DELTA ZETA WELCOMES

Gamma Kappa and Gamma Mu at Recent Chapter Installations

INSTALLATION of Sigma Omicron Lambda, local sorority with a background of more than 20 years of eminently substantial growth, as Gamma Mu, 66th chapter of Delta Zeta, April 10 brought the second national Greek letter organization for women to the campus of Illinois Institute of Technology. Sigma Kappa's installation of a chapter in June, 1947 introduced the first National Panhellenic Conference group to the southside Chicago school, now fulfilling a $15,000,000 development and expansion program which is transforming a blighted section of the great city into a functionally planned study and residential area for 10,000 persons. Architecture for the campus, which covers 100 acres in the region of 31st to 35th streets, was created by Mies Von der Rohe, foremost exponent of modern architecture and chairman of the department of architecture at Illinois Tech.

Of the 26 buildings scheduled for completion during the five-year expansion program, all characterized by extreme, yet striking, simplicity and extensive use of glass for abundant light, those in use are Alumni Memorial hall, Metals Research, Chemistry, Metallurgical and Chemical Engineering buildings and a wing of the Engineering Research building. Under construction are two four-story student dormitories, a part of the Institute's plan, Dr. Henry T. Heald, Illinois Tech president, explained, to house 2,000 students, staff and families in permanent apartment, residence and dormitory dwellings adjacent to the campus.

Chapter Adviser on Faculty

Enrollment of students at the Institute in 1947-48 numbers 8,283. Employees totalling 1,300 include a faculty of 220 able leaders in their fields. One of them, Marie W. Spencer, teacher of history and economics, is a founder of Sigma Omicron Lambda and a member of and beloved adviser to Gamma Mu.

Installation at A A Chapter House

In Evanston for the installation week end with Marguerite Wherry Havens, extension vice-president and "godmother" to the new chapter by virtue of her tireless work in its interest, were six other national officers of Delta Zeta: Frances E. Westcott, president; Grace Mason Lundy, immediate past president; Evelyn Adams Costello (Mrs. Russell T.) secretary; Helen Woodruff, treasurer; Irene C. Boughton, executive secretary; Charlotte Wheeler Verplank (Mrs. A. J.), editor of the LAMP. They served with Gene Monroe Larson (Mrs. Porter M.) director of Province VII, and members of Alpha Alpha chapter for the initiation of collegiate and alumnae members in the chapter house on Northwestern campus, where they, with the initiates, were luncheon guests of Alpha Alpha "actives" and alumnae.

Initiated as collegiate members of Gamma Mu were Shirlee Langill, Evelyn Beacham, Irene Radvilas, Betty Lu Duke, Celia Barteau, officers of Sigma Omicron Lambda; and Mureen Boyle, Evelyn Czajika, Virginia Dorociak, Florence Dumke, Lillian Kozlowski, Zora F. Mikes, Christine Miller, Shirley C. Niles, Joan Rolling, L. Phyllis Schmidt, Gwen Stell.

Alumnae initiates included Edna Donnelly Altvater, a founder; Dorothy Beckerman, Catherine Bottino, Jaqueline Braithwaite, Harriet Coombs, Elizabeth Fischer, Jane Goelet, Oriol Grand-Girard, Helen Hahn, Marjorie G. Hoke, Hope Iverson, Lucille Karvel, Helen Marzullo, Nell Nelson, Shirley Peach, Lucy Peter, Lorraine Reinhardt, Eda Shermer, Rose Tetik, Florence Wagmer, Selmer Yonker, Muriel Young.

Officers of Gamma Mu are Shirley Niles, president; Betty Lu Duke, vice-president; Joan Rolling, recording secretary; Evelyn Czajika, corresponding secretary; Florence Dumke, treasurer; Virginia Dorociak, Panhellenic representative; Maureen Boyle, social chairman; Christine Miller, rushing chairman; Zora Mikes, scholarship chairman; Gwen Stell, Standards chairman; Celia Barteau, historian; Evelyn Beacham, parliamentarian; Irene Radvilas, Lillian Kozlowski, guards.

Installation Banquet

The ballroom of Evanston's North Shore hotel made a most impressive setting for the installation banquet, served to 125 at tables made very lovely with Delta Zeta roses and ferns. Miss Boughton was toastmistress for the after-dinner program, which found memorable climax in an installation service for which Miss Westcott served as chief installing officer, with John F. White, dean of students, taking cordial part on behalf of Illinois Institute of Technology. Dr. Heald, Institute president, made apt response to the addresses of welcome given by Miss Westcott, and Mrs. Larson; Margaret G. Weichel (Mrs. E. J.) president of Chicago Alumnae chapter; Ellendore Lampton, president of West Suburban chapter and representatives of college chapters: Shirley Chap, N, Knox College; Patricia Hoffman, A B, University of Illinois; Shirley Keller, II, Eureka College; Jan Smith, A A, Northwestern University; Marilyn Thompson, Γ Θ, Carroll College; Beverly Nord, Γ E, Drake University; Harriet Hellwig, T, University of Wisconsin.

"Good listening" for the guests, who included representatives from 22 of Delta Zeta's chapters, was also provided in delightful songs by Beverly Nord, Γ E and Hellen Fish, Π, musical grace and the traditional "Flowers I Give to Thee" ceremony by girls of Alpha Alpha chapter. Mrs. Havens presided for the presentation of gifts to the newly installed chapter.

Campus Congratulations

The joy of welcoming this group of outstandingly fine young women into the "wider horizons" of Delta Zeta, so keenly and generally felt and expressed at the installation banquet, animated the installation tea given by Delta Zeta for the new chapter and its friends among the faculty and student body in the reception room of the Student

“Illinois Institute of Technology is proud to welcome Delta Zeta to the campus. These young women already have achieved a significant place in the affairs of Illinois Tech. I am sure they will continue to grow individually and as a group in their social, cultural, and intellectual life. In their own growth they will contribute to the welfare of the Institute and its family of students, faculty, and staff.”

“It is with great pleasure that Illinois Institute of Technology welcomes Delta Zeta Sorority to its campus. The group on this campus (Sigma Omicron Lambda) which affiliated with Delta Zeta is an active and excellent group of girls and will, I know, make both the Institute and the national sorority proud of them and their achievements. Again, I say ‘Welcome’ and may our association be a long and fruitful one.”

Installation of Gamma Kappa Chapter

OHIO Delta Zetas gathered at the Mayflower Hotel, Akron, Ohio, May 15 to participate in the initiation and installation of Gamma Kappa chapter of Kent State University at Kent. The campus was opened to national social sororities last June, and Georgia Chandler Hornung (Mrs. Howard V.), former national vice-president, visited the university several times during the summer. Gamma Kappa was colonized in the fall by Marguerite Wherry Havens (Mrs. George C.), national extension vice-president. With the assistance of Aurel Fowler Ostendorf (Mrs. George, Jr.), director of Province V, the group was ably guided and directed by the Delta Zetas living in Kent. Lillian James Raup (Mrs. H. F.), charter member of Alpha Tau, with Dr. W. Leslie Gannett, Iota, and Helen Rudy Griebbling (Mrs. Eric), Theta, developed the colony and prepared it for initiation.

The initiation services were conducted by Frances E. Westcott, national president; Irene C. Boughton, national executive secretary; Marjorie Van Bolt Snow (Mrs. Alfred, Jr.), former national alumnae vice-president; Lucile Crowell Cooks (Mrs. Rudolph), former national extension vice-president; Fern Riley Wilson (Mrs. Francis), national chairman of Mothers' Clubs; Aurel Fowler Ostendorf, province director; Marianne Vonbergen, president of Gamma Alpha chapter; Marilyn Brust, formerly of Gamma Alpha, president of the colony. The alumnae of Cleveland, Akron, Kent and Youngstown with representatives of Beta Chi, Theta, Gamma Alpha and Xi, assisted at the service.

The formal installation banquet was held in the evening in a private dining room of the Mayflower Hotel. Dr. W. Leslie Garnett, chairman of the banquet committee, was assisted by alumnae members of Kent and Cleveland. The table decorations of pink candles, vine and individual rose boutonnieres were very effective. Aurel Fowler Ostendorf was toastmistress. A welcome was extended to the new chapter by Margaret Huenefeld Pease (Mrs. John), former national president; Sally Stahl Beach (Mrs. Robert), state chairman for Ohio; Erma Parker Feigert (Mrs. Carl), president of Akron Alumnae chapter, and Marianne Vonbergen, president of Gamma Alpha chapter. Greetings were also given by Joan Rardin, representing Theta chapter; Faynelle Newland, president of Xi, and Carol Wagner, official representative of Beta Chi. Miss Martha Robbins, assistant dean of women, Kent State University, and Marilyn Brust, president of Gamma Kappa chapter, responded to the welcome. With group singing of "Flowers I Give to Thee," Lee Goff Hall, president of Cleveland Alumnae chapter, gave each initiate a rose, bearing a small card of best wishes. The girls were surprised and pleased with the Delta Zeta recognition pins they found attached to the cards. Irene Boughton read congratulatory telegrams and letters, concluding with the poem, "When This New Badge Grows Old." Following in this vein of thought, the toastmistress asked for the Delta Zeta who had worn her Lamp the longest time to speak to the new initiates. Frances Knapp Ashley, Alpha, initiated in 1909, spoke graciously, bringing the past of Delta Zeta to her newest members. Miss Westcott was the principal speaker at the banquet, inviting all Delta Zetas to share in "Our Adventure in Friendship." She also conducted the formal installation ceremony, which closed with the song, "Delta Zeta Dream Girl."

In welcome to the new Delta Zetas Margaret Huenefeld Pease said:

"On behalf of the National Council and all the past national officers I wish to bid you welcome, sisters in Delta Zeta. Of all the pleasures of office in Delta Zeta—none is greater than that of bringing a new chapter into our sisterhood. Tonight you are indeed symbols of that ever renewed life and vigor which is brought into our membership with the pledging and initiation of a new sister.

"The installation of a new chapter is always fittingly symbolized to me in a short paragraph which was written sometime ago by Carl Sandburg. This to me means a new Delta Zeta.

"I love you for what you are but I love you more for what you are going to be.

I love you not so much for your realities as for your ideals,

I pray for your desires that they may be great rather than for your satisfactions which may be so hazardously little."

"The satisfied flower is one whose petals are about to fall. The perfect rose is one scarcely more than a bud wherein the pangs and ecstasies of desire are working toward a larger and finer growth. Not always will you be what you are now. You are on your way toward something great. I am on the way with you and therefore love you."

On Sunday morning, May 16, Gamma Kappa chapter, installing officers and visiting alumnae attended church services at Kent. In the afternoon the formal presentation tea, sponsored by the Akron Alumnae chapter, was held in Kent at the Moulton Hall music room. Members of the Akron Alumnae chapter assisting were Glenna Hesse Snow (Mrs. Mason), Theta, chairman; Annabelle Baird, Theta; Joan Musser, Theta;

Helen Smith, Kappa; Marjorie Hadley, Beta Pi and Eunice Foote, Eta.

Those pouring at the tea were Madeline Baird Porter, Theta, representing Youngstown Alumnae chapter; Ruth Plymate Lowrey, Alpha, vice-president of Cleveland Alumnae chapter; Louise Larson Bellinger, Nu, vice-president of Akron Alumnae chapter, and Lillian James Raup, Alpha Tau, chairman of the Gamma Kappa Alumnae advisory board. Silver tea services and a center piece of pink roses and white snapdragons decorated the tea table.

The receiving line was a lovely picture of formal gowns in pastel shades, with matching corsages. Those in the line were Miss Westcott; Miss Boughton; Mrs. Pease; Mrs. Cooks; Mrs. Snow; Mrs. Beach; Mrs. Francis C. Wilson; Mrs. Ostendorf; Mrs. Griebling; Mrs. John Bowman, wife of the president of Kent State University; Miss Robbins, assistant dean of women; Erma Parker Feigert and Marilyn Brust. Music of a stringed trio added to the loveliness of the reception. Gifts from Delta Zeta chapters and bouquets from other sororities and fraternities of Kent State University were on display.

Gamma Kappa chapter is the sixth chapter for Ohio, and it joins with Delta Zetas everywhere in the great "Adventure of Friendship," dedicated to the ideals of her founders.

ADMINISTRATION BUILDING,
KENT STATE UNIVERSITY

Kent State University

M AINTAINED by the state of Ohio, Kent State University's location in the densely populated section of northeastern Ohio, is such that within a 50-mile radius of the institution are nearly one-half of the population and two-thirds of the state's wealth. Although a considerable proportion of the people in this section are engaged in farming, the majority are employed in industry and commerce.

It is the aim of the university, as a state institution, to serve the people in its area by endeavoring to raise the general level of health, efficiency and character, by disseminating general scientific and cultural knowledge and by providing opportunities for advancement.

The university, which includes the college of business administration, the college of education, the college of liberal arts, and the graduate school, is on a beautiful campus of more than 100 acres. Most of the buildings are arranged in a semicircle near the crest of a wooded hillside, from which one looks down upon the city of Kent and the surrounding country.

Its History

Kent State university has undergone several important changes since it was established a quarter of a century ago as an institution for training teachers.

The legislative beginning of the university was

GEORGE A. BOWMAN
President of Kent University in an act passed by the general assembly in May, 1910. The legislature authorized establishment of two more normal schools, one of them to be in northeastern Ohio, and directed the governor to appoint a commission to select sites for the schools. In December of that year Kent was chosen as the site for one of them. In its next year, 1911, appropriations were made by the legislature for erection of the first two buildings. Gov. Judson Harmon appointed the first board of trustees, and the latter elected the first president, Dr. John E. McGilvrey.

In 1912, a year after its establishment as Kent State Normal, extension work was established in 25 northeastern Ohio centers, and in 1913 classroom work on the campus began with a short spring term. Autumn quarter registration that year was 291. The summer quarter attracted large numbers of students, but enrollment through the regular college year grew more slowly and in the fall of 1927 was but 600.

An enrollment of more than 5,000 in the autumn of 1948 on Kent campus and 900 in the Canton division, named for the city which lies only 28 miles away, indicates the effort being made to meet needs for education in the postwar years.

REFLECTION

If there should not be love or charity
To live in simple ways;

If there should be no giving of the soul
To mark the sober days;

If there should be no quiet laughter shared
When mind meets kindred mind,
Nor hope, nor trust, nor understanding bared,
Nor faith to seek and find;

If there should never be a table set
Where lonely people meet;
If vows were consecrated to forget
And dreams to know defeat. . . .

Then you and I would not Christ's vision see Holding our flame against eternity.

May Gegenheimer, New York

WHEN I heard that an article about May Gegenheimer was sought for the LAMP I refused to let anyone else write it. May is too unassuming to do herself justice and I'm particularly qualified because I have known her since her freshman year at Adelphi College. All of us in Alpha Zeta worked hard rushing May, who seemed even then a marvelous Delta Zeta prospect. Admittedly, we couldn't see the forest for the trees—trees of high school medals, hockey, basketball, National Scholastic Honorary, but even then we recognized a prize prospect. May was still a pledge when we discovered her marvelous potentialities as an organizer. Her concentration on all sorts of details, minor and major, fits her for positions of responsibility. In college she held various student offices, was president of Alpha Zeta chapter and ably represented the chapter at the Mackinac Island convention in 1940.

Last year May was elected to a three-year term as Delta Zeta's governor in New York City Panhellenic. During the year she has served as corresponding secretary and chairman of arrangements, the planning and supervising of monthly suppers.

Despite her hectic business and social life, May has lost none of her femininity. She does exquisite handwork and manages to find time to make "little things" for her friends' offspring. She never forgets anyone's birthday nor anniversary and bright and early on these personal days, almost before the immediate family can say "Greetings," a congratulatory card arrives from May.

She begins to sound something like the paragon she is. May's energy and enthusiasm for things Delta Zeta are boundless. Some of us find it difficult to become active in an alumnae chapter. May belongs to two the chapter in New York City, where she works, and the chapter in Long Island, where she lives. For years she has been a walking dictionary of Delta Zeta lore. Although she is no longer on the alumnae advisory board of Alpha Zeta chapter, it is not unusual for the girls at Adelphi to consult her ex-officio on any problem. She is always quick to respond with the needed help.

We are indeed proud of our new state chairman.

Elma Morrissey Wake Wisconsin

Elma Morrissey Wake, state chairman for Wisconsin, was an active member of Tau during her undergraduate days at the University of Wisconsin. She was graduated in 1929 with majors in speech and history.

She has been very active in the alumnae chapter since coming to Milwaukee, when she was married. She has held many offices in the alumnae

Ruth Pasley, Oregon

My thoughts about Ruth Lundgren Pasley, X, go back over some 16 years when I was on a new high school teaching position at Beaverton, Oregon. I had taught there just about a month when the pledge lists from Oregon State College were published in the paper and I saw the name of Ruth Lundgren. Naturally, I asked some of the other faculty members about her and I found out that Ruth had been very highly regarded by them. I formed my own impressions of her from what they told me and now that I have met and known Ruth, I realize that what they told me was not enough. I never have seen such a worker.

When Ruth was at Oregon State, she was quite active on campus as well as being treasurer of Chi chapter for two years.

As an alumna member of Delta Zeta Ruth has more than taken a part. With all she has had to write it is a good thing that she qualified for Theta Sigma Phi, national honor society for women in journalism. She is a member of A.A.U.W. at Hillsboro, a town 20 miles from Portland. The Hillsboro Garden Club also claims her as a member as do the Order of the Eastern Star, Portland Junior Women's Club and the Parent Teachers group. Of course, knowing Ruth, chapter and has represented Delta Zeta in Milwaukee Panhellenic.

Elma's husband is Van Buren Wake, attorney, who was graduated from the School of Law at the University of Wisconsin. His hobby is tennis and he has brought home many trophies. Their oldest daughter, Sally, is following in her father's footsteps, as she was ranked eighth in the girls under 12, State Open tournament. The Wakes' children are Sally, 14; Van Buren, Jr., 9; Charlotte, 4; and Elizabeth, one year old.

Besides running a large household and caring for her family, Elma has many other interests. She has been active in the Whitefish Bay Woman's club for many years, serving as corresponding secretary and drama chairman. She has also been active in P.T.A., church work, Children's Theatre and the Civic Players' boards. Her hobby is cutting and reading plays for groups.

Plans for Wisconsin's State Day May 22 at the Pfister Hotel are being completed.

We feel very fortunate to have so efficient and energetic a person as our state chairman.

PEG HALLSTROM HACKENDAHL, I

PORTLAND ALUMNAE CHAPTER
under the direction of Mrs. Pasley was hostess to 125 Delta Zetas for State Day luncheon at the Multnomah Hotel, Portland March 20

I realize that she didn't have enough to do, so she is a troop leader for a busy little group of Brownies who meet every week and I am sure, from having had a Brownie in my own home, Ruth must be completely "done in" at the end of the day they meet with her. How on earth Ruth manages to find time to make all of the girls' and her own clothes, I don't know—but she does. By the way, Ruth has a sweet, patient husband in the background by the name of Harold V. Pasley, a Delta Tau Delta from the University of Oregon. When he and Ruth put their heads together on an idea, you can surely expect something of importance.

She likes to re-design old houses while Harold likes to carpenter so this is a hobby they share in common. They do the "before" and "after" kind and are so good that they even sold one of the houses. Their largest project in building, an eight-unit court apartment, is now in the process of being completed. Ruth is the chief trouble shooter and "search warrant" for nails, bathtubs and all the hard-to-get items. I am glad that I live close enough to see a few of these projects. The only trouble is that all of Ruth's energy doesn't seem to affect me—I go on my way taking it easy.

In ending this tribute to Ruth, I add a very serious note. This past Saturday we had a grand State Day luncheon for more than 125 Delta Zetas, young and old. The work and thoughts for that day had been planned by Ruth. However, as we all were meeting at the hotel, we found that Ruth would not be with us as her mother had passed away the day before. We went on with the program of the day but I know that more than one of us thought of "our Ruth" and gave a little bit of a prayer that she have courage given her.

goes from all Delta Zetas, whom she has so well and faithfully served in many important capacities, to Grace Mason Lundy, former national president, and to her sisters, Miriam Mason Swain and Rachel Mason Peden, both well-known to LAMP readers, in the death of their father, B. F. Mason, of Bloomington, Indiana. He passed away at Silver Creek sanitarium, New Albany, Indiana in mid-May. A former student at Valparaiso university, he became widely known as an orchard owner and grower of roses.

Burial was made in Payne Cemetery in the community in which he has lived for the past 40 years.

Surviving, too, with Mrs. Mason, are three other daughters, Mrs. Eugene Pulliam, wife of the publisher of the Indianapolis Star, Mrs. Edward Davidson and Miss Kathleen Mason; and a son, James, of Indianapolis.

Catherine Richards, Delta, Nationally Known Girl Scout Executive

Is So Described
by Audrie M. Celley, Delta

NOT ONLY Delta Zetas from Delta chapter, De Pauw university, where she was an outstanding figure on campus from 1930-1934, but Delta Zetas everywhere will read with very real pride of the distinguished career of Catherine Virginia Richards, nationally known Girl Scout leader, and of the years that went before as her friend, Audrie M. Celley (Mrs. Hugh), Δ, recalls them.

Director of Detroit Girl Scouts since January, 1940, now on leave to work on a doctorate in sociology at the University of Pittsburgh, "Kay" was born in Altoona, Pennsylvania, September 1, 1912. A second child, she "shadowed" her big brother—on sleds, bicycles, on foot, even under a motorcycle until his stern insistence that she stop trailing him and his friends "and be a girl" drove her to the consolation of dolls. Seeking further consolation and "adjustment," she started violin lessons and catechism classes at the Reformed church. In Junior high school years she played in the orchestra, took part in sports and studied diligently. And, too, she joined the Girl Reserves, whose secretary was Lucille Smith. Lucille it was who first told Kay about social service work, about De Pauw, where she was graduated the year after Kay arrived to follow her lead. And about Delta Zeta, to which she pledged under Lucille's guidance.

Change of address took Kay and her family to Erie, where she was graduated from Academy high school, with some sort of honors she can't clearly remember. There she met some of the workers at settlement houses and welfare agencies and started a girls' club of her own. She began then the writing of poetry, which she has continued, winning prizes in 1930 for "The City" and "The Negro."

Graduation was followed by successful application for work as play director at the Kiwanis club, work for which she had no instruction nor preparation, so for six weeks, on a 24-hour-a-day schedule, she simply played with the children and they all had a grand time.

In the autumn of 1930 the whole Richards family took Kay to Greencastle and De Pauw. When they left she promptly sat down on the curb and wept.

"The next day I saw her for the first time," Audrie Celley remembers, "her dark eyes almost tearful again, but this time with laughter over some questions we were to answer on the physical education questionnaire."

Pledged to Delta Zeta, she undertook school activities of all kinds—sports, a Girl Scout troop, the campus newspaper, Y.W.C.A. and Toynbee, a sociology club.

To meet financial needs Kay put all her willing resourcefulness to work: she collected scholarships and loans from the school, served as life guard at the pool, as shoe repair and drycleaning agent at the chapter house. She was not only house manager but waited on table and washed dishes, too. The last-named duty meant that much of the after-dinner sociability in the Delta Zeta house then took place in the kitchen, where Kay was to be found, for wherever she was, was fun.

During her senior year she was vice-president and pledge supervisor and a more beloved supervisor, Audrie recalls, would be hard to find.

Kay received a number of honors, both scholastically and socially, and was tapped Mortar Board in the spring of her junior year. Every summer brought work at camp, where she applied some of the knowledge acquired during the school year.

Awarded the Gilmore fellowship in applied sociology by Kalamazoo College, she earned her M.A. degree in 1935 and in September of that year began to work for FWPA in various capacities. "At one time," Audrie noted, "we heard she was teaching sewing, which amused us all very much when we remembered her lack of prowess with a darning needle."

In January of 1940 she began work as director of Detroit Girl Scouts. In the seven years which followed the agency grew from 4,000 to 18,000 members, exclusive of 4,000 volunteers. She was elected president of the National Association of Girl Scout Executives in 1946 and has been president of the Detroit Association for the Study of Group Work and president of the Michigan Camping Association. She has studied intermittently at Wayne University, taught in group work at Marygrove College in Detroit and given a course in administration and supervision at the Graduate School of Public Affairs and Social Work at Wayne.

Kay's hobbies are stone-cutting and polishing, reading and travelling. She has always loved music and the theatre. At De Pauw she exhibited marked talent in creative writing but now confines her ability to studies and reports.

She considers herself a congenital optimist who believes that if one "believes hard enough and works hard enough with others, things will come out all right." She is firmly convinced that all men can learn respect for others as individuals and can share ideas and responsibility in achieving a chance for all.

"What has already been said of Kay," Audrie adds, "in no adequate way indicates the warm-hearted friend those of us at Depauw from 1930-34 remember. The marvellous conversations, the jokes and pranks—the pictures that come to mind of Kay asleep in her chosen spot, a dormer window, her face covered with snow. She had an extremely mannish 'bob' in college but now wears her hair, beginning to gray a little, longer and 'upswept.' She's short and round, but wonderfully quick on a basketball floor, and dimples, about which we used to tease her until 'laughing' tears rolled down her cheeks, enhance an engaging smile. Most of us give lip service at least to ideals we have set before us but not many have followed our 'Yes, I believe' with 'What can I do?' Kay has done that."

The presentation, made the evening of the Inter-Sorority Sing, which brought the chapter yet another cup, marked the second successive year that an Alpha Delta chapter president had won the honor. Last year's bestowal went to Dorothy Jean Eggling.

Writes from Her Colorado Cabin To Delta Zetas She Once Served As National Vice-President

FOR MEMBERS of Delta Zeta national council in Colorado last autumn for the Broadmoor meeting of National Panhellenic Conference at Colorado Springs a precious "extra privilege" was seeing Lois Higgins Kemp (Mrs. Don), A, a past vice-president of the sorority as well as its first director of what was then Province VII and a leader, from 1918 to 1930, of the alumnae group in Chicago, where she was doing outstandingly successful personnel work. The visit of Frances E. Westcott, national president, Gertrude Houk Fariss, Irene C. Boughton and Charlotte Wheeler Verplank to Denver as guests of Rho college and Denver alumnae chapters made perfect opportunity for Lois to "come down" from her mountain home at Eldora to be a guest with them at the tea and supper party in Rho's new chapter house.

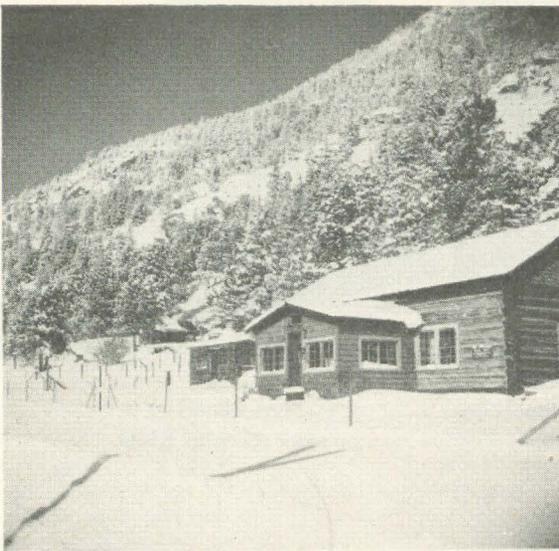

To bridge the years between last visits and bring old friends "to date" in her life, Lois recalled her coming with her husband, Captain Kemp, to Colorado in April, 1937. In Eldora, a tiny summer resort village, quite deserted in winter, that was once a gold mining camp, John Kemp, the captain's father, had placer mined more than 50 years before. He had then built a cabin and to it the Kemps came to make a permanent home.

"The first question usually asked me," Lois said, "is 'What do you do with your time up in the high country?'" (Its elevation is 8600 feet above sea level.) But I really have no difficulty keeping busy with housework, a bit of reading and knitting. During the war I was chairman of the Mountain Women's group, affiliated with A.W.V.S. in Denver and we were constantly occupied with service in various hospitals, sewing and like tasks.

"Recently I have embarked on a new enterprise—hand-made jewelry individually, distinctively designed. It all started when my husband began to collect Colorado minerals and gem-stones and acquired at the same time a lapidary machine. It seemed logical that the polished gems should be put to good use, rather than have them multiply as a hobby, so I looked about and found two excellent silversmiths, who make bracelets, rings, ear-rings, and other items of the kind to my order, using gem-stones we have polished, or obtained from dealers, as mountings. To widen the varieties, and colors, I have supplemented the Colorado gem product with that from other localities, even as far away as China. I have found that the most popular stones are red jasper, black agate, jade, both the Colorado, and Wyoming varieties, petrified wood—Montana and Arizona—various types of plume and moss agates, together with Amazon-stone, shattuckite, chrysocolla, and from a friend in China I have received some choice pieces of carnelian, tiger eye, and jadeite.

"Last summer I displayed the jewelry pieces, such as I could have made up, together with carved leather and photographs done by my husband, across from our cabin. Visitors enjoyed looking at the arrangement and I did a fair business. During the winter I shall 'carry on' by correspondence and showing the stock by appointment.

"When, and if, summer arrives (lots of snow on the hillsides, although it is late April now and the range won't be clear until mid-summer) I shall have a much more complete stock, both of jewelry and unmounted gems than I had last year."

Lois wrote the LAMP editor recently, "I wish you were coming to Colorado and could see for yourself what I'm doing. The valley in which we live is quite lovely, especially in summer. We have plenty of room in our cabin for our friends and the latch string is always out for them."

Tells of Residence In Delhi, India

READERS of the LAMP with a backward look to 1945 will remember Kathleen Smith Putney, because she made excellent "copy" not only as an initiate into Delta Zeta from Beta Phi Alpha (class of 1931, University of California) just before she and her husband, H. B. Putney, sailed from New York for India, but as one who had, like him, spent 38 months as a "guest" of the Japanese in Santo Tomas internment camp in the Philippines.

These same readers are certain to find continued interest in paragraphs from a letter Mrs. Putney wrote in February from New Delhi, India, her present home:

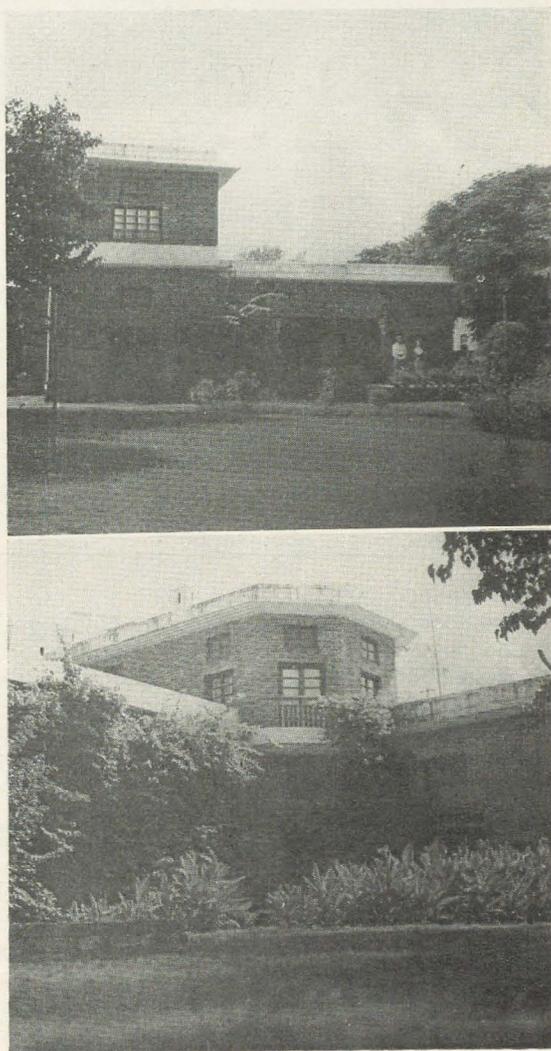

We lived for a year and a half in Bombay where my husband was sales manager of Caltex (India), Ltd. Then we were transferred to New Delhi. There is quite a difference between the two cities. Bombay is a huge, crowded, "tenementy" city on the sea with an even, mild climate the year around. It is a very cosmopolitan place with an American community, numbering about 400. We had lots of fun there—good clubs, yachting, golf and plenty of private parties in the various homes. Nearly everyone in Bombay lives in a "flat," some of which are quite nice.

Located on the plains, Delhi, on the other hand, is in about the geographical center of India, with an altitude of 500 feet. As a consequence we have terribly hot summers and quite cold winters, calling for fires at least three months of the year. It is less than half the size of Bombay, but very much cleaner, quieter and more spacious. Here everyone (who is lucky enough to get a place at all, the housing shortage being as acute here as everywhere else in the world) lives in a big house with a lovely garden and compound.

Outside of the American embassy, which is growing by leaps and bounds, the American community is very small. Incidentally, Dr. Henry Grady, who is the American ambassador here, was my foreign trade professor at California. I knew Mrs. Grady in the old days, too, and it is very nice to have them here. They are very popular.

Since independence on August 15 we have had rather turbulent times in Delhi. In September we had terrible communal riots—the Sikhs and Hindus on the one side against the Muslims. This trouble was started by the infiltrating of refugees from Pakistan bringing their horror stories about how they had been mistreated by the Muslims. One can't say who really started trouble in the first place or that the blame lay with anyone in particular. During this time of riots, which lasted about three weeks, all the markets were closed and we ate entirely from cans. We had to put our Muslim servants in a refugee camp for safekeeping and two of them contracted cholera and died.

THE PUTNEYS' HOME IN DELHI

THE PUTNEYS AND DANNY, THEIR DOG, a Sidney Silky, breed seldom seen in the United States but quite popular in India.

Then in October the trouble started in Kashmir. This, of course, has received world-wide notice because of its U.N.O. connections. They are still fighting a bloody war up there and what the outcome will be I have no idea. Geographically at least, Kashmir should go to Pakistan. Most of the fighting there is between the northwest frontier tribesmen and the Indian army. The Pakistan army is not involved—at least not officially.

Since independence most of the major countries have set up embassies here, which makes for considerable color and official social life.

Delhi is very interesting historically. This area was the scene of the reigns of the six great mogul emperors. There have been seven Delhis. The ruins of the old civilizations can be seen on the outskirts of the present New and Old Delhi. We live in Old Delhi and the office is in New Delhi. They are about four miles apart—more or less built up in between. Agra, where the Taj Mahal is located, is only 120 miles from here. It is truly beautiful. Even the books can't seem to exaggerate its beauty.

Our house is not typical Delhi architecture, as it was built by a German. Almost all of the houses in Delhi are rather sprawling one story affairs of yellow stucco—all built on somewhat the same plan. New Delhi has been beautifully laid out, more or less in the manner of Washington and the government buildings and Viceroy house, now occupied by the governor-general, Lord Mountbatten, and Lady Mountbatten, are lovely. Incidentally, on July 4, very soon after the Gradys' arrival, the Mountbattens (he was then viceroy) gave a big dinner party for all the Americans in Delhi. The interior of Viceroy House, with its paintings, china and other objets d'art, is all that the books "have it cracked up to be." I appreciated going because that particular phase of Indian life, the day of the British Raj, is gone forever.

I haven't seen a great deal of India as yet but hope that things will be more quiet and peaceful in the future so that one can travel about with greater comfort. I've enjoyed these two years here very much, but sometimes long for the security of life at home.

"Fran," now a secretary in the Technological Institute at Northwestern, began her career in the university's New-Student Department in 1936. For five years she spent her days interviewing high school seniors, planning prospective student parties, and working with campus promotional groups. Despite her enthusiasm for Northwestern and for English literature courses, she looks forward to vacation time, which spells "travel." When she reaches Swampscott in June, she will have covered 30 states.

FRANCES BROWN

FROM its Shakespearian title to the final paragraph's suggestion that the reader "return to childhood and look at things with fresh eyes," this book is replete with graphic description and keen insight. Miss Harper, as a biographer, has the unusual faculty of transporting one from arm-chair inertia to seven foreign countries, in all of which the reader seems to share the author's experiences firsthand. Unlike many travelogue writers, Miss Harper highlights the less spectacular, reminiscent of Coleridge's observation, "The happiness of life is made up of minute fractions." Born in England, the author was destined, because of her father's renown as a consulting engineer, to lead a migratory life. And so from France, China, Egypt, South Africa, Italy, and Spain, she has carried away the best offering of each culture.

Unlike many autobiographies, in which the author gives a chronological sketch of his life to the present, Miss Harper recreates the episodes of childhood and adolescence that left the deepest imprint on her personality. In this character portrait, therefore, she unconsciously splashes on her canvas certain outstanding traits and dispositions. Paramount among these is her broad, human sympathy. This quality was first evidenced in her early distaste of customs barriers. "Anything that separates people hurt me," she writes. Other striking illustrations include her sadness at the sight of harassed rickshaw drivers, the helplessness of Chinese lepers, and the confinement of animals in a zoo.

An only child and somewhat introspective, Allana Harper formed strong attachments—to her celluloid duck, to her Nanny, to her dachshund. From an early age the words of Chang Lee, a Chinese servant, became a part of her own philosophy. "No go against things that happen; make seem you go with them; then you stronger than they." Again, in describing the woods at night, Miss Harper refers to "a sensation of unity" with nature. Her collections of rabbits, guinea-pigs, and fan-tail pigeons reveal her fondness for animals.

The author's word pictures are characterized by a minuteness of detail. Her visit to the pantomime, her first Christmas party, the ocean at night, the Spanish dances are colorful and complete. Her impressions of Cologne Cathedral, the Black Forest, the tropical seafish, the bookstalls along the Left Bank possess a vitality than can come only from the pen of a gracious and poetic heart.

Perhaps the greatest single merit of a book such as All Trivial Fond Records is its lack of propaganda—a rarity during a period when the American reader is likely to find himself easily and unwittingly seduced by veiled “causes” of one sort or another. In retrospect, however, Miss Harper deplors the Philistinism of her era, the false standards, the unhealthy emphasis on material possessions. On the other hand, she considers her childhood to have been more fortunate than that of today’s Junior Miss. Yesterday’s child relied on his imagination for self amusement rather than on ready-made entertainment. In one field alone—that of literature—the mythology and fairy tales of her day resulted in satisfaction and contentment; whereas the crime and adventure stories of today tend to contribute to unrest and negative thinking.

When comparing your reaction to these memorabilia, perhaps you too will conclude that national and international unity is attainable on one premise—the cultivation of a mutual understanding through genuine respect, tolerance, and good will.

Contest Director For National League Of American Pen Women

By Hazel Du Val Buffmire, A A, Editor, Chicago Alumnae Chapter

GAIL BROOK BURKET (Mrs. Walter C.), A B '26, Evanston poet, has been appointed chairman of contests for the National League of American Pen Women. In her new post, she is directing contests in such fields as art, music, novel-writing, poetry, radio, short stories and drama, the winners of which will be announced at biennial national meeting in Washington, D.C., in May. Mrs. Burket has also been first vice-president and program chairman of the Chicago branch of the league during the last two years.

Gail has had an interesting writing career since her graduation from the University of Illinois. She majored in English literature in college, and, after teaching English in high school for two years, came to Northwestern University for graduate study in English. She received her Master's degree in June of 1929 and married a prominent Evanston surgeon a few days later. Since that time she has lived in Evanston and led a busy life, keeping house, rearing three daughters, and taking an active part in numerous club and civic activities. She is a member of the Poetry Society of America, The National League of American Pen Women, and Theta Sigma Phi, in addition to the usual P.T.A., Church Guild, and Woman's Club affiliations. More than 400 of her poems have been published in magazines, books, and newspapers. Several have been used in high school English text books, and others have appeared in popular collections of poetry. They have also been used on several radio programs. A number of composers, including Marjorie Elliott, Grace Bush, Estelle Cover, and Normand Lockwood have set her lyrics to music.

On October 2, 1947, she read her poem of dedication for the new headquarters of the International College of Surgeons in Chicago. A colored motion picture of the reception, including the poem, was made and is now being sent to the various chapters.

During the week of October 6-13, 1947, her Centennial Hymn was used by the First Methodist Church of Galesburg, Illinois, to celebrate its first 100 years of active service.

MRS. WALTER C. BURKET

In October, 1946, her cantata, "Abraham Lincoln," with music by Estelle Cover, was used at the Centennial concert of MacMurray College, Jacksonville, Illinois.

This year she is serving on the board of the Fort Dearborn chapter of the D.A.R., the North Shore Branch of A.A.U.W., the Chicago Branch of N.L.A.P.W., the P.T.A., and the Mayflower Guild, as well as acting as national chairman of contests for N.L.A.P.W.

Gail has also written articles for magazines. Parents' Magazine, Matrix, and The Pen Woman have published them. The new edition of World Book contains more than 70 biographies which she wrote. She received a $100 prize for her short short story at the Writer's Conference at Northwestern University in 1944. She has received many other awards for her essays, stories, and poems in club contests.

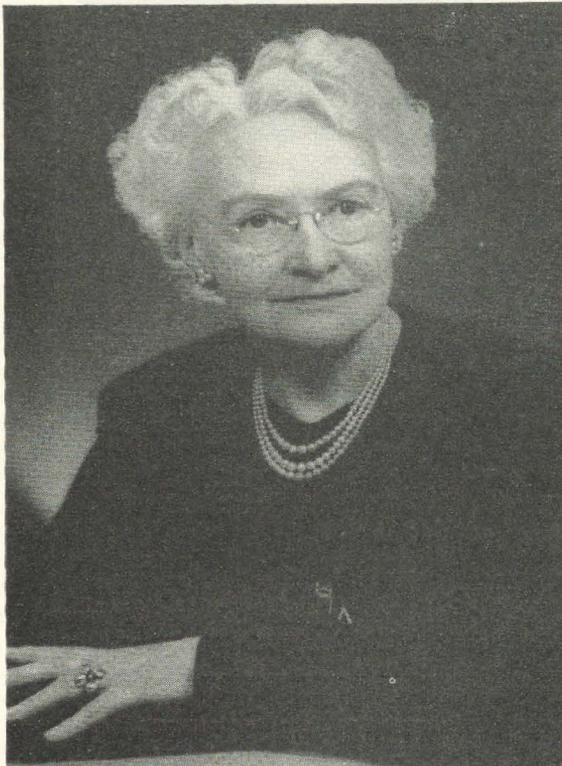

As an afterthought we add that she was a Phi Beta Kappa in college and finds it handy to remind her daughters that their scholarship ought to be good!

Written in Praise of Fay Holloway Wetmore, A Φ

By Vivien Campbell Pfleger, T
Past President, Washington, D.C.
Alumnæ of Delta Zeta

ALL WHO know Fay Holloway Wetmore personally will wonder at my temerity in attempting to put her life in words. Her energy seems boundless, her enthusiasm for life always fresh and, without being a "Pollyanna," she creates good will and cheer wherever she goes.

Born October 3, 1889 in Kansas, she was one of three daughters, all of whom were Phi Omega Pis and are now Delta Zetas. Fay attended State Manual Training Teacher's College in Pittsburgh, Kansas and the University of Kansas at Lawrence. Even then her talents were utilized, for, though only a student, she held several positions on the teaching staff. However, Fay chose to marry rather than to be graduated and in 1912 she did just that to the now famous and internationally known Dr. Alexander Wetmore, secretary of Smithsonian Institution.

MRS. ALEXANDER WETMORE

They came directly to Washington and here their daughter Margaret was born. Along with her housewifely duties (all of which she still does personally), Fay found time to further her organizational ability, which had first shown promise in college. For it was during that time Fay had started the Phi Omega Pi chapter at Kansas. Later she was to organize the alumnæ chapter in Washington, D.C., and keep it going.

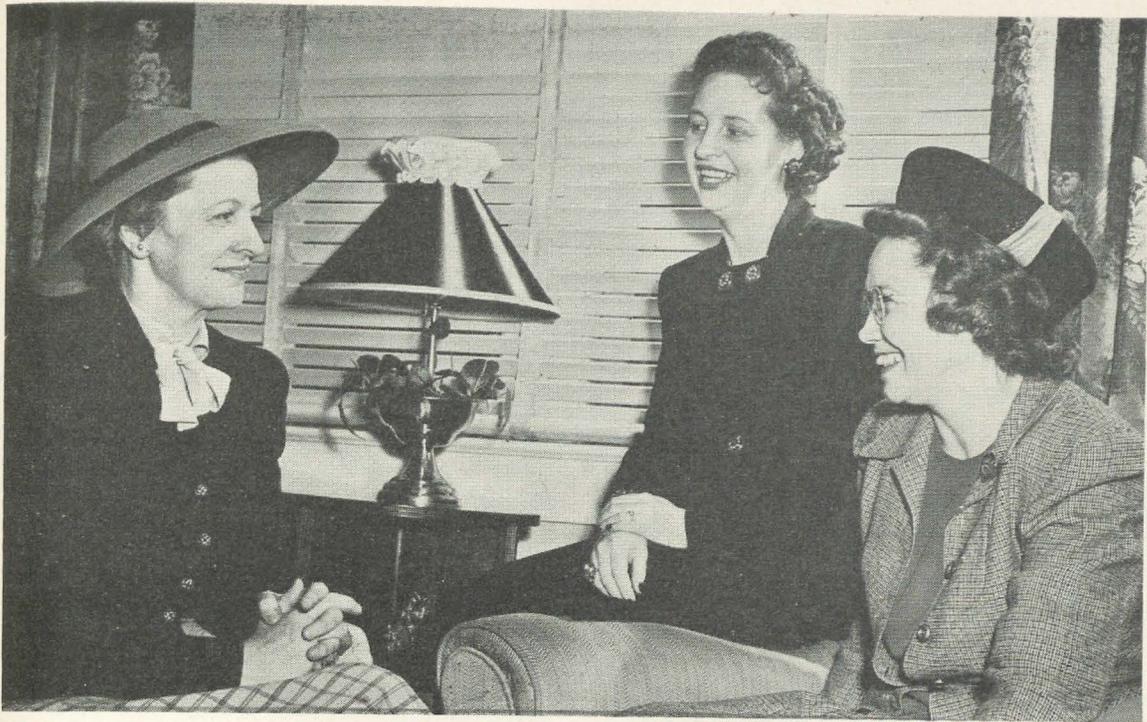

Because she has been a member of so many clubs in which she was either president or reorganized it to the present status, this is going to sound like the lists in Who's Who—but here they are.

Member and past president of the Eistophos Science Club, member and now president of Takoma Park, Maryland, Library Association, of George Washington University Women's Hospital Board, of one of the oldest social clubs in Washington, D.C., the Washington Club; member, past president and now member emeritus of Takoma Park Women's Club, which Fay reorganized in 1926 to its present fine status and from which club the local branch of the Red Cross has been functioning continuously.

She served her time as a teacher and examiner for Girl Scouts and while a member of the executive committee of the District Audubon Society she helped organize classes in bird study in the District of Columbia public schools. As her husband is an international authority on ornithology, you can see his interests have definitely been Fay's. During the war Fay served as a volunteer in the office of home economics of the District of Columbia Schools.

All of this must not have been enough, for Fay found time to write five papers for the Science Club, one of them on her hobby of collecting buttons. This collection was started in Fay's family three generations ago and as a result is rich in charming history as well as valuable. She has, too, a sizeable and precious collection of pressed glass. And just to round out a full and surely a soul-satisfying career, she has an interest in both music and art, the latter expressed in the beautiful pictures in her home.

Do you wonder at the respect and pride we of Washington, D.C. alumnæ chapter hold for Fay Holloway Wetmore?

“UNCONVENTIONAL CONVENTION”

Wins Unanimous Approval Of Indiana State Day Guests

AWARE, like all forward-looking American women, of the summer's political conventions and, like all Delta Zetas, of their sorority's convention at Swampscott the week of June 28, Indianapolis alumnae, under the stimulating chairmanship of Edna Moore Colby (Mrs. Fred), quite naturally, and very smartly, chose such a nation-wide meeting as theme for their State Day luncheon and dance at the Columbia Club April 24—and called it an “unconventional convention.”

The club dining room, spacious enough to accommodate most comfortably the 275 Indiana Delta Zetas who gathered there, was colorfully transformed with bunting and banners into a typical convention hall. From the speakers' platform, a simulated band wagon, Anita Brownlee Platt (Mrs. Robert W.) addressed the “constituents” with fittingly flamboyant oratory as toastmistress.

The orchestra's dais, where Delta, Epsilon and Psi chapter-members presented hilarious “skits,” had been changed by the committee's skillful planning into the rear car of the “Swampscott Special.”

Between courses of an excellent luncheon representatives of the three college chapters nominated their candidates for the title of Rose Queen. Votes were cast by the convention body in a mid-day version of a torch-light parade and that night, in a climactic moment of the Delta Zeta dance, Kathleen Phares, charming, fair-haired Epsilon senior, was announced the “winnah.” Her worthy competitors, Jean Baldus, Ψ, and Patricia Stutz, Δ, were declared ladies-in-waiting at her crowning.

Jean Johnston, president of the hostess alumnae chapter, made a very gracious speech of welcome; Geraldine Rawlings (Mrs. Charles), a former president of the group, an eloquent "election report." Introductions made by Mrs. Platt included two members of national council—Frances E. Westcott, president, and Charlotte Wheeler Ver Plank (Mrs. A. J.), editor of the LAMP. Miss Westcott was enthusiastically received and applauded for her fine "keynote address"—"A Platform for Delta Zeta."

Roundly applauded, too, was Nancy Craig, Δ, who received the annual Achievement Award for her splendid attainments on De Pauw campus. Aspiring candidates with enviable records were Constance Waller, E, and Virginia Joyce, Ψ. Epsilon chapter was awarded the Attendance Cup trophy.

Read from the band wagon rostrum were greetings from Julia Bishop Coleman (Mrs. J. M.) and Anna Keen Davis (Mrs. G. H.), two of the sorority's six founders who were represented "in person" by Alfa Lloyd Hayes (Mrs. O. H.); from Grace Mason Lundy (Mrs. H. M.), former national president; Pearl Bartley, director of Province VI; from Esther Glewwe Stassen (Mrs. Harold), member of Gamma chapter; and from Kappa Kappa Gamma and Delta Delta Delta sororities.

A potpourri of "political tunes" played by Marjorie Byrum Young, pianist, and Martha Hofmann, violinist, opened the luncheon program.

Mrs. Colby had designed unique programs for most effective "red, white and blue" fulfillment, her cleverly sketched convention paraphernalia complete from party emblems and banners to very feminine "hats in the ring."

The chapter, "to a woman," had shared in the perfecting and realization of hostess-plans. Working with Mrs. Colby, Miss Johnston and their committee-members was Mary Buskirk (Mrs. George A.) as chairman of the dance which closed the memorably successful 31st annual Indiana State Day.

"CRAGUNS ON PINE BEACH" and "THE CLOUSINGS"

-A "Double Feature"

By Iva Nelson Olson, Γ,
Chapter Editor, Twin City Alumnae

CRAGUNS on Pine Beach" and "The Clousings."

No, not a double feature but a success story; in fact, several success stories!

On page 61 of the Western Tour Book, put out by the American Automobile association, mention is made of cottages finished in knotty pine, large stone fireplaces and porches, a rental library and golf course, and a sandy bathing beach—all a part of "Craguns on Pine Beach." What is not mentioned is that Lou Clousing Cragun (Mrs. Merrill K.), Γ '31, is a Delta Zeta. She is the youngest of "The Clousings."

Lou Clousing and Merrill Cragun went to the University of Minnesota together, and went together at the university. She majored in social case work, and he in advertising and journalism. They were graduated in June, 1931, and married in the same month of that same year. Lou was a social worker in the Minneapolis Public Welfare department from 1932 to 1944, and Merrill is a partner in the Queen Press. As executive secretary of the Paul Bunyan Tourist Association, he became interested in resorts in 1936, and decided to build one. In 1940, they bought six acres, nestled between an 18-hole golf course and Gull Lake, 11 miles from Brainerd, Minnesota, one of the prettiest sections of the state. From there on, they were tried by the powers of man and the elements, but they proved the law of the survival of the fittest. Merrill's father went up to put some finishing touches on the cabins, and was caught in one of the earliest and worst blizzards in the history of Minnesota. They made several futile attempts to contact him, but they finally found him unharmed. They opened the resort in the summer of 1941, and war was declared—not against the Craguns, although it must have seemed that way to them. There was the uncertainty about Merrill's going into the service, and then gas rationing, which was a blow to all resort owners. Because, no doubt, they have an unusually fine place, it not only survived, but is expanding. They now have 12 modern and fully-equipped housekeeping cabins, each with a fireplace, hot and cold water, showers or tub, and gas or electric stove. The cabins are on a sandy beach adjoining a splendid 18-hole golf course.

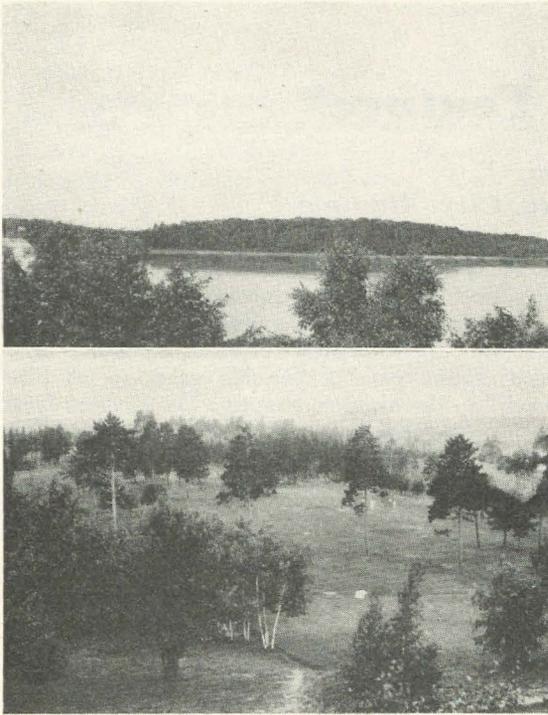

There is a main lodge for groceries and supplies, and, this summer, they are opening a dining room, so they will have a combination American plan and housekeeping resort. A few years ago, the Craguns gave a "week's vacation at Pine Beach" to the alumnae chapter. The coveted prize was won by Ruaha Laulainen Hagemeister (Mrs. Henry), Γ '27. The gift netted the chapter $150.

Merrill Cragun, now vice chairman of the Governor's Tourist Advisory board, was president of the Minnesota Tourist Resort Association 1946-47. He is an active Shriner, is on the Y.M.C.A. Advisory board and Province Archon of Sigma Alpha Epsilon. He and Lou have been chaperoning S.A.E. parties for the past 15 years, and chaperoned the Interfraternity ball in February. Their favorite recreation is square-dancing; they belong to a square dance club that meets monthly. Lou, a member of the Alumnae Advisory board, is also a member of the College Woman's Club. She was Delta Zeta Alumnae president in 1937, and has been a Scout den mother. In school, she was Cap and Gown president, and W.S.G.A. vice-president.

The Craguns have two children. Patty, who is nine years old, is a Bluebird and a swimmer. Merrill Jr., who is 15, and his cousin, Bob Smith, also 15, are both students at Marshall High, and have much the same interests. They are both on the swimming team, movie crew, student council, glee club, Hi-Y officers, and Merrill Jr. is on the debating team.

Bob's mother is Cornelia Clousing Smith (Mrs. Harold),  $\Gamma$  '26, with a major in art. She was secretary of the All-University Council in her senior college year. She was elected to Delta Phi Delta, honorary art fraternity, of which she was national alumnae president in 1928. She taught art at the University of Minnesota for four years after graduation, until her marriage to Harold Smith, a schoolmate at the university and an old family friend. Harold is director of the four university book stores. Cornelia is an active member of the Twin Cities alumnae group and a member of the Faculty Women's Club at the university.

Her hobby is making Christmas angels. The angels are Christmas tree ornaments modeled from wood and painted. A number of people send photographs, and have the angels cut in the likeness of their children. Besides Bob, the Smiths have a daughter Jean, age 12, who is a Campfire Girl and a Teentown representative.

The other Clousing sister is Josephine Clousing Kurtz,  $\Gamma$  '26. With a major in psychology, she received her B.A. magna cum laude, from Minnesota in '26, her M.A. in '27, and her Ph.D. from Ohio State University in '30. She was a graduate assistant in the department of Psychology at the U. of M., and research assistant to Dr. E. A. Gaw, dean of women at Ohio U. from 1927-'30. She worked with consultants in philosophy and mathematics at the Library of Congress, Washington, D.C., 1931-33, and was director of Adult Guidance Service in Hartford, Conn., 1937-40, with the supervision and training of 10 workers. From 1940-42, she was a lecturer in psychology for the Hartford Seminary Foundation. In addition to teaching psychology, she gave individual and group intelligence tests from 1944-47. At present, Dr. Jo is a psychologist at the New Britain Mental Hygiene Clinic, and an assistant professor of psychology at the University of Connecticut, Hartford Branch. In this position, she teaches four elementary classes and one class in psychology of adjustment, and has general direction of psychological laboratories. She has about 230 students, many of them veterans.

There is one son in the Clousing family, Lawrence A. (Theta Xi), graduate of the University of Minnesota in electrical engineering in '27, with an M.S. in aero engineering in '29. On January 26, 1948, Lawrence Clousing received, in New York, one of aviation's top honors, the Octave Chanute award, conferred by the Institute of Aeronautical Sciences. As a test pilot for N.A.C.A., a government research agency, his assignment was to explore the risky transsonic range (from 600 miles an hour and up)—a test pilot for test pilots, according to the press—a job requiring knowledge, skill and courage. Much of his work is still secret, with direct bearing on national security. He taught aero engineering at Northwestern University, and married Helen Lois Moulton, a Kappa Kappa Gamma from Northwestern. They have two sons.

There are many unsung heroes and heroines in these United States, but we want to sing loudly for Mr. and Mrs. Louis Clousing of Minneapolis, for giving the world a contribution as splendid as the four Clousings and their families.

President, City Panhellenic in Des Moines, Iowa

THE SATISFACTION which Des Moines Delta Zeta alumnae have felt in their representation by Emma Grace Hess in the City Panhellenic was climaxed this year when she held the presidency of that organization.

Emma Grace O'Connor graduated from the Elsie, Nebraska, high school, and entered the University of Nebraska in September, 1925. In her junior year she became a pledge of Zeta chapter and was initiated later the same year. While at the university she was also a member of Phi Chi Theta, professional business fraternity, and was president of the Girls' Commerce Club. She received her degree in 1929.

The Hess family moved to Des Moines in July, 1937, where Mr. Hess is credit manager of the Carpenter Paper company. They have two daughters, Charlotte, 17, and Shirley 13.

Emma Grace is well-known in Des Moines organizations. She is a member of P.E.O. and at the present time corresponding secretary. The Hesses are members of the Westminster Presbyterian Church in Des Moines and Emma Grace has been president of the women's organization of the church. She is also a member of the auxiliary of the National Credit Men's association and has served as president of the Des Moines group.

She has held all the offices in both the Delta Zeta Alumnae chapter of Des Moines and also Panhellenic, and is on the alumnae advisory board for Gamma Epsilon. The very successful colonization and subsequent installation of Gamma Epsilon at Drake University depended a great deal on her efforts. She has also been chosen as the alumnae rushing chairman for Gamma Epsilon.

Shirley and Charlotte are good testimonials to the fact that their mother is every bit as successful with home guidance as she is with organization activities. Charlotte, a senior at Roosevelt High school, expects to enter the University of Iowa in the fall. Emma Grace has always been interested in Girl Scout work and has served on the Mothers' committee. Both girls are popular among their friends of their own age and have that poise and grace admired by contemporaries of their mother.

During her four years in college, Beverly has been very active in various campus activities, showing especially her talent in the field of music. While at Drake she has been vice-president and song leader of Delta Zeta, chaplain of Mu Phi Epsilon, treasurer and secretary of Pi Beta Epsilon, on the radio staff, in the Drake choir, University chorus, women's chorus, collegiate choristers, band, Madrigals, Night of Opera, Bulldog Tales, World Student Service Fund, corresponding secretary of United Nations, Student Faculty Council World Service committee, Student Faculty Council Social committee, and a member of Y.W.C.A.

Gamma Eta Elects a Sweetheart

W E OF Gamma Eta chapter, Hunter College are very proud of our past president, Gloria Fuchs. We will long remember her faithful service to the chapter all through her college days. Gloria has all the qualities of the loyal and true Delta Zeta—scholarship, devotion to duty, personality, and charm.

Ever since her freshman days Gloria has taken part in many activities on campus, and is well known for her loyal service in many groups. Gloria, pledged to Gamma Eta in her sophomore year, was elected president of her pledge class and outstanding pledge of the year. The next year she was elected chapter president, and fulfilled the office with distinction.

Gloria, a chemistry major, mathematics minor, has consistently maintained an almost A average through her four years at Hunter College. Her name may be found on the dean's list. The American Chemical Society claims her as a junior affiliate. She is a member of three Houseplans, the Lutheran Club, the Student Christian Association, the History Club, the Camera Club, the Gilbert and Sullivan Society, and the Opera League.

A very versatile girl is Gloria, as one may well see from her many and varied hobbies. Interested in art, she spends many of her spare moments charcoal drawing, at which she is quite adept. She is interested in music, and many a Saturday afternoon one may find her at the Metropolitan Opera House, enjoying Carmen or Tristan and Isolde. Cooking is also a hobby and she is well on her way to becoming as excellent a cook as her mother is. The great outdoors is also her domain, and she enjoys swimming, tennis, horseback riding and skiing.

During the summers Gloria pursues her favorite hobby of traveling. She has traveled extensively through Mexico, Canada, and 45 of the 48 states. Her next trip is going to be west, to do graduate work in chemistry in one of the large universities. She wants to be a research chemist. Her next long trip will be to Europe.

Gloria is going forth to the "larger world of alumnae days," but she leaves behind her a message to every new pledge of Gamma Eta. She recalls the Creed for the Delta Zeta Pledge, "I believe in Authority, in Obedience, in Acts of Kindness and Deeds of Consideration, in Scholarship, in Service and Activities." She gives courage and sets a fine example. We are grateful for having known Gloria, she brought to us courage and vigor. We shall not forget her loyal and loving service. No demand was ever too great, and her love for and devotion to the golden lamp of Delta Zeta were ever-increasing. She is our "Delta Zeta Sweetheart."

Laura Jean Cook—Phi Beta Kappa

EACH year Phi Beta Kappa elects one junior girl and one junior boy to its ranks along with qualified seniors. This year the junior honor went to Laura Jean Cook of Gamma Epsilon at Drake University. To be eligible for entrance, a student must have maintained a B plus average during his college years or rank the highest in the junior class.

Being elected to Phi Beta Kappa is a crowning achievement of one's college career and is open only to liberal arts students. Candidates are judged not only on scholastic qualifications but also on character, personality and conduct.

Laura Jean, whose home is at Guthrie Center, Iowa, is in pre-medical school at Drake and next fall she will enter medical school at the University of Iowa, Iowa City, Iowa.

During her college years, Laura Jean has been very active in campus activities, having served as committee chairman in Red Cross. She also is a member of the Chemistry Club; Beta Beta Beta, national biology fraternity; Alpha Lambda Delta, freshman honorary scholastic; Sieve and Shears, and Margaret Fuller. Last year she was scholarship chairman of Delta Zeta and this year the recording secretary.

Being elected to Sieve and Shears is one of the greatest honors which a woman may receive on Drake campus. It is one of the oldest honoraries on campus and future members are judged on character, scholarship, leadership, and future possibilities.

Margaret Fuller is a women's honorary study club, stressing the study of literature, art and science. Membership is based on character, personality and scholarship. It is also one of the highest honors which a Drake woman may attain.

Outstanding on Michigan Campus

Margaret Hughes, B P

MMARGARET HUGHES has been active on campus since her arrival at Michigan State college in 1944. Not only does she have many activities and honors to her credit, but she has a wonderful personality, as well. Those of you who met her at the 1946 Delta Zeta convention can vouch for that! This year all the fraternal organizations on campus had to choose a candidate for the selection of the most outstanding students in the college. Their names are to be recognized in the 1948 edition of Who's Who In the Greek World. "Margy" was one of the three candidates who won the final title.

When "Margy" first came to Michigan State she enrolled as a radio and speech major. Since then, however, she has switched to elementary education. Despite the change "Margy" has been active in the Radio Workshop, which she joined as a freshman, and Studio Theatre, the dramatic organization which puts on numerous plays. In 1947 "Margy" was in the cast of the senior term play.

During her first two terms in a dormitory she served as social chairman and president, respectively.

She was elected the Delta Zeta Panhellenic representative in her sophomore year. Because of her fine personality and her reputation for dependability "Margy" was chosen dance chairman for the annual IFC-Panhel Ball in her junior year. In that same year, she was appointed chairman of the all-college sorority sing.

As a senior "Margy" is a familiar person in many college affairs and activities. She was elected Delta Zeta president, and through her friendly guidance the chapter has really made remarkable progress. "Margy" more than qualified for the job, for she was familiar with many of the sorority offices. She had previously been both rush captain and social chairman.

Besides her sorority duties "Margy" found time to head-a Girl Scout troop, and take charge of the program committee of the Senior Ball.

No wonder she was chosen as one of the outstanding students at Michigan State!

“Place of Leadership Awaits Her”

ALPHA GAMMA is proud of Carolyn Beaird, a graduating senior in the School of Home Economics. This Tuscaloosa girl has to her credit and to the honor of Delta Zeta membership in Alpha Lambda Delta, the Caroline Hunt Club and Phi Upsilon Omicron. She served on the Woman's Student Government Association Board of Directors and held the presidency of Panhellenic Council.

For the feminine members of the freshman class who “hit the books” enough to make the grades tally up to 2.5 for two of the first three quarters at the Capstone, Alpha Lambda Delta is waiting as their recognition. Phi Upsilon Omicron, Home Economic Honorary, is for advanced students with a 2.0 average and showing exceptional leadership, service and professional attitudes.

Alpha Gamma knows that wherever Carolyn may go she will find a place of leadership awaiting her.

Takes Us "Home Again" To Christchurch, New Zealand From a Southern Alps Holiday

Wednesday

THIS is our eighth and last day at the Hermitage. It is a drizzly rainy day (always referred to in New Zealand as "Scotch mist") and Mt. Cook is completed only somewhere in unseen clouds. Our six-mile hike yesterday to "Kea Point" and Mueller Glacier gave us a superb view of Mt. Cook and the lower shoulder of it over which is the Ball glacier and skiing. The "kea" is a large native bird seen only in these remote mountain areas in New Zealand. We've seen many and in flight they are beautiful but standing on a boulder they resemble enormous black crows. They are mischief makers and attack sheep so the government pays a bounty for each bird captured.

En route to the Hut the other day our chief guide and ski instructor called a sudden halt to show us a strange sight. There, 6000 feet above us, we could see tiny black specks slowly crawling along on the snow. These were mountain goats introduced into New Zealand from the Himalaya Mountains years ago and now abundant on the highest areas. It was a thrilling sight. The guides and staff seem exceptional and we are deeply impressed with their thoughtfulness, never-failing courtesy and eagerness to help. There is ample equipment for all guests; wonderful Alpine boots, skis, mountain rain capes and anything else one might want or need. We've acquired lovely tans, amazing for a winter holiday and it isn't spring! It is an inexplicable fact—the heat and brilliance of this winter sun in New Zealand. Everyone coming from the States, England or Continent speaks of it. I well remember the remote coldness of Ohio sunshine for at least four winter months.

The dozens of high school boys and girls here from the various private schools in Christchurch and Wellington are a darling, gay, yet well-behaved crowd; we are constantly and secretly admiring their manners and thinking of the behavior of a similar number of United States children. I wonder. They are here with only three chaperon-teachers. Last night we had a jolly dance from 8 to 11 and, as mistress of ceremonies I got all the shy ones to dance and they loved it. So did I! At least six dances with each boy. At the end the charming reward was the typical

New Zealand "three hip hoorays for Mrs. Simmons." The manager offered me a permanent job as social hostess and mistress of ceremonies (they always had them before the war).

One of the American legation confidential secretaries is here, too. She lives in Wellington, of course; her home is Atlanta, Georgia and she is charmingly southern. She came to New Zealand in April, has been with American legations in Sweden, the Azores and is widely travelled.

One of New Zealand's very fine women artists has been painting here at the Hermitage for three months. Yesterday afternoon at our request, she gave us a delightful exhibition of her work. Her water colors of this elegant mountain country are magnificent. I hope to bring at least one home with me. New Zealand seems to have produced far more artists than poets, writers and literary works. She goes from one beauty spot to another painting all year long, has travelled the entire world and is most fascinating.

Saturday

It is early afternoon, September 13, and I am sitting outside our queer little 1878-built hotel, Eichardts—named for the German who came to New Zealand and started this hotel in Queens-town, a day's drive from Mt. Cook.

To wind up briefly our last hours at the Hermitage. On Wednesday morning, though it was blurred by "Scotch mist" outside and the mountains all but obliterated, we decided on a final trip to "Ball Hut" and the Glacier. Two busses started on that perilous journey, hoping that on the other side of Mt. Cook it might be fair for skiing. Our lively high school boys (few girls) sang all the way over, as usual, and the weather was forgotten. However, our destination reached, 200 feet below Ball hut—the hut was not even visible—ceiling zero! A wet snow was falling steadily—our first since Ohio, U.S.A. Dismal it was, yet I pictured the glory of that spot and knew it was only temporarily hidden, for I had seen it in all its brilliance and sparkling beauty. So is all beauty but temporarily hidden and remains indisputable, eternal. The hut was packed with the 60 youth staying there, no standing room—yet 45 more of us coming in! Our wonderful and skillful driver, Jeff, was soon drinking his needed morning tea. I thought of the warmth, spaciousness of the Lodge but 12 miles away and decided something must be done about our confusion, wet. Within 10 minutes 28 of us were gladly ready for the return drive to comfort! Though it seemed a wasted morning, an idea occurred to me en route which proved fruitful, resulting in a gay and entertaining evening at the Lodge. After full co-operation and enthusiastic consent from the manager we announced at lunch (via P.A. system) the evening "charades." We had drawing of numbers at afternoon tea time and about 60 people, young and old, found their groups. There were to be nine groups, each one to present in pantomime a charade using the title of a movie, book, or play. For an hour after tea the groups met in hushed anticipation to connive and scheme for their acts. Gathering props and sound effects kept everyone dashing until dinner. We selected three judges who were too funny in their seriousness and consideration. The manager agreed to donate chocolates for the winning group. The judges were our handsome government photographer, our charming and widely prominent New Zealand pediatrician, Dr. Fitzgerald (mother of four daughters!), and our recently arrived civil engineer from Bombay, India.

"Hermitage Hallucinations in 9 Acts" were introduced shortly after after-dinner coffee. Then followed one of the funniest and brightest evenings I've ever known. Everyone put himself whole-heartedly into the charades and the results were amazingly good. The winning title was "Lil-til Red Ride-Ding-Hood," exceedingly funny and in excellent pantomime. It is fair to tell that Russ was the originator and chairman of that group.

After supper (evening tea) at 9:30, we had a dance and the gaiety of the young people was wonderful to see. It was a proper ending—never-to-be-forgotten last night at the Hermitage. The school boys from Scots (Wellington) and Christ's College (Christchurch) got in their own groups and gave their "Haka cries." Each private school in New-Zealand has its own "Haka" and may be compared to a U.S. high school football yell, only it is more effective and thrilling than any cheer I've ever heard. It is done in the Maori (native) language with much chanting, body gestures, gesticulating and feet stomping. To hear 40 lusty lungs giving a "Haka" and you the recipient or honored one is indeed a memorable experience! Sue and Dick were a part of all the fun and how they beamed; it took me back—and forward. Dick is 5 feet 10 inches and a fair dancer and with his American accent—well!

Thursday morning we had a quick pack-up and amazing it was at 9:30 as we went out to the car to see the entire lodge—staff and guests, waiting out in front to farewell us. The Hermitage was a dream picture in snow—fallen in the night—and the trees, mountains, shrubs—all were lacy with the enchantment of a fairyland. It was a farewell to remember. Our leave-taking as usual was a mixture of feelings; a dozen or more of the youth were all set outside with cameras; and there we were, four Ohioans, being snapped like so many celebrities. To make a true climax two boys from Scots had their bagpipes out and played us a final tune; then as we rolled down the drive a last glorious "Haka" cry. It was touching and wonderful; it would warm my heart for days to come. So was our leave-taking from the first part of our Alpine holiday.

Within 30 miles of Mt. Cook we left snow and drove into blue sky, sunshine and spring! The difficult driving over loose gravel roads was accentuated by our first flat tire and only five miles from our luncheon destination. It was a tiresome interval and we reached Lake Wanaka just before two o'clock. It is a deep lake, lovely, clear and shimmering—just another one of New Zealand's really gorgeous lakes—once a volcano crater. It was like a sparkling aquamarine jewel set deep in a crevasse of snowy mountain walls.

With only 45 miles to our next stop, Queenstown, we decided to try the Crown Range Mountain pass road, a saving of 25 miles distance. A dozen red painted signs warned us "Road Impassable"—yet up we went, slowly like a tortoise, but not so sure! For a time it meant crawling along a narrow canyon passage road with loose wet gravel, mountain streams, and beauty looking up. But as we reached the snow line with road barely one way passage; my joy was superseded by inner compunctions and genuine misgivings. After all, the warnings were clear!

Somehow we reached the top, 4000 feet, snow, ice, mountains, quite a different feeling and we had to go down. On one side was deep snow, the other dropped down a thousand feet or more. There could be no miscalculation, just room for one car—two tracks, one of them in snow. Add to this a dozen hairpin turns, no guard rails—and one way traffic! We went down in low gear at 10 miles an hour. I shut my eyes and prayed—for broad, smooth land and no other foolhardy motorist! It seemed an interminable hour—15 miles of descending and may that ride never be duplicated. When flying to Wellington last March in "ceiling zero" and only 50 feet above the sea and ten miles out from land—I was calm by comparison.

Queenstown is another of New Zealand's jewels, located on a really magnificent lake. The mountains encircle this quaint town; as I sit here in hot winter sun there are those lovely snowy Alps—this range called most appropriately “The Remarkables.” Lake Wakitipu is 52 miles long and has no known depth in many places. The scenery here is a different grandeur from Mt. Cook but no less exalting. Our Bombay friends are staying here for three days also and it is pleasant doing things together. This was once the scene of much gold digging and wealth was accumulated by many; but the shops and surroundings never outgrow the original simplicity. It is quiet now although in summer people swarm here in caravans (trailers) and have glorious, simple holidays.

Yesterday afternoon we had a delightful trip in a 50-foot cabin launch on the lake. Nine of us went about 15 miles toward the head of the lake, almost 35 miles away. Our skipper was a kind, weather-beaten old sea captain who made it a really historical tour with continual facts on this territory. The air blowing off the mountain tops was icy and we sat on top huddled in blankets and rugs. Just another aspect of an Alpine holiday—and the weather about 40°! I wondered that I could have been so hot at 6000 feet up on the Ball Glacier! That is the constant wonder of New Zealand—the short distances and so much scenery, such sharp differences—mountain skiing on a glacier one day, a three-hour launch trip the next. We tied in at a sheltered cove, called “Bob’s Cove” and while we hiked through the “bush” our skipper built a log fire on shore and with two huge “billies” dipped into the lake for water to make afternoon tea. The lake is chemically pure so we had no qualms. Within a half hour there we were sipping afternoon tea (enough for 50, I’m sure) and luscious biscuits (cookies) on the shores of Lake Wakitipu with snowy Alps above, the waves smartly spanking our trim craft as she lay tied to the pier. Dick was allowed to steer us back to Queenstown, the whole distance, imagine the thrill for a high school boy!

It is quiet here—just pure mountain air, snowy peaks—pink in the morning, purple blue at night with almost a surfeiting of beauty. We walked long through a part which reaches like a long finger out into the lake and is immaculate in its springtime verdure. Our Bombay friends add much to our stay; we dine at the same table, walk, talk, loll by the fire over our demi-tasse after dinner and generally enjoy the peace after Mt. Cook and its wonderful gaiety. This morning we drove to a funny gold mining town, “Arrowtown”; it was buried in new fallen snow and was quiet as if a “Do not Disturb” sign hung from every tree. We found a queer little shop and had morning tea. Tomorrow we leave for Dunedin—the Scotch city of New Zealand.

Later

The drive to Dunedin was uneventful, lovely, on a quiet Sunday. Driving through narrow gorge passageways, occasional scenes of pastoral charm—thousands of sheep, flowering fruit trees all made a picture worthy of a Millet. And as we drove the mountains fell behind until they became hills of yellow gorse and broom—raging like golden fires in the sunlight.

We reached Dunedin at 3:00 and once again there was our beautiful Pacific, blue, serene. Dunedin is another word for “Edinburgh” and the original pioneers were all from Scotland. It is nestled in the hills with a sweeping curve of sea for a foreground and an erratic, whimsical harbor—as if nature had discarded all methodical ideas as to how a harbor should be and simply slashed madly and boldly into the rocks and hills.

We checked in at the hotel and found pleasant surroundings and modern accommodations after the antiquities of Eichardts. One of our young high school friends from Mt. Cook (now home in Dunedin) was our guide on a trip around the city and we saw all the important landmarks at Otago university, one of the four branches of New Zealand University are the schools of medicine and dentistry, as well as arts and sciences. After a delicious high tea at the hotel we went out to our young friend’s home for the evening. He and his mother had become our friends at the Hermitage. What a charming home it was with priceless antiques, old, old, china, figurines, mahogany. I was entranced. They were high on a hill and Dunedin at night was a million sparklers in the soft spring night—glittering far below and casting shafts of light on the sea. A roaring log fire, a delicious late supper and good talk all combined to make our Dunedin stop truly enjoyable.

The day on Monday was perfect and we started our last lap home—via Oamaru and Timaru. We were on a splendid highway (a pleasant change) and the sea to our right much of the way. It reminded me of driving along the east coast of Florida with the Atlantic running straight by the highway. We arrived in Oamaru in time for morning tea with the Fitzgeralds, our Mt. Cook doctor friends. It was a warm and urgent invitation and both doctors left lines of patients while we saw their lovely old English home of 20 rooms and then had tea in the beautiful drawing room with two of the four daughters.

By mid-afternoon we reached the flat plains of Canterbury, home in New Zealand, and the farms and sheep were again predominant; and our glorious Alps rose in view again and now they would never again be a hundred miles away for we knew them. And once knowledge has realistic meaning by actual contact, appreciation, distance is overcome, all barriers gone.

When I look out my front windows each morning or walk in my lovely garden I see those same snowy Alps—so many miles and winding roads away; yet Mt. Cook rises clear and true before my eyes with her two jagged peaks, the sloping shoulder which becomes the Ball Glacier for skiing. I see her as a photographic image on my brain and remember always the hours spent in fixing that picture which is forever mine.

Alpha Tau's President A "Cover Girl"

PEGGY CROOKE, newly-elected president of Alpha Tau of Delta Zeta, at the University of Texas, is a junior institution administration major from Conroe, Texas, although her list of achievements rates her an honorary degree in "campusology," she has never let them interfere with her school and sorority work.

Chosen to represent the university's home economics department as cover girl next fall in What's New in Home Economics, a national magazine, Peggy will be featured in the monthly magazine as an outstanding home economics major of the University of Texas.

She is treasurer for the Home Economics club and editor for Omicron Nu, honorary home economics fraternity. For two years she planned to be a psychiatrist and as a result is a member of Alpha Epsilon Delta, honorary pre-medics fraternity. She is also in Alpha Lambda Delta and has been on the honor roll every semester since she's been in the university.

Being president of Delta Zeta keeps the blue-eyed blonde with the soft, feather bob busy, but she also belongs to Sidney Lanier Literary Society, Wesley Foundation of the Methodist Church and Co-Ed Assembly, an organization for the presidents of campus clubs. In 1947 she was one of the Bluebonnet Belle nominees from which the yearbook editor selects the campus beauties.

"I've enjoyed Orange Jackets a lot," said Peggy. She is reporter for that honorary service organization for the most representative girls on the campus.

Another addition to her long list of honors is Mortar Board, for which she was recently tapped. Dancing is Peggy's favorite recreation by far, and she also enjoys swimming and particularly, sun-bathing at Barton Springs, the local "swimming hole." She played the flute in the symphonic band—but not when they marched, she hastens to explain—during her first year at the university. She also taught flute in her sophomore summer.

In connection with her nutrition interests, Peggy spent the summer of 1947 at Yellowstone National Park, working in a cafeteria as counter girl.

Her long-range plans include a year of internship "up north" or in Florida in order to qualify with the American Dietetics Association. Then, "I'd like to have a place of my own and do catering for parties."

This summer she will assist the manager of the Houston Country Club after attending the Delta Zeta national convention in Swampscott, Massachusetts.

Reading-Time Suggestions

By

Margaret Taggart Mracek, Delta

The Years of the Locust by Lola Grace Erdman, who teaches creative writing at West Texas State College, is a first adult novel which, like many of its kind, is excellent. The locale of the story is the Missouri bottomlands.

When Dade Kenzie died, his many relatives and friends were deeply affected by his death. As the author tells of these people who came to the comfortable, old house on the well-kept farm to pay their "last respects" to the old man, she tells us how his life had touched the lives of them all, from his favorite granddaughter to the ambitious couple, yearning to get away from the sordid life on the flood-stricken land along the river.

This is not one of the most recent books; but for anyone who has not read it, it promises much pleasure. The story could well be true because none of it seems impossible. The characterization is so fine, the events handled so sympathetically that the reader feels that he is reading about real people; in fact that he might find himself in the story.

The Years of the Locust is no novel for the sophisticated and cynical.

Alone Among Men, a historical novel, was written in England by English-born Marjorie Coryn, who has spent much time in France. Readers who liked the author's Marriage of Josephine will find this equally fascinating.

Students of history say that this is an authentic story of the brilliant, corrupt society of post-revolutionary France. Napoleon Bonaparte returned home from his Egyptian campaign to find affairs in France in a deplorable state. This book tells of his efforts to save the country and brings him to the threshold of supreme power. The author's characterization of Talleyrand, the diplomat, is extremely authentic.

Napoleon's thinking, his dress, his mannerisms, his domestic problems—lead us to understand why he was "alone among men."

Came a Cavalier by Frances Parkinson Keyes, who has travelled widely in France and been thrilled by many of the beautiful, old estates and picturesque people she describes so vividly, is a story of an American girl who married a French "cavalier."

This girl, whose destiny took her to France during World War I, was working with the American Red Cross when she met the "cavalier." Her marriage, her French home and family, her bravery during the horrifying days of World War II make an interesting story.

Even though the story may seem overly romantic and a bit tiresome at times, it is well-worth the reading: the characterization is good; the customs and manners of the French are sympathetically and graphically portrayed, and the brutalities of war are made very real. This is a book for those who have plenty of time for reading.

Red Plush, published in England under the title Wax Fruit, referred to by some as a "Victorian three-decker," was written by Guy McCrone, who has spent a great part of his life in the Burns country. His blood is pure Scots, and the Ayrshire tongue is very familiar to him.

This long, leisurely novel tells the story of the Moorhouse family, who had its beginnings in an Ayrshire farmhouse. Phoebe, the half-sister, daughter of a Highlander mother, is the most interesting character in the book. After the tragic death of her parents, she went to Glasgow to live with her brother, Arthur, and his beautiful and ambitious wife, Bel. After her marriage she went to live in glamorous Vienna, where she blossomed into a lovely, gentle woman.

The book has many characters, but they are all believable. Red Plush is a book to read leisurely and calmly. The author says, "I grew up happily and have married happily. If I wrote bitterly and sharply, I should be writing outside my range."

DELTA ZETAS ON CAMPUS

NOMINATED ON THE SECOND BALLOT. At a mock Republican convention, held on the University of Miami campus, Oxford, Ohio in April, former Governor Harold E. Stassen of Minnesota, on a presidential campaign tour of the state, came to Miami to accept the "nomination" in person.

Eileen Batt, chairman of the "Minnesota delegation" and president of Alpha chapter of Delta Zeta, introduced Mr. Stassen to the permanent chairman of the convention, which was conducted in the manner of a bona fide national meeting, with various other "states" supporting candidates Taft, Dewey, Warren, MacArthur and Vandenburg.

Sigma Alpha Epsilon, Mr. Stassen's fraternity, was chosen with Delta Zeta, of which Mrs. Stassen is a member, to represent the Minnesota delegation supporting the nomination of its former governor for the Presidency.

Syracuse University—Alpha Kappa

The Alpha Kappas started spring semester with the customary informal rushing parties, and are happy to report that already Caryl Murphy, Barbara Siver and Marjorie Miller have been added to our top-notch pledge class.

We've done quite a bit of entertaining aside from rushees, of course. The afternoon of Sunday, March 7, was given over to a tea for our Mothers' Club and alumnae. This proved to be a very pleasant way of getting acquainted with the women who work so hard behind the scenes for our chapter.

On March 21 we put the kettle on once more and invited the other sororities in to meet Bernice Hutchison Gale. Mrs. Gale stayed here several days and left us many new ideas and good advice to keep us on our toes.

Not all of our friends are feminine, so we filled in the other side of the social picture with an after-dinner coffee for Pi Kappa Alpha fraternity.

The spotlight turned to business affairs at the end of March as we elected and installed our new officers: Doris Fieg, president; Gladys Hawie, vice-president; Florence Bielen, recording secretary; Betty Block, corresponding secretary; Jean Fitzpatrick, treasurer; Beverly Wheat, chaplain. Molly Buckingham is our new house president and Maxine Miller, assisted by Carol Groskopf and Dolores Molcan, will direct our rushing.

Our two journalists, Sheila Kelley and Gladys Hawie, have just been initiated into Theta Sigma Phi. Sheila is also a new pledge to the political science honorary, Pi Sigma Rho. Last semester Alpha Kappa was thrilled to have three of her seniors, Joanne Hill, Dorothy Scott and Ruth Usher, taken into the ranks of Phi Beta Kappa!

At present the chapter is looking forward to initiation weekend, with a hayride and stocking-foot dance scheduled for the evening before the big event and with a banquet and semiformal to honor the new initiates. Sunday morning our dates will escort us as we attend Hendricks Chapel in a body.

Spring weekend is also in the air, very audibly, as we practice for step-singing competition under the leadership of Doris Fieg. Since "Dream Girl of Delta Zeta" is one of our choices, we're sure to make a hit.

LUCY MAUD CUNNINGS, editor
DORIS FIEG, president

University of Maine—Alpha Upsilon

Now that spring rushing is over, we of Alpha Upsilon are looking forward to initiation and then to the Annual Pan Hell formal in May. Lorraine Ward is hard at work designing the dance program for that "gala" event.

We are very proud to announce five new pledges to Alpha Upsilon: Helen Cumming '50, Houlton; Eleanor Mower '51, Bangor; Jeanette Shaw '50, Caribou; Shirley Smith '51, Searsport, and Paula Plaisted '51, Bangor.

Mid-years seem far away now, although they ended only a month ago. After mid-years came the annual winter carnival with its snow sculptures, skiing events and Intramural ball. The sculptures this year were the most impressive yet, and we  $\Delta Z$ 's in Balentine did our bit to make ours the best for the girls' dorms.

In March the "Masque," Maine's dramatic club, presented a student-written musicale called Again It's Yesterday. Our president, Marion Keith, had one of the female leads, while Jean Cunningham, Helen Cumming, "Scuffy" Gorham, and "Lindy" Lindgren also took part in the production.

Speaking of "Scuffy," she certainly has been on the go, playing for band concerts and debating every week as well as judging speaking contests and coaching debates. We are very proud that she was one of four girls chosen to represent Maine at a series of debates at M.I.T. this month. In the midst of all this, she was elected to Phi Kappa Phi.

Pi Phi gave a party for the new pledges and their mothers of all sororities last week. Entertainment was provided in the form of acrobatic stunts, readings, imitations, and songs by the pledges. Ice cream and cookies were served and all enjoyed themselves playing bridge and "gabbing."

Panhellenic workshop comes up this month, with "Raising the Standards of Women Students on Campus" the topic. The sorority girls feel that the workshop will present a challenge to all of us.

Initiation of the January pledges is April 17. "April Showers Bring May Flowers" is the theme of the banquet. The committees are really bubbling over with plans.

Mrs. Guy Gale's daughter, Pat, has been with us for the past two weeks. She has conducted a rush school and had conferences with all the new officers. We hate to see her go; in fact, we'd beg her to stay if we weren't leaving ourselves. Yes, vacation is here at last. Hurrah! It will seem sad not waking Pat up in the morning after vacation, but we certainly have had fun while she's been here. Many thanks to National Council and to Pat.

Since our officers cannot be announced here until May, I'll save that surprise until next time.

Rhode Island State College— Beta Alpha

Although summer has come at last, it isn't difficult to remember the cold month of February, when we pledged two wonderful sisters, Betty and Ann Winter of 2751 Post Road, Greenwood, Rhode Island. Many happy moments have been added to the house by them.

Second-semester rushing seemed strange to us, but the results were not so strange. We gained seven of the grandest girls in the freshman class. Our pledges are: Cynthia Bennett, Charlestown; Elizabeth Colwell, Box 165, North Scituate; Carol Heald, 97 Paterson Ave., Cowesett; Loretta Mogliaccio, 198 Broadway Ave., Providence; Barbara Skooglund, 29 12th St., Providence; Patricia Smith, 51 Circuit Dr., Edgewood; Marilyn Stake, 15 Bradley St., Rumford. Following the pledging ceremony, breakfast was served in our "Great Room."

Two more important offices on the campus are held by Beta Alphas: Hilda Chegwidan is staff secretary of the Beacon; Sally Keleher, president of the Home Economics club. Sally, of whom we are very proud, is now the Co-Ed Colonel of the R.O.T.C. division on the campus, a position held last year by our Frannie Welch.

Scotty Hart, one of our most active alumnae, who spent last summer abroad, passed along to us some of her most interesting experiences at a spring Standards meeting. She showed us numerous photographs of places she had visited while traveling through Sweden, Scotland, England, and Wales.

In order that our friends outside the house would have an opportunity to attend a rush party, we eagerly repeated our minstrel show. It was difficult to see who enjoyed it more—the audience or the entertainers. Coffee and doughnuts added a final touch to a most enjoyable evening.

On the 20th anniversary of Beta Alpha chapter, a formal banquet was held at the Wannamoisett Country Club in East Providence. A delicious dinner was served to "actives," alumnae, patrons and patronesses, and our honored guest, Dean of Women Evelyn B. Morris. Everyone was stimulated by her inspiring words.

At Eastertime we gave a party for our pledges and presented a humorous style show of the latest (?) fashions. Lou Reilly, dressed as an Easter bunny, appeared to present each pledge with a white  $\Delta Z$  bill-fold. Refreshments and singing concluded the festivities.

The annual "vic" dance honoring our pledges, was fun for everyone. Rabbits' feet, hay, and other lucky symbols were used for decorations. The Pledge formal May 15 was climaxed a week later by the initiation of our ten pledges. A formal banquet followed the initiation service. On the tennis courts in June in the midst of final examinations, the "Tennis Ball" was an outstanding event.

Perseverance has finally won out. At last, due to the efforts of one of our men friends, Ray Brigham, Beta Alpha's lawn may now be called a lawn. All we needed was grass seed to grow in the shade.

We are all looking forward to meeting many of our sisters from other chapters at convention this summer. We're so glad convention is to be held in the east. We'll see you there!!

LOIS KYLE, president

New York University—Beta Omega

Beta Omega chapter was honored by the visit of Miss Irene Boughton, national executive secretary, who was in New York from February 26 to March 2. Miss Boughton arrived in time to attend our last rush party, an oriental tea held in our "oriental" apartment. Ellen Donovan gave our rushees bright hope for the future in her best tea-leaf reading manner.

Miss Boughton and Miss Patricia Gale were guest-speakers at preference dinner, which was held in the George Washington Hotel the following Sunday.

As a result of our successful rush program, headed by Gladys Mayer, we now have six charming pledges. They are Phyllis Bardos, Betty Bone, Marie Gale, Phyllis Zappula, Millicent Zelenka, and Birgit Dahlstrom. They are being kept busy in the traditional way.

Elections were held at our last meeting and the slate prepared by the nominating committee was unanimously accepted. Gladys Mayer is our new president; Mary Paradiso, vice-president; Betty Cope, recording secretary; Laura Capobianco, corresponding secretary; Jeanne Lyons, treasurer; Evelyn Zuccaro, historian and LAMP editor; Muriel French, social chairman; Linda Andreana, rush chairman; Vivienne Branning, scholarship chairman; Ruth Walters, standards chairman. Willa Kretch will remain as house chairman.

We congratulate our new officers and feel sure that under their leadership Beta Omega can look forward to an even better year than last.

GLADYS MAYER, president

University of Connecticut— Gamma Beta

The new semester brought an increase in the activities at the Delta Zeta house, University of Connecticut.

Initiation took place February 26, when Phyllis Firato, Mary Andersen, Barbara Aker, Nancy Baxter, Jean Brickner, Barbara Opper, Jeanne Cobey, Virginia Douglass, Wilma Rahikka, Verne Sargeant, and Betty Post became active members. A buffet supper was held for them on a Sunday evening.

By recent elections for Student Senate, Julia Storrs became secretary and Nancy Baxter a new member. Nancy also writes all the Senate news for the University paper, The Campus.

Another position was also awarded Julia Storrs. She is now vice-president of the Women's Student Government association, which is responsible for making and enforcing the rules governing women students on campus.

We are proud to announce that three of our girls have been elected to Eta Epsilon Eta, honorary sorority for girls with high scholastic standing in the School of Home Economics. These girls are Lila Moore, Julia Storrs and Lucy Vernik.

Gamma Beta installed new officers recently. The following girls were given the six top offices: Isabelle Alho, president; Lila Moore, vice-president; Corinne Scherman, corresponding secretary; Fran Ferr, recording secretary; Jeanne Hochberg, treasurer; and Nancy Anderson, historian.

Mary Andersen has been selected for a part in the University Players' production, Warrior's Husband. Also working on properties committee for the same production are Isabelle Alho, Corry Scherman, Gloria Velasco, and Terry Boschetti.

Our girls have been active in all of the indoor sports. There was much cheering heard when the Gamma Betas won the championship in the intramural basketball tournament. These basketball games were played between all the girls' dormitories and sorority houses on the campus. A badminton tournament has started and is, so far, in our favor as Mary Andersen won the first round. The girls are also practicing for a coming swimming tournament in which they expect to give some competition.

Many of our girls, besides being members in the various clubs on campus, are taking an active part in the running of these clubs. Terry Boschetti is newly elected secretary of the Education Club. Those who have taken an interest in flying are Fran Ferri, secretary of the Aviation Club, "Chick" O'Brien, and Emily Hayden. Nan Evans is new secretary of the Block and Bridle Club. She is practicing with great vigor for the coming horse show.

We have been making good use of our new "vic." We have held two successful dances; one a George Washington party and another on St. Patrick's day. The girls have also decided to entertain some of the "vets" from the South Campus barracks, with short evening parties. The date set for the traditional Rose Formal is April 24. It will be held at the Shell Chateau in Willimantic. A Delta Zeta man has been voted for and announcement of the winner will be kept secret until the night of the dance.

Gamma Betas are enjoying themselves with good times but always keep in mind the ideal of high scholarship.

NANCY ANDERSON, editor
ISABELLE ALHO, president

Hunter College—Gamma Eta

Greetings to all Delta Zetas from the girls of Gamma Eta of Hunter College here in New York! We have just pledged four wonderful girls, and are looking forward to a very active season. Prudence Giordano, of Brooklyn; Helen Hamilton Hovis, of Ridgewood, formerly of St. Clair Shores, Michigan; Flora Johns, of Springfield Gardens; and Muriel Koury, of the Bronx, are now wearing the pledge pin of Delta Zeta, and we are very proud of them. The rushing season has just been completed, and we all think it was one of the most pleasant ones we have ever had. Enza Carrara was our very capable rush captain, and to her goes much of the credit for our success. Rushing here at Hunter College lasts three weeks, with three major events and midweek parties.

George Washington University— Alpha Delta

Cherry blossoms bloomed on the George Washington University campus along with the advent of the Inter-Sorority Sing, and after four weeks of practicing every noon and twice on Sundays, the girls of Alpha Delta, under the direction of Grace Bunker, sang their favorite song, "Delta Zeta Devotional," and the Prayer from Hansel and Gretel. The work turned out to be

Our first event was a fashion show given at the exclusive Park Central Hotel, Dorothy Huttman played the accordion beautifully. Marie DiTrani, our new vice-president, and a very talented girl, wrote the almost professional script and the girls from the chapter and loyal alumnae modeled the latest styles with "the new look." Everyone just loved Gloria Fuchs' new princess style coat, and June Hochuli's afternoon dress drew sighs of admiration. Gloria Pistolesi was very chic in her new black suit. The invitations were miniature hat-boxes with little hats in them, made by Jo Danna. We gave the rushees perfume ampules hidden in paper roses as favors.

One of our favorite midweek affairs was a radio party, given at the home of Evelyn Caldeira, our new chapter president. We had a Δ Z "mike" rigged up and went "on the air" at 7:30 sharp. Irene Cronin was a perfect Henrietta Morgan, Gloria Fuchs, "emcee," held up the appropriate signs, QUIT PLEASE, LAUGH, and ON THE AIR. Margaret Steffen, as Hedda Hoppalong, wore an unusual hat. Among the visiting celebrities on station DZ were "Frankie Sinatra" "the Andrews sisters," and "Wanda Winchell." There were commercials, and foreign broadcasts, Goodwill Hours and quiz programs.

Our second event party was a cowboy party held at New York University chapter apartment, where the rushees were served doughnuts and cider. Everyone was dressed in old jeans and a shirt, with bandannas tied around her neck. Lillian Carattini entertained by playing the combs to "I'm a Real DZ from Rhody Country." The invitations were cute little barns, with open doors welcoming all the rushees who wished to attend to "drop in" at the DZ Ranch. Dorothy Huttman suggested the invitations, and she and Ann Leonti made them.

Our final formal dinner was held at the Fifth Avenue Hotel in the beautiful Jade Suite. We were very much honored to have with us as an honor-guest, Pat Gale, an alumna of Mu chapter, University of California. She assisted us in many ways and endeared herself to the girls, Lindy Hoyle, an alumna of Beta Alpha of Rhode Island State, and Harriet Lee, an alumna from the University of South Carolina, were also our guests at final dinner. They are our old friends, and we always enjoy seeing old friends again. We are very grateful for their enthusiastic help.

We have lots of new plans for the coming year—teas, dances, and vacations. We are planning again to have a formal at Christmas time this year, just as we had last year. The last Christmas formal was such a success that everyone is looking forward to the one next. The girls will all be going away to Ingalsides Farm come June, as they always do, and will be having a jolly time, as they always do. All in all we look forward to many activities and a bright future as sisters in our beloved Delta Zeta.

worthwhile for the girls brought home another cup to grace the mantel.

The evening of the sing was also the scene of the numerous awards usually given at the Panhellenic Prom. Edith Harper and Olga Havell were tapped for Delphi, an honorary group formed of the two girls from each sorority who have done most for the chapter during the past year. Our president, Mary Alice Novinger, received the cup for the sorority woman having the highest scholastic average for four years. This is the second year in succession that Delta Zeta presidents have received this honor. Dorothy Jean Egging, '47, won it last year.

Following the sing, we held our annual spring formal at the United Nations Club. New pledges, Betty Melton, Peggy Faunce, and Dorothy Hastings, were introduced at this time.

With the end of March came the biggest business of the year—the election of officers. Those selected to lead us for the coming year are: president, Olga Havell; vice-president, Edith Harper; treasurer, Helen Bruin; corresponding secretary, Sylvia Srnka; recording secretary, Gisela Stering; parliamentarian, Betty Covell; historian-editor, Joan Suppes; guards, Barbara McCall and Hildegard Stering.

University of Pittsburgh— Omicron

Omicron has come through another rushing season with banners flying. After three big days of rushing events, we pledged 11 grand girls. From the sophomore class our new  $\Delta Z$  is Peggy Antoon, a member of Cwens and an active person in campus activities. We also have 10 up-and-coming freshmen—Betty Hanna, Jane Holsinger, Lois Howe, Nancy Keller, Virginia Osmundson, Gretchen Philips, Alice Smith, Jeanne Sommers, Cathy Theiss and Lois Weber.

Our rushing parties were capably managed by Lois Ruff, rushing chairman, and her party chairmen, Nancy West, Edith Worcester and Eileen Ross. On a Thursday night the  $\Delta Z$  house was converted into a French cafe for our Mardi Gras party. Nan West and her committee made attractive menus, decorative masks and used red-checked table cloths to provide the right atmosphere and the rushees enjoyed songs, dances and general entertainment in the candle-lit "Cafe De La Rue." On Friday night, Edith Worcester asked the girls to step through the silver star doorway and join the Delta Zetas at the Stairway to the Stars party. The "actives" looked starry in their white evening gowns. The entertainment was clever even though chief angel narrators, Lois Hager and B. J. Andrews, had trouble keeping their wings straight. The angel food cake and angels' delight for refreshments and the "halos" (scarf rings) for favors completed the theme and the heavenly picture. Our "clincher" party, bringing the rushing period to a close, was successfully handled by Eileen Ross. On Saturday night, the rush-ees received a hospitable welcome to Delta Plantation and the  $\Delta Z$  Southern Garden party. "Actives" hustled all day Saturday trimming lattice with wisteria and greens, setting up the garden gate and the bird bath, covering the floor with grass mats, preparing dainty sandwiches and frosting glasses for mint juleps. Program features were the Southern Waltz with Ginny Sutch as the belle and Dotty Davies as the handsome man and the appropriate piano duets by Pat Warner and Mary Ellen Williams. As favors, the rush-ees were given "Southern Belle" story-book dolls.

With the end of the rushing season  $\Delta Z$ 's immediately got spring fever—and directions from the festival committee to begin planning for the May festival events. The sorority's part in the May Week celebrations include a moving float and a booth at the two-night carnival and at an afternoon dance. Delta Zeta festival events will be managed by "Ginny" Sutch, Carolyn Pierson and Shirley Snyder. "Ginny" will work on the show we are presenting with the Delta Sigma Phis. With the Pitt festival theme of "Nationalities" and the  $\Delta Z$  theme, Holland, Shirley Snyder is preparing a pert Dutch float complete with windmill, tulips and beautiful Dutch "DZ" girls. For the Pitt carnival, Carolyn Pierson plans to have a chuck-a-luck game booth, manned by our DZ Dutch girls again. You'll hear more about our spring festival in the next edition of the LAMP.

In the way of campus honors, Ruth Barton is one of the seven nominees for Senior Queen. The women nominated for queen are selected for character, personality, academic achievement, leadership in extra-curricular activities and service for the University. We are all proud of Ruth.

Our social chairman, Marion Urling, has on our calendar several tea dances with Pitt fraternities, a dance in honor of our new pledges and the annual Spring formal, held at a local country club. At the yearly affair, graduating seniors are honored and men who qualify are initiated and officially accepted as "DZ Men."

Omicron had a very fine standards program in March. Jane Southerland, our pledge from Winnipeg, Canada, presented an interesting program on her field of interest—teaching the deaf. Jane's mother, who was visiting from Canada, helped with the program. Jane became interested in this work because her father and mother are deaf. The Southerland family lives in a settlement of deaf persons in Winnipeg. We were all particularly interested in Jane's experiences as an interpreter for the deaf at church meetings, lectures and marriage ceremonies. The discussion gave us a new view of the value of the Delta Zeta hearing aid project.

In April the college chapter held an initiation for the Mothers' Club. Afterward mothers and daughters enjoyed tea, cookies and a gay afternoon. The chapter appreciates the cooperation and spirit of the Mothers' group in the "Layettes for Norway" program and in buying and planning many new things for the  $\Delta Z$  house, such as the beautiful radio-phonograph now in the music room. The Mothers' Club will also attend State Day.

Omicron  $\Delta Z$ 's are looking forward to Pennsylvania State day, which will be held here in April. We will celebrate the day with Bucknell, Penn State and George Washington with morning tours of Pittsburgh, a noon-day luncheon and an evening formal candle-light dance at the house. All college chapters in Pennsylvania will come to the luncheon ready with songs and skits to hear the speech of the honor guest, Miss Irene Boughton, executive secretary.

In social, scholastic and campus activities, Omicron has had a successful year with loads of fun and friendships that each girl will remember always.

Bucknell University—Beta Theta

It seems as if the year had only begun, and rushing was at hand, and now we can say "so-long" to 1947-1948. Along with it, we also must bid adieu to a great bulk of the Beta Theta chapter. On June 5 the proverbial sheepskins will go to Ruth "Coxie" Naul, our president, to Lorraine O'Connell, Jennie Maffei, Marjorie Kohl, "Scotty" Fenimore, "Dutchie" Swartz, Sherry Stokes, Mary McCay, Helen Busing, "Winkie" Winkel, Ruth Williamson, Gloria Simon, and Lorraine "Troutie" Pertch.

To help make up for the seniors that are graduating, we have added nine pledges to the active ranks: Nancy Bartholomew, Ann Cohick, Dotty Clark, Peg Nettleton, Ruth Ramsay, Janet Miller, Mary Jane Mowrer, Barbara Minton, and "Marge" Leshner. Dotty Clark received the scholarship award, an engraved  $\Delta Z$  bracelet, and Peg Nettleton was named ideal pledge. Also, in the list of the pledges, we now have Janie Fisher, who was given the little black pin with the gold lamp in a recent pledge ceremony.

In March, our province director, Mrs. Donald Schoolcraft, paid us a visit, and we had great fun showing her around the campus, escorting her to the Initiation banquet, and chatting with her in the suite.

With spring fever proving a big bother, we banded together for a weekend at the WAA cabin outside of Lewisburg, for an hilarious time "away from it all."

Then, of course, there was State day, and all of us sleeping double and triple at the homes of Margy Couch and Lynn Kappel, '47, in Pittsburgh, to help save hotel bills!

Clothes have been on our minds all spring, for we have been industriously trying to secure proper ladies' attire for Delta Sigma, to wear for their female rôles in their Founders' day play, High Pressure Homer. How funny it seemed—to see brawny fellows in our dainty summer dresses, and pinched into our size 5 shoes!

Some of us are still remembering Flo Kreitler's wedding on February 14, when she was married to Walter Davis, Margy Kohl was the maid of honor, and Arax Aroosian, Gloria Simon, "Troutie" Pertch, and Wilma Stohlberg '47, were there to help add Delta Zeta wishes to a lovely wedding. Incidentally, we are very proud of Flo for being graduated cum laude in the January commencement exercises.

The World Lit satire issue of The Squirrel, the campus variety magazine, came out at the Post Exam Jubilee, and was a success, thanks to Beta Theta Lee Chandler, who had charge of distribution, and Natalie Dann, managing editor.

Alpha Lambda Delta has three new members: Dotty Clark, Peg Nettleton, and Ann Cohick, who all made dean's list their first semester at Bucknell.

"Coxie" Naul, our president, now lives in Senior Honor house, and we miss her smiling face, as we do not get over to see her as much now that she inhabits the "wheel house" on campus.

During the year we have been pleased to see several alumnæ back with us for a brief visit—Lynn Kappel, president '47, Ann Giesecke, ex '49, Evy Lou Durllee, ex '49, Joy Silver, ex '49, Arax Aroosian, president '48, Willie Stohlberg, '47, Sue Maffei, '47, and Babs Lehr, who was just graduated in January. It did our hearts good to see them again, and talk over all that had happened since we parted.

Pennsylvania State College— Gamma Delta

Excited? We certainly were when our second pledge dance brimmed over with gaiety. Proud? Of course, with some swell new pledges from open rushing. Confident? You bet, in our new officers who promise a glowing year. Here's the latest.

On March 5 we initiated nine girls into Gamma Delta. They were Polly Brader, Ruth McMillin, Mrs. Esther Denniston, Lee Hills, Marion Kraemer, Alice McFeely, Grace Miller, Gloria Rodgers, and Marguerite Williams. That night we held a party in their honor.

The next night our dance, "Fathom Fantasy," held at the Alpha Tau Omega house, showed us that preparing for a dance is almost as much fun as the affair itself. The theme about the sea gave us much opportunity for clever decorations. Upon walking under a fish net bulging with balloons at the entrance, our guests were greeted with mermaids, seahorses, shells, lobsters, and myriads of fish. Green lime punch, and donuts with U.S.S.D.Z. on them, added to our theme.

Mary Alice Hodgson, is our new president and very proud we are of her for all her campus achievements. The rest of the capable new-elects are vice-president, Eleanor Chesney; secretary, June Kratz; corresponding secretary, Lee Hills; historian-editor, Jean Gulliver; treasurer, Phyllis Harkin; parliamentarian, Lorraine Zimmerman.

Talk about luck! We really had it when Gloria Ness, our president, drew a preference number for choosing sorority suites in a new dorm. Out of 19 sororities she drew second choice. So in September, when Simmons Hall is expected to be opened, we will move into a suite on first floor center.

Chunks of news—the seniors were entertained by our alumnae during April at a dinner . . . we were guests of the Alpha Tau Omega fraternity at a party on February 29 . . . twelve of us competed for the sorority in a sorority and fraternity singing contest on April 4, we sang two Delta Zeta songs . . . we pledged Lorraine Gritsavage and Florence Stork during recent open informal rushing . . . we won both the badminton and bowling leagues in intramurals.

Ann Lantz became a member of Psi Chi, national psychology honorary, while Mary Alice Hodgson joined Pi Lambda Theta, educational honorary. Mary Alice also received a part in the new play, Years Ago, to be given soon. June Kratz is dancing in a new musical show of the Thespians, while Phyllis Harkin and Jackie Wengert work on the crews. Both June and "Phyl" are using their artistic talents on the yearbook art staff. Alice McFeely, who leads our singing, takes part in the school choir of 120 voices. Marguerite Williams and Grace Miller are working on the Penn State Handbook.

The whole chapter attended the weddings of Emily Jean Holmes and Paul Eggert March 20, and of Harriet Schlee and Glenn Oyler on May 2. Beverly Joyce recently became the wife of Bob Kaithern.

University of Kentucky—Alpha Theta

You can truly say that the motto of the Alpha Theta chapter is "Great Expectations." That is the name of the movie we are sponsoring at the University of Kentucky this week, and we are definitely sure of a sell-out. All the actives, pledges, alumnae and mothers have turned out en masse to make it the biggest thing seen on campus. With all the money we plan to buy a piano and silverware for the house. Nita Powers is in charge of the project. She has done the work of half a dozen and has performed miracles the past few days. She indeed deserves a medal.

Other girls deserving orchids are Judy Howell, our cheerleader, who has helped to cheer the University of Kentucky basketball team on to the national championship. Judy will be leaving us this fall for the University of Indiana and Ozzie. Mary Lee Stamper, our song director, took us to the finals in the all-campus sing and we almost won the cup. The girls who did bring in a cup, though, were Nancy Payne and Joyce Steel, who won the bridge tournament. Our greatest hope for Phi Beta Kappa this quarter is Gloria "Gim" Manter, who made a 3.0 standing last quarter, and was also chosen the only girl to be initiated into Gamma Theta Upsilon, honorary geography fraternity. She is one of the founders.

Right here and now I want to bid a fond farewell to our graduating girls. We have had such good times together and will miss each one dreadfully next year. So to Francis Horlacker, Gloria Manter, Mary Elizabeth McRoberts, Beverly Gaulke, Mary Lee Stamper, Molly Dunn, Marilyn Matherly, and Martha Quillen we all say, "It's meant a lot just knowing you all and living with you. Please don't lose contact with us or Delta Zeta." And to Mary Ann Mosby, Marilyn Matherly, Martha Quillen and Lucille Baker, who are getting married in June, we wish lots of luck and happiness. To Betty Rae Mosby, a good Delta Zeta who has been gone since last spring, we say a big "hello." With losing so many girls we are particularly glad to have Betty Rae once more.

If I were to recite everything that has been done this past year there would be no stopping. I should like to mention, however, the unique open houses we've had, inviting four or five fraternities at one time. Fun was had by all, especially the far-outnumbered girls. Our thanks and admiration go to the Mothers' club for giving such a wonderful bridge party. Mary "Liz" has planned some very nice rush parties worthy of a big by-line and rewarded by the very best pledges. The charm school started by Betty Hensley and carried on by Joyce Steel has improved all of us.

This new quarter, with all new officers, we are planning such "bigger and better things" as our White Ball, State Day, May Day and open houses and teas for all. Carrying on with our motto we, in Alpha Theta, really have "Great Expectations."

University of Louisville—Beta Gamma

Beta Gammas are bubbling over with new enthusiasm. Why? Because of the six new chapter members, who were initiated March 14. They are Barbara Burke, Elizabeth Coleman, Ruth Green, Helina Jones, Virginia Kimbel, and Sara Mimms, all from Louisville. After the initiation service, the "old" actives took the "new" actives to dinner. The long-awaited awards were then given: Barbara Burke received the best pledge award, while Ruth Green walked off with the award for the highest scholarship in her pledge group.

During preparations for initiation, Beta Gamma pledged Doris Larkins, after the University of Louisville's spring rush.

Not only was there excitement about rush, pledging, and initiation, but our chapter enjoyed a visit by Mrs. Charles Ward, our province director. We held a tea in her honor.

Beta Gammas are still buzzing about their Candlelight Cotillion, given February 27 in the Terrace Room of the Kentucky Hotel. Everyone (not just Delta Zetas) agreed that it was one of the loveliest dances of the year. After the dance, all of the Delta Zetas and dates adjourned to Bea Graeter's home for fun and refreshments.

Among the many social affairs enjoyed this season was a Leap Year party, given by Freda Pope. Freda was later honored by a birthday party, to which the Delta Zetas were invited. During the Easter vacation, Libby Coleman entertained the Beta Gammas with a card party. An afternoon tea was given by the Beta Gammas for alumnae of the chapter. It was then that our lovely new furniture was first admired.

Now let us turn to some of the individual Beta Gammas and their activities. Virginia Kimbel became a member of the Louisville Psychology club. Lucille Coovel has been reelected president of the Lutheran club on campus. Freda Pope was a soloist in Verdi's "Requiem." Mary Lee Miller and Joyce Lynn Haley modeled in the style show presented by the Home Economics department.

Dramatics have become an outstanding interest around the chapter house. Millie Rodman and Freda Pope had parts in Bayard Veiller's The Trial of Mary Dugan, presented by the Louisville Little Theater group. Beta Gamma is also well represented in the University Play shop. This is a new organization, presenting plays written and produced by students. Millie Rodman, Lucille Coovel, and Barbara Burke have acting parts. Helina Jones is stage manager.

University of Tennessee—Beta Lambda

As the past year draws to a close, Beta Lambda takes a few spare moments to review its outstanding honors and activities.

All year the spotlight has been on our president, Anna Lyman Evans, not only because of her efficient leadership of Beta Lambda, but also because of her great popularity on campus. Anna Lynne was elected secretary of the All Student Council, treasurer of the University Panhellenic, and chairman of University Publications.

Another campus honor is held by Mary Ruth Ellis, who was elected secretary of the Women's Student Government Association. One of our most attractive Delta Zetas was chosen Pershing sponsor of the newly organized Rifle Club on the "Hill" this year. And Delta Zeta has been well-represented at all of the fraternity formal of the year, and especially at the beautiful Alpha Tau Omega "Orchid Ball" at which Billie Cleo Johnstone was selected an "Orchid Girl."

And then the honoraries came in for their share of Delta Zeta members. At the top of the list is Phi Kappa Phi, senior honorary fraternity, which initiated two of our seniors, Dorothy Wells and Betsy Henry. Three of our chapter are members of Pi Lambda Theta, education honorary. Initiates are Betsy Henry, Mary Ruth Ellis, and Becky McGowan. Both Mary Ruth and Becky are also new members of the home economics honorary, Omicron Nu. Becky is one of the new pledges of Delta Zeta. The "twins of Delta Zeta," Barbara and Gloria Shreve, recently took bids from the national Spanish honorary, Sigma Delta Pi. Our hats are off to Mary Ruth Ellis, for she is also a member of Phi Eta Tau, physical education sorority.

From this group of honoraries, don't jump to the conclusion that we study all the time, for that certainly is not true. But in passing, we did receive the City Panhellenic scholarship cup.

Full of vigor and enthusiasm, our pledges entertained with a pledge-active record party to which all brought new records to bring us to date on our music. The party was a big success.

Pledges, initiates, all took part in the alumnae's benefit bridge at Whittles' Supper Club by selling cokes and homemade candy and awarding prizes, besides playing several hands of bridge. There were many big events on our social calendar, other than our annual Pledge dance in the fall and our formal on February 13. Though it was Friday, the 13th, we were not superstitious. Yet our decorations were "bad luck" and our theme was "The Eight Ball." Our only piece of bad luck was the weather—it poured that night, but our spirits were not dampened, even if we were! Ladders, black cats, and eight balls enhanced the eerie shadows cast by a huge spider web ceiling inhabited by big black spiders under whose "clutches" we danced.

One of the main projects of Beta Lambda for the coming year is organization of an active Mothers' Club. Open house for all mothers was held and mother and daughter went home, feeling great ties of understanding and cooperation for the common benefit of Delta Zeta.

The annual Initiation banquet was held in the spring. At that time Erna Jean Brooks was presented with the award for the best pledge of '47-48. Mary Ruth Ellis was chosen as the most outstanding junior of Beta Lambda. Delta Zeta is proud of these two girls who represent her very well in both sorority functions and campus activities.

Anna Lynne Evans has again been elected to lead Beta Lambda. Our other new officers are Jerry Southerland, vice-president; Marilyn Franklin, recording secretary; Ruth Conaway, corresponding secretary; Martha Williams, treasurer; Faye Bell, historian-editor.

In the spring Aloha Oe, senior farewell service, bade farewell to many Delta Zetas. Among these were Dorothy Wells, Billie Cleo Johnstone, Sara Spenser, Rusty LaBarr, Mary Virginia Combs, Mollie Biles, Celine Pitts, Bettye Bosson, Katheryn Morrow, Verda McCullough, Jeanette Melgora, Mary Elizabeth Stevens, Betsy Henry, Betty Reel, and June Burnette. Beta Lambda sends these girls her congratulations and the best of wishes. We hope that we may see each of them number among the active alumnae as true Delta Zetas.

Memphis State College—Gamma Iota

Gamma Iota chapter of Delta Zeta is certainly delighted now that it has been installed. We were installed as pledges in a very impressive service last Founders' day, October 24, 1947, and from then on we were very busy girls. We elected officers, and formulated our constitution and by-laws. Our alumnae pledge mistress, Mrs. M. H. Slaughter, was a wonder. I don't think any of us would have "made it" if it hadn't been for her. While still pledges we gave a super Christmas formal; the decorations were beautiful and everyone is still talking about the good time she had. We also gave a coke party for all the sorority pledges on the campus. It too, was a success.

On February 21 we took our vows and became real Delta Zetas. Our pins were presented to us that same morning and in the afternoon we went home to show them off, gloat over them and also get ready for our installation banquet that night. We presented our pledge mistress, Mrs. Slaughter, with a pair of very pretty earrings, which seemed to please her very much. We had quite a few Delta Zeta guests. Several Delta Zetas from Howard College at Birmingham were there, the president of Delta Zeta at U.T., Anna Lynne Evans, and also several Delta Zetas from University of Mississippi, including their president, Emily Ann Bickerstaff, who presented us with a beautiful silver plate. Many inspiring speeches were made. It was our honor to have national officers there to send us on our way. Among the notables were Miss Frances Westcott, our national president; Miss Irene Boughton, national executive secretary; Mrs. Charles Ward, director of Province III, and our dean of women, Miss Flora Rawls, who has been perfectly wonderful to us.

The following Sunday morning we all went to St. Luke's Methodist church. That afternoon we were honored at a presentation tea at the Brooks Memorial Art Gallery. Invitations were sent to members of the City Panhellenic Council and the Panhellenic Councils of Memphis State College and Southwestern. All members of the sororities and fraternities of both campuses were invited.

In February three new pledges were added to our newly installed chapter.

We hope with much hard work and coöperation from all our members to become, before long, the most outstanding sorority on the Memphis State campus.

Brenau College—Alpha Omicron

Brenau reporting—"visibility unlimited—sun warm—weather perfect."

"Busy" is the one word to explain the doings at Brenau. First and foremost on Alpha Omicron agenda was Georgia's first State Day, March 13 in the Atlanta Women's Club, Atlanta, Georgia. Miss Irene C. Boughton was there, along with Mrs. Odis Johnson, province director. Billy Hapholdt, president of the Atlanta alumnae and Jeannette Moon, state chairman, and a host of other Atlanta "alums" certainly helped make this first state day a "peachy" one. Atlanta Alumnae gave Alpha Omicron chapter two sets of silver candle holders, which we proudly display on all occasions.

We elected our new officers for the coming year with the slate reading like this: Cathryn Cook, president; Laurantette Jones, vice-president; Helen Philpott, recording secretary; Helen Levanger, corresponding secretary; Carolyn Cook, treasurer; "Liz" Grimmer, rush chairman; and Ruth Marie Berth, Panhellenic representative. Ruth Marie is also our historian, editor for the LAMP, and sees to it that Delta Zeta, Alpha Omicron is well publicized on campus.

Ruth Marie, winner of our Greek scholarship ring this year, was elected to the post of assistant editor of the Flame; she also was programme director of the Brenau Parisian Fashion revue—the best given at Brenau so far, by the way—at least so said the faculty and the student body. Helen Philpott, our recording secretary, was one of the buyers in the show.

Cathryn Cook was elected vice-president of Mu Phi Epsilon, honorary music fraternity on campus. And speaking of Mu Phi Epsilon, Marie Jones and Peggy Watlington were also chosen to become members. Laurantette Jones, our vice-president, was chosen a member of the Recreation Board and was also voted the most outstanding basketball player at Brenau for 1947-48.

And here's where we shine—Hazel McGee, our outgoing president, really made Delta Zeta stand out when she was tapped for Phi Beta Sigma, the highest honor on the campus. Barbara Bivens and Ann Cain were in the Shakespearean play—one of the outstanding events of the college year. Cathryn Cook and Peggy Watlington sang with the Bel Canto group at the State Federation of Music Clubs' Convention in Macon, Georgia, April 23. Peggy gave her senior voice recital April 2. The chapter gave her a reception after the recital and extended invitations not only to her music "cronies," her family and friends, but also to the faculty and chaperons on campus.

When a person speaks of Brenau, she might as well mention the "school of traditions," for such is our reputation. This is one of the things we are proud of and one of the things that lasts longer in our memories. One of the oldest traditions is May Day when we crown our May Queen, in a very beautiful and impressive ceremony on front campus. We also have a series of May events and during this period Cathryn Cook will do a solo on Commencement Sunday; the chorus will also perform in these festive events of which Delta Zeta boasts of several members.

The Cotillion club of Brenau sponsors one big dance a year, the biggest dance of the year, and this year there were three Delta Zetas in the lead-off.

And guess what—Delta Zeta won first prize in the Campus Clean-Up! And that just about "cleans" us up too—so with the last button of pride just popping off, we leave you with this thought—If you're ever in Gainesville, come to see us, ya'all—real soon. Our latch string is always out.

RUTH MARIE BERTH, editor
CATHRYN COOK, president

Florida State University—Alpha Sigma

Spring quarter at Florida State University looks as though it would be just as interesting and full of activities as last quarter was.

Chapter elections were held on January 26. Our new officers are Kathrine Spurgeon, president; Bettey Jean Phillips, vice-president; Edith Breggar, recording secretary; Elizabeth Pickett, corresponding secretary; Elizabeth Read, treasurer; and Ann Oetjen, historian.

The University Panhellenic Council voted to allow all the sororities on campus to raise their quotas by pledging three more girls. That was just what we were hoping for, and now three new girls are wearing the Delta Zeta pledge pin. They are Marguerite Reynolds, Tallahassee; Mary Nell Schoettle, Miami; and Lois Stevenson, Sebring.

Alpha Sigmas and their dates enjoyed a traditional Valentine party, complete with hearts and cupids, February 13. That same weekend, many of the Delta Zetas invaded the campus of the University of Florida at Gainesville, for Military Ball weekend. The following weekend, too, several of the girls went to Gainesville for the Sigma Phi Epsilon "Golden Hearts" weekend. Two weeks later, the Kappa Alpha "Plantation Ball" lured several of us over to the University again. There was a lot to keep us busy here, too. Interfraternity weekend was sponsored by the fraternities on this campus—a far cry from the days when this was a college for women only! Everyone is looking forward to Junior-Senior Prom April 3.

State Day was held here in Tallahassee March 6. At that time we were happy to have Miss Irene C. Boughton with us, as well as Mrs. Odis Johnson, our province director, and many "alums." Many of us had never attended a State Day before, and were very glad that we were given the opportunity to do so.

After examinations, which began March 12, we had a week of eagerly awaited spring vacation. Although almost everyone returned with a sunburn, we are all full of ambition and are looking forward to this new quarter.

We're making plans for Panhellenic weekend, parties, and a Delta Zeta weekend at the college camp, as well as campus and scholastic activities.

Florida Southern College— Beta Mu

Beta Mu chapter of Florida Southern College held its first initiation of the year February 29, at the New Florida Hotel. The traditional Rose banquet immediately followed the impressive ceremony. The honor pledge and scholastic pledge Sara Oglesby, Concord, North Carolina and Louise Hume, Fort Thomas, Kentucky, respectively, were introduced during the banquet.

The following girls were initiated: Helen Bentley, Jacksonville; Pat Davis, Braidington; Louise Hume, Fort Thomas, Kentucky; Jean Parsons, Devon, Connecticut; Joan Ryan, Buffalo, New York; Frances Rutland, West Palm Beach; Sara Oglesby, Concord, North Carolina; Mary Joyce Stevens, Sanford; and Helen Wood, Eau Claire, Wisconsin. Three alumnae were initiated: Mrs. Lucretia Rettig, Lakeland; Mrs. Agnes Johnson, Lakeland, and Mrs. Ruth Blackburn, Melbourne.

Elected to office March 22 were Martha Tarbett, Pompano, president; Jeanne Hatfield, Daytona Beach, vice-president; Mary Joyce Stevens, Sanford, recording secretary; Helen Wood, Eau Claire, Wisconsin, corresponding secretary; Frances Ross, Live Oak, treasurer. They take the places of the "old top officers": Jeanne Hatfield, Daytona Beach, president; LaDonna McGriff, Arlington, Virginia, vice-president; Valeria Bridger, Bladenboro, North Carolina, recording secretary; Betsy Mary Williams, Winter Haven, corresponding secretary;

BETA MU'S REGATTA ENTRY

Florida Southern College held its annual Founders' week March 1-8. Among the events celebrating the 63rd anniversary of the college was a regatta of 63 floats on Lake Hollingsworth. Beta Mu chapter was represented by a garden profusely decorated with pink roses entwined on a white picket fence and bordering the backdrop, which was the sorority pin outlined in gilt. Louise Hume, Patricia Hurly and Willene Smith were attractively dressed in white gowns and carried sprays of pink roses and fern.

University of Miami—Beta Nu

Since our last LAMP letter, Beta Nu has continued its active way. First event on the calendar was a picnic, given by the pledge class, honoring the college chapter. On a typical, sunny Florida afternoon in February, Delta Zetas and their dates gathered at beautiful Grey-nolds Park. After three hours of boating, a softball game, all returned, tired and hungry, to eat the attractive box lunches packed by the girls. Later in the evening, the party adjourned to the home of Christine Richards, where, after a sudden renewal of energy, the rest of the evening was spent in dancing—and eating!

Rush season came and the Delta Zeta party, with "Lipstick" as its theme, was presented. Rushees received invitations in the form of red paper lip prints. Refreshments carried through the lipstick theme, and the rushees agreed that Revlon had nothing on Delta Zetas brand of "cherry coke"—liquid style.

We added a new pledge, Juanita Martin, who is already doing her sorority proud. Juanita has been chosen to appear on the cover of the June issue of Seventeen magazine. We are proud to introduce our pledge to you as a cover girl.

Athletically, Beta Nu has an enviable record. Winners of the intramural basketball trophy last year, Beta Nu vowed it should be hers again. Game after game, we cheered our wonderful team. The finals arrived, the game to decide whether or not that lovely trophy would remain in our trophy case. Beside ourselves with excitement, we watched our girls playing an inspired game, and when it was over we all rose with a yell of joy. The trophy was ours again! The entire chapter joins in praising the girls who made victory possible: Jane Elmer, Joyce McCluney, Georgann Veeder, Bobbye Lou Collins, Nancy Thompson, Pat Baeder, and Rosemary Hileman.

On March 5 six representatives from Beta Nu departed for Delta Zeta State day at Tallahassee. Georgann Veeder, Jane Elmer, Paul Nesbit, Lucia Lee Miller, Christine Richards, and Kay Collier made the trip of 1200 miles quite successfully. All were thrilled at the opportunity to meet the girls of the Alpha Sigma and Beta Mu chapters. A further delight was the chance of meeting Miss Irene C. Boughton and Mrs. Odis Johnson at the banquet. Both addressed the group, and left a real feeling of sisterhood among us.

On March 14 the Miami alumnae group entertained the college chapter and pledges at a tea. The entire chapter was pleased at the opportunity to become better acquainted with the alumnae.

On March 27 Patricia Baeder, Blanche Bay, Joan Browne, Rosemary Hileman, Joan Nielsen, Patricia Kyle, Pamela Hamester, Gunhild Risteigen, Doris Parrish, and Joyce McEaddy exchanged pledge pins for "shining lamps" in their initiation into Delta Zeta. At the formal initiation banquet, Pamela Hamester was awarded the "best pledge" bracelet and Gunhild Risteigen, the scholarship key. We are indeed happy to receive all these girls into full membership.

April may bring showers, but to Delta Zetas here at the University of Miami, April brought the Rose ball. This year the traditional event was held at the Floridian

BETA NU CHAPTER SINGS "AVE MARIA" TO WIN FIRST PLACE IN ANNUAL SONGFEST

Hotel. Delta Zetas and their escorts passed through a rose-covered trellis and were introduced to 250 guests. The "dream girl of Delta Zeta," whose identity remained a secret until the night of the dance, was then presented.

The Junior Prom found Delta Zeta represented by Joyce McCluney as candidate for Junior Prom queen. Joyce, secretary of the student body, is listed in Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities.

The end of the school year will mark the beginning of house parties for the girls of Beta Nu. This year, we shall return to the beautiful Robert Richter Hotel for a week of gaiety. During that time Delta Zetas will present an open house for all sororities and fraternities on house parties. This will mark the end of the official school year.

Until next fall Beta Nu sends an expression of hope for an enjoyable summer. May next fall find our chapter's correspondence as inspiring as ever to the spirit of Delta Zeta sisterhood!

Miami University—Alpha

Alpha started second semester by holding its annual Valentine party for pledges and actives. Each girl submitted a picture of her young man for a contest to select the "Dream Man of Delta Zeta." The contest was won by the entry of a pledge, Joyce Jamison.

BARBARA MERRICK, Alpha Chapter
A SWEETHEART OF SIGMA CHI

To make spring housecleaning complete, our suite in North Hall was given a new coat of paint. New draperies were purchased for the powder room and some of the furniture was re-upholstered or slip-covered.

Our spring elections, held early in March, resulted in the election of the following officers for next year: president, Eileen Batt; vice-president, Barbara Willard; recording secretary, Jane Lothian; corresponding secretary, Joan Mootz; treasurer, Shirley Chase; co-historians, Virginia Guy and Ann Sharp.

The idea, originated by the sophomores last semester, of entertaining the pledge class was continued by the juniors, who gave a breakfast for the pledges on Sunday morning, March 14. The wide-awake pledges returned the courtesy with a surprise breakfast for all the actives at six o'clock one Saturday morning. Awakened actives in their various dorms, the pledges escorted them to the suite where fruit juice, doughnuts and coffee awaited them. This proved to be one of the most successful parties of the year and was well worth the loss of a few hours of sleep.

The chapter was fortunate in pledging Jane Diehl, a freshman, in the spring, and two upperclass pledges, Mary Ann Lee and Audrey Cawley, exchanged their pledge pins for the golden lamp of Delta Zeta in an initiation ceremony in March.

Early in April the pledges were put on their best behavior for a three-day period known as "courtesy week." During this time they were required to do extra pledge duties for the actives, to carry candy for any actives they met on campus, and to know the names and addresses of all the actives. On Tuesday evening they serenaded the actives in the suite, and on Wednesday gave a rush party for them. "Courtesy week" ended Thursday night, at which time the pledges were asked questions concerning the sorority. Later they presented decorated paddles accompanied by clever poems to their "big sisters."

On April 24 we held our annual Rose Ball in Brant Room of Oxford College dormitory. The theme of the dance was carried out by a rose arbor placed at the entrance to the ballroom, and by the many crepe paper roses with which the room was decorated. Our advisers were present as chaperons, and many alumnae came back to help make the dance a success.

An engagement dinner was given by four of the seniors, "Marge" Meyer, Jane Yauger, Mickey Dishar, and Mary Jane Connell, for their fiancés before the dance.

Our province director, Mrs. George Ostendorf, Jr., was our guest for several days at the end of April. While she was here the chapter gave a tea in her honor, a model initiation was held, and she also conferred with each of the girls individually.

To entertain our mothers during Mother's Day weekend, we held an open house and buffet supper in the suite on Saturday evening, and after breakfast on Sunday the sorority attended church in a group.

Twenty-four girls from Alpha attended the State Day meeting at Columbus in May. Eleanor Ruffner and Barbara Merrick had charge of planning a skit for the program.

A picnic honoring the seniors was held on May 14. All seniors were presented with gifts and Jane Yauger was elected the outstanding senior by the underclassmen.

Individual honors were won by many of our members this year. The sorority ranked second in scholarship among the sororities on campus, and the pledge scholarship rings were given to Marge Jenkins and Sue Rolfes. Sue was voted the outstanding pledge of the year.

At the annual May Day ceremony, four of our pledges were tapped by Cwen, the sophomore women's honorary. These girls are "Marge" Jenkins, Sue Rolfes, Alice Eggleston, and Jane Diehl. These four girls were also named as sophomore counselors for next year. Also at the May Day program, Barbara Willard was tapped by Mortar Board, the senior women's honorary. Barbara will be president of the Association of Childhood Education for the coming year.

Jane Lothian, a junior, was elected president of Pi Omega Pi, national business education honorary, and Marian Benoy will be president of Westminster Foundation. Barbara Merrick was selected as "Sweetheart of Sigma Chi," an honor which has been won by Delta Zetas for three of the last five years. Mary Jane Batt was elected housechairman of East hall, an upperclass women's dormitory.

With these honors, Alpha looks forward to a successful year for 1948-49.

Wittenberg College—Beta Chi

Spring traditionally brings new things. New spirits, new activities, and new officers make Beta Chis no exception.

Second semester has meant keen interest in college and sorority sports and such intersorority activities as exchange dinners and the bridge tournament, in which Delta Zeta took third place.

February 29 was the date when we welcomed nine new girls into our college chapter. Jo Ann Allen, Joyce Benkert, Carolyn Homann, Jane Huber, Jane Montgomery, Gloria Plate, Joan Quirsfeld, Jean Reincke, Lois Schultheis, and Mrs. Louise Bell, formerly a B & A, now proudly wear the "diamond and four pearls."

We proudly present the girls who have been selected to lead our chapter for next year. Re-elected president for the coming year is Dorothy Jane Zenk, Erie, Pennsylvania. Suzanne Kohn, Toledo, is our capable new vice-president. Recording secretary is Margaret Miller, Tiro, and corresponding secretary, Suzanne Cornish, Canton. Jean Ann Trout, Auburn, Indiana, is handling the job of treasurer; Arleen Thompson, Dalton, is historian; social chairman is Phyllis Cutshall, Springfield; rush chairman, Carolyn Kuhls, Vandalia; scholarship chairman, Joan Quirsfeld, Westwood, New Jersey; standards chairman, Sue Behrens, Sterling, Illinois; and house president, Carol Wagner, Wauwatosa, Wisconsin.

Other newly elected and appointed officers and chairmen include: Wittenberg Women's League representative; Beverly Thomason, Hartford City, Indiana; Student Council representative, Carolyn Kuhls; guards, Jane Huber, De Graff, and Joyce Benkert, Springfield; parliamentarian, Jean Reincke, Brooklyn, New York; political chairman, Eleanor Armstrong, Springfield; music chairman, Ruth Miller, Detroit, Michigan; sports chairman, Ruth Boyd, Erie, Pennsylvania; Springfield rush chairman, Jo Allen, Springfield; scrapbook chairman, Margaret Hardenbergh, Lorain; publicity chairman, Florence Kohlmyer, Lorain; flower chairman, Carolyn Kuhls; and building fund chairman, Janet Rheingans, Wauwatosa, Wisconsin.

New Δ Z pledges are Margaret Hays, Emmitsburg, Maryland, Eleanor Roller, Salem, Delores Wade, Lorain, and Martha Witthoft, Chatham, New York.

First-semester grades placed Jan Downey at the very top of the dean's list. She was one of the five students (and the only woman student) at Wittenberg who attained a 4.0 average during first semester.

Campus elections resulted in Sue Cornish being elected president and Del Brandt secretary of Theta Eta Kappa, home economics club. "Peg" Miller is the new president of the campus Y.W.C.A.

Spring gives promise of more honors, more fun, and we're especially looking forward to our spring formal, which our seniors are sponsoring for us as a parting gesture.

TO OUR "ACTIVES"

Out of the depths of loneliness,
Out of the mist of day,
Out of the cloud that covered me,
Out of the labyrinth way;
Out of the pit of black despair,
From the land of L'Allegro,
Comes now an earth-born Phoebus,
A promise the darkness will go.
Where all is life, and light, and hope,
From that kingdom 'neath the sea.
The god of cherished hopes and dreams,
Has sent me Delta Z.
The hope to gain the faithful friend,
Of men, while yet on earth;
The hope of all, who watch, and wait,
The hope of all, from birth.
The dreams that men dream, here below,
Have yet a higher source,
For man reflects the light of God,
Man born to follow course.
We earthlings strive yet to ascend
The gilded steps of time,
To gain more perfect fellowship
With all we term sublime.
The beauties of the ages,
Proved true, since time began,
Sing back the blessings of our Lord,
Man's fellowship with man.
And so, the heights to which my soul,
Has climbed to meet thine own,
Calls back eternal thankfulness,
The heart that has come home.

Baldwin-Wallace College— Gamma Alpha

"This har parte is to git us better acquainted with you'se." Yes, that was the sign which welcomed Delta Zetas to the Li'l Abner party held at the fraternity house with the Alpha Sigs. Everyone dressed to resemble the characters in the comic strip, "Li'l Abner." Features of the evening were a mock wedding, and square dancing behind the atomic curtain—if you follow the comic strip you'll know what that is. Among those present were Daisy Mae, herself, and Fearless Fosdick.

But that wasn't the only party which was unusual last quarter. Social Chairman Barbara Brey also planned a kids' party for us. For it we naturally dressed in short skirts, wore pig tails, or long curls, and all the frills we could manage. We carried animals or dolls, while the fellows, dressed in short pants or knickers, bow-ties, and bright suspenders, pulled behind them, or carried with them fire engines, tanks, or other toy cars. Hop scotch, jump rope, and pin the tail on the donkey are games you'd expect to find children playing so we were no exception that night. For refreshments, ice cream cones were served, and "all-day suckers" that some were licking were prizes awarded after the costumes were judged. Maybe you think it all sounds silly, but honestly, it was so different from anything we've ever had before that all of us really enjoyed ourselves.

Getting back to our more mature selves, as college girls in a sorority, we entertained our faculty women at tea one Sunday afternoon. This was something that has never been done before on our campus by any sorority and it really "went over" very successfully. We received many compliments from those who attended so we are looking forward to the same affair next year. Six new faculty patronesses were chosen just a week before, so each one at the tea was presented with a corsage of pink carnations tied with green ribbons.

We hope our Pearl ball will become an annual "tradition." We've always had at least one formal a year, but now we want to make the Pearl ball our customary spring formal.

Two more of our members, Janice Arnold and Barbara Brey, mother and daughter in Delta Zeta, by the way, have been honored by election to Science Seminar, B-W's science honorary. Congratulations go, too, to "Jackie" Osenbaugh, Γ A's own opera star. "Jackie" has the leading rôle in one of two operas recently presented

And last, but not least by any means, I am happy to announce the results of our recent election: president is Marieanne von Bergen; vice-president, Fern Olds; recording secretary, Nada Pavlovich; corresponding secretary, Mary Jo Reutter; treasurer, Barbara Brey; and historian, Ann Guthrie. This past year with the old officers has been very successful and we look forward to our next year in these new offices being progressive and just as successful.

Albion College—Beta Pi

Beta Pi Chapter at Albion certainly has had some thrilling dates to glue permanently in our "Remember" scrapbooks. The foremost date for many of us was March 13, when 10 pledge pins changed suddenly into the golden lamp of Delta Zeta worn by our respective "sorority mothers." The new initiates are Barbara Coulter, Grosse Pointe; Sara Dobie, Royal Oak; Phyllis Hassberger, Royal Oak; Betty Hum, North Adams; Doris Leenhouts, Royal Oak; Shirley Marsh, Albion; Patricia Mullin, Birmingham; Patricia Stoner, Detroit; Doris Trelour, Detroit; Patricia Zerby, Detroit. They surely are easily recognized among the Albion girls with that certain gleam of pride in their eyes and their shining pins.

Not only does this date of March 13 stand out in our minds, but also that of February 15, when five wonderful girls pledged Delta Zeta. They are Doris Faber, Marshall; Nancy Hill, Albion; Mary Johnson, Albion; Virginia Lewis, Britton; and Barbara Odgers, Detroit. They surely are a splendid group, for already the chapter has felt their lively spirit in its recent activities.

Speaking about recent Beta Pi doings, the date of March 6 comes quickly to mind with the grand date night we had at the lodge including a theater party in Albion. Following the movie, here was dancing at the lodge in a newly redecorated basement, the pledge project of last October's pledges. Decorated around a cabaret theme, the basement, lighted by candles in bottle-holders, was filled with tables covered by checked table cloths. Root beer and freshly popped corn were served in the evening.

Just before spring vacation our chapter serenaded the Delta Sigma Phis, presenting them with the Delta Zeta skin. They certainly received us royally, serving us ice cream and cookies and entertaining with their dance band, consisting of saxophone, trumpet, trombone, drums, and piano.

Beta Pi's Mothers' Club held a successful rummage sale in Royal Oak last February and later presented our chapter with a gift of money to be added to the house fund. We are so very proud of their fine organization and with the knowledge that we are backed by their sincere interest. A Parents' Weekend is planned for May 15 in appreciation for their fine work, along with all our thanks for every parent's interest.

Another important event which took place before spring vacation was election of new officers. They are as follows: Jean Lee, president; Margery Boothroyd, vice-president; Helen Allen, recording secretary; Muriel Schlorff, corresponding secretary; Shirley Pearce, treasurer; Dorothy Jackson, rush chairman; Betty Bourg, social chairman; Patricia Zerby, assistant social chairman; Joyce Mulleavy, assistant corresponding secretary; Doris Trelour, assistant treasurer; Phyllis Hassberger, activities chairman; Phyllis Perkins, Panhellenic representative; Phyllis Lee, Pleiad representative; Doris Leenhouts, LAMP representative; Ruth Callahan, standards chairman; Patricia Smallwood, house chairman; Barbara Allen, parliamentarian; Muriel Donaldson, historian; Dorothy Olenzek, scholastic chairman.

The important future event of the coming months is the Sigma Alpha Iota song fest. Our chapter, led by Muriel Donaldson, is really "all out" to hold the cup for another year.

Michigan State College— Beta Rho

Now that winter term is over, Beta Rho girls can put away most of their formals . . . for the time being at least. It seems that winter term is formal term at State. Not only were there numerous traditional campus dances, but the  $\Delta$  Z's had their Rose ball. This year it was another huge success, and we're still talking about it.

We figured that this term would be quiet and uneventful, but already our social calendar is full. We are making plans for the Water Carnival in early June. Every fraternal organization on campus has to construct around some central theme a float which parades down the Red Cedar river. This year the event is entitled, "The Best Things In Life." Barbara Whittaker, our Carnival chairman, drew the topic, "Election Campaigns," for the subject of our float. Committees are racking their brains to think of a trophy-winning idea.

"Between parties" last term we carried on a heavy rushing schedule. We are very proud of our 18 new pledges. Among them are Marian Ajemian, Detroit; Jeanne Booker, Muskegon; Joan Bennigan, Lansing; June De Boer, Grand Rapids; Mary Janis Dibble, Lansing; Charlotte Hill, Detroit; Dorothy Kasten, Saugatuck; and Diane Krause, Lansing.

Others include Lean McDonald, East Lansing; Catherine Millis, Lansing; Eleanor Moeller, Des Plaines, Illinois; Jean Mlynek, New York, New York; Virginia Rainey, East Lansing; Janet Ropp, Rutherford, New Jersey; Joy Smith, Chicago, Illinois; Nelda Stuhr, Detroit; Jane Tubbs, Saginaw; and Velma Wigent, Battle Creek.

These girls will be going "active" April 16, and will be a big help in aiding us to fill our quota through informal rushing this term.

Five other really swell "gals" were initiated last term in addition to pledging. We gave a towel party to honor both the new pledges as well as these girls. All the  $\Delta$  Z's came dressed in an outfit made completely of towels. We had everything here from a slave girl to the fat lady in the circus. Jo Rice and Diane Kraus won the prizes.

Leota Kohsman, Chelsea; Phyllis Verplank, Zeeland; Betty Schultz, Marquette; Pat Wheeler, East Lansing; and Frances Witkop, Lansing, are the girls now wearing the lamp of gold.

Not only are we proud of our new pledges and "actives," but we are especially proud of Margy Hughes. She was our candidate for the outstanding college girl to be presented in Who's Who in the Greek World. The candidates were selected on their activities and their contributions to the college as a whole. Margy was one of the three women chosen.

During our last meeting of the term we elected officers for the incoming year. Beta Rho is happy to announce that Virginia Graham, Marshall is the new president. Vuela Brook, East Lansing, holds the office of vice-president, and Barb Whittaker is the new recording secretary. Pat Slowin, Detroit, was re-elected treasurer; Pat Smith, Northport, is corresponding secretary; and Dot Matteson, Jackson, is the historian.

Judy Graham, who has been the vice-president of Panhellenic council, has been elected the president of Theta Sigma Phi, professional journalism honorary for women.

That's about all the news for now, but by next time we hope to have a new list of pledges as well as a fine group of new initiates.

Knox College—Nu

Hello to you all from Nu chapter! Let us "clue" you on the exciting adventures of us Delta Zetas here at Knox.

With a brand new slate of officers to led us in the coming year, you can be sure that lots of fun and fellowship is in store. Those recently installed are Marilyn Watson, president; Lorraine Soucek, vice-president; Marilyn Jacobson, recording secretary; Cynthia Peterson, corresponding secretary; Shirley Fries, treasurer; Kathryn Reed, assistant treasurer; Terry Taylor, historian; Mary Ellen Dixon, chaplain; Irmgard Miller, parliamentarian; Shirley Chap, social chairman; Dolores Kennedy, rush chairman.

The delightful production of The Desert Song, which found so many Delta Zetas behind the footlights, was such a definite success that it is still a favorite topic of conversation. Meanwhile, Bernetta Swanson became a candidate for ROTC Ball queen.

Then before we knew it, Honors Convocation had arrived with more praise for us. Lorraine Soucek received the highly coveted Pearl Harris award, as well as selection for Mortar Board. Marilyn Watson won fourth place in intramural riflery, the only woman to win a medal in 20 years.

Besides preparing a booth for the WSSF (World Student Service Fund) carnival in April, all attention will be focused on the traditional Rose ball to be held April 30 at the Soangetaha Country club in Galesburg. A Rose queen will be chosen at what is certain to be a very beautiful affair.

Congratulations to Senior Doris Haake of Waukegan who was graduated last quarter. We'll miss her very much. "Do" has been very active as Panhellenic House chairman and also in WAA.

Eureka College—Pi

Betty Ann Hardy, Pi social chairman from Albion, Illinois was selected queen of Lambda Chi Alpha's Valentine dance February 14. She wore the traditional crown and received a big-heart-shaped box of chocolates from the men.

On February 19 Eureka college had an assembly to present scholastic honors for the last four terms. Pi chapter members to receive special honors were Lois Bankston, Eureka; Joyce Brassfield, Mackinaw; Eva Haehre, Oslo, Norway; Audrey Hagan, Eureka; Shirley Keller, Eureka; Shirley Rankin Kroeger, Eureka; Betty Kruskop, Toulon, and Bess Fifield Lund, Eureka.

Pi chapter welcomed 10 new members on February 21, when the following were initiated: Joan Snyder, Eureka; Genevieve Dahl, New Bedford; Hellen Fish, Lawrenceville; Nancy Grieme, Elkhart; Joyce Lindelof, New Bedford; Verda Magnuson, Walnut; Lois Poorbaugh, El Paso; Beverly Sutherland, Salem; Bettiejane Weddle, Valparaiso, and Pauline Zimmerman, Gibson City.

Alumnæ, actives, and new initiates met February 22 at Lida's Wood, Eureka, to celebrate the 31st birthday anniversary of Pi chapter. Wanda Sheely, president, welcomed the alumnæ at the dinner and Mary Helen Rice Deck, Eureka, replied for the alumnæ.

Scholastic awards for the past pledge class went to Eva Haehre. Announcement was made at the dinner of the selection of Janice Cyganek of Crete as the "ideal active" by the pledge class. Nancy Grieme was named "ideal pledge" by the initiated members. The two girls are roommates and "big" and "little sisters."

Entertainment was presented by Hellen Fish, who sang two songs, accompanied by Joan Snyder, and a Delta Zeta sextette, accompanied by Shirley Keller. The dinner closed with the singing of "Dream Girl," with Alumna Edith Harrod of Eureka singing the solo part.

During the annual college "Heart Sister week," February 23-27, each girl who participated presented a small gift daily to her secret heart sister. On Friday night, February 27, the heart sister banquet and formal dance took place in Lida's Wood dining room. The Delta Zeta sextette furnished music at the banquet.

Psi Alpha Lambda, local fraternity, was entertained by Pi chapter at an afternoon tea-dance February 29. An informal program was presented by members of both groups.

Black and pink streamers, red hearts, and huge scarlet lips afforded decoration for Pi's leap year party on March 5. The girls, following the theme of the dance, "picked up" their dates at the frat houses, presented them corsages of vegetables at the dance, and took them into a "kissing booth" for candy kisses. Janice Cyganek entertained with a humorous interpretation of "Let's Get Married," the theme song of the dance, and did an encore. A trio presented leap year commercials.

Joan of Lorraine, Maxwell Anderson's historical drama, was presented by the Eureka College Players March 12, with Audrey Hagan in the role of Joan of Arc. Following the play, Audrey received a bouquet of twelve roses from Wanda Sheely, president of Pi and assistant director of the play. Shirley Keller was St. Catherine in the play, and Lois Bankston had charge of costumes.

Pi was hostess to Lambda Chi Alpha at a tea-dance March 14. A trio composed of Hellen Fish, Bettiejane Weddle, and Nancy Grieme, sang two songs. Audrey Hagan sang "Smoke Gets in Your Eyes" and the Delta Zeta "Sweetheart Song." Shirley Keller was their accompanist.

The first annual "all-Greek dance" at Eureka college, on March 19, was a successful event. Walter Lund, Tau Kappa Epsilon's social chairman, had general charge of the dance. Betty Ann Hardy, Pi social chairman, served on the planning committee for it.

Pi selected officers for the coming year March 22. Shirley Keller was elected president to replace Wanda Sheely. Shirley is a member of the college chapel choir and AES, the dramatic fraternity on Eureka campus. She is also president of Panhellenic council. Shirley will be the Pi delegate to the national Delta Zeta convention.

Other officers elected were vice-president, Mary Alice Goode, Virden; recording secretary, Jane Shirk, Chicago; corresponding secretary, Pauline Zimmerman; treasurer, Betty Kruskop; and historian, Lois Bankston. Assistant treasurer is Hellen Fish, and Bettiejane Weddle is assistant historian.

April activities of the chapter included a serenade for the fraternities on April 5, and a rush week-end for new girls, April 17-18.

Northwestern University—Alpha Alpha

And as of May 24 Alpha Alphas will have a new name to add to our membership list. We're very proud of her and extremely happy to initiate her into Delta Zeta. With us "through thick and thin," she is about to leave us after 10 years of patient endurance. Before she goes our housemother, Mrs. Pearl Fenwick, will become more than a second mother to us—she'll be a sister!

Alpha Alpha has begun the year with a new group of officers with Jan Smith presiding as its guiding light. "Boots" Gorman is vice-president; Janet Rieke, recording secretary; Pat Schlater, corresponding secretary; Peg Maslin, treasurer; Ruth Milner, social chairman.

Our social calendar for this last quarter has been nearly overflowing with the dance at Scott hall on Friday afternoon of April 16 at which the Acacia fraternity and our chapter served as host and hostesses. It was an all-school dance complete with orchestra and entertainment provided by the Acacias and us. Beverly Brouer did a lovely job of singing, Betsy Caton gave a comedy reading and Nan DeMuesy provided the feminine touch in a quartet that has become quite popular on campus. Lots of people came and stayed so we felt justly rewarded.

This was followed by our formal the following week. This spring the Delta Zetas danced where the golf pros often putt—at the beautiful, modernistic Tam O'Shanter country club. Thanks to our social chairman, Ruth Milner, it was one of the nicest formals we have had.

On May 14, Alpha Alphas were the guests of the Edgewater Beach hotel for dining and dancing in the Marine Dining room to the music of Orrin Tucker. Every Friday night is College night, at which one sorority or fraternity is entertained at the Edgewater. It is a custom which just began this year and we hope it will be continued.

The Kappa Deltas entertained us at a very informal party on the afternoon of May 22. We played cards, sang, and some of us just sat and talked. A movement toward more intersorority unity and cooperation has been started on the NU campus and to show that we are heartily in favor of it we have invited the Alpha Xi Delta chapter across the quads to join us in a picnic on one of the Evanston beaches.

The all-campus Waa-Mu musical show, See How They Run, was based on the political theme this year. "Boots" Gorman was costume head and really did a wonderful job, along with Marjorie Bruce and Peg Maslin, two of her crew members.

Beverly Brouer was chosen to sing in the vocal ensemble in the same show, and talented Marilyn North designed several sets for it.

Jan Rieke was co-chairman of the Student Religious conference this winter. Not content with working on that, she has been appointed co-chairman of the Student Service Fund and will be submerged in that for the next year.

Never let it be said that we're not interested in campus politics. Marilyn North has just been elected secretary of the Women's Self-Governing association.

In the field of music, Mary Jane Homan was made an active member of the professional music honorary, Sigma Alpha Iota. Another one of our musically inclined, Ruth Ann Shuma, has been elected vice president of the  $\Sigma$  A I chapter here.

Jennie Slater, one of our several violinists, not only was made an active member of Mu Phi, another music honorary, but she was also elected president of the organization.

The dramatics honoraries have been at work, too, and Phi Beta, the music and speech fraternity, initiated two more girls into their ranks from Alpha Alpha. They are Pat Schlater and Ruth Ann Coulter.

Sunday, May 23, was May day here at Northwestern, and once again several of the girls came through with flying colors, and they truly deserved the honors they received.

Two of the girls, Jan Rieke and Marilyn North, were among the 19 junior Northwestern girls to be elected to Mortar board, senior women's honorary. Nan DeMuesy received a silver loving cup for being the outstanding woman in athletics in the senior class. Jan Smith was elected to Shi-Ai, junior women's honorary. Lila Dunham was given the award for being one of the two girls graduating from the college of liberal arts with the highest scholastic average.

Not to be outdone, one of our freshmen came through with a scholastic honor, too. Betty Beyer was elected to Alpha Lambda Delta, freshman women's honorary.

Our senior banquet, taking the place of the final chapter meeting of the year, is always something to remember. During the after dinner program, the sophomores made their prophecies as to the seniors' futures and the seniors willed all their valuables and not-so-valuables to the rest of the chapter. Marilyn North was presented with the locket which is awarded each year to the ideal Delta Zeta of Alpha Alpha.

Carroll College—Gamma Theta

Using a Friday the 13th theme, we started our mid-semester rushing with a spread in the suite. The ladders, horseshoes, and black cats did not seem to affect our four new pledges: Phyllis DeVore, Freeport, Illinois; Beatrice Frank, Waukesha; Kerima McKay, Panama, R.P. and Nancy Tillberry, Waukesha, who denied being superstitious.

Shortly before "courtesy week," three of our former pledges became active Delta Zetas. They are Audrey Lindholm, Webster Groves, Missouri; Alice (Mrs. J. W.) Wivell, Milwaukee; and Joan Schodtler, Waukesha. Other pledges who became wearers of the lamp of Delta Zeta were Barbara Atkeson, Wauwatosa; Elizabeth Berg, Waukesha; Mary Ann Foster, Wauwatosa; Ann Hatch, Waukesha; Janet Haugh, Manitowoc; Roberta Oakes, Waukesha; Nancy Staffeldt, Waukesha; Elizabeth Thompson, Waukesha; Marilyn Thompson, Neenah; Jean Tills, Manitowoc; Dorothy Wilcox, Wisconsin Rapids; and Ethel Ziebell, Wausau. At the same time four alumnae were also initiated. They are Rhea (Mrs. R. V.) Normington, Waukesha; Olive (Mrs. E.) Larsen, Waukesha; Ella (Mrs. J. L.) Wheeler, Waukesha; and Winona Hoffman, Mundelein, Illinois.

After our pledge dance, which carried the theme of "Devil's Den," and our leap year dance, we are looking forward to our spring formal, which is to be held at the Medford Hotel in Milwaukee.

Social affairs are not the only thing high on our list of activities. We have also been working hard along scholastic lines and have attained the scholarship cup for both semesters. Numerous other recognitions have been received by Delta Zetas. Antoinette Salerno and Sachi Ishii were elected to Who's Who. Sachi Ishii, Shirley Moore, Doretta Wehren, and Kerima McKay became active members of Beta Beta Beta, and Lorraine Goerke and Dorothy O'Neill became members of Sigma Epsilon Sigma.

Our trophy case is again becoming filled after winning both the basketball and volleyball cups. Now we are engaged in competition to retain the badminton cup and to also regain possession of the tennis and baseball cups.

Music is also in the air as we begin tuning up for the all-college sing. We are hoping that this year's theme, "Lullabies," will help us retain the sing cup, which we have held for the last three years. Dressed in blue ballerina dresses trimmed with tiny gold stars, we are going to sing a medley of lullabies, Kreisler's "Lullaby," and our own original words to "Sleepy Time Gal."

Before the semester ends we are planning to hold our spring alumnae dinner and also to have formal initiation for many of our "alums" who wish to become Delta Zetas.

This first year as Delta Zetas has been a very busy, as well as a wonderful, year for us. We are hoping that our future years in Delta Zeta will be even more successful.

University of Denver—Rho

With Spring bursting forth in all its glory, and winter snows becoming just a memory, Rho chapter of Delta Zeta seems almost as busy as Mother Nature changing the countryside from its old winter dress into the new look of spring. The activities being planned for this spring quarter are as many and varied as the flowers now beginning to blossom everywhere.

With the coming of the new season Rho has already pledged three charming girls. They are Lois Grubaugh and Joyce Bend, both from Denver, and Wanda Kirkpatrick from Longmont, Colorado. They are a wonderful addition to our chapter, and we are very glad to welcome them into our sisterhood. They will be formally initiated on May 23.

Anticipating the visit of our province director, Miss Edna Zamzow, the girls are busily making plans for a tea in her honor. It will be held on April 30 and the alumnae seem quite as excited as we are in helping to complete arrangements. Miss Zamzow will hold a rush school on this weekend and, to insure plenty of time for her instructions and advice, the group will have a slumber party May 1.

Another big event of the quarter is the annual spring tea, to be given April 25 in honor of high school seniors who will attend Denver University next year. More than 200 invitations are being sent out, and elaborate plans have been completed to make this event a highlight in the lives of all who participate in this initial rushing tea.

With only one day a year devoted to the forgotten man, Rho chapter-members have decided to show that he is really remembered. Yes, this year, Father's day will not be the only time the man of the household will receive attention, for we are celebrating with a Father-Daughter banquet April 26. This is one time Dad won't feel left out when the sorority gets together.

Colorado State College—Beta Sigma

Beta Sigma of Delta Zeta won the scholarship award last fall, for the second consecutive quarter.

We also won the Greek intramural basketball championship.

February 20, 1948, was the date of our return pledge dance. It was held in the Student Union building. The pledges decorated the hall with blue crepe streamers and had an imitation moon at one end of the room.

Margaret Kupilik, Ellen Pratt, and Velma Ferguson spent spring vacation in Phoenix, Arizona, with another Beta Sigma, Celeste Cavin.

Newly elected officers are Dorothy Waggoner, president; Ruth Johnson, vice-president; Margaret Kupilik, treasurer; Winifred Tomkins, recording secretary; Jo Harriss, corresponding secretary; Velma Ferguson, parliamentarian; Mary Patrick, historian; and, Ruth Johnson, and Celeste Cavin, guards.

Nebraska Wesleyan University—Beta Tau

Beta Tau had the thrill of once again being the only sorority on the campus to fill its quota of 20 wonderful pledges.

We had our annual formal preference dinner at the chapter house and 48 girls continued to enjoy the evening with fun and frolic—a sentimental "fireside"—and to end a perfect day a campus fraternity serenaded.

Delta Zetas on our campus really left "imprints" this year. From our freshman class and pledges, Ruth Foos was elected president of the new girls' dorm, Johnson Hall. Mary Evelyn Godbey was elected freshman class president and won second place in all-Wesleyan oratorical contest, as well as first among freshmen in the oratorical contest. Dee Frantz was chosen alternate for the Annual Cover Girl. Three of the pledges were elected to Plainsman Players—Martha Clifton, Blythe Linder, Evelyn Cunningham.

Our initiates are also keeping up their good work. One of our seniors, Amy Barber, a member of Cardinal Key, was elected into Phi Gamma Mu, a national social science honorary fraternity, based on scholarship. Aileen Ross, a junior, was tapped into Cardinal Key at the Wesleyan May Fete. She is also a member of the newly organized junior honorary, COGS. Dorothy Blough, a sophomore, was elected into Pi Kappa Delta, national forensic fraternity. Dorothy also had the female lead of Roxane in Rostand's play Cyrano de Bergerac. Mary Louise Alfs played the part of Sister Marthe.

During the tour month of March, Delta Zetas were well represented. Elouise Escue, Martha Webb, Mary Louise Alfs, Evelyn Cunningham, incidental soloist, and Carolyn Curtiss, piano accompanist and soloist, traveled with Girls' Clee Club. Amy Barber was cast in the road show and Dorothy Blough was an alternate.

Speaking of "going places," Wilma Smith attended the Association for Childhood Education convention at St. Louis, Missouri. Amy Barber president of W.A.A., Aileen Ross delegate, and Mary Weirauch attended the Woman's Athletic Association convention at Crete, Nebraska.

Chapter inspection was held May 15-17 by our province director, Miss Edna Zamzow. An "afternoon off" was taken for the State Day held in Omaha, where 10 of the college chapter attended the luncheon given by the alumnae.

We've had our fun along with honor and work. College members entertained the pledges at a "Hit Parade" party at the chapter house. In return, the pledges entertained them with a "Davy Jones locker room," semi-formal party. Something new was started when a Delta Zeta man was selected. A "punny" program climaxed the evening's entertainment, but we love the pledges.

The officers elected this year are: president, Aileen Ross; vice-president, Dorothy Blough; recording secretary, Dixie Winchell; corresponding secretary, Jean Kleinschmidt; treasurer, Shirley Hampton; historian, Wilma Smith; and parliamentarian, Louise Thurman.

Three of our girls are going to national convention at Swampscoot—Aileen Ross, delegate, Jean Kleinschmidt, alternate delegate and Shirley Parli. We know that all the Delta Zetas will have a very good time.

This is almost the end of one more successful and happy year which we have spent with our Delta Zeta sisters.

Missouri Valley College— Gamma Gamma

Gamma Gamma chapter has been busy, with mid-semester examinations and spring fever coming at the same time, but we still manage to do many things for dear old Delta Zeta.

Mrs. Willard Morton, an alumna of our chapter, entertained the college chapter and alumnae of our sorority with a dessert-bridge.

JUNE POSEY, Gamma Gamma, was crowned Sophomore Queen of Missouri Valley College at the annual May Dance. Her engagement to Charles Woodward, Alpha Sigma Phi, was announced after the coronation.

A group of our girls initiated Phi Omega Pi members into Delta Zeta February 1 at the home of Mrs. Evelyn Olmstead, a Kansas City alumna. After we had initiated the nine women, the alumnae served a delicious luncheon. For the traditional Rose ceremony, which followed luncheon, Miss Alice Gallup, alumna, sang "Roses I Bring to Thee," and presented each initiate with a Killarney rose. We take this opportunity to welcome the Phi Omega Pis into Delta Zeta sorority.

Our pledges entertained "actives" and alumnae at a Valentine bridge party. For refreshments the pledges served ice cream and cake.

Gamma Gamma sponsored a show at one of the local cinemas, February 22-24. The show, Good News, starring June Allyson and Peter Lawford, brought us profits of more than $60.

June Posey and "Rusty" Ehrhardt modeled new Easter fashions in a spring style showed presented by the merchants of Marshall, Missouri.

Our chapter had its initiation ceremony March 14. Those who were initiated were Carol Peden of Kansas City, Missouri and Martha Serkowski of Waukegan, Illinois. After the initiation, the initiates, other chapter members, alumnae and patronesses of the sorority attended church before attending the initiation banquet, held at the Old Tavern in Arrow Rock, Missouri. Mary Peden, president, greeted the initiates and guests and introduced Dr. Grace Thomas, faculty adviser, who welcomed the initiates into the Delta Zeta sorority. Iris Vail then spoke on "What Delta Zeta Means to Me." The Rose ceremony followed, for which Sherry Kent sang "Roses I Bring to Thee" and presented the initiates with roses.

We pledged Shirley Wheeler, freshman from Chicago. An active girl, she is already secretary of Y.W.C.A. and has a good part in the dramatic arts club's new production, Night Must Fall.

Melba Horman, now Mrs. David Moe, was graduated this February and is living in St. Louis, Missouri, with her husband, who is assistant instructor in physics at Washington University.

Drake College—Gamma Epsilon

To begin the semester Gamma Epsilon redecorated the hall and most of the upstairs. It really was a job and the girls all worked with loads of enthusiasm. Then to add to our homecoming trophy, we won the Sweetheart Sing with a medley arranged by Ruth Mary Needham, who wrote one of the songs we sang.

Our rushing was capably carried out by Jackie Susman with our party, "Starlight Roof." We pledged Doris Conner, Olewein, Iowa; Charlene Lauer, Calumet City, Illinois; Sally Staib, Aurora, Illinois; Carolyn Colville, New Sharon, Iowa; and Ruth Purinton, Littleton, New Hampshire.

This year we had a night when the pledges who were to be initiated presented their paddles to their pledge mothers. Each pledge read an original verse upon presentation of her paddle. Following tradition, each pledge was then paddled by her "mother." It was really very successful and both pledges and "actives" enjoyed it immensely. Then, on the night of March 14, happy, frightened pledges were taken into full membership. They are Dorothy Jones, Joanne Jones, Bergetta Rustbakke, Dorothy Field, Joy Noblett, Barbara Anthony, Mitzi Smothers, Mary Louise Johnson, Jo Ryan, Flavia Dailey, and Marilyn Byerly.

To continue our success in the coming year we elected Mildred Carl our new president, Dorothy Jones.

GAMMA EPSILON'S TROPHY-WINNING FLOAT

vice-president; Laura Jean Cook, recording secretary; Dorothy Field, corresponding secretary; Mary Ann Scanlon, treasurer; Jo Ryan, assistant treasurer; Jerry Harris, social chairman; Annabelle Green, rush chairman; Diane Griffith, song leader and historian; Jo Jones, parliamentarian; Flavia Dailey, scholarship; Marilyn Byerly, standards; Mary Louise Johnson, editor; Betty Cysewski, floats; Burgetta Rustebakke, assistant floats chairman; and Lynne Perrine, gifts chairman.

The Delta Zetas made a very good showing in basketball this year, being the runners-up in the Women's Intramural Basketball tournament.

The annual installation dinner was held at Curley's restaurant April 5. New officers were installed by Ellen Augustine, president, in an impressive candlelight service.

The annual Drake relays are just around the corner (April 23-24) and, of course, that means hard work in the coming days on the float and the house decorations. Bonnie Swope has charge, assisted by Betty Cysewski. The theme this year will be based on a King Neptune idea with his mermaids. The slogan will be "We're in the swim."

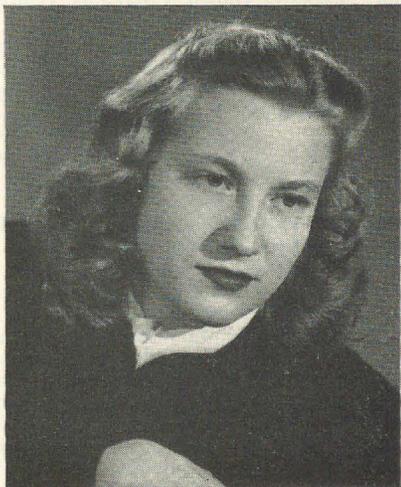

Hellayne Gray, daughter of Mrs. Claire Ferguson of Jefferson, Iowa, was married Easter Sunday to Gene Fleener of Newburg, Iowa, at the Little Brown Church at Nashua. The bride was attended by another Delta Zeta, Diana Mills. The couple will live in Des Moines while he attends Drake university, where he is affiliated with Alpha Tau Omega fraternity.

Gamma Epsilon chapter will soon say farewell to seven girls who are being graduated this spring. Those "alums-to-be" are Ruth Mary Needham, Beverly Nord, Bonnie Swope, Barbara Kenan, Ellen Augustine, Marie Gant and Diana Mills.

Climaxing the Drake University Relays weekend was the Relays dance held at the Drake Fieldhouse April 24. One of the highlights of the dance was the presentation of Carolyn Kerr of Gamma Epsilon of Delta Zeta as "D Club Sweetheart."

Carolyn, or "Cokey" as she is better known to her friends, was chosen by the D men from a field of over 30 contestants to reign for a year as their sweetheart. Candidates are judged on the basis of poise, personality and beauty among other things.

Carolyn, blonde and blue-eyed, has been active in all campus and chapter activities, and is a sophomore in commerce.

Gamma Epsilon chapter of Delta Zeta came through with its third trophy of the year at the Drake Relays parade on April 24 by winning the cup for the best float.

The float featured King Neptune and his court of mermaids. The slogan was "'Sea' Drake Rule." The mermaids were dressed in blue mermaid costumes and King Neptune in traditional robes. He was portrayed by Barbara Kenan, the mermaids by Carolyn Colville, Bonnie Swope, Jackie Susman, Betty Cysewski, Dorothy Jones, Lynne Perrine, Carolyn Kerr and Jerry Harris.

The trophy was presented to Mildred Carl, president, at the Relays Dance April 24.

Louisiana State University— Sigma

February 27 was a busy day for Sigma chapter of Delta Zeta. The girls started to put up the colorful decorations that they had worked on for months. Yes, it was our annual formal, and what a success! The Heidelberg roof was a perfect setting for our theme, "Heaven of The Greek Goddesses." In the center of each of the several tables around the edge of the dance floor was a miniature mountain. Small dolls dressed as Greek goddesses and gods had been placed on the "mountain-side," with a cupid doll for a finishing touch. Punch and cakes were served at the tables throughout the dance.

At approximately 10:30 our new members, of whom we are all very proud, were introduced. Large columns and Greek statues were used for a background as the girl and her date were presented.

At midnight it was time for our dormitory girls to be in so the dance ended. From all accounts it was the finest sorority dance on campus.

A country home was the setting for our hayride, which started early Sunday afternoon and lasted until late Sunday night. Croquet, badminton, and horse shoes were played during the afternoon. As the sun was going down, the girls and their dates gathered around a large barbecue pit, roasted wieners, and sang Delta Zeta songs.

No, our social calendar doesn't end here. The weekend of April 23-25 we are planning a large house party at the Edgewater Beach hotel in Gulfport, Mississippi. Along with swimming and sun bathing, we plan to discuss our rush plans for the coming year.

Sigma chapter is proud to announce these new officers. Mary Virginia Mitchell, our new president, was elected by acclamation. Our vice-president is Una Fornet; second vice-president, or rush captain, Sydnia Christenson; secretary, Mary Ann Micheltree; corresponding secretary, Barbara Leonard; treasurer, Sally Haseu; assistant treasurer, Shirley Christophoson; guards, Rose Mary Groves, Joyce Bailey; parliamentarian, Norma Sue Coates; and historian, Patsy Laidlaw. We have selected each of these girls knowing that they will do their best to keep Delta Zeta's high ideals and bring the sorority recognition through the coming years.

Alice Babin, chosen as Sigma's model pledge, is wearing the traditional ring inscribed with Greek letters on the inner band. This ring is passed on from year to year and the inscription is one whose meaning only the model pledge knows. Gold keys were given to Mildred Estophnoff, for the highest scholarship; and to Shirley Christophoson for her original scrapbook.

We also entered into politics. Barbara Sue Leonard was elected secretary-treasurer of the College of Agriculture. By the way, her whole ticket went in. We also had two Delta Zetas in the Queen of Agriculture's court. They are Boots Landry and Kathryn Adams. At Louisiana State University, home economics is classified in The College of Agriculture, just so you won't think we're all "farmers' daughters."

Alabama Polytechnic Institute— Beta Xi

At the close of the winter quarter Beta Xi was happy to have Mrs. J. C. Grimes, of Auburn, director of Province IX, with us for annual chapter inspection. Mrs. Grimes has been most helpful to us and made inspection a pleasure. We honored her with a coffee for members, pledges and alumnae, and she gave us an inspiring talk on elections at our Standards program shortly afterward.

We entertained the Theta Chi fraternity with an informal party and dance, highlighted by a skit typifying the ways of a Theta Chi.

Beta Xi's new officers for the coming year are: president, Gussie Arnett, Birmingham; first vice-president, Ann Hutchison, of Prattville; second vice-president, Betty Lou Sharit, Montgomery; recording secretary, Jeanne Tuley, Prattville; corresponding secretary, Warrena Cannon, Dothan; treasurer, Flora Moncrief, Prattville. Our new historian is Mary Frances Grimes, Auburn, and Panhellenic representative is Marcia Bowers, of Prattville.

Delta Zeta has done well in inter-sorority sports this year. Our teams placed second in basketball, volleyball, and bowling.

Wedding bells rang for three Delta Zetas this quarter. Joanne Jackson was married to Billy Ward on March 20 at the Methodist Church in Auburn, their home. Billie Wayne Ray and Lynn Tate, both of Alex City, were married there March 27. A number of us went up for the wedding. Carmelita Slaton married Bob Stewart of Boston.

Delta Zetas proudly wearing caps, gowns, and diplomas at the close of the quarter were Carolyn Parker, Thomaston; Margaret Haden, Columbus, Georgia; and Sara Oswalt Culberson, Oxford.

We are now eagerly looking forward to our annual dance April 24 in the Student Activities building. We are planning a Circus ball, with a breakfast following the dance at the Pi Kappa Phi fraternity house.

Sophie Newcomb College, Tulane University—Beta Upsilon

Beta Upsilon chapter of Delta Zeta recently held an initiation at which time four new members were received into the chapter. They are Mary Jane Carr, Velma Gross, Mercedes Maraist, and Patsy Jo McDowell. At the banquet following the initiation, Patsy Jo was presented with an award for the pledge with the highest scholastic average, and Mary Jane received the award for activities.

Elections were held at the last regular meeting. The new chapter president is Christelle Nungesser. Mary Finley is the vice-president, Gayle Schwarzenbach, recording secretary. The other officers are Patsy McDowell, corresponding secretary; Anna Bartels, treasurer; and Bette Ruth Barrere, historian-editor.

DENISE REINECKE, B T
Phi Beta Kappa

Denise is also a member of Phi Sigma Iota, honorary romance language sorority, and Kappa Delta Phi, honorary education society.

Doris Duvigneaud, social committee chairman, has certainly been busy making preparations for the numerous activities in which Delta Zeta has been participating. At a gypsy tea rush party not long ago, Gatha McConnell, a Delta Zeta alumna and education teacher at Newcomb College, played the role of the fortune-teller. As a result of the mid semester rush party, Beta Upsilon pledged Mildred Foley and Mitzi Evans. Big plans are now underway for the annual Delta Zeta formal dance, which will be held sometime in April.

Beta Upsilon is also proud of its new president, who is one of the finalists in the beauty court of a college publication.

Howard College—Alpha Pi

Alpha Pi is proud to announce five new wearers of the lamp, Virginia Goodwin, Madie Jane Crotwell, Mary Ellen Shannon, Elen Frame, and Nell Gardner. The pledge cup was awarded to Sue Goodwin and Virginia Goodwin, two most outstanding pledges.

Alpha Pi started off with several rush parties and with such loads of fun. We can now add to our pledge class the names of Dot Harvey, Marie Evans, Winifred Thomas, Jean and Jackie Schoel (twins), and Kit Bayliss.

We wish to extend hearty greetings to our new sisters of Gamma Iota. Four girls from Alpha Pi went to Memphis for the installation. Those attending were Anita Mobley, Virginia Goodwin, "Dot" Dodd, and Marcia O'Neal.

Our latest party was a progressive dinner. Everyone gathered at the lodge for the first course and then left by cars for many miles of fun to various houses.

Just before school was out we had a red sock party. Everyone who came could not get in unless she wore a pair of red socks.

Alpha Pi is looking forward to planning the annual rose banquet, given in the spring of the year.

The basketball team has really gone out in full force this quarter. The pledges have done wonders towards helping us win our games. Softball will be coming next and our team has already been organized.

During the spring holidays we painted and cleaned our lodge. Everyone came out bright and early in blue jeans and shirts and began working furiously to transform the house into a thing of beauty. Of course we are very proud of our bright, shining lodge and wish we could have all our sisters down to see it.

We are glad to have "Dot" Dodd back with us this quarter after her winter in Cuba. Anita Mobley has been elected social chairman of the B.S.U. council. Marcia O'Neal has been tapped for Masquers, dramatic honorary society.

Alpha Pi is anticipating a large representation at the convention. So we close another chapter in our book and hope to see everyone at the convention this summer.

Oklahoma A. & M. College— Alpha Epsilon

Alpha Epsilon is proud to have 10 new members in its group. Initiation services were held March 13 for Helen Baird, Coy Nella McCoy, Pat Stevens and Mary Howard of Oklahoma City; Donna Page and Peggy Jean Julian, Enid; Janibeth Haskins, Cushing; Sue Ledeker, Arkansas City, Kansas; Bobby Callaway, Monett, Missouri; and Doris MacDonald, Temple. A formal banquet following the services was given in honor of the new initiates. Our state chairman, Miss Katherine Bales, was guest speaker for the event. She spoke on "What Delta Zeta Means To Me." Donna Page was presented an award for the outstanding pledge of her class and Coy Nella McCoy received an award for the pledge with the best scholarship.

We've all been busy practicing our songs for the Spring Reception, which is coming up soon. Our song-leader, Lew Cain, has written a tune especially for the occasion and we all are very proud of her.

The pledges recently surprised the members by locking them out of the house and having dates over for dinner and dance hour.

Our Valentine, dance in February was a big success. The chapter house was decorated with a huge heart in the dining room doorway and cupids and hearts covered the walls.

The "Varsity Revue," an annual school show depicting campus life here at A. & M. was held in March. Helen Baird was chosen as one of the "Varsity Revue" girls representing Delta Zeta.

Plans are now in progress for a party honoring out-of-town rushees. It will be centered around a carnival theme, with an informal house dance being the main entertainment. We're looking forward to a very eventful weekend.

Southern Methodist University— Alpha Psi

After a successful rush week, initiation, and election of officers we Delta Zetas at SMU are finally getting around to studying again.

The first event this semester was rush week and we pledged Leigh Clark, Barbara Harris, Joan Lewis, Pat Rowan, Paula Sheffer, and Jo Ann Wilson. We are very proud of our new pledge class.

On February 21 we held our annual spring formal celebrating the 26th birthday of Alpha Psi. At this time we crowned Betty Chapman our Dream Girl. Jane Schumm, last year's Dream Girl, crowned Betty with a wreath of pink roses. Preceding the dance we had a banquet for all pledges, "actives" and their dates.

Last week our college chapter was increased with the initiation of nine new girls. They are Sue Anderson, Dorris Jeanne Browne, Jeanne Dickinson, Norma Henderson, Teresa Hunsaker, Janet Ogan, Peggy Rodgers, Ruth Ann Virtanen, and Jo Ann Wilson. Following the initiation a banquet honored the new girls and at this time the outstanding pledge award was presented to Jeanne Dickinson and Janet Ogan received the scholarship award.

Our new officers, who will be installed next week, are Betty Chapman, president; Dorris Jeanne Browne, vice-president; Maxine Turner, corresponding secretary; Peggy Rodgers, recording secretary; Janet Ogan, treasurer; and Sue Anderson, historian.

Basketball and volleyball intramurals have kept us busy with our sporting activities. But now we are getting ready for baseball and swimming intramurals. We have secret hope of winning in our league.

As far as outstanding members go, we have plenty of them. In fact nearly all of them are, but our latest recognitions are Betty Chapman, named as a member of Kirkos; Janet Ogan, pledged to Alpha Lambda Delta; and Maxine Turner, Alpha Lambda Delta initiate. Maxine was also pledged to Delta Kappa Psi.

AT ALPHA PSI'S SPRING FORMAL

The rest of the semester holds many things in store for us—a banquet for our dads, a Mothers' day tea, a square dance for the Inter-fraternity council, and a Hollywood party for Women's Panhellenic. Then comes graduation, with a party for our three girls that are graduating. They are Lois Angell, Mary Margaret Calhoun, and Emily Mills.

University of Texas—Alpha Tau

Finals are upon us and this letter will be written between glances at the pages of numberless books.

We do not know what we are going to do without our nine wonderful seniors: Aileen Childers, Annette Cornibe, Janette Cornibe, Irene Crawford, Comfort Holt, Sarah Jones, Virginia Maxwell, Marin MacNish, and Mary Mae McDonald. The Austin alumnae chapter presented Mary Mae with a handsome sterling silver letter opener engraved with "Best Senior, 1948" at the annual senior party.

The University of Texas annual homecoming week, called Round-Up, came early this year—and so did the float! Every year many organizations on the campus, including many fraternities and sororities, enter floats in the parade. This year the Delta Zetas of Alpha Tau used a Mother Goose theme with a large replica of a Mother Goose book and six characters. The Cornibes were dressed as Little Boy Blue and Little Jack Horner, Camille Davis as Little Miss Muffet, Ann Fairchild McManus as Little Bo-Peep, Diane Dudley as Mary, Mary Quite Contrary, Humpty-Dumpty was a papier-mâché creation of the Cornibes. The whole sorority made crepe paper flowers for days before the Round-Up because the façade around the lower part of the truck had to be covered with them. We all slept for a week after the float was finished. But for Betty Harris, our float chairman, the thing might never have been finished!

We were happy to have Miss Helen Coleman appointed as our province director, and the fact that she lives on the campus with us makes it doubly enjoyable.

Hear now the sad tale of our peacock, Knave. We got him last Valentine's Day and tied him securely, we thought, in the wire cage at the back of the garage. But the next morning our beautiful peacock flew the coop very unceremoniously. For three days we talked to people who called in response to our notices in the student paper and at the police station. But no Knave. Finally one day someone frantically called us and told us to come and get our bird off her roof. We chased that wary bird 10 blocks before we cornered him and carried him home in triumph. He stayed just a week and went away again. He was last sighted flying north low over the tower of the Main Building; any Delta Zetas in the northern provinces finding one unknown peacock will please return him to Alpha Tau, 1704 West Avenue, Austin, Texas.

Oddenda: President Peggy Crooke was tapped for Mortar Board recently . . . Ann Fairchild McManus ran for student secretary this semester . . . Ann, Louise Caldwell, Caroline Mogford, and Annabelle Fuchs, all Aqua-Belles, swam their water ballet in Tyler under the sponsorship of the Junior Chamber of Commerce . . . We had open houses for Phi Kappa Sigma, Lambda Chi Alpha, and Theta Xi since we last talked . . . our in-house spring formal was a big success . . . quite often during the semester the girls get together and have Sunday night supper as most of the houses and dormitories do not serve on Sunday nights. . . .

Southwestern University— Gamma Zeta

Gamma Zeta chapter down at Southwestern University has lots of news to report to you for our spring semester, rounding up another year of Delta Zeta friendship.

Our annual Spring formal turned out to be a huge success. Everyone kept busy for more than a month, planning and working diligently, thinking of new ideas. Finally, on May 8, they were put together into what we think was one of the most beautiful and successful formals on the campus.

The theme was based on a garden scene—a white sky and numerous stars up above shed soft blue light on the dancers, and little white picket fences encircled the dance floor, behind which ornate garden furniture was placed. A rock wall and weeping willow branches add to the picture's effectiveness, as did an arbor entrance with an archway of honeysuckle and roses. Nearby stood a wishing well covered with wisteria in a beautiful mist of Spanish moss. At the far end of the dance floor was a platform surrounded by willows. On it stood a tall silver  $\Delta Z$  entwined with tiny roses.

It is customary to announce the Dream Girl of Gamma Zeta to the guests at the annual formal, and it was from this platform that Judy Puckett, senior from Mineola, Texas, was presented as "Dream Girl of 1948." Her court consisted of the presidents of each of the five sororities on the campus, with their escorts, our Delta Zeta Beauty for this year, Betty King, and Southwestern University All-School Beauty for this year, Georgia Hegar. A large bouquet of carnations and Killarney roses was presented Judy by last year's Dream Girl, Betty King, after which "Dream Girl of Delta Zeta" was sung by the entire chapter.

This Spring formal sums up a wonderful year for us here at Gamma Zeta. We treasure each of the memories we have had together in our work and play, and we are looking forward with anxious anticipation to next year, and all that it may bring.

Gamma Zeta has really worked hard during the baseball intramurals, despite rainy weather and a few casualties. It was lots of fun to compete with the other organizations and although we did not win top honors, we are aiming for that mark next season.

University of California—Mu

With the beginning of the new semester at "Cal," and rushing over, we are proud to introduce to you four new pledges, Lucille Blancart, Mary Lou Slater, Zoe Henderson, and Shirley MacAree. After pledging an open house was held so families and friends of the new pledges could meet the house girls and the other living groups on campus could be introduced to our new pledges.

We are honored this week by the visit of Mrs. Roscoe Guyot, our new province director. Our initiation will be held Sunday, April 4, while she is visiting, and the Mothers' club is planning a party for her April 6. The most important event of the week will be a formal tea at the chapter house on April 8, honoring Mrs. Guyot and presenting her to our friends on "Cal" campus.

Our social functions so far this semester have been very successful. On Sunday, March 7, we had a fraternity open house to which we invited about half the fraternities on campus. A committee planned refreshments and dancing lasted until nine o'clock. This is the first open house of its type held on "Cal" campus and since it proved to be so successful, other living groups have started having these functions, too.

Plans for our spring formal are now being completed, and we all look forward to that night, May 14. It will be at the Mira Vista country club in El Cerrito.

Right now, Mu chapter is floating in midterms, so until national convention this summer, goodbye.

University of California, Los Angeles—Alpha Chi

Alpha Chi began the spring semester by pledging nine girls. They are Jean Bennets, Betty Haymaker, Sally Jaggard, Betty Klitzing, Joyce Mulrooney, Dorothy Price, Dolores Smith, Gwen Thomas, and Barbara Wilson. Next to pledging these wonderful girls, our most thrilling experience was initiating 12 girls into the active chapter.

ALPHA CHI'S HOME

was married to Jay Phillips, Jr., on May 14; Eunice Johnson is Mitchell Gilbert's bride.

The chapter is looking forward to the annual spring formal, the "Moonlight Mood," which will take place in the Crystal Room of the Beverly Hills Hotel May 15. On May 21 the pledges are giving the initiates a dance at the chapter house—a "Bohemian Dance" with everyone in costume.

The girls are planning many activities over the summer months. Some will work, while others, like Janet Elliott who is going to Lake Tahoe, will spend their time away from home, loafing in the sun.

Best wishes then, to all the chapters and may you all have a very happy summer vacation.

San Jose State College—Gamma Lambda

On February 1, 36 coeds from San Jose State College were pledged by Mu chapter, University of California, to the new Gamma Lambda chapter of Delta Zeta. The initiation took place February 26 and 27. Members of the first national sorority to colonize on the campus, we were accepted with welcoming arms.

To start the ball rolling in the right direction, we pledged six girls to the chapter. The next event was the installation of the chapter officers by Mrs. Roscoe Guyot, our province director.

We then dated our social calendar to its fullest. The major project was preparing for the Spardi Gras, an annual spring event at San Jose State. There were several barbecues and informal get-togethers at the homes of some of the members and alumnae. Alpha Chi Omega invited us for refreshments at the close of one of our weekly meetings.

University of Washington—Kappa

We Kappa girls are continuing enthusiastic representation of our chapter by active participation in campus activities. At the present time we are taking the initial preparatory steps for exhibiting our talent and originality in the approaching Song Fest and Sophomore Carnival. Three of our girls showed their dancing ability by their outstanding performance in the University Dance-Drama Show. They are Gloria Wiggers, Dolores Decker, and Lucille Badda. Lucille, who played the male lead, was applauded as the star of the show.

Lucille Badda is doubly honored this month, for she was pledged to Mu Phi Gamma, fine arts honorary.

When the Delta Zetas in Oregon invited us to their State Day luncheon, we wholeheartedly responded and 10 of us were able to share their inspiring day. We were made to feel very much at home in Portland.

Thanks to an alumna, we had the honor of playing hostess to four distinguished and charming British actors from an English Shakespearean company which played in Seattle. They were humorous and entertaining and very impressed with sorority life. I am sure that all of us now have a deeper and fonder appreciation of Shakespeare.

Carol Dooley and Alex Morrison are the two girls to whom we bestowed pledge pins at the end of informal rush. The last of the quarter also finds us with newly elected officers as follows: Dolores Decker, president; Barbara Bates, vice-president; Phoebe Sether, record-

When we were initiated we had no idea who had talent and who did not—but, we were pleasantly surprised to find that several of our members and pledges had much to offer. Carolyn Bull played the piano in a trio at the Annual Chamber Music concert. Jovanne Bellingeri sang in one of the musical productions, "Robin Hood," produced by the music and drama departments. Two of our members, Adele Thompson and Ruth McQueen, were models at a fashion show sponsored by the Associated Women Students.

In the way of scholastic honors Carolyn Bull was initiated to Mu Phi Epsilon, a chapter of the women's music honor society. Delta Nu Theta, home economics honor society for majors, initiated Alida Morse.

Bay City alumnae held a breakfast in honor of the June graduates of the Mu and Gamma Lambda chapters. Beverly Hansen, our only senior, attended.

The alumnae chapter of San Jose sponsored a tea, which resulted in the pledging of nine girls to Gamma Lambda chapter. Five of the "old" pledges will be initiated: Peggy Brady, Oakland; Carolyn Bull, San Jose; Isabel Hughes, Soquel; Lillian Place, San Mateo; Pat Smith, San Jose. After the formal initiation a banquet will be given by the San Jose alumnae in their honor.

Gamma Lambda is looking forward to its first dance, the Pledge Dance, to be held in the Spartan Room at the Hotel Sainte Claire, as climax of the first four months as Delta Zetas.

We offer our thanks to the San Jose alumnae and to our faculty advisers for all the help they have given us. We are sure we will be a very successful group on the campus, scholastically as well as socially.

Oregon State College—Chi

Arleen Frogley's election as one of the four princesses of the Junior Prom was a highlight of the year for Chi chapter. Beautiful, blonde Arleen, an education major, is from Salem.

We miss our housemother, Mrs. Perry C. Hopper, this term. She has taken a vacation and will tour the United States. We had a going-away party for her and presented her with a gift. She will be back with us next fall. Meanwhile our substitute housemother is Mrs. Duthey.

With finals over and the new term begun, our new officers are getting started in their duties. Our president is Vera Bishop, vice-president last year and prominent on campus as a leader in the Home Economics club and Associated Women Students, and day editor of the Barometer. She received an award for being an outstanding day editor.

BIRMINGHAM

The Birmingham Panhellenic's annual spring luncheon was mentioned in our last letter, but with such exciting developments, we must say more. Kessler's department store of Birmingham is putting on a fashion show for us. We are using as models girls from each sorority from Howard and Birmingham-Southern colleges. Alpha Pi is sending a very charming young lady, Ola Ella Reese. Mr. Kessler is going to New York to buy outfits suitable for each girl. They are also doing all the decorating and are giving each guest a small bottle of perfume. As Gwin Moxley MacKay (Mrs. Jack), A I, is serving as president of Birmingham Panhellenic this year, you can see why we are so excited over our spring luncheon plans.

The girls of Alpha Pi are just the smartest ones. They, with the help of some boys, ladders and paint (donated by the father of one of the girls) have painted the entire interior of their house. It is lovely and really looks professional. The alumnae and "actives" are giving a benefit bridge party to buy new slip covers and draperies.

Susie Gullede Moxley (Mrs. Richard), A II, has been elected first vice-president of the American Association of University Women, Ethelyn Oliver McGowan (Mrs. Frank), A II, was elected to the board of directors.

Annabell Hendon Hollingsworth (Mrs. Sam O.) had an Easter egg hunt for many of the small fry of Delta Zeta mothers at her home in Roebuck. She has just the yard for such an occasion.

We enjoyed a visit from Mrs. J. C. Grimes, 9th Province Director, who is a most helpful and charming person.

Helen Harrell has been re-elected president of Alpha Pi. We hope you will get to know her at convention because we in Birmingham think she is a Delta Zeta of whom we can all be proud.

CHICAGO

Installation of Gamma Mu chapter at Illinois Institute of Technology and Illinois State Day, all wrapped up in one, have given to Chicagoland Delta Zetas a "once in a life time" event. Each of us considered it a great privilege to attend such an affair. We received inspiration from our national officers, and a feeling of inward satisfaction in adding this fine group of girls as our 66th chapter of Delta Zeta.

The Chicago alumnae assisted with the pledging of college members and alumnae of Sigma Omicron Lambda, the local sorority at Illinois Tech. Extension vice-president, Marguerite Havens, officiated and Gene Larson, our newly appointed director of Province VII, Margaret Weichel, Toni Hewes, Benita Kleiner, Lucile Peterson and Shirley Oyen conducted the service at the home of Shirlee Langill, president of the Lambdas. Shirlee and Miss Spencer, faculty sponsor, were the first pledges.

Our sincere thanks go to Ruth Simering, installation chairman, and her committee members, Frances Benowicz, Mary Lou Vineyard, Shirley Oyen, Margaret Weichel and Hazel Buffmire; and our deepest gratitude goes to Marguerite Havens who made all of this possible for us.

Our benefit bridge was a most successful affair, thanks to the hard work of Fran Benowicz and her committee of Edna Salmen, Edith Schramm, Joan Higham, Dorothy Mohr and Jenny Ritter. The profits from this event go toward the purchase of a Microtone hearing aid for eight-year-old Lois. Securing this aid is a big undertaking on our part, for it will mean an expenditure of $150. We gave our wholehearted support to this benefit because of our desire in making Lois' life a little more interesting for her.

Although the Chicago area is already divided into five alumnae groups, we find there is still a need for another one, so Verna Kummer with the help of Camille Gibbs is organizing an afternoon group. Verna opened her home for a dessert-bridge party for this newly formed alumnae club, which has been planned especially for members unable to attend evening meetings. This is opened to all Delta Zetas living in Chicago and suburbs.

Doris Reichel, publicity chairman of the South Side group, writes that they held a White Elephant sale and with the proceeds purchased six dozen diapers, to be sent to Norway along with the layettes. On the south side the girls have been following the practice of serving dessert to the members on arrival at the home of the hostess, after which business is transacted, followed by a social evening.

Incidentally, Doris is now handling correspondence for "R.F.D. America," a new radio program for which she supervises selection of contestants, drawn from a different state each week, besides her numerous activities with the Quiz Kids.

Our Chicago alumnae treasurer, Hazel Thomas, has been very much up in the clouds lately. She and Elmer Glenn are to be married this summer and will live on the south side.

Elma Larson will soon be returning from an extended visit to Peru, South America, where she has been visiting her brother in Lima.

In closing I wish to add a note concerning our Delta Zeta junior auxiliary, made up of alumnae who have been graduated since 1940. This group is opened to all girls in Chicago and suburbs. Meetings are held on the second Thursday night each month. Marie Novy heads the group with Gloria Weber, treasurer and Lorraine Aichinger, social chairman. Our "juniors" have had a very successful benefit and a theatre party this year. We are proud of them!

CLEVELAND

February brought the work meetings. The West Side group met at the home of Mary Ristine Coleman (Mrs. William H.), A, and did handwork on "nighties," and kimonos. Sally Beach (Mrs. Robert A.), F A, formulated plans for West Side Book Club to have its first meeting with Dorothy Shannon May (Mrs. R. E.), Θ, April 13.

The East Side meeting was held at the home of Ethel Boros, Θ. Layette garments were worked on and taken home by the girls to finish. Plenty of social talk went the refreshments.

Plenty of work went into the arrangements for the benefit bridge parties for the Norwegian project. It is a pleasure when there is such a successful turnout. On Friday night, March 12, there were two bridge parties on the East Side—one at the lovely home of our president, Lee Goff Hall (Mrs. Charles A.), A II, where they had 21 tables, and the other with Sally Bowen Nixon (Mrs. Crawford), A, where there were 10 tables. Table prizes were note paper. Door prizes were donated. They were highlighted by a hat made by Arlyn Pearson Huston (Mrs. C. R.), Θ, and earrings by Mary Phillips Cunningham (Mrs. Phelps), A Φ. Ice cream with "yummy" sauce and cookies were served. Sally Nixon and her committee are to be congratulated.

The West Side bridge was on the afternoon of March 13 at the home of Dorothy V. Berry (Mrs. James), T, in Clifton Park. The lovely tea table was very inviting with cake, nuts and mints. The door prizes were donated with half the guests as winners. Dorothy Berry headed the committee.

There was a supper meeting at the home of Edith King Clinton (Mrs. W. H.), A P, on March 23. It was a social evening with Lillian Clark giving reviews of several books, including "Raintree County" by Lockridge and "The Ides of March" by Wilder. Everyone is quite enthusiastic about supper meetings, so we may see more of them.

COLUMBUS

As the nation paused to pay tribute to that illustrious statesman who swung the hatchet into the cherry tree, Sheila Flaherty swung into action as president of Columbus alumnae. And she did so with the same conviction and courage as George Washington did at Valley Forge, not so long ago as history goes.

Our February meeting was held in connection with a musical and tea at the home of Vesta Griffiths. This is our one afternoon meeting of the year. The music was furnished by Marion Goetz, Betty Myers and Dorothy McNulty. At the tea table a little almond, with a new look, brought "oh's" and "ah's" from all whose taste buds made her acquaintance. She wore an outfit of crystal sugar interspersed with cinnamon. At this party we said good-bye to our former president, Dorothy Weygant, whose husband's work takes them to Ashland, Kentucky. Dorothy gave valiant service to Columbus alumnae and we regret this loss—but rejoice in that it is our neighboring state of Kentucky that gains her.

Thelma Derrer Ross brings honor to Columbus alumnae. Beginning with 1948 "Ted" became "high priestess" of Thea Court of Columbus, Ohio, Ladies of the Oriental Shrine of North America. For a number of years "Shrine work" has been a sacrament to Thelma but now that feeling is mingled with the responsibilities of an executive office.

Ruth Young White was asked by Theta Sigma Phi to present a brief résumé of highlights of her foreign Red Cross work during the war to the Matrix Table and their guests. All Delta Zetas present, and there were many, were proud of her.

A brief business session was held March 9 at the chapter house. Hastily finishing up the business we joined the Mothers' Club who met in an adjoining hall to listen to a book review. Mrs. Claude Shortz reviewed The Garrison Chronicle and as a reviewer has long since dropped her amateur card. One statement she made shall be immortal with us: "Be proud of the place where you are and make that place proud to have you there." To this thought we add a fervent "Amen."

The weddings, births and adoptions of Columbus alumnae reported to this editor are to be found in the columns provided for such information at the end of this issue.

The committee on Ohio State Day, to be held May 22 in Columbus, has plans well under way. The Fort Hayes Hotel, selected to serve as headquarters, is located not far from Union Station. It is our sincere wish that all Ohio Delta Zetas will set aside this day to be in Columbus to "pow-wow." Following registration at 9:30 we will assemble in two groups to exchange experiences and methods of smoking the peace pipe. At noon we join for a tribunal feast and further "pow-wow." The day promises to be helpful with sorority problems, inspirational and the renewing of acquaintances. Then:

We will come to the end of a Delta Zeta Day
Which should long remain in our thoughts
And we will each go our separate way
With the joy the day has brought.

For Delta Zeta means sisters at work and play
And friendships that never fade
We will clasp at the end of the D.Z. Day
The hands of the friends we have made.

SHEILA FLAHERTY, president

DENVER

Aside from the regular business sessions of the chapter, Denver alumnae have had some excellent programs this year which might give others of you helpful ideas for the fall. A number of these has been presented by talent within our group, as the program chairman uncovers our past as well as present activities.

Marcella Cadwell, "alum prexy," presented an interesting talk on Gems and Jewels, with some family heirlooms to illustrate her subject. Esther Stoddard, a Delta Zeta mother and alumna, gave a review of The Stars Incline, novel by Clyde Byron Davis. Another program was given over to a review of vacation trips and summer travels. American Glass and Porcelain was the topic used to introduce Clarisse Gardner, a former Phi Omega Pi, at the spring meeting. Clarisse and her husband, Dr. Tom, have turned a hobby into a livelihood and have an antique shop in the heart of Denver. Consequently, her program was also illustrated with fine pieces.

Husbands, too, have been put to work for Delta Zeta. Jean Newman's husband, Jack, who was able to take a good many colored pictures while overseas in the China-Burma-India area, was kind enough to show us his Kodachrome slides. Della Seelander's husband, Carl, cooperated in a similar manner with moving pictures of Wyoming in color. A fur fashion display by a Denver furrier featured our president, Marcella Cadwell, as a model at another of our meetings. So, as you see, we have had a number of very good reasons for attending Delta Zeta alumnae meetings regularly. It is our hope to continue this delving into people's private lives in furthering the program plans for next year.

Our money-making scheme for the year is the spring bingo party. On the side we continue to give Lucille Cohen all magazine subscriptions, which also aids our treasurer.

The hearing aid project was given added impetus after a recent visit to the Evans School of Denver where "exceptional children," as they are called, are given free instruction in lip-reading, and taught how to express themselves without benefit of normal hearing.

With convention the keynote of our next meeting we will not lack for subject material.

We're expecting Evelyn A. Costello (Mrs. Russell T.), national secretary, and/or Helen Call, our province

JOY HOWLAND, photographed at 18 hours of age, was born Valentine's Day, 1948, to Dr. and Mrs. Joseph E. Howland of Des Moines, Iowa. Joy's mother, Virginia Hornby Howland, B A '40, editor for Des Moines alumnae, wrote a letter for the LAMP the day her offspring was expected.

EUREKA

Eureka alumnae chapter started its school year activities by assisting the active chapter with all rush parties. At the conclusion of rushing, we took charge of the preparation and serving of the annual pledge banquet.

During the year one of our projects has been to gather up and send two boxes of children's used clothing to needy persons in Holland. Another project has been baking cookies for the teas held by Pi chapter.

At Pi's 31st birthday dinner February 22 we were pleased to see so many out-of-towners back for our meeting. Following the dinner election of officers was held in the chapter room.

Mary Helen Rice Deck is president; Erma White Pioletti, vice-president; Laurel McKittrick Mangold, secretary; Elene Welsh Brandon, treasurer; Betty Crabtree, Pi-Pickups editor; Janet Jones Smith, LAMP editor.

On display at the birthday dinner was our gift to the chapter room, a lovely, large hassock.

Engagement of one of our members, Vista Kaufman, to Walter H. Gillan of Mackinaw, Illinois, was recently announced.

In the past months several of our members have moved from Eureka. At the same time we have been joined by some Delta Zetas whose husbands are now in college at Eureka, so our group is still large enough to get lots done and, incidentally, have a grand time doing it!

FOOTHILL

We are once again in the midst of exciting preparations for our annual spring luncheon for our friends of the Braille Club of Pasadena. To the Braille Club the name "Delta Zeta" means friendly help, sympathy, and entertaining parties. They don't know us all by name but, when we say by way of introducing ourselves, "I am a Delta Zeta," immediately we hear, "Oh, you gave us those lovely flowers at the party," or, "Thank you so much for the pretty birthday card." Dorothy Painter Truesdail, H, sends out about 60 birthday cards during the year to the Braille Club members. This year we are again holding the party at the First Methodist Church in Pasadena. The girls are making corsages of spring flowers for all the women and will pin boutonnières on the coats of the men. This year we are entertaining them between courses with a community sing, which everyone enjoys very much. Harrene (Sally) Hunter Harvey, A I, has been chairman of our Braille committee for the past year and her co-workers are Frances Burpee Jones, K; Lobelia St. Germain Bishop, A Δ; Goldes Kischel Wyre, X; Peggy Hodge Winkler, M; Winnifred Clark Horner, A X; Marguerite Sims Yost, M; and Dorothy Walker Scott, E, who acts as adviser.

One of our most active and helpful members came to us from Cleveland, Ohio. Roberta Peterson Adams, A Δ, volunteered to help in whatever way she could. She goes regularly one Monday each month to the Braille Institute of America and stays all day to help with the blind people. Our publicity chairman, she volunteered to read two hours a week, for many weeks, to a Pasadena City College student, who is sightless and needs a great deal of reading to carry on his class work. Lobelia Bishop and I also read to the young man and, because he is such a good student and so alert and thoughtful, we find we are all mutually benefited. Besides the Braille committee and Roberta, Jane Giguette Sisson, A X, and Lenore Calthun Pearman, T, go regularly to the Braille Institute each week. We have several alternates who have helped whenever they were needed. They are Jane Price Harrelson, A X, Kathryn Peetz Dyche, X, Mary Jennings Stout, A X, Helen Morris Hansen, A X, and Beatrice Wheeler Hymer, A I.

Jane Harrelson is the mother of a son, Ronald Lee, born February 9, so she has had to give up her Delta Zeta activities for a while.

Goldes Wyre is recording secretary for Monrovia Panhellenic. Its March meeting was a "guest night" affair and Goldes invited Jane Sisson, our president, to be her guest. They were entertained with a smart, up-to-the-minute fashion show from McBratney's, the largest and most important store in Monrovia.

We are looking forward to the Delta Zeta State Day luncheon, which will be held in the Ship Room at the Huntington Hotel, Pasadena on April 17. Catharine McDaniel (Mrs. Howard), state chairman for Southern California, has asked Jane Sisson to be general chairman with Marion Wilson Hodge, M, and Alex Fraser Nelson, M, as her assistants. Floral decoration of the tables is under the competent management of Frances Jones and her committee. Catharine has promised an interesting program and we are all looking forward with pleasure to the great day.

Fourteen of us gathered at the home of Lobelia Bishop recently to pose for some group photographs which will soon appear in our local newspaper, together with a feature story on Delta Zeta State Day and, of course, the activities and philanthropies of our own alumnae chapter. We certainly enjoyed having our pictures taken and were pleasantly surprised afterwards with a delightful informal tea served by our hostess. With the exception of Winnifred Horner, all the Braille committee were present, with Jane Sisson; Lenore Pearman, chapter corresponding secretary; Dorothy Harridge Boening, A A, our Panhellenic delegate; Helen Sopp Ramsay, M, one of the committee for State Day; Alex Nelson, and Betsy Bradley Leach, A I, national alumnae vice-president.

For the first time we are sending our own delegate to the national convention at Swampscott, Massachusetts. We are so happy to be represented and feel it is more than worth the effort we have made to expand our membership, our philanthropies, and a feeling of good fellowship.

May Delta Zetas everywhere renew their efforts to bring peace and understanding to a troubled world!

MARCUERITE YOST, editor
JANE SISSON, president

FORT WAYNE

In our last letter we tried to tell you of some of our members who keep the home fires burning and carry on community activities at the same time. We thought you might now be interested in hearing of some of the other members of our group who are engaged in careers, though it must be admitted some of them do an excellent job of combining a career and a home.

Foremost, we are proud that we have a few teachers in our group. In this day of scarcities, we are particularly grateful that we have some fine people following this profession and influencing young hopefuls to enter it. Betty Lowry, E, is one excellent example. To be around Betty very long makes you immediately certain, if you are a parent, that you would offer a little prayer that your child would be one of the lucky ones who would have her as a teacher. Never failing in friendliness, good humor, and enthusiasm, Betty is someone we are really proud to have represent us in this field. In addition to school and home responsibilities, Betty always has time to serve on a committee when asked, and you can rest assured that she is always asked. AAUW is probably her foremost hobby, and in addition to service on innumerable committees, she had held various offices, chief of which was treasurer for three years and sectional chairman for a year, both of which carry board membership, and membership on the important Day Nursery committee. Very active in church affairs, Betty recently volunteered her help in a city-wide religious survey. She also finds time for Eastern Star and White Shrine, to say nothing of the purely social affairs that naturally come her way, and these in themselves are legion.

In speaking of teachers we cannot refrain from commenting on one who has deserted the teaching field, at least temporarily. But then who can blame her? We are referring to Donna Irscher, E, who spent Easter in Cuba, Christmas in Mexico, and then sun basked in Florida in between. Donna and her mother are really "seeing America" this year and we would all like to be doing the same.

Evelyn Schof, A, is an example of a perfect secretary, one who always looks as well as acts the part. Evelyn carries many responsibilities and does not always have time to come to meetings but you can often see her modeling at some benefit, particularly Panhellenic.

Eleanor Richards, Δ, is one who successfully combines the responsibilities of her home with the demands of a career. She is a social worker in the local Department of Public Welfare, where she carries responsibilities for an old age and blind assistance case load as well as a caseload of dependent children. In addition to actual contacts with her own clients Eleanor has to plan for mental hygiene clinics, visit schools, physicians, court officials and laymen. She finds her work with the Crippled Children's program and hospitalization cases the most challenging. You will see Eleanor at any local welfare conference or program and she serves as secretary for the Allen County Social Workers Association. She also finds time for church activities, Eastern Star, De Molay Mothers, Panhellenic, and certainly, her family. Her son who was an outstanding football player at his high school, is in his first year at Purdue and occasionally Eleanor finds time to visit him. On week ends when she doesn't, I am assured that the Richards' larder is sufficiently well-stocked to withstand "surprise" onslaughts not only by Bob but by any friends he may unexpectedly decide to bring home for the week end.

Olga Morrill, Ψ, is in business with her husband, an indispensable part of the team. Olga is in really big business, with frequent trips to New York and other interesting places, which the rest of us envy her, and wish we had chosen the manufacturing field. Olga, too, has sons; one in the Army and the other in his last year at high school.

Gwen Roberts, E, has chosen YWCA work as her field and is at our local "Y." Much of her work is at night so we seldom see her, but we know she is making a really worth while contribution, and we frequently read of the many things she does.

Pearl Meyer rightfully belongs in the "home fire" group but her recent appointment is so unique and we are so pleased about it that it almost comes under the career classification. Pearl was appointed as a member of the City Plan commission. Pearl is the only woman serving on this five-member board and the appointment was unsolicited. The work of this commission is most important to the growth of our city and we are very proud to have representation on it. To quote the newspaper clipping "Mrs. Meyer, who for years has been active in civic matters, has been a resident of Fort Wayne for more than 30 years. She came to the city as dietitian for the YMCA, and had charge of installing the dining facilities. She attended Indiana university, is a member of AAUW, and serves on the Volunteer Leadership Training committee of the YWCA. She served as a major during the last Community Chest campaign and has held various offices in the Parent Teachers organizations. She has also been active in the Bethany Presbyterian church." It might be added, in addition to the above, that Pearl's chief extra curricular activity is her young granddaughter.

Your editor is another who tries to combine home making and a career, not always too successfully. The family consists of a husband, two sons, a recently acquired daughter-in-law, and a mother who does much towards keeping the home fires up. The job is that of a consultant for the State Department, of Public Welfare, a field job involving supervision of 16 county welfare units. Professional memberships include AAUW, American Association of Social Workers, Social Workers club, Business and Professional Women's club, board member of State Conference of Social Work and one or two others that are for relaxation only.

There are many more as interesting, of course, but time does not permit. We all band together to make our organization a real one in this community.

GERTRUDE GIFFIN, president

HOUSTON

Spring has come to Houston and flowers are everywhere, especially on our Delta Zeta alumnae's new Easter bonnets, in evidence at our March luncheon last week at River Oaks Country Club where Charlotte Latimer, Ruth Faris, Franke Schlosser and Ella Mae Moore were hostesses. Rushing plans were made for the summer under the able direction of Rhea Schultz, rush chairman.

Our February meeting was also a luncheon, this time at the Houston Club, with Grace Davant, Ruth Horrigan, Vivian Boettcher, and Lillian Sheldon the hostesses. About 30 alumnae were present and were very happy to have as their guest, Helen Kiglitlinger of Alpha chapter, who has spent the past winter in Houston with relatives since the death of her husband last July.

We are very proud of Virginia Grubbs Noel, Alpha Tau alumna, who is president and organizer of the Houston Junior Bar auxiliary and a full-fledged lawyer herself. Another of our alumnae is making a name for herself in radio. She is Anna K. Chase, A B, who is directing a very popular program for teen-agers here.

We have had two weddings in our chapter. Nita Jeffrey is now Mrs. Allen Durham and Nelda Bachle's new name is Moffatt.

A Delta Zeta Mothers' club has been organized in Houston, for all mothers of Delta Zetas in Texas colleges. At a coffee party given by Marguerite Dupuy recently Mrs. Cecil Hilliard was elected president; Mrs. Martin McCain and Mrs. Grady L. Jordan, vice-presidents; and Mrs. S. P. Eminian, secretary and treasurer. Mrs. Gordon McLeod and Mrs. C. A. Chase had charge of the organization of the group.

LINCOLN

Delta Zeta alumnae have had a happy and busy winter sewing on layettes for Norway, and enjoying a covered-dish dinner meeting each month.

November was such a joyous time, because it was our privilege to help entertain National Panhellenic Conference delegates. The plans were all quite successful and after visiting with each delegate, who in turn gave us inspiration and help, never again will they be to us just names in the Delta Zeta LAMP.

December was our Christmas dinner with exchange of gifts, at the home of Trena Olsen Widger (Mrs. Charles F.). A shower of jams and jellies for the college chapter and money for its Silver fund were our Christmas gifts to them.

January meeting was a dinner meeting at the home of Arolene Anderson (Mrs. Clifford). The program was given by members of Beta Tau chapter.

The February meeting was a dinner at the chapter house in honor of the 20 pledges. The college chapter assisted. Such a group of happy talented girls, 48 in all, and with 20 alumnae the house seemed full to overflowing.

The March meeting was at the home of Doris Wallace (Mrs. David), at Huskerville. How we did enjoy going out to her home and meeting her G.I. husband, who is taking architecture at Nebraska University. In fairness to Vinta Harrell Penton (Mrs. C. A.) who is alumnae president, we have seemed much closer to the college chapter this year. Having a daughter, Phyllis, in the group would account for her interest, but she was not satisfied with that. She formed and acted as president for a Mothers' Club, which has also carried on a busy and profitable program.

April 20 has been set for Nebraska State Day, which will be observed in Omaha, with Mrs. Louis Kavanagh, state chairman, in charge of arrangements. Many Lincoln alumnae are planning to attend.

At this time of writing Lincoln Delta Zetas are thrilled and proud at the honor which has come to one of our members. Sue Worrall (Mrs. B. K.) has been elected the new state regent of the Nebraska Daughters of the American Revolution. Mrs. Worrall is a member of the faculty of Northeast High school.

This week the latest LAMP arrived with plans and pictures of convention. I am sure every Delta Zeta who reads the program will wish to attend.

Our best wishes for a successful New England convention.

LONG BEACH

Our February meeting was held at the home of charming Daphne Stout Turk (Mrs. Herman), A Σ, with assistant hostesses Delphina Fatjo Hoffman (Mrs. Nikolaus), A X, Ruth Ann Brown (Mrs. Winn), A X, and Betty Brown McMorris (Mrs. James), K. An evening meeting, it was a dessert bridge. Daphne is a war widow and a very busy girl, what with teaching and caring for two little boys. She showed us many interesting souvenirs that her husband had sent her during his travels overseas. An enjoyable evening of bridge followed the short business meeting.

In March we met at the home of Lorraine Holtz Nichols (Mrs. Theodore), Z, for a delightful luncheon meeting. Lorraine was ably assisted by Susanna Hoffman Bouchier (Mrs. Harry), A X, Betty Kenney Hollopeter (Mrs. Lee), A X, and Vida Nicholes Wells (Mrs. Don), Ω. They really had a big affair on their hands as there were 41 there! Ruth Bauman Pawson (Mrs. Edward), A I, our president, announced the granting of our two new chapters at Memphis, Tennessee and San Jose, California. Ruth also introduced several guests: Miss Jo Saylor, A, friend of Rene Sebring Smith, A, from Glendale alumnae; Mrs. Holtz, mother of Lorraine Nichols; Helen Brewer Olson (Mrs. Roland), Irene Hensberger Frost (Mrs. Arthur), Evelyn Mason (Mrs. Ronald), all former Phi Omega Pis; Miss Frances Adams, also a former Phi Omega Pi from U.C.L.A. and now a teacher in Santa Monica. Another guest was Evelyn Watson Lanz, B Z from the University of Utah, and Flo Hazzard of Baldwin, Kansas. It was grand having so many new girls and we like our new Phi Omega Pi initiates very much.

Rene Sebring Smith rejoined us and it was good to have her back. Grand to see Ida Deppman, K, too. She will be one of the hostesses next month at Natalie Farrell Wilmott's (Mrs. William), A X, along with Nina Chaplin Hudson (Mrs. Wallace), A X, and Helen Short Bracht, A X.

Announcement was made of the marriage of Susanne Sampson, A X, to George Cunningham of Long Beach March 6 in Yuma, Arizona. Susanne's parents, Ken and Audrey Davies Sampson, A I, gave a reception in their honor at Lakewood Country club. Since George is attending Whittier College, the young couple will live in Whittier. We all wish them much happiness.

Let's see what other news we have to report. The William Wilmotts (Natalie Farrell) took a trip to Seattle and Victoria last month and had a wonderful time. The Stanley Smiths (Margaret Ross), K, had a delightful week at Carmel, California. There will be more news next time as our group grows and grows, and there will be lots to tell about the new members and their interests.

LONG ISLAND

Delegates for convention! decorations for convention! convention! convention! That seems to be the sole topic of conversation these days. Naturally, we here in the Long Island alumnae chapter are particularly enthusiastic since the big event takes place within our own province, and since we have been asked to take charge of the decorations for the evening dinner on the night of June 29.

Our last meeting (as of this writing) was held March 16 at the home of Doris Borges, A Z. The main discussion, of course, centered around the decorations we have been asked to provide. The theme of the evening will be Delta Zeta's charitable projects, which leaves us with the prospect of incorporating our layettes for overseas, our hearing aids, and our afghan for the "Save The Children Federation." And it presented quite a problem—how in the world can a hearing aid be made attractive enough to serve as a centerpiece? Apparently it couldn't, since no one advanced any ideas in that direction. The most popular project was the three layettes we made and sent to children in Europe. There, imagination ran riot, all the way from stringing lines of paper diapers across the table to dressing small dolls in appropriate European costume. At the end of the discussion, it was decided to appoint a committee of Eleanor Halpern, Alice Michael, Adele Haerberle, Carolyn Graves and Billy Finke to decide on a centerpiece to be completed by the group as a whole at a later meeting.

Next on the agenda was the matter of a delegate to the convention. The unanimous decision was that our next president, Carolyn Graves, was the proper person to represent our group. As for her expenses, there we hit another snag. The high cost of living has affected even our treasury—so we're planning to hold a rummage sale sometime in May so we may send Carolyn off in style.

Chapter-members will attend the theatre in May. At present writing it looks as if Strange Bedfellows will hold their undivided attention.

There has been little activity between the last report and this, because of the abundance of that "white fluff" that looks lovely only on Christmas day. We had to postpone our January meeting, although we were able to hold a successful bridge at Eunice Weidner's home late in the month.

That's all there is to report, but the months ahead promise great activity and much grist for my mill."

LOS ANGELES

We of Los Angeles Alumnae chapter are celebrating the close of the fiscal year with 119 paid members. Our activities have been many—as a group and as individuals.

Some have sent boxes of clothing and food to Holland and Norway. Perhaps, the more unusual letters from the recipients will be available for publication in another issue. Marjorie Arthur Johnson (Mrs. Robert L.), A I, 10 Berkeley Square, Los Angeles, California has been appointed by the National Council of Delta Zeta as chairman of the Western Area for shipment of packages to Norway. Members who have clothing, but not enough to make a large package, are asked to forward it to Mrs. Johnson for shipment. The next large box will contain clothing for infants and small children.

The Southern California Council of Delta Zeta planned a joint meeting to honor Betsy Bradley Leach (Mrs. Garold), A I, who is now national vice-president. In the receiving line with Mrs. Leach were the presidents of alumnae groups from Foothill, San Fernando, Long Beach, Santa Monica, Los Angeles, East and West Valley. Mrs. Stuppy, A X housemother, Mrs. Smith, A I housemother, Mrs. H. M. Bell, president of Alpha Iota Mothers' Club, and Gladys Marquardt, T, member of Los Angeles alumnae board, presided over the tea table.

Elizabeth Walker Cathcart (Mrs. Daniel B.), A I, lent her beautiful modern American home for our tea honoring graduating seniors from the University of California and the University of Southern California. LaVonne McLain Heghinian (Mrs. Leon), A I, was chairman, Jean Delavan Guyot (Mrs. Roscoe), A I, and Catherine Hayes McDaniel, A I, poured tea. Mrs. Cathcart's flower arrangements in wall niches with indirect lighting caught the attention of all the guests.

Delta Zetas from many points of California and adjoining states had their annual State Day luncheon at the Hotel Huntington, Pasadena. It was especially pleasant to be out-of-doors on the Ship Terrace. The excellent cuisine, musical program, after-luncheon "talks" (not addresses) and the meeting with seldom-seen sisters in Delta Zeta, made all of us glad to be there. The hostesses were the presidents from Southern California alumnae chapters and groups and from our two college chapters, Alpha Chi and Alpha Iota: Ruth Bauman Pawson (Mrs. E. A.), A I, of Long Beach, Bonnie Bobb Newman (Mrs. Homer), A I, of Santa Monica, Jane Giguette Sisson (Mrs. Charles), A X,

THE PHILANTHROPY COMMITTEE

Foothill, Brena Targo Hazzard (Mrs. John), A I, of West Valley, Marion Forsythe Stites (Mrs. Howard), A X, Virginia Hayselden Cook (Mrs. George), A I, of South West Group, Barbara Seibert, A X, Constance Hug of A I, Mrs. Bruce Buhl of Santa Barbara, Esther Litchfield Hatch (Mrs. Vernon) of Orange county. The state chairman and chief hostess, Catherine Hayes McDaniels (Mrs. Howard), deserves much praise for her efficient planning of this important event.

The luncheon honoring mothers and daughters was at the Alpha Chi chapter house. Grace Hester McKnight, A X, chairman of hostesses, planned the delightful affair.

The proceeds from the successful rummage sale sponsored and operated by our active alumnae will be spent for scholarship and philanthropical projects.

Maude Miller Black (Mrs. A. A.), A I, chairman of philanthropy, and her sewing group have completed many aprons, dozens of quilts, layettes, and have repaired and remodeled clothing for the Thrift Shop which is operated for the benefit of the Florence Crittenden Home. During the summer these women have open-air meetings. They have picnic luncheons each Wednesday and then do hand sewing. The picture shows one of these meetings, held at the Cienga Park in Beverly Hills. Some of the very active members were unable to be present when it was taken.

At the June meeting there was the traditional ceremony for the installation of officers of the Los Angeles City alumnae chapter. For the year 1947-1948 officers are: Anne Hartman Thomas (Mrs. Elbert), A I, president; Helen Denny Bowman (Mrs. Herbert), A X, vice-president; Ardath Priddy, A I, recording secretary; Maria Hurlburt Welch (Mrs. John), A X, corresponding secretary; Ruth Plischke Rodriguez (Mrs. John), A X, treasurer; Jacqueline Hall Parr (Mrs. William), A X, Panhellenic delegate; Philomene Chandler Reed (Mrs. Howard), A X, alternate delegate; Marion Richardson, A I, LAMP editor. Committees: Maida Owen Woods (Mrs. Floyd), A X, scholarship; Helen Olson, A I, program; Evelyn Miller Harms (Mrs. William), A X, membership; Dorothy Haserot Smith (Mrs. George), A X, telephone; Mary Gist, A I, Tattler (local news-letter); LaVonne McLain Heghinian (Mrs. Leon), A I, hospitality; Jane Hartman Maddock (Mrs. J. M.), A I, press; Maude Miller Black (Mrs. A. A.), A I, philanthropy; Gladys Marquardt, T, magazine sales; Betty Ann Gaspar Spinner (Mrs. Paul), A X, hostess; Mary Alice Hagerty Williamson (Mrs. Harold), A I, rushing at A I; Ruth Ann Stoll, A X, rushing at A X.

Our retiring press agent, Adelaide Paxton Doran (Mrs. Charles), A X, has originated a publicity scrap book. Her teaching duties have become so many that she could not continue doing our publicity at this time. Well done, we said when we heard that she had contacts with 22 local papers. We hope that she will be successful in her new assignment and may again be able to assist with Delta Zeta board activities.

Betsy Bradley Leach, Jean Delavan Guyot and Anne Hartman Thomas are  $\Delta Z$  convention bound. We are waiting to hear their reports on many new ideas.

LOUISVILLE

Our Louisville Alumnae group is constantly engaged in some activity. It never gives the flame of Delta Zeta sisterly love and friendship a chance to lose its glow.

The January meeting was held downtown at the French Village during the dinner hour. After a delicious meal, we were given a most helpful talk by a very charming woman from one of Louisville's leading beauty salons. Everyone appreciated the suggestions in hair styling and make-up offered by this gracious guest.

In February we met once again in the living room of Beta Gamma chapter house out near the campus. This meeting was highlighted by a manufacturer's representative who demonstrated all kinds of useful brushes and creams, not only for use on one's furniture but also to enhance each Delta Zeta's looks.

The March meeting found us once more in our special corner room at the French Village downtown, where we had lots and lots of business to be discussed and many plans in the offing. Foremost among business was the appointment of a nominating committee to prepare the way toward election of officers to be held at our April meeting.

We were delighted to have the privilege of meeting with our new province director, Mrs. C. G. Ward, during her recent visit to the local chapter. Jenny Steier, for whom I gladly serve as editor pro-tem for this letter, didn't enjoy that privilege however, because she's been spending this winter in Florida.

The college chapter gave its Candlelight Cotillion on February 27 at the Kentucky Hotel and you can't imagine how many alumnae struggled into party-best and came out to shuffle along with the rest. Some even braved the late hours long enough to attend the buffet lunch one of the college chapter-members gave afterward.

On March 21 the college chapter-members again became very charming hostesses to the alumnae when they sponsored a tea at the sorority house in our honor.

We would like for other Delta Zetas to know just how successful we've been with our sale of greeting cards, magazines, gift wrappings, and fancy napkins. Dottie Gaupin and Henrietta Alpiger have been chalking up record sales.

This year our group has accepted with pleasure the invitation to be guests of the Lexington alumnae and Alpha Theta chapter at the Kentucky State Day banquet to be sponsored by them in Lexington on May 8. Let this be all for right now, but we will be back in the next issue to tell you of all we've done between now and then, because we have lots of wonderful plans in the formative stage already.

BETTY LEE SANDERS, editor pro-tem
VERNA McELFRESH, president

MILWAUKEE

The Milwaukee Alumnae chapter has been busy since our last letter and we have many plans in the making for the future.

Our February meeting was something "new" in the way of a downtown dinner meeting followed by bridge. It was such a success that many of the members suggested making it an annual affair. Verna Riggs, T, and Isabel Sweeney Hill (Mrs. Kenneth C.),  $\Theta$ , were the new Delta Zetas welcomed into our group.

The March meeting was held at the home of Ann Marie Tschida Fleisher (Mrs. Elry), T, assisted by Ann Voelkel Rose, A B, Florence Kleczka, T, and Helen Harper, B I. We had a group of students from Wauwatosa High school tell us about the World Federalist movement. These students belong to the only high school group of Federalists in the state and what they told us was very educational and gave us much to think about.

Our president, Mary DeWein Domann, attended a tea given by the Theta Phi Alpha group at Marquette university for their national president, Mrs. Katherine

Our social committee, headed by Arna Groom Karsten, A A, has planned an informal supper party for Delta Zetas, husbands and escorts. We are all looking forward to this, as such parties always prove very pleasant.

One of our travelers, Dickie Haak Loomis, T, has returned from a month's study in Mexico. She attended the Escuela Bellos Artes in San Miguel Allende, a colonial town in the heart of Mexico. It is not as yet too spoiled by Americanisms, but recent publicity (in Life) is increasing the influx of American students and tourists. Dickie enjoyed the sunny weather, personalities, the outdoor classes and side excursions through the country.

Another traveler, Ruth Benz Reimann, T, met with misfortune on her way driving to Florida. She and her father were badly injured in an automobile accident, but we are all happy to know that they are both back home and able to be about again.

Cay Stevens Fink, F, and her husband have just returned from a wonderful 10 days in New York.

Dorothea Schmidt Tiegs, T, has made us very enthusiastic about the Panhellenic Ball to be held May 7. Panhellenic sponsored a ball last year and it proved to be such a success they are looking forward to a much bigger attendance this year.

Elma Morrissey Wake, T, Wisconsin State chairman, has many of her plans made for State Day. It is to be held May 22 at the Pfister Hotel. The speaker will be Elsie Penfield, Alpha Phi of Delta Zeta and the dean of women at Carroll College, Waukesha, Wisconsin. Elma has an interesting program arranged and we are looking forward to seeing many Delta Zetas from over the state, in this, our centennial year.

NEW ORLEANS

Despite recent floods, New Orleans alumnae activity has continued undampened. In fact, we have been well nigh flooded with contributions for layettes. Although we have been progressing well in this field, we hope it is only a start. Thanks, in particular, to Mrs. John O. Miller of Pampa, Texas for the large bundle. Don't forget, you other southern alumnae who are not connected with organized groups, that we are the southern receiving center for all layette material. We should like to send out an S.O.S. for long stockings. Our babies just don't wear 'em down here. They are difficult to find in the stores, and when we do come across them, the price eats a huge slice out of our layette budget.

While we are making appeals, we should also like to ask you to search your vicinity for girls who are thinking of coming to Newcomb college in the fall. If anyone in your town is coming here, please send her name to Mrs. Sue Sustedal, 1128 Nashville Avenue, New Orleans, Louisiana and we promise to welcome her with true southern hospitality, and to do everything in our power to make her stay here a pleasant one.

Lately we have been having a lot of fun with the "actives." Many of us are planning to attend the spring formal; we take turns attending the college chapter meetings; and we've enjoyed informal "rush" luncheons at the rooms every week. At a recent rush party Alumna Gaither McConnell, by day a member of the Newcomb faculty, displayed hitherto unsuspected talents as a gypsy fortune teller. By keeping in close touch with the college girls we feel that we gain a great deal, and hope that occasionally we are able to give them our assistance.

An innovation at alumnae meetings has been our programs. Yvonne Sonneman gave a most interesting resumé of the special training offered by the New Orleans public schools. Budding horticulturists found a talk on the culture of camellias, given by Ethelyn Everett Verlander, both entertaining and informative. And one night we just played records—everything from Dorothy Shay to Brahms.

Please remember our pleas! Long stockings and rushees. We will be deeply appreciative of either. If ever we can do anything for you in return—just give us a chance.

MARION RICE JENSEN, president

NEW YORK CITY

We Delta Zetas of New York City Alumnae chapter were especially honored to have Irene Boughton as guest at the Leap Year tea dance we held at Beekman Towers Hotel in February. Another visitor was Pat Gale, daughter of Bernice Hutchison Gale, national membership vice-president.

Beckman Towers hotel was also the scene of our bridge party, held in April. Local merchants contributed prizes which helped us in our project to secure hearing aids.

This year promises to be a busy one and Frances Bartlett is taking charge as our new president. Marian Keyes becomes vice-president and social chairman; Elaine Gordon, corresponding secretary; Grace Rostagno, treasurer; Anne Pracilio, recording secretary; Tillie Stark, LAMP editor; and May Gegenheimer, Panhellenic representative.

Congratulations go to Dorita Soler on the wonderful work she is doing in bringing us all the "gossip" in the Delta Zeta Newslette as well as compiling a directory which will be helpful to all of us.

Meetings are still being held at the home of Annie Bristow and we would love to see some of those long-absent faces.

TILLIE STARK, editor
FRANCES BARTLETT, president

OKLAHOMA CITY

During the winter we welcomed three new members into our Oklahoma City Alumnae group. Katharyn Steele Lockard, former Phi Omega Pi from the University of Iowa, was initiated at Oklahoma A. & M. last fall. Mrs. Edwin Karhu, formerly of Chicago, and Libby Sido, of El Reno, are from DePauw university.

We are making plans for what we hope will be the biggest State Day we've ever had. It is to be in Oklahoma City on May 8, a luncheon and afternoon meeting, with prizes for the Delta Zeta who comes the farthest to attend and the one who comes from the most distant chapter.

Our city Panhellenic will hold a benefit bridge this spring to aid the Children's Convalescent Home at Bethany, Oklahoma, and our group contributed $5 for a prize. The benefit will take the place of the usual spring luncheon.

For our last meeting of the year we hope to have a big family picnic so our husbands and children may get acquainted.

B. J. STAATS HOOD, editor
PAULINE RYDER LEOPOLD, president

PEORIA

The evening meeting, prefaced by a pot luck ham supper proved very successful. Our last meeting was an afternoon affair at the home of Margaret Wisenand. The hostesses served dessert and the group enjoyed bridge following the business meeting. Our experiment of alternating afternoon and evening meetings seems to meet with approval, so it was voted to continue the arrangement another year.

Peoria is observing Atomic Energy week in April. A number of the alumnae and their husbands are showing a great interest in the American Chemical association exhibit down town, as well as the radio programs, lectures and movies to be sponsored by other organizations in the city.

Esther Stodola is developing an extensive program as chairman of International Relations group of the League of Women Voters.

Many of the alumnae are reading of convention at Swampscott, Massachusetts and wishing they could attend, but upon second thoughts what would they do with the husband, Tom, Jane and Sue? Oh well, someday the family will be reared and then we can attend—we hope!

MARY ELEANOR WOODRUFF, editor
HELEN CLARK, president

PITTSBURGH

It seems as if there's always something going on in the Pittsburgh Alumnae group. Our monthly meetings have been quite interesting, ranging all the way from a demonstration from members of the School for the Blind to a trip to Hawaii by way of the movie projector. Our January meeting was the one which took us to the Paradise of the Pacific with Mrs. Dorothy Councilor. Movies showing this fair island made us forget that it was winter.

A most interesting book review was given by Henrietta Taylor (Mrs. J. K.) at our February meeting. David Fairchild's autobiography The World Is My Garden was reviewed by her. She included many of the interesting and entertaining portions of the book—just enough to whet our appetites.

Also in February we held our traditional Mothers' tea. A Valentine theme was used in the decorations, and the Delta Zeta house looked very lovely. We were happy to have a total of 60 mothers and daughters there. Mary McKenna (Mrs. Thomas) was chairman.

At our March meeting we are planning to help the Mothers' Club with layettes for shipment overseas. A collection will be taken and the money presented to the mothers so they may add to their layettes which they will complete in May.

Of course, we are all looking forward to State Day, which will be held in Pittsburgh this year. April 17 is the big day, and the committee is busy making plans for what promises to be one of the very best. A tour of the interesting points in Pittsburgh will be conducted for the visiting Delta Zetas, followed by luncheon at Webster Hall Hotel. We were fortunate enough to have Miss Irene Boughton, national executive secretary, consent to be speaker at this affair. Later in the afternoon, a tea is being planned, and a dance for the college chapter will end what promises to be a glorious day.

Also in the offing is our annual dessert bridge, planned for May 8.

Among our newest brides in the Pittsburgh alumnae is Betty Haffly, who has changed her name to Mrs. James McGinnis. Betty and Jimmy were married in the Calvary Methodist Church December 27, and everyone who saw the wedding agreed that Betty was a very lovely bride.

The latest new arrival in our chapter is little Tommy Schneider, born on December 12 to Mr. and Mrs. Harry Schneider (Mildred Schuh).

BETTY SCHINDEHUTTE, president

SACRAMENTO

Sacramento alumnae are looking forward to a spring filled with many activities. April 16 brings a potluck dinner and dance which, under the capable leadership of Daisy Flippen Hammer (Mrs. Thomas), A T, is certain to be a success. There is some talk among the younger members of making folk dancing, a popular Sacramento recreation, a part of the evening's entertainment.

Our experiment with having a guest speaker was very successful at the February meeting. John Moulds, an interior decorator from the Town and Country shopping center in North Sacramento, gave a most interesting talk and his samples so inspired the group that several made appointments to have him help them with their decorating problems.

The Panhellenic luncheon March 13 was especially nice. The feature attraction was a fashion show of costumes dating from 1850, when California became a state, down to the present. The decorating committee, under the fine leadership of Elizabeth Plumb Jones (Mrs. Preston), M, made the room most attractive, although the much needed rain did spoil some of the flowers. Maurine Muller Rollins (Mrs. Robert), M, is the new president of Panhellenic.

In May we are planning to have a cake sale to earn enough money to defray the expenses of our delegate to the National convention. Three members are tentatively planning to attend.

We are happy to welcome three new members to our group: Jean Jones (Mrs. Harley), A, Mabel Stewart, A I, and Mrs. Marguerite Phares, O.

Lois Bacon, a Sacramento girl, was elected president of the new chapter at San Jose State college. We had hoped to have some representatives at the installation but at the last minute no one was able to go.

Several of our members have recently been elected to various offices in local groups. Leah Reardon (Mrs. Leslie), A, has been elected president of the local chapter of PEO. Edith Jacobson Wuopio (Mrs. Frans), X, has been named president of the California Junior high school PTA. Hazel Saremal, X, is secretary of the Sacramento Book Collectors club and Isabelle Prising Pearson (Mrs. J. Donald), M, has been nominated vice-president of the AAUW. Elizabeth Davis Welsh (Mrs. John), A X, talked on the legal status of women at the April AAUW meeting.

Maurine Rollins and Marguerite Phares have only recently moved into attractive new homes in the Hazelwood tract in North Sacramento and Lucy Grimmesy (Mrs. A. L.), Δ, hopes to be soon established in her new home in a neighboring tract.

ELIZABETH PLUMB JONES, president

SAN DIEGO

As I write this letter, spring has come to San Diego and already lucky Californians are filling their homes with lovely flowers from their own gardens. The luncheon and bridge tables in the San Diego Women's Club were decorated with some of these flowers—sweet peas, roses, camellias—when the Delta Zetas and the Alpha Delta Pis combined recently to be hostesses to the members of Panhellenic. Following the meeting we gathered the lovely bouquets and distributed them to those we knew had to be indoors during the nice weather.

Don't be surprised, if, when our list of officers arrives, you find a monkey for president, a secretary bird in her proper place and a giraffe or hippo for treasurer or Panhellenic representative. Our April meeting will be held at the San Diego zoo—one of the largest in the world. See what I mean? And we do elect our officers that meeting.

We are going to have fun in June, too, when we hold our annual ranch family party at the hacienda home of Janis Diamond. We'll tell you all about that in our next letter.

We are so happy to hear that Delta Zetas have found a new home on the campus of San Jose State College in San Jose, California and we hope in future years to count some of their alumnae in our group.

Happy summer, everyone. See you in the fall.

JANE FERGUS ROSS, editor
GRACE SMALL, president

SAN FERNANDO VALLEY

We are very happy about the choice of our philanthropic committee (Helen Hagen and Violet Kearney) for our newly adopted daughter, Mrs. Priscilla Fredericksen. A former WAC, she is now a patient at the San Fernando Veterans' hospital. She was born November 13, 1919 in Worcester, Massachusetts, where her husband and son, born August 31, 1946, are living now. She receives no pension, and, having just come from the east, is very lonesome. We voted to have a Delta Zeta philanthropic box at the door each meeting for a silver offering so that when birthdays and other special occasions arise we have a fund for this worthy cause. At our February meeting each member brought a handkerchief gift so that we could have a handkerchief shower on Valentine's day for Priscilla. She rewarded us with a lovely note of thanks. It seems we never have a meeting go by without a sweet note of thanks from her.

Grace House (Mrs. Edward) reports that all members are supporting our magazine subscription plan and hopes that we will continue the good work. All proceeds from magazines go into our convention fund, which pays all our delegates' convention expenses.

We were sorry to hear that Gretchen Rave (Mrs. Wes) is moving out of our area and will be giving up her office as recording secretary. Violet Kearney (Mrs. Clarence) accepted the nomination as recording secretary to begin in February. The chapter was so thankful to have so competent a person to follow in the fine job Gretchen has done.

The annual Valley Alumnae Christmas dinner party at the home of Helen Hagen was a huge success. We not only had a delicious dinner with carols and games following, but Alfa Lloyd Hayes, one of our founders of Delta Zeta at Miami University, was our guest.

We found Mrs. Hayes a most charming person, and although she was invited as a guest, we wanted to hear more and more about her interesting experiences in founding a sorority. We kept her busy most of the evening just answering our questions. Helen Hagen's husband took pictures of the occasion with our officers and hostess arranging the beautiful Christmas gifts that were to be brought out to Priscilla Fredericksen at the hospital for her Christmas. At the meeting the chapter voted to renew the subscriptions to Life magazine for one year as our Christmas gifts to the Alpha Chi and Alpha Iota chapters.

Our January business meeting was held at the home of Betty Reep (Mrs. Wayne) with "Dot" Keeney (Mrs. Richard) as co-hostess. Thank-yous were read from our adopted daughter for our thoughtfulness to her at Christmas time and from the Alpha Iota chapter for the silver computes we gave them at their open house. Money was voted to be sent to the needy Navajo Indians in the name of Delta Zeta through the local Navajo Indian relief agency. Money was also sent to both the Alpha Chi and Alpha Iota chapters to help with the expense of rushing for the Mothers' and Daughters' tea, sponsored by all alumnae chapters in this area. We were all pleased to hear about the establishment of the Southern California Council of Alumnae of Delta Zeta which will meet four times a year for the purpose of unification. Each alumnae chapter in Southern California will be represented by their president and a representative. It was voted that the Valley be represented by President Marion Stites and Violet Kearney. Also in the group will be Betsy Leach, national alumnae vice-president; Jean Guyot, province director, and our own Catherine McDaniel, state chairman.

At the February meeting, held at the home of Betty Williams (Mrs. Ed.), announcement was made of the colonization of a chapter at San Jose State College in the latter part of February, and congratulations were sent. President Marion Stites reported on the tea for Betsy Leach at the Alpha Iota house. In the receiving line with Betsy were Jean Guyot and Catherine McDaniel. The alumnae chapter presidents from the district were assistant hostesses and many other alumnae members helped entertain the large number of Panhellenic guests.

Program Chairman Grace House then introduced Miss Brown and Miss Baleu from the Visiting Nurses association, who were guest speakers. We were given a most interesting talk of the services performed by this organization.

March found us at the lovely home of Gertrude Fraser (Mrs. Jack) for a get-together party for the West Valley and the Foothill Alumnae associations. We were most fortunate in having Mrs. Nora Welch review many of the more recent popular books in her fascinating manner, and I am sure that our guests enjoyed her reviews as much as we did.

We find ourselves looking forward to April's meeting in which State Day plans will be made. April 17 is the day when new friends are gained and old friends regained.

SAN FRANCISCO BAY CITIES

One of the most heart-warming affairs that many of us have ever attended was a recent alumnae meeting held at the chapter house in Berkeley. Gertrude Esquibel, our first recipient of a hearing aid, was presented to our alumnae chapter. It was a real thrill to see the gorgeous black eyes of this little Spanish senorita sparkle as she thanked us for our gift to her. She has had it for about a year and has become accustomed to it. She told us a part of the story of her life before and after the hearing aid gift. Needless to say that it was inspiring to us to know that the little we did had reaped so much happiness.

Sayde Rotholz Lewis, Z '21, and Alice Graham Perry, M '23, both members of our Hearing Aid committee, were most enthusiastic about several other children who are under investigation at this time.

Several large boxes are packed and waiting for the next boat to sail from San Francisco to Holland. Some of everything, and lots of some things that children can use, are included. After this shipment is made we are going to let Virginia Pittsworth, M '41, rest for a few days—at least, long enough to complete her wedding plans for this spring. We are sure that Everett will make a grand Delta Zeta husband because he has been

GERTRUDE ESQUIBEL

Just as important as freedom of speech is freedom of hearing to this charming teen-ager, Gertrude Esquibel. She has the honor of being the first individual recipient of a hearing aid from the San Francisco Bay Cities Alumnae Chapter.

Gertrude, a tenth grade student in one of the high schools of Oakland, is brimming over with personality and sparkle! This first hand information comes to us through Mrs. Alice Perry, member of our hearing aid committee, who also happens to be Gertrude's English teacher!

Mrs. Perry reports that Gertrude, already proficient in lip-reading, hopes to make still greater progress in her commercial course because of her hearing aid. In fact, she says she "prays God to bless us for our help."

so patient about the time that Virginia has spent in her Delta Zeta work.

San Jose held a "miniature convention" for many of us in the Bay Area in February. Gamma Lambda chapter was installed at San Jose State College. Many of us were down for initiation, banquet and the reception. Delta Zeta can be proud of not only the new college chapter but the new alumnae chapter there in San Jose. The decorations were "out of this world" (It could happen only in California!) and the girls were so charming and gracious.

Our sincere sympathy goes to Dorothy Baker Nankervis, K '22, in the recent death of her husband, C. J. Nankervis.

As each month rolls by we are sure that the next can't be so crammed with functions as the past—but, we take a deep breath and find ourselves at it again.

For instance—April starts with a tea on the 6th honoring Jean Delevan Guyot, our new province director. Naturally, we'll all go, and, not out of respect alone. Those of us who met her in San Jose will want to see her again, and those who were unable to go there will want to make sure that she is as lovely as we have pictured her. She is!

On April 11 we are holding a dedication service—dedicating the memory book in loving memory of Geraldine King Thompson, Omega '24. The book, beautifully designed and illustrated on white parchment, by Louise Sheppa Lovett, M '16, will be displayed for the first time. As has been mentioned before, this memory book holds the names of all loved ones who have had donations made in their memory, as well as in Gerry's memory. Already several hundred dollars have been received and it is being used to carry on our hearing aid project.

The San Francisco Bay Cities Panhellenic association has its spring Luncheon on April 11. That is always a very interesting as well as a very social affair.

Besides the above, there will be six group meetings during the month. What about the husbands and children? Oh, well, springtime is here and they know that next to them, "mommie's" heart is with Delta Zeta. They'll get along!

SANTA MONICA

Santa Monica alumnae enthusiastically continuing our local philanthropy heard Yvonne McFadden Michel read a letter from our adopted family, thanking us for the "best Christmas they ever had." We voted to send the family, a grandmother with two small grandchildren, a money order to cheer their Easter. Later we hope to provide a hearing aid for one of the grandchildren, a boy of six.

Yvonne, guiding light in our local philanthropy work, is a member of the board of Santa Monica Family Welfare and she is kept busy with the many problems of "mass migration" in these times and with Community Chest. The Santa Monica Charity League's bundle tea is to be held in Yvonne's beautiful home on March 30. The event is held to replenish the stock of the Santa Monica Welfare Thrift shop. Yvonne also has a full-time job as housewife and mother of four. Her oldest daughter is now a freshman in Santa Monica City College. She has a boy in high school, a girl in junior high, and her youngest boy is in the first grade. Then, too, she is a most capable magazine chairman for our group. No wonder we alumnae are very proud of her.

At a recent meeting our group made plans to attend State Day, which will be held in April at the Huntington Hotel in Pasadena. Isabel Orton Deering was appointed our representative on the welcoming committee.

Louise Brown Hoover has won even more honors these days. In addition to being a newly elected member of Gold Shield, women's alumnae honorary society at U.C.L.A., she is now a member of Prytanean alumnae; both these organizations are service honoraries. Thelner Hoover, Louise's husband, showed us his artistic colored motion pictures, taken during his personally conducted tour of Mexico for U.C.L.A. alumni. We were delighted with scenes from their trip to Garci, Crespo, Fortin, Puebla, Cuernavaca, Taxco, Lake Patzcuaro, San Jose de Purua.

Our last meeting was held at Kay Ryan Morby's home. Kay's daughter, Barbara, has had one of the highest honors in the city bestowed upon her. She was chosen as the most outstanding girl student at Lincoln Junior High school, just before her graduation in February.

Agnes Pinger Towle also has a daughter, Nancy Ellen, who is attending Lincoln Junior High. Agnes has just been elected president of the school's P.T.A., a large and busy organization. She has just finished a long term of scout leadership.

Betty Jane Curtis Lawson is teaching home economics and psychology at Santa Monica High school. She says it's a busy life teaching and taking care of a home and family after hours. She has a handsome young son, "going on two."

Our nominating committee has already proposed candidates for the coming year, but, of course, their names will remain secret until the next meeting. In May we will honor our new officers at a dinner meeting.

The group sincerely thanks Bonnie Bobb Newman, president; Marie McFadden Courtmanche, secretary; and Ruth Richardson Sparks, vice-president, for their splendid work this past year.

Winner of the Santa Monica Lincoln Junior High School award as the outstanding all-around girl student. Barbara is the daughter of Kay Ryan Morby, A II.

SPRINGFIELD

All Beta Chis were delighted to welcome the guests of the recent pledge class when they arrived at the chapter house for a recent benefit bridge, for not only were the proceeds going to an excellent cause—the purchase of new dishes which we hope to have delivered for the opening of school this fall—but also we are so proud of the new and attractive paper and draperies in the entire first floor. Marianna Garman as president of the House Corporation was assisted in this by her very able committee composed of the house president, Jane Mills; the alumnae president, Ruth Crockett McClure; and the house mother, Mrs. Miller.

In conjunction with the bridge parties—there was one in the afternoon and one in the evening, as well—the alumnae conducted a bazaar and bake sale which proved most profitable. The proceeds of this were also earmarked for house improvement.

Newly-elected officers are Shirley Knoske Gehr, President; Virginia Dorsey Slough, vice-president; Eve Myers Hughes, treasurer; Margaret Morris Dean, recording secretary; Marianna Garman, corresponding secretary. They had a busy time of it for their first meeting as so many plans had to be made. These included the Mother's Day breakfast, which this year will be held at the house, for we feel that will help mothers and daughters to become better acquainted with all the other girls as well as the house. Arrangements are in capable hands of the social chairman, "Dot" Stickney. Mary Cooksey Temple and Frances McCollum Parrish are selecting the awards to be given to Jan Downey, who was Alma Mater Queen last year and who earned a straight "A" average this semester along with her outside work; and the pledge, Joan Quirsfeld, who maintained the highest scholastic averages for the house. State Day, which will be held in Columbus this year, the national convention as well as the spring formal, which the college chapter is holding at the Shawnee hotel on May 1 also came up for discussion. Alumnae have been invited to the formal.

Our hostess, Josephine Simpson Chizmar, entertained us in her lovely new home on Troy Road. She was ably assisted by Mary Crockett McClure, Ruth Crockett McClure, and Margaret Morris Dean.

The last paragraph is said to be the most important, and we feel that this request is truly urgent. Will every one of you who knows of a worthwhile girl who is coming to Wittenberg this fall please send the name either to me or to the active rush chairman, Carolyn Kuhls? We are most anxious to fill our quota with outstanding girls at the close of formal rush and can only do so with the help of each of you.

TAMPA

Spring is here to stay now and of course our thoughts have turned to summer rushing and parties. But first we've lots of news to tell.

We're happy to announce that Virginia Raysor was elected president of our alumnae chapter for 1948. Other officers chosen were Mable Barnes, vice-president; Betzie Everett, secretary; Kathryn Houlihan Skok, corresponding secretary; Elizabeth Mapoles, treasurer; Laurette Drucker, social chairman; Dorothy Fripp Cotterill, activities chairman; Mary Glen Baker, Panhellenic representative; Mable Barnes, year-book chairman; and Elizabeth White Delany, publicity chairman.

We're so happy to welcome Caroline Waller into the Delta Zeta fold. She attends DePauw university and is a very accomplished musician.

Alene Morris Carpenter is the proud mother of a darling little girl, born last summer.

Wedding bells have been ringing quite regularly this winter. Kathryn Houlihan became Mrs. George Skok November 13, Dorothy Fripp became the bride of Arthur Cotterill December 27, and Jamie and Emmett Anderson, Jr. were married February 18. Joy Schoedler will be our spring bride, for she and Bob S. Bleu have chosen April 3 as their wedding day.

We were so pleased to have our province director, Mrs. Odis Johnson, drop in to see us for a little visit in January. We had a luncheon meeting at the Tampa Terrace Hotel while she was here and enjoyed having her with us so much.

We're very proud of Dorothy Fripp Cotterill for winning two prizes in the art exhibit at the Florida State fair in February. She won a first prize for a water color painting and a second prize for her oil painting. "Dot" is an art major at the University of Tampa.

Our chapter gained a very good member when Laurette Drucker's husband was transferred to Tampa from Jacksonville. Laurette is our social chairman and she's doing a grand job.

We were very glad to be able to join other chapters in sending money to the girls at Florida State university for the remodeling of their chapter house. We've received word that the gift our chapter sent is being used to buy new furniture.

We're all making plans for our Mother-Daughter luncheon in May. It's an event we look forward to every year.

TWIN CITY

It seems that we just get the Christmas tinsel stored in the attic, take one long breath, and get ready for State Day. Minnesota State Day will be held in the junior ballroom of the Minnesota Union on May 15. Audrey Naas, Γ '47 is the Twin City chairman, and on her committee are Mildred Squires Smith (Mrs. Chester), Γ '39, Mary Mills, Γ '44, and Mary Buxton Leslie (Mrs. David), Γ '47. Evelyn Kelm Horton (Mrs. Wilbur), Γ '26, of Aitken, Minnesota, is the state chairman. The Gamma spring formal is scheduled for the evening of May 15, so the out-of-city alumnae will have an opportunity to attend.

Katherine Thayer Klein, Γ '31, has recently accepted the position of school nurse at Minneapolis Central High.

"Bubs" Rainey Waters (Mrs. A. Raymond), Γ, ex'28, of Ortonville, Minnesota, spent a week in Minneapolis, taking a concentrated course in scouting. She is now a Girl Scout consultant for three counties, and she has the tact and personality required for that kind of work. Dr. Ray met her here and they remained for the dental convention.

Wathena Myers Johnson (Mrs. Leslie) Γ, '31, is visiting at the home of her parents in Minneapolis, awaiting her husband's next assignment in the foreign diplomatic consular service. Not many people have had as interesting addresses as the Johnsons. Among them are Lima, Peru; Buenos Aires, Argentina; La Paz, Bolivia; Gibraltar, Costa Rica, and British Honduras. Wathena was the speaker at the February evening meeting.

The February afternoon meeting was at the home of Cornelia Clousing Smith (Mrs. Harold), Γ, '26. Both the dessert and the report of the hearing-aid committee set all tongues wagging. The committee was composed of Bernadine Courtney Johnston (Mrs. W. E.) Γ '31, Maxine Kaiser Russell (Mrs. Robert), Γ '32, and Ruth Lane King (Mrs. H. M.), Ω, '21. Bernadine, whose husband manufactures hearing-aids, brought us an interesting report and a wonderful offer from him. We will tell you more about it in a later edition.

At the March evening meeting, with Harriet Warner Hupp (Mrs. George), Γ '31, Carol Jane Gorder Tamen (Mrs. Cecil), Γ '44, told about her work with infantile paralysis patients at "Sheltering Arms."

The afternoon group was entertained March 17 by Lorinda Dodge Mulvaney (Mrs. M. E.), T, ex'29. At this meeting, we had as our speaker Evelyn Celine Thomas (Mrs. Lincoln), Γ '30. Evelyn is one of the speakers for the Minneapolis Citizen's Charter committee. The Minneapolis Star Journal carried an appealing picture of Evelyn, and it was reported that requests came in for the speaker whose picture was in the Sunday paper. Evelyn was also one of five hostesses for the "flying start" breakfasts held in Minneapolis by the League of Women Voters. Seventy-one solicitors under the leadership of nine captains (one of which is Evelyn Thomas) attended these breakfasts before launching a campaign to raise $10,000.00. Nine other Minnesota cities are having similar campaigns.

When you pick up a magazine, and see a General Mills advertisement, you may notice the maple pecan version of Betty Crocker's mystery cake. The cake which was photographed was sent to Jackie Crimmins (President Inez's son) when he was hospitalized recently. Jackie shared the cake with his nurses.

The nominating committee, Alice Timberman Bowers (Mrs. N. L.), I, '25, Irene Murphy Silver (Mrs. A. H.), Γ, '27, Mary Mills, Γ, '44, Marie Conway Hannon (Mrs. Robert), T, '30, and Iva Nelson Olson (Mrs. L. D.), Γ, '24, met at the home of the chairman on one of the "subest" of our subzero evenings. We were warmed, not only by Alice's hot coffee, but also by the whole-hearted response of all the girls we called. It's such cooperation that makes a chapter grow!

Right up the same avenue is this item on our Mothers' club. It seems to belong in this letter because so many of the members are mothers of alumnae, some of them graduates of a good many years ago. It speaks well for the personnel of the club when the members stay in and work for years. One mother said, "I think we really feel as though we are Delta Zetas, too!" On February 8 the Mothers' club had its traditional "family dinner" at the house. All the members of the initiated and pledge groups and their families, and the families of the alumnae whose mothers are still in the club, were invited. A wonderful ham dinner was served to a congenial group of nearly 100 people. On February 25 the Mothers' club sponsored a benefit bridge luncheon at the chapter house. Mary Kay Gustafson, Marilyn Suess, and Rosemary Moody of the college chapter entertained with a short program, and a number of the "actives" took tables for the afternoon, showing a friendly and cooperative spirit. We're all happy when we work together!

VENTURA-SANTA BARBARA

Mrs. Josef (Alice) Zaruba, who has been representing Delta Zeta at the Santa Barbara Panhellenic, did the groundwork necessary to start our organizations (that is, a Ventura-Santa Barbara alumnae group of Delta Zetas). Inasmuch as these two counties, although large, have relatively few towns, it is rather hard to get such a group together, so much credit must be given to Alice for her fine work.

Our first meeting was a luncheon, held at the famous El Paseo restaurant in Santa Barbara. Present were Betsy Bradley Leach, alumnae vice-president, Catherine H. McDaniels, California state chairman, and Jean Guyot of Los Angeles. The meeting was entirely informal, just an opportunity for us to get together and make plans for further meetings.

In January, we met at the home of Nancy Bailard Peery (Mrs. Jack) in Carpinteria. She was assisted by her mother, Margo Bailard Franklin, who was a founder of the Delta Zeta chapter at University of California. The following officers for the new group were elected: Lucille Carpenter Buhl (Mrs. Bruce C.), Santa Barbara, president; Doris Adams Wentworth (Mrs. John E.), Ojai, vice-president; Margo Bailard Franklin (Mrs. B.), Carpinteria, secretary-treasurer; Rebecca Tripp Ash (Mrs. William K.), Ojai, LAMP Editor; Marjorie F. Chapin (Mrs. Ray), for Santa Barbara, Betty Wentworth for Ventura, publicity; Mildred Aitkin Rhorer (Mrs. Roger), Santa Barbara, and Ethel McCandless, Ventura, Panhellenic representatives.

For our February meeting, we substituted attendance at the Santa Barbara Panhellenic tea. Betsy Leach and two other national sorority officers gave reports on national sororities philanthropies, publicity and N.P.C. convention.

On March 6, we met at the home of Mildred Rhorer in Santa Barbara. When we could take our eyes away from the beautiful expanse of the famous "rolling hills" seen from her living room windows, we worked on our sewing, the layettes for Norway. We were happy to welcome Lillian Anliker, X. She is managing the cafeteria at University Village on Santa Barbara campus. She served four years overseas, two of them in Alaska. She has promised to tell of some of her experiences during that time at our next meeting April 10, at the home of Mrs. Doris and Betty Wentworth at their home in the beautiful Ojai Valley. (This is not a real estate "plug" but just my way of telling you that the Wentworths and I have the good fortune to live in one of the most beautiful spots in the beautiful state of California. You know how these Californians are—slightly "teched" when it comes to their state.)

Should there be any alumnae in this district who may have moved in recently or who were not contacted in December, we would welcome them at any of the meetings. For further information they are asked to contact Marjorie Teasley Chapin (Mrs. Ray) at 2524 Castillo St., Santa Barbara, phone 3060.

Our meetings have been very pleasant and through them we have met old friends and new. We look forward to, if not an exciting role, at least a pleasant one in the field of alumnae Delta Zeta groups.

WASHINGTON, D.C.

Panhellenic Association of Washington, D.C. was graciously received by Madame Bonnet at tea for the benefit of the new Panhellenic project, Foreign Student Scholarship fund, at the French Embassy, 2221 Kalorama Road, Northwest, Saturday, February 14, from 3:30 until 6 o'clock. The embassy, itself, is one of the most outstanding in Washington and Madame Bonnet proved to be utterly charming and most gracious. Panhellenic officers of 1947-48 formed a receiving line and Panhellenic delegates acted as hostesses. Both of our Panhellenic members, Mrs. W. A. Wildhack and Mrs. L. B. May, looked very lovely. The tea proved to be a crush, but we were delighted to attend, nonetheless. After passing down the receiving line and having tea in the dining room, most of us were able to circulate about, chat with friends and glimpse the beauties of the embassy.

Our February 18 meeting was held at the home of Mrs. William T. Dodderidge, 2900 Connecticut Avenue, Northwest. After the president, Mrs. Leslie Hart, transacted the business at hand, the program chairman, Mary Edith Thomson, introduced the guest speaker, Miss Inga Rungvald, beauty and fashion editor of the Times-Herald. Miss Rungvald, who is all that every beauty and fashion editor dreams of being, spoke informally on styles, trends, beauty, and the inside story of how her columns are gathered and written. She described shows and pointed out many of the newer styles "to come" this summer. It was most enjoyable. After she spoke, we asked innumerable questions on style and grooming. Each one of us posed to see wherein the "new look" was "newest." Mrs. Dodderidge and her co-hostesses served truly delicious refreshments and we all left the gathering feeling that we had not only had a pleasant evening but that we felt inspired to dress more smartly. On March 17 we went to the gracious home of Mrs. Van Rensselaer H. Sternberg, 3304 McKinley Strret, Northwest, for an informal evening meeting. Speaker was Agnes McCall Parker, founder of the Agnes McCall Parker school of personality development and speech culture. The topic Mrs. Parker selected was "Fundamentals of Charm and Beauty." She was simply charming and her listeners were avid ones. Lovely to look at, exquisitely dressed and completely charming in manner, she captivated us at once. One of the most helpful things she said was: "Learn to make graciousness and thoughtfulness a constant expression of your inner self—to stand, walk, think, and talk with charm and composure—to cultivate peace of mind and strength of character."

After her speech, we had a discussion, followed by refreshments with a St. Patrick's day motif. Each Delta Zeta had invited a guest, too, so that we could share our outstanding program speaker. Everyone of us felt "good" at the close of the evening and a "radiation of charm" will be in order from Washington, after our past two meetings.

April 21 will see us meeting at the home of Mrs. George White, 2713 Holly Street, Alexandria, Virginia. This meeting will be a business meeting, election of officers and a convention delegate. All Delta Zetas in this area are cordially invited to attend. If you are a new Delta Zeta, won't you contact our President, Mrs. Leslie Hart, at VICTOR 7700, Apartment No. 1624. She and we will gladly welcome you to our alumnae chapter here.

MARY ANN BOWEN MOXLEY (Mrs. Donald)

Gamma Beta Chapter

March 10, 1948

Gamma Beta chapter members were greatly grieved over the death of their sister, Mary Ann (Pat) Bowen Moxley, who died March 10 from injuries received in an automobile accident. "Pat" became an active member of Delta Zeta in 1947. Shortly after her initiation she was married to Donald Moxley, also a student at the University of Connecticut. "Pat" and her husband were living in a trailer not far from the campus and attended classes together. She came originally from Newton, Connecticut, where her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Bowen, still live. The tall, vigorous girl is greatly missed by all her friends.

Delta Zetas on Campus

honor society, and Talons, sophomore women's service honor society.

Our other officers are Billie Snyder, recording secretary; Marge Olson, corresponding secretary; Delores Hultman, treasurer; Mary Bryant, manager; Dolores Rondeau, parliamentarian; and Ruth Whisler, historian.

Chairmen for the coming year are Arleen Frogley, social; Zelta Wieman, rushing; Leora Kuhlman, standards; and Shirley Amsberry, scholarship.

We are all very proud of one of our freshman girls, Donna Stumpfenhaus, who made straight A's last term. Donna is in the school of home economics and lives in Corvallis.

Also on the winter term honor roll were Fawn Brooks, Janet Burpee, and Ruth Whisler.

Marge Olson, member of Seahorses, women's swimming club, participated in the Water Pageant, which was presented to the music of Tschaiowsky's "Nutcracker Suite."

Recent Associated Women Students' elections resulted in two of our girls holding offices. Vera Bishop is publicity chairman, and Zelta Wieman sergeant-at-arms.

Many Chi girls recently attended the Delta Zeta State Day luncheon and program at the Multnomah Hotel in Portland. Vera Bishop gave a short talk on the activities of Chi chapter during the past year. Also present were Miss Alice Dickie, province director, and Gertrude Houk Fariss, national Panhellenic delegate.

Maejel Allman was married during spring vacation to Samuel E. Graf. They are both of Corvallis and will continue to live here.

We are glad to have Patty McKenna back this term, after her absence during winter term.

Chi girls have been busy decorating our new lounge in the basement. It is much larger than the one we had upstairs, and the upstairs room was needed to accommodate more girls. It has been converted into a four-girl study room.

We are looking forward to having our house entirely redecorated this summer. It will be done over on the inside and outside both, and we will all be eager to see it next fall.

VERA BISHOP, president
