three of our girls played the leads, Susie Gullledge, Leona Feltus and Majel Mangun. Margaret Fitzpatrick has been elected as one of the three carnival chairmen for our annual May Day festival. Leona Feltus and Wilma Buck again "feature" the beauty section of the Entre Nous. They are among the beauties chosen by Rudy Vallée last year. Wilma Buck is the "campus beauty."

Mary Katherine Waters is one of our prominent seniors. She is a poet of note, her work having been published in Modern American Poets, a national publication and The Quill, Howard's literary publication. She is president of Chi Delta Phi, national literary sorority, member of Sigma Sigma Kappa, national honorary educational sorority, of the Allied Arts Club, Entre Nous, Howard Crimson, and Quill staffs, senior class poet, treasurer of the Book Lovers Club, and honor roll.

We have a number of athletes in the chapter. Lilyclaire Meadows was captain of the sophomore basketball team, which won the loving cup in the tournament. Lilyclaire is also captain of the hiking squad and manager of the sophomore baseball team. Zou Steele Bass, Odell Turner, Marjorie Mauney, Majel Mangun, Dot Cason, Margaret Fitzpatrick are also members of the basketball and baseball teams.

On March 27 we had election of new officers. I am sure we shall have a very successful new year.

Beta Province is looking forward to the convention in Atlanta, Georgia, in April with Alpha Omicron hostess.

ALPHA RHO

PLEDGE: Mary C. Stealey, Clarksburg, West Virginia.

INITIATES: Doris Benjamin, Hollywood, Florida; Elizabeth Duddleson, Lakewood, Ohio; Mary Geibel, Bradford, Pennsylvania; Elizabeth Gross, Ashtabula, Ohio; Elya Heidrich, Elyria, Ohio; Beatrice Hirsh, Cleveland, Ohio; Mary Louise Matteson, Appollo, Pennsylvania; Blanche Monkosky, and Evelyn Sauvey, Lakewood, Ohio; Josephine Sherman, Rocky River, Ohio.

HONORS: Delta Sigma Rho, Vivian Janney; Kappa Delta Pi, Ella Richey Wells; Wesleyan Players, Berneida Smith; Associate Players, Jeannette Ash; Orchesis, Berneida Smith; Phi Society, Betty Domhoff; W.A.A., Berneida Smith; Singers' Club, Mary Lou Matteson; W.A.A. secretary, Ellen Ackerman; freshman basketball manager and Swimmers' Club, Evelyn Sauvey.

Initiation is over and we have ten new wearers of the big gold lamp. Happy are they to wear it and happy are we to have them. Elizabeth Menke, Elizabeth Christy, Pauline Druley, and Pauline Ryder, all of the class of '30 were back to help us welcome these new Delta Zetas. It was great fun for the "old" and the "new" to get acquainted at the formal banquet afterward.

A ship party, with which our pledges entertained the actives at Cartmell's barn, marked the "crest of the wave" of pre-initiation activities. The festivities were to begin at seven bells which to the most of us landlubbers meant seven o'clock; therefore, we went up the gangplank of the S.S. Dream Girl a whole half hour early. But we had a half hour more of fun than our sea-worthy sisters.

'Tis enough now of initiates; you will be hearing of them for many more years, but seniors will not be here this time next year. They will soon be departing for all manner of work in all manner of places. We hate to lose them, for each one has played a part in Delta Zeta history. We are glad to be able to pay especial honor to two of our foremost seniors, Vivian Janney and Louise Redfern. Now we have the Menke Activity Cup on which the names of both girls will be engraved because of points earned in campus activities. Alpha Rho is proud of their college record.

Now we look forward to our spring formal. Social activities have not been lacking in the meantime with the Panhellenic formal just over and the Mortar Board Gold Diggers' dance after spring vacation; but our own little dance gives us the most pleasure.

ELLA RICHEY WELLS, Editor
VIVIAN M. JANNEY, President

ALPHA TAU

PLEDGES: Kathryn Rich, Austin; Alline Simpson, Bellville; Ivis McLaurin, Austin, Helen Gage, Austin.

We are all very proud of our new pledges, and even though they are few in number, they make up for it in quality. They are all freshmen and seem to be bubbling over in enthusiasm for Delta Zeta.

Rush week was very exciting as usual, and our alumnae members were very active. We were delighted to have Irene Boughton visit our chapter during rush week, and the following alumnae members were also here at that time: Mack Garrison, Beatrice Funk, Flo Garrison, Elizabeth McGuire, Betty Lewis, Miriam Landrum, Mrs. Flora W. Campbell, and Marian McDowell. The alumnae gave the final party, a studio dinner-dance at the Green Gables tea room. It was a success, and all the rushees declared that it was the nicest party they had attended. Open house was held in honor of the new pledges the next night and was followed by the usual pledge dance held in the Gregory Gymnasium.

Everyone is making plans for the Round-Up now, which is to be held April 17. Last year was the first time that this special homecoming has been held at the university, and elaborate plans are being made for it again this year. Letters urging all the alumnae members to try and come back for it have been written, and plans are being made for the decoration of our chapter house.

We are planning to have a buffet supper honoring the Delta Zeta mothers this coming week, and since the spring days are here, we plan to make it an outdoor affair and serve supper on the lawn.

LOIS PAULI, Editor
JOSLEEN LOCKART, President

ALPHA PHI

PLEDGES: Elizabeth Brandt, Lawrence; Kathleen Love, Anna Lee Davis, Katherine Young, and Hazel Sharp, all of Kansas City, Missouri.

INITIATES: Lucile Anderson, McPherson; Elizabeth Brandt, Lawrence; Maxine Morgan, Phillipsburg; and Millie Stiefel, Kansas City, Kansas.

This half semester has gone quickly but we've certainly tried to make the best of it. We started out by pledging our choicest rushees, and things have been going our way ever since.

Socially, we've been very busy. Besides our regular Thursday evening guest dinners and our Sunday faculty guest dinners, we had charge of the W.S.G.A. tea, and we were complimented for having the most original refreshments yet. Ten of the older actives attended the Women's Panhellenic dance, and just recently, our pledges entertained the actives with a line party and spread afterwards at the chapter house.

That favorite maxim, "When it rains, it pours," certainly applies to us when it comes to honors. Maurice Brown was elected to Phi Beta Kappa; Katherine Morris was initiated into Theta Sigma Phi and is holding the staff position of Sunday editor of the university paper; Alice Gallup was elected vice-president of Phi Chi Delta, Presbyterian sorority, and was appointed chairman of an important Y.W.C.A. committee; Katherine Morris was elected treasurer of Kappa Beta, Christian church sorority; Millie Stiefel was made a member of Phi Chi Theta, honorary business sorority.

Well, the past is past, the present is present, but the future—oh my! We're planning big things. Of course, we will have our annual mothers' day dinner the first of May, and then on the fifteenth, comes our formal supper-dance which will be in the Crystal Room of the Hotel Eldridge. But perhaps it would be better to wait until the next letter to tell of these events.

KATHERINE MORRIS, Editor
WILMA TAYLOR, President

ALPHA CHI

PLEDGES: Ruth Allen, Virginia Shaw, Phyllis Pennington, Jenny Trapp, Grace Mary Ketcham, Mary Louise Brehm, Mary Cast, Helen Ring, Marjory Nickum, Vera Stull, and Dorothy Siewert.

INITIATES: Gerda Gravengaard, Dorothy Watson, Jean Stenger, Hazel Wisdom, Geraldine White, Martha Hood, and Helen Ring.

Maybe we aren't proud of these splendid new pledges and maybe we don't feel a little secret thrill of achievement every time we look at one of them! We of Alpha Chi feel that our recent rush season was certainly one if not the most successful of any we have had for many seasons. Each of the parties was outstanding in itself, but we considered our "Delta Zeta Wedding" perhaps the most impressive of them all. The wedding motif was carried out in decorations, refreshments, and entertainment, and a most realistic mock ceremony was performed with Gertrude Haserot, our chapter president, the very essence of dignity and solemnity, in the rôle of the officiating minister.

We are congratulating ourselves most just now on having been able to carry on under the limitations imposed by our temporary residence, and picturing much greater successes when we are settled in our brand new home on sorority row. According to present plans this long hoped for move should take place before the end of the semester, for we are promised that the house will be completed in May. Preceding by a few weeks the beginning of actual building operations, we invited our parents, friends, and alumnae to be with us at a groundbreaking. The event took place on Sunday, December 7, and the actual ceremonies on the lot were preceded by a very nicely appointed formal luncheon at the chapter house. Rene Sebring Smith turned the first shovel of dirt, and after simple, impressive ceremonies everyone gathered in the present chapter house to join with us in celebrating the joyous occasion.

Other events of our winter social season were our annual Christmas party on December 18, at which time we exchanged small gifts and informality and fun were the key-notes; and our formal Christmas dance on December 19. On December 30 we were all entertained by Ruth Richardson, '32, at a delightful bridge-tea.

More recently Alpha Chi has enjoyed a number of other social affairs. On the afternoon of February 25 we presented our pledges to the campus at a formal tea dancant at the chapter house. On Wednesday, March 11, we spent a most enjoyable evening "bridging" at the home of Dr. David K. Bjork, of the university history department, and his charming wife. On the evening of March 4 we of the active chapter honored our pledges with an informal dance at the chapter house, and a week later, March 21, we are happy to announce that the ranks of Delta Zeta were swelled by the bearers of seven shiny new lamps. To welcome our new initiates a formal banquet was held at the Knickerbocker Hotel in Hollywood on March 22.

With province convention being held in this city the second week-end in April, a benefit dance scheduled by the chapter for the third week-end, and our annual beach party the following week; not to mention a few midsemester rush affairs thrown in for good measure, we Alpha Chis are looking forward to some very busy and happy weeks.

ALPHA OMEGA

PLEDGES: Douglas Banks and Catherine Lamkin.

INITIATES: Trella Mae Burnham and DeLacey McMurry.

Alpha Omega is just beginning to recover from two sets of examinations, school and chapter. We all feel rather down and out, but we expect to be initiating some of our fine pledges soon on both of those grades.

We have a new plan to get our chapter together which we believe to be quite promising. After our regular weekly chapter meeting on Tuesday afternoon the pledges join us for an hour or two of fun in our bridge club. Each time some member is responsible for the entertainment, a plan which is working very well. We play bridge, dance, and finally gather around the piano to sing some of the Delta Zeta songs so dear to us. This time spent together each week does much to draw the actives and pledges together into real Delta Zeta sisterhood.

We Alpha Omega girls are very proud of an alumna of ours these days. Dorothy Alford, '26, has gone to New York and is making a name for herself in journalistic work. Not long ago she got a real write-up in the home-town papers.

The time for Beta Province Convention will soon be here and all of us are looking forward to it and making big plans to be there. Those little pamphlets of Atlanta and the Henry Grady Hotel simply make our mouths water.

BETA ALPHA

INITIATES: Helen A. Soule, '33, Providence; and Marian F. Bishop, Cranston; Ruth C. Newman, Kingston; Margaret J. Newman, Kingston; Elinor G. Streeter, Providence; and Charlotte S. Waters, Rumford, all '34.

To write this letter in the style of a ship's log should seem quite appropriate to us, for since our initiation banquet we have been unable to forget the idea that we are ship's crew, with captain, mates and gobs. There you have the main idea of our banquet. The speakers, according to their rank, were officers, mates; or just plain "gobs." Our placecards were jolly little sailor boys dressed in rose and green, and we even had a "ship salad" with real sails. The tables were also decorated with Killarney roses and rose and green nut cups and candles, making the atmosphere very "Delta Zeta-ish." One of the most joyful features of the occasion was the presence of our new alumnae adviser, Miss Mildred French, the dean of women at Connecticut, who remained with us over the week-end. Although our alumnae number but seventeen, most of them returned, full of enthusiasm.

A short time ago, we gave an advertisement party for our patrons and patronesses. Everyone came, dressed to represent an "ad," and we had guessing contests, slogan contests, and many other unique features. Our patrons are exceptionally good sports, and one even came dressed in his pajamas!

When the scholastic rating of the sororities and fraternities on the campus was published last week, Delta Zeta headed them all! We were rather surprised ourselves, and are bending every effort toward keeping that record for the remainder of the year. Our average was 78.2, one point higher than the next lowest. There were also six Delta Zetas on the honor roll for the past semester. We aren't all grinds, however, and will have to work hard to stay on top!

One of the most thrilling bits of news which we have to offer is this—we may have a home of our own in the very near future! Due to an increased appropriation in the college building fund, it will probably be possible for us to start breaking ground for our chapter house sometime this summer, and of course enthusiasm is running high, even among the seniors, who won't even get a look-in! We are all enveloped in the atmosphere of architects, contractors, fireplaces, and specifications.

On Easter Monday, while we are having our spring vacation comes our formal dance of the year. It is going to be held in one of the smaller supper clubs in Providence, and is being planned in the form of a supper dance. This is the first time any sorority on the campus has held a dance in the city, and of course we are expecting to have a marvelous time.

Last year when the first co-ed major of the R.O.T.C. unit was elected we were very proud that it was a Delta Zeta, and this year, at the annual military ball given by the Battalion, another Delta Zeta, Kay Regan, a junior, was elected to the office. She was installed with very impressive ceremonies by the major of the Battalion, and will appear in the parades and exhibition drills in full major's uniform. Of course we will all be out to watch a Delta Zeta lead the field!

With the coming of Easter we are reminded that commencement is not very far away, and that we are losing nine seniors this year—the largest class of Delta Zetas since we were founded. Most of them are home economics students and plan to teach or engage in dietetic work of some sort.

We hope that every chapter may have a happy summer.

BETA BETA

INITIATES: Gladys Vardenia Fite and Lula Mae Fowler.

This has been a hectic year for Beta Beta, but as yet we have come up smiling. I'm not going to tell you our troubles; there are some more pleasant things to relate.

Soon after the beginning of the second semester, the local Panhellenic succeeded in obtaining permission to use a house on the campus, formerly a professor's home, as a Panhellenic house. There were just enough suitable rooms for each of the sororities to have one. We are lucky in the room that fell to our lot, for it has a big closet that serves as a store-room. Fortunately we already had furniture, and all we had to do was move in and put up new curtains. Our housewarming, which coincided with the visit of our inspector, was a bridge party honoring Miss Margaret Buchanan, our patronesses, and the Delta Zeta mothers who live in town. Although the weather was rainy, our room was cheerful and cozy, and we had a very pleasant afternoon. What a joy it is to have a place on the campus!

We were delighted that Margaret Buchanan came to inspect us, for we count her one of us. She is a perfect treasure. Really, her visits are not so much inspection as inspiration. She fires us with a new and fervid zeal for Delta Zeta.

We had our regular initiation service while she was here, initiating two girls. There is always a thrill in lighting new lamps, isn't there?

Our first president, Myrtle Mason, '29, who is teaching in Arkansas, came down to be with us this week-end. At our banquet she gave us a stirring talk directed especially to the out-going seniors. All of us are fond of her and delight in having her with us.

Near the end of the rose banquet Margaret Buchanan at last deigned to open a mysterious package which she had been carrying around. She presented to the chapter an exquisite tool-leather book with the coat-of-arms upon it to be used as chapter memory book. One of the girls suggested that since we had a book for clippings, we put into this book each year the picture of the chapter of that year. Thus we will keep preserved safely but easily accessible a precious pictorial history. We are charmed by Margaret's gifts; all we can say is, "Isn't that just like her!"

Another visitor we have enjoyed this year is Mrs. H. C. Winter, née Joan Conerly, one of our charter members, who now lives in New York City. She married the summer after we were installed, and although she has been associated with Delta Zeta elsewhere, she has not been able before to visit Ole Miss during school time. How glad we were to see her, we who had known her before, and how glad to have her meet the girls new to Beta Beta since she left us. Some of our alumnæ managed to meet her in Memphis, Tennessee, and have a regular reunion with her before she started back East. We hope she will come again soon for she is always welcome here.

All our efforts now are bent on plans to attend Beta Province Convention. Some of us will be there, I am sure, to join hands with our nearest neighbors.

BETA GAMMA

PLEDGES: Dorothy Leonard, Dorothy Parr, Anna Ruth Nauman, Mary Margaret Short, and Irma Schanzenbacher.

INITIATES: Elsa Baumgarten, Helen Craig, Gibson Caummissar, Helen Hoeger, Virginia Kelley, and Edna Lang.

Beta Gamma has grown considerably since our last letter. We have initiated six girls and pledged five. At present our chapter is the largest it has been since it was installed in 1928.

At the University of Louisville each sorority is permitted to have only one party for second semester rushing. Our party consisted in a bridge at the chapter house. Rena Morgan and Mary Jane Cooke sang "Delta Zeta Rose" and the "Delta Zeta Love Song" while distributing roses to the guests.

Pledge services were held Sunday, February 8, and on February 21 Virginia Durham gave a party in honor of the pledges.

Our initiation service was very impressive. Saturday, February 7, we had a slumber party at the chapter house. We awakened the initiates at three o'clock Sunday morning and began the service. We finished at the break of dawn. Breakfast was served immediately after the service.

On Monday, March 2, the initiation banquet was held in the Derby Room of the Brown Hotel. The table was decorated with roses and each girl received a shoulder bouquet. Speeches were made by Edna Scott Johnson of the alumnæ, Katherine Heine of the active chapter, and Elsa Baumgarten of the initiates. The banquet was followed by a formal dance.

We have a new incentive to scholarship. The alumnæ presented a beautiful new cup to the active chapter. The names of one alumna and one active having the highest average at the time of installation of Beta Gamma will be engraved on the cup along with the pledge having the highest average during her pledgship. One name a year will be put on the cup.

BETA DELTA

PLEDGES: Margie Philips, Elizabeth Euart, Camilla Parker, Edythe Carlisle, Sarah Trenhoem, Louise Davis, Catherine Tyas, Emily Donald, Susan Jackson, Miriam Parrott, Ruby Lee Turner.

INITIATES: Willie B. Taylor, Juddie Knox, and Dorothy Byrd.

HONORS: Mildred Pate; Alpha Kappa Gamma, president of Panhellenic, president of Co-ed Association, member of student council; Dorothy Byrd, sponsor for university symphony orchestra.

Beta Delta had a very successful rushing season, at the close of which we pledged nine girls. Later on in the year we pledged two more girls.

We celebrated Founders' Day with a breakfast, after which we went to the Clemson-Carolina football game, the biggest game of the year.

Just before the Christmas holidays we entertained with a Bowery Ball. The day after this we all went home for the holidays.

After the Christmas holidays we entertained our old and new patronesses with a tea at the chapter room.

Beta Delta is making plans to go into a house next year.

Beta Delta is proud of having the president, Mildred Pate, in the Who's Who on the campus.

BETA ZETA

We have just started a new quarter and we feel that we have made a good beginning by winning thirty-five dollars and a silver cup for selling the most tickets to the annual opera. All of us hope that we can continue our good salesmanship ability a few weeks longer, for spring rushing, the annual fight for freshmen on this campus, will soon begin. We are all enthusiastic about the attractive freshmen this year and hope to make this spring the most successful in our history.

Last week we started something new on this campus. Each girl moves into the house for at least one week. We feel that this will enable us to become better acquainted with one another. Besides the girls think it's a lot of fun.

W.A.A., of which Ruth Wilson is vice-president, gives a large silver cup to the sorority having the most points for the whole year. So far we are ahead and since we feel that we can hold our own in the spring sports, we may have another cup to decorate the mantel.

Several of our girls, Edith Jameson, Billie Bird, Betty Beesley, and Marjorie Augustine, are not in school this quarter, but will be back next fall. Betty entertained at a delightful tea for us at the end of last quarter.

BETA ETA

INITIATES: Jane Jack, Elizabeth Shafer, and Virginia Sutton.

PLEDGES: Rachel Merrill and Lucille Montgomery.

When I was reading Tolstoi the other day I could not help applying a paragraph of Anna Karenina to our first year in Delta Zeta. "Oh! what a happy time you are at. I remember, and I know that blue haze like the mist on the mountains in Switzerland. That mist which covers everything in that blissful time when childhood is just ending, and out of that vast circle, happy and gay, there is a path growing narrower and narrower, and it is delightful and alarming to enter the ballroom, bright and splendid as it is . . . Who has not been through it?"

Becoming a part of a great national organization has been a bit mystifying but we have loved the effect of entering "the dazzling ballroom." Now we have been members long enough to see more than the bright lights; we see the tremendous power behind them and we even understand some of the intricacies of the machinery. Perhaps there is a bit less glamour now but there is a fascination and interest in its place.

Since the last LAMP we have initiated our three freshman pledges.

After the initiation we had a banquet at Strath Haven Inn in Swarthmore, an enjoyable, impressive evening with toasts and the awarding of the scholarship cup to Virginia Sutton.

Mary Betts has been manager of debate at Swarthmore this year and has also taken part in a number of the varsity debates. Besides Mary, Margaret Zabriskie, Helen Grumpelt, Helen Townsend, Virginia Sutton, and Elizabeth Shafer have been members of the squad.

Several weeks ago Mrs. John Ladd visited our chapter. We had a very pleasant time learning to know her and receiving her helpful observations and suggestions. She seemed to bring us into so much closer contact with the national organization of Delta Zeta.

We have just had our formal spring dance at the Cynwyd Club. Many of the alumnae were present so it was a sort of grand reunion.

We old officers who are now retiring have a great hope for Beta Eta Chapter and an irrepressible consciousness of growing power.

MARGARET ZABRISKIE, President

BETA THETA

PLEDGE: Virginia Shupe.

Our patronesses gave us a tea at the home of Mrs. Green on February 14, at which time we were presented with a Windsor chair by Mrs. Widenhimer, president of the patronesses. On the evening of March 6 we held a dance in Larrison Hall with fifty couples present.

The pledges gave a St. Patrick's party for the actives on March 18. In the interfraternity song contest held on the night of March 19, we sang "Dream Girl of Delta Zeta" and two college songs. We placed fourth in the contest, the winner having a total of 277 points while we had 243.

The recorder of the university has recently released the scholastic standing of the campus fraternities. Delta Zeta was third with an even 82 per cent. The total average for fraternity women was 81.01 while that of non-fraternity women was 77.73.

Marie Groff, '33, is establishing a commendable record on the campus as a debater. The debating coach considers her one of the best debaters Bucknell has had in some time. She debates both affirmative and negative side of the question, "Resolved, that the States should enact a compulsory unemployment insurance." So far this season Marie has accompanied the team to Cornell University and to Pittsburgh.

Election of officers was held March 24.

We are looking forward with pleasure to the initiation of Violet Munson, '33, on April 12.

A box of clothing has been collected and shipped to Vest, and we are planning to send some scissors in the near future.

The last issue of the Bucknellian carries the announcement that Janet Murphy, '31, was awarded a $400 graduate scholarship in the department of Spanish at Bryn Mawr for the year 1931-32. The clipping is enclosed.

Passing People

*Tales of woe and tales of strife
Don't give me a breathless treat,
What I love to watch is life—
Figures passing on the street.*

*Old ones, young ones, stout and slim,
Bent with age, erect with pride,
Amble past and enter in Stories that my thoughts contrive.*

*Some are tragic, some are gay,
Others give me insolent looks;
Nevermind, they'll all some day
Amble, through my story books.*

ETHEL JOHNSTON, '31, Alpha Zeta

IN MEMORIAM

We wish to express the sympathy of the entire sorority to Ruby Long, past national secretary, whose father passed away at his home in Cashmere, Washington, January 7, 1931, after a long illness.

JOHN H. FINLEY, husband of Mildred Boatman Finley, Alpha, '18.

CECIL PERRY KRIEG, husband of Shirley Kreasan Krieg, Editor-Historian of the Themis of Zeta Tau Alpha.

EVELYN CROP, Beta Iota

EVELYN CROP, lovely daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Crop, was born October 20, 1907, in Los Angeles, California and died March 3, 1931, in Tucson, Arizona.

Prior to her coming to Tucson Evelyn made her home in Los Angeles. Graduating from Los Angeles High School in 1925 the following year she entered the University of Arizona, from which institution she was graduated June 5, 1930.

Evelyn was pledged to the local Iota Lambda Rho in the fall of 1928. She was an ardent and active worker in the group. On December 13, 1930, Evelyn was initiated as a charter member of Beta Iota Chapter.

While in the university Evelyn was a member of the glee club, Alpha Rho Tau (art club), Phi Sigma Rho (honorary psychology fraternity), Women's Athletic Association, and was a member of the hockey team. She was interested in activities and was a good student. She had a wide circle of friends and was greatly loved for her charming personality by all those who knew her.

The past year she had been teaching in the elementary school in the public schools of Tucson.

Delta Zeta memorial services were held for her before she was taken back to her home in Los Angeles for burial. Interment was in the Mausoleum in Hollywood Cemetery in Hollywood, California. On the bronze base are the Greek letters,  $\Delta Z$ .

ESTHER S. RITTER

ON SUNDAY, March 15, Beta Gamma Chapter suffered the loss of their beloved alumnae adviser, Esther S. Ritter. Esther was a charter member and a sister of Eleanor Ritter, our vice-president of 1930-31. She was severely injured in an automobile accident and died a few hours later.

The sincere sorrow and tribute of hundreds from all classes and of all ages attest a life of unusual character and endeavor. During her brief but active career Esther represented her college and a member of its basketball team. She endeared herself to many through recreational and social service work. As a teacher of hygiene and physical training she was an inspiration to her pupils and in the position of Director at Ogleby Park, West Virginia, she proved herself a capable executive. Her graduate work at Columbia University bears witness of an ambitious and enterprising spirit.

Through the grief that was ours at her passing there has arisen a desire to perpetuate her memory through word and deed, that those same qualities which made our loss so keen might become the inspiration which makes it bearable.
