Our New Diamond . . .

MCNEESE STATE COLLEGE in Lake Charles, Louisiana, will be twenty years old next year, but already Delta Zeta has found its way to the 86-acre campus of this college which is affectionately and amusedly known as the "Home of the Cowboys."

A most exciting and enjoyable week end climaxed the extensive preparations for installation of Zeta Gamma Chapter on February 14. Usual good Delta Zeta cooperation went into making the event one to be remembered by all.

Gertrude Meatheringham, our Province Director, arrived a week early and was greeted by the first snow in Lake Charles in ten years. But she immediately began work with the installation chairman, Ruth Robertson McCusker, and her committee composed of Sandy Austin, housing; Carol Barnhouse, initiation arrangements; Jessie Alice Johnson, banquet arrangements; Ellen Suarez, publicity; Olive Smith, flowers; Irma Scott and Leonore Stanley, tea arrangements.

Later in the week Violet Whitfield arrived to be present on Saturday morning for the formal initiation of the charter members of the chapter and also the alumnae initiates.

The formal banquet which followed the initiation was presided over by Jo Alseth, Alumnae Director from Dallas. She did a most noble job of introducing the many guests. Present were President Wayne N. Cusic of McNeese College and Mrs. Cusic, Dr. F. G. Bulber, Academic Dean of the College, Mrs. Mabel Kitt, Dean of Women, Dean of Men and Mrs. Ellis Guillory.

Extending words of welcome were Terry Jean-sonne, Southwestern Louisiana Institute-Delta Kappa; Jean Himmel, Lamar State Tech-Delta Lambda; Judy Noble, LSU-Sigma, Ruth Wooldredge, Louisiana Northwestern State-Epsilon Beta; Mrs. Fritz Giffen, president of Beaumont Alumnae, and Mrs. Gloria Trahan, president of Lake Charles Alumnae.

Greetings from other Delta Zeta chapters throughout the nation were extended by Gertrude Meatheringham who also presented to Jo Ann Price, Zeta Gamma president, and to her chapter a silver coffee and tea service as a physical expression of the love and good wishes of the members of Delta Zeta everywhere. Responses were made by Jo Ann Price and by Elaine Jarmon, College Chapter Director.

Violet Whitfield gave a most impressive address to the banquet, her subject being "Our

Zeta Gamma

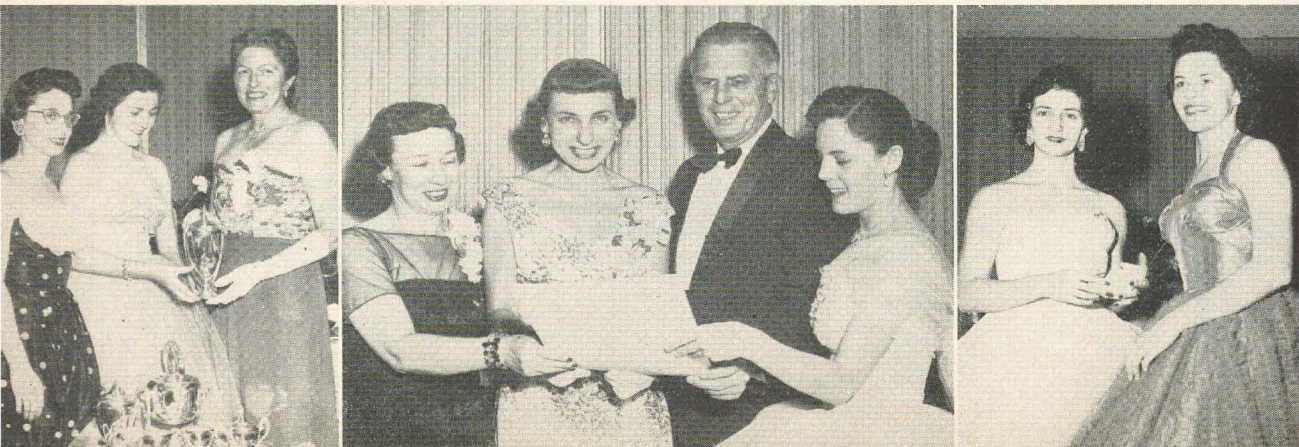

New Diamond, Zeta Gamma." She stressed what she named her six facets to the diamond: Scholarship, responsibility, loyalty, service, fun and vision. Mrs. Whitfield then presented the formally installed chapter to the Dean of Women, Mrs. Mabel Kitt, who accepted the chapter in behalf of the college.

Miss Jarmon, CCD, then presented the first annual award to Jane Crockett as the pledge maintaining the highest scholastic average.

The evening was closed with a most impressive song fest and rose ceremony ably performed by members of Sigma Chapter who also were the initiation team on Saturday morning.

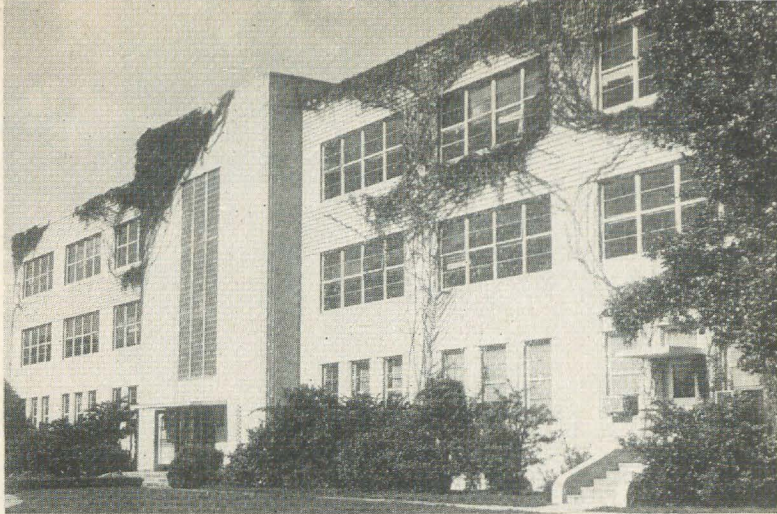

Sunday events included a model chapter meeting at 10:30 a.m. in the College Student Center, the Ranch. This meeting was staged also by the Sigma members. Then on Sunday afternoon, new initiates were presented to the college faculty and administrators at a tea in the reception room of Alpha Hall on the campus. In the receiving line were Jo Ann Price, Violet Whitfield,

HOME OF THE COWBOYS

Once named "Cow College" because of the live-stock roaming its then barren acres, today McNeese State College of Louisiana ranks high academically. It was founded in 1939 as a two-year college, achieved four-year status in 1950, and in 1954 was admitted to the Southern Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools, top accrediting agency in the South. Its enrollment has grown from 154 to more than 2,000, and its rapidly expanding facilities include such recent additions as three ultra-modern dormitories and a student center known as "The Ranch," a Reserve Officers Training Corps which is among the foremost in the country, a 280-acre agricultural training farm, and a new $850,000 science building. Pictured is the Administration Building.

Dean Kitt, Elaine Jarmon, Gertrude Meatheringham, Gloria Trahan, and Nancy Burrridge, Traveling Secretary for Delta Zeta. Nancy, incidentally, has become quite a popular figure on the McNeese Campus ever since she was so instrumental in setting up the new chapter.

Mrs. Frank Smith of Lafayette, La., and Mrs. John Maker, of Natchitoches, La., alumnae of Delta Zeta, were most helpful in making the tea a success.

Officers of the new chapter are Jo Ann Price, president; Jane Crockett, first vice president; Sheila Sarver, second vice president; Margaret Mutersbaugh, recording secretary; Martha Cornett, corresponding secretary and Panhellenic delegate; Ann Mathis, treasurer; Marie White, historian; Brenda Bailey, Panhellenic delegate.

Several honors have already come to charter members of Zeta Gamma chapter. Jo Ann Price has been named to Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities. Brenda Bailey is Major-ette for the Cowboy Band and was a finalist in the college beauty contest. Marie White was a Maid in the Homecoming Court, an ROTC sponsor, and a finalist in the college beauty contest. Martha Cornett, Jane Crockett and Marie White were named to the President's Honor Roll.

Patronesses of the new chapter are Mrs. Ralph Ward, Miss Beulah Breaux, Mrs. L. K. Clement, Mrs. G. Lewis Dunn, Mrs. Emma Michie, Mrs. Harry Huber, Mrs. J. E. Sorrells, Mrs. W. Henry Managan, and Mrs. C. L. Shaddock.

BETTY WENTWORTH

Cal DZ Is Congressional Fellow

A DELTA ZETA has been one of the 15 Congressional Fellows learning about this country's legislative process by participating in it this year.

For six months in Washington, D.C., Mu chapter's Betty Wentworth, a member of the University of California's class of 1946, has been one of two women in the group of political scientists and journalists chosen by the American Political Science Association for the fifth year of its Congressional Fellowship program.

Betty—who signed her Cal finals bluebook as Mary Elizabeth Wentworth and will be signing her name in years to come as Mrs. James R. Trotter—divided her working time in Washington between the office of Congresswoman Leonor K. Sullivan of St. Louis and that of Mrs. Katie Louchheim, vice chairman of the Democratic National Committee and its director of women's activities.

Her years as women's editor of The Ventura County Star-Free Press stirred Betty's interest in women in politics and made her want to know why women haven't played a larger, more responsible role in politics and government. Winning a Congressional Fellowship in a nationwide process of selection, she spent nearly three months on Congresswoman Sullivan's staff, where she was working with one of the 15 women who by their election to the House of Representatives have taken on one of the most responsible roles politics has to offer. Lending a hand with news releases, legislative research and constituent problems, watching her Congresswoman in action in committee and on the floor and talking over ideas and problems with her, Betty was impressed by just how large a woman's job can be in government.

Says she, "A Congresswoman not only handles all the normal House members' responsibilities—both to her district and to the country—but, if she wants to, she can perform a real service by developing issues, such as the need for better laws to protect American families from unsafe foods, that really hit close to home for most of us women."

Moving to the Democratic National Committee office late in March, Betty helped to prepare for a national conference of Democratic women and thus saw another aspect of politics, as national party leaders sought to interest more women in taking active part in political affairs.

Before starting these assignments, Betty spent a month in orientation sessions. She and the others in the Fellowship group met with key capital figures, collecting their views on Congress. Similar discussion sessions with Congressional leaders and others important on the Washington scene continued throughout the Fellows' months of active participation in office work.

Another kind of orientation kept Betty busy after office hours. She was practicing up on her domestic skills in preparation for her marriage to James R. Trotter, a Northwestern graduate and like his bride a veteran traveler to foreign parts, who is now a petroleum geologist in the Ventura area.

In Ventura County, Betty is past president of the Ventura County Panhellenic Association, the Ventura Business and Professional Women's Club and the Ojai Valley Junior Women's Club. Last

Atlanta's Carolyn Lee:

- * Modeling
- * Publicity
- * Radio-TV
- * City "Greeter"

GEORGE NADER, a Phi Gamma Delta, is helped with his visit by "Miss Atlanta Cracker," Delta Zeta's CAROLYN LEE. The Atlanta Crackers are the local professional baseball team.

A Full-time Career and Crimson Key, Too!

AMONG the many titles held by Delta Delta Chapter's pretty Carolyn Lee is "The girl we'd most like to spend Christmas with" by the men of Dobbins Air Force Base. If a poll were taken among the girls at Georgia State, she could probably add, "The girl we'd most like to trade places with"—for Carolyn helps entertain celebrities who visit Atlanta and calls it "work."

As "Miss Atlanta Cracker," Carolyn has been part of the city's official greeting team at the airport, and her publicity work with Loews Grand Theater also calls for meeting many stars and showing them the city. She has worked with Eddie Fisher, Debbie Reynolds, Pat Boone, Dave Garraway and Jack Lescouli and met many others.

A professional model for more than three years, Carolyn specializes in fashion shows and photographic work and does publicity, radio and television "on the side." She averages one radio or TV appearance every week, not counting her own weekly radio show, "Views and News of Georgia State College," with the student body president and the editor and business manager of the school paper.

You might not expect Miss Georgia Peach, Miss Cheese Products, Miss Veal, Miss Velvet

Step, the Dobbins Pin-Up Queen and Miss Snow Ball to have much else except beauty, but read on:

Carolyn, her high school's valedictorian, is a member of Alpha Lambda Delta and Crimson Key honor society and on the Dean's List at Georgia State. She has also worked as society and feature editor of the school newspaper; was a charter member, secretary and treasurer of Panhellenic Council and editor of the Panhellenic Handbook; a member of the Student Council and the powerful General Council which controls all student organizations. She has just turned over the editorship of the yearbook, the Rampway, to another DZ, Jayne Harris, and was among the finalists for May Queen again this year, having won second for the second consecutive year.

A charter member and past president of Delta Delta Chapter, Carolyn proudly points out that two of the seven May Queen finalists were Delta Zetas. Asked for information about herself for this story, Carolyn obliged with news of outstanding doings by all the other DZs at Georgia State (read about these in Delta Zetas on Campus) and explained, "When I begin talking or writing about our sorority it is difficult to stop."

She has also served DZ as publicity chairman, charm chairman (a "natural"!), first vice president and convention delegate. She was on the Homecoming and Mardi Gras Courts, and is being sponsored for National Rose of Pi Kappa Phi by the Georgia State chapter of the fraternity.

JEFF CHANDLER is CAROLYN LEE's favorite of all the prominent people she has met in her work. She sold him a DZ raffle ticket, and the newspaper headline read, "Chandler makes a hit with sorority girls."

EDITH ALLEN BROWN

A wealth of distinguished sorority experience is brought to this most important program by Edith Allen Brown of Orinda, California, who has served as province director, chapter alumnae advisor and National Council member of Delta Sigma Epsilon. She helped organize and was the first president of Alpha Alpha of DSE and received her B.A. from Fresno State College and her M.A. from the University of California.

Her husband, C. W. Allen, is a professor of psychology, and they have a daughter, Betty, who is a senior in high school, and a son, Dick, in the Army.

Apart from her contribution to Delta Zeta, she is also busy with such community activities as the Children's Home Society of California, an adoptive agency; the Girl Scout Council; and the Berkeley Women's City Club, of which she is a director.

Breeding and showing Kerry Blue Terriers is a favorite hobby, and she enjoys sewing, gardening, remodeling and decorating old houses, tennis, swimming and travel. As for her "spare time," our Delta Zeta Scholarship Chairman can well ask: "What's that?"

Ideas ➡ Outlines ➡ Action

This is the work of

Our College

JO ANN HUNTER KRUEGER

Another chairman who "knows whereof she speaks" is Jo Ann Hunter Krueger, who could (and does) write the textbook on activities from her own busy days at Gamma Epsilon Chapter, Drake University. Activities hit just the highlights: She made Phi Beta Kappa in her junior year, was elected to Mortar Board and the college Who's Who, and was secretary of the student government.

In 1951 Delta Zeta honored her with the Florence Hood Award as the most outstanding junior Delta Zeta in the nation, and in 1953 the State Department awarded her a Fulbright Scholarship to study in England.

She makes her home now in Santa Fe, New Mexico, where her husband is an architect, and her newest interest and "time-filler" is their daughter, Roberta, who will be a year old in July.

The results of Jo Ann's outstanding work in activities will be seen in this issue's Delta Zetas on Campus. With "ideas unlimited" as her motto, she is currently working on a handbook which will round up outstanding floats, homecoming decorations and other ideas for all chapters to share.

"Delta Zeta has always been of vital interest from the day our chapter heard we were to become affiliated with Delta Zeta," says Laura Arnold Raker of Fort Dodge, Iowa, a charter member of Beta Kappa at Iowa State College.

After several years of teaching she entered the retailing field and last year became buyer-manager for the fashion departments of Fort Dodge's largest store, making frequent trips to the Chicago and New York markets.

Her husband is biology instructor, backfield football coach and assistant track coach in the local high school, and their spare time is taken up with outdoor activities—fishing, camping and traveling. These interests are shared with their daughter, Jeanice, a 1957 graduate and past president of Iowa-Iota, and her husband.

"A Mothers' Club working with every one of our college chapters knits a closeness between all our mothers and their daughters in Delta Zeta," says Laura Raker, "and leaves a never-to-be-forgotten memory of days never to be relived—I know, for I am a Delta Zeta mother and I want every mother to experience the joy and pride which I have experienced."

Outstanding Delta Zeta Chapters

Program Chairmen

Isabel Piedade Beckmann's Delta Zeta interests have followed her across the continent from Connecticut to California to Oregon. A member of Gamma Beta at the University of Connecticut, "Dolly's" college record included Who's Who; the Borden Scholarship Award; Phi Upsilon Omicron; and Women's Student Government Council.

After adding her Mrs. and moving to Southern California, she attended graduate classes at Whittier College, served as president of the Pasadena-Foothills Alumnae, and taught homemaking for seven years. With the impending arrival of Thomas John, now two and a half, Dolly "retired"—and plunged into the National Standards Program. Last year the Beckmanns moved to the vicinity of Portland, where Hale is district manager for Pfizer Laboratories.

With the birth of Debra Ellen, now five months old, Dolly stays busy with her family, her home and Delta Zeta, but maintains an interest in travel, gardening, home movies and sewing.

STANDARDS

ISABEL PIEDADE BECKMANN

Much of the success of the Standards Program, she feels, is due to the close contact with each chapter made possible through the nine-member National Standards Committee.

VIRGINIA MURRELL. She offers her best . . . talent, intelligence, warmth . . .

top Kentucky educator:

Virginia Murrell, Pride of Two States

By Barbara Wayman Schaefer and Ruth Morgan Parker

CINCINNATI ALUMNÆ are extremely proud of Virginia Murrell, their adopted daughter from Alpha Theta at the University of Kentucky and the new president of the Kentucky Education Association.

Virginia is the first northern Kentuckian in many years to hold the presidency of the 23,000-member organization dedicated to better teacher salaries and educational standards in her state.

Virginia, who holds a BS degree in music from Kentucky and an MA from Columbia University, is a native of Somerset, Kentucky, and supervisor of music in the Bellevue, Kentucky, schools. She is prominent in religious, fraternal and educational circles.

She is a member of the First Christian Church of Somerset and choir director of the Bellevue Christian Church.

Virginia is an active member of Phi Beta (national professional fraternity of music and speech), Mortar Board, and the AAUW. She has served for several years on the alumnae advisory board of Cincinnati-Xi chapter.

She demonstrated her executive ability early by serving as Delta Zeta president during her college years and has continued her service as an executive on many educational offices on the local and state levels.

Her educational activities are outstanding: She is past president of the Northern Kentucky Education Association, Bellevue Faculty Association, Northern Kentucky High School Women Teachers Club, and Zeta chapter of Delta Kappa Gamma (for women educators). She has been vice president of the Kentucky Music Educators Association and chairman of the Northern association. She has also been a delegate to the Teacher Education and Professional Standards national convention and the NEA convention.

Always busy, but never too busy, she also manages to do the little things, from chaperoning that extra high school dance, or serving a church supper before even coming to an alumnae meeting, to washing dishes at a rush party.

Virginia is a teacher's teacher. She has talent, intelligence and a warm personality. She is able to bring out the best in her friends and students because she offers her best to them.

We are proud that she is a Delta Zeta.

fall, the Ventura BPW clubs chose her as Ventura Woman of the Year.

Betty is a second generation Delta Zeta, for her mother, Doris Adams Wentworth, is Mu '22. She also followed her mother's footsteps into the Prytanean society at Berkeley and in addition became editor-in-chief of The Daily Californian, representative-at-large on the ASUC Executive Committee, a Phi Beta Kappa, Mortar Board and member of Women's Judicial Committee.

DELTA ZETA FAMILY ALBUM

DELTA ZETA FAMILIES ENJOY THE GOLDEN CIRCLE

This issue honors an outstanding Delta Zeta family of the Northland: Caroline Sjoblom Tema and her two Delta Zeta daughters, all of Gamma Chapter, University of Minnesota. Caroline Tema was chosen Delta Zeta Woman of the Year in 1956 by the Twin City Alumnæ Association and is past president of the Mothers' Club. Joan Tema, left, '52, has served on the college Advisory Board and with her Mother as co-editor of the Twin City DZ Newsletter and member of the Corporation Board. Carol Tema Opheim, right, '56, was Gamma's rushing vice president and last year received the Minnesota Dietetic Association Scholarship. Joan now lives in Warren, Ohio, and Carol in San Francisco.

1958 IS "ANNIVERSARY YEAR" at the University of North Dakota. The University observes its 75th birthday. And Upsilon chapter of Delta Zeta has cause for celebration too. The year 1958 marks the 38th year that Upsilon has been nationally affiliated with Delta Zeta and the 41st birthday of the chapter on UND campus.

The "original thirteen" Upsilon sorority sisters met on December 16, 1916. Three years after that first meeting the chapter received a telegram which carried the members to the heights of excitement and bliss. It read that the petition for membership with Delta Zeta had been granted and that Alpha Sigma Epsilon would be able to go national. Membership has grown tremendously until today the Upsilon chapter of Delta Zeta means home and friendship to 60 girls. Celebrities initiated into this chapter include Margot de Brynn Kyss, a famous dress-designer, and the late Princess Marthe of Norway.

Outstanding campus co-eds from the DZ house on UND campus are Louise Johnson, an accomplished harp player and a member of national Sigma Alpha Iota; Karen Olson, Sweetheart of Sigma Chi and past secretary of Panhellenic Council; Evelyn Berglund, a talented actress who has leads in many of the Dakota Playmaker productions; Maxine Allen, finalist for 1957 Homecoming Queen; and Shirley Gillgard, Engineers Queen for 1957.

This fall we are planning to redecorate the DZ house at its present location on 2724 University Avenue.

Growth and progress have marked the 75 years of the University story.

Founders' Day ceremonies in mid-February launched the observance, with Eric Severeid, noted newsman, giving the main address. A few days earlier the gift of a million dollars to the University for a library building was announced. Donor was Chester Fritz, international financier and former UND student. Dr. George W. Starcher, University president, called the gift "the diamond setting" in the Anniversary Year.

In the span of years from 1883 to 1958 the University has grown from a one-building institution to a great educational plant. Approximately 4,000 students now study at the University during a year.

It was back in the years following the Battle of the Little Big Horn—and before North Dakota became a state—that Dakota pioneers, with foresight and faith in the future paused amid breaking the prairie sod to plan for higher education. The official date of the University's founding is February 27, 1883, when the Territorial Governor signed the organic act into Law.

The act gives the University claim to a couple of "firsts." The name, University of North Dakota, constitutes the first official use of the words "North Dakota." And the University is the first state institution—educational or otherwise.

Four faculty members met the 11 students who entered the University on the opening day, September 8, 1884.

Today the University consists of 10 academic divisions: University College; College of Science, Literature and Arts; College of Education; College of Engineering; School of Law; School of Medicine; Division of Nursing; College of Bus-

Anniversary

"With special pride . . ."

In the four years that I have been Dean of Women at the University of North Dakota, my relationship with Delta Zeta has been both impressive and gratifying. As a dean, I am especially appreciative of the fine policy of chapter supervision on the part of the national organization and the great personal interest in individual chapters that has been demonstrated to me by the outstanding Delta Zeta fraternity women that it has been my privilege to know. Before my arrival on the campus, Mrs. Russell T. Costello worked long and hard on the over-all Panhellenic situation on this campus. She, and your fraternity women like her, laid a firm foundation upon which I was able to build during the past four years.

I have been most pleased with the progress being made by the Delta Zeta chapter at the University of North Dakota. The chapter is adding to its membership fine young women who are dedicated to building a fine chapter. The chapter continues to profit by strong alumnae sponsors. I look with special pride upon the achievements of our Delta Zeta chapter and hope that my relationships, both with the local chapter and the national fraternity, will long continue.

THE HOME OF NORTH DAKOTA-UPSILON OF DELTA ZETA

Social fraternities first appeared February 22, 1902 with the organization of the Varsity Bachelors Club, which was formed for social reasons but later announced the more serious purpose of "the advancement and the upholding of the University."

The Interfraternity Council and Panhellenic Association are both very active. The UND Panhellenic Council was honored for its outstanding achievements by winning The Fraternity Month Trophy for excellence in last fall's national competition.

Anniversary time is not meant solely for celebration, but for analysis and rededication as well. We are not so much concerned in looking at the

From its modest beginning with only one building the University has developed into an institution with a physical plant including some 30 major buildings of Tudor Gothic architecture. The educational plant is valued at approximately $17,000,000.

More than 49,000 students have studied at the University since it first opened its doors.

past or in glorifying the present as we are in looking ahead to the future.

The University's 75th Anniversary theme is "Intelligence, the basis of Civilization." This theme has set the keynote for a year of self-searching in all University organizations, including Panhellenic Council, and Upsilon is joining other sororities in "taking stock" so that we may be more sure of our mission and aims.

Memphis' Charming Patricia Taylor

Makes Friends for DZ

PATRICIA TAYLOR started with a bang by being elected president of her pledge class. Next, in the annual contest sponsored by the Memphis State yearbook, the DeSoto, she became a member of the DeSoto Beauty Court, composed of the six most beautiful girls on campus. In a school-wide election she was named Freshman Queen, one of the top honors on our campus.

PATRICIA TAYLOR

Other honors include first alternate in the Christian Brothers College Homecoming Queen contest and second alternate in the Queen of Shelbi Contest. Shelbi is a secret society of the annual Memphis Cotton Carnival. At the annual Military Ball the Air Force R.O.T.C. elected Patricia their sweetheart, one of Memphis State's greatest honors. Patricia was recently chosen secretary of the sophomore class in a school-wide election. She also holds a Horace A. Moses Scholarship from Junior Achievement.

Quite an impressive list of accomplishments for a young lady in her very first year in college! Most of all, her sparkling and vivacious personality, which helps her win friends as well as contests, also wins friends for Delta Zeta wherever she goes. A pretty and charming girl, and a credit to her sorority—Patricia Taylor.

Tulsa's Busy Ella Whitman

Never Too Busy for Delta Zeta

TULSA Alumnae are proud to introduce a new DZ with a knack for old-style friendship: Ella Trotter Whitman, administrative assistant to the superintendent of schools and clerk of the Board of Education.

One of 72 outstanding alumnae members initiated by Tulsa, she first entered the Tulsa Public Schools as a business education teacher in 1934. In 1937 she moved to the Education Service Center to work on curriculum building. In 1944 she became assistant to the superintendent, and in 1955 she took on the extra duty as Board of Education clerk.

Ella Whitman earned her degree from Northeastern State Teachers College, Tahlequah, Oklahoma, where she was initiated as a member of Delta Phi Chapter, and has completed graduate work at Oklahoma State, Colorado and Arkansas Universities. She was in school only one year before starting her teaching career, and completed her work in summer sessions.

Ella's community interests are many: Boston Avenue Methodist Church; executive board member of Married Folk Sunday School class (a class of more than 1200 members); Tulsa Community Chest; Tulsa Women's Dinner Club; Southwood Country Club; Tulsa Civanettes; past president of PEO; director of the March of Dimes for the 75 Tulsa schools; membership committee for Oklahoma Beta Chapter of Delta Kappa Gamma; Oklahoma Education Association and the National Education Association.

With all these (and a bridge club, just for fun), Ella has still been an active Delta Zeta. This year she helped in two alumnae initiations, did necessary typing from time to time for the chapter, attended Founders' Day at Oklahoma State-Alpha Epsilon, served as co-hostess for a monthly meeting, and just let us know by being present that she was happy to be a DZ and one of us.

Ella's charming personality and thoughtfulness make her a favorite in the Education Service Center, as well as in Delta Zeta. She is one of those rare personalities who is never too busy to lend a helping hand and who remembers every friend in time of illness and death with a personal note, card or call.

Ella and her husband Ernest, a real estate salesman, are noted for their entertaining in their lovely home. Friends clear their date books when they know a Whitman steak fry or chili supper is coming up. The Whitmans also share their boating dock and large boat at Fort Gibson with their many friends. Ella's hobbies are entertaining, and collecting Bertha Hummel figurines. She has many of these authentic figurines throughout her home, and she can tell you something special in connection with each one.

Tulsa Alumnae Chapter is happy to have had the pleasure of initiating Ella Whitman into Delta Zeta.—CLEO CARDWELL ARTERBURN, Editor

Dayton's Capable Charlotte Kunst Honored by City and Sorority

CHARLOTTE WELLS KUNST

Dayton, Ohio Alumnae chapter has every reason to be proud of all its members, but recently one member was selected as president of the Dayton YWCA, and this has made us doubly proud. Mrs. John M. Kunst, née Charlotte Wells of Miami-Alpha, is the well-qualified Delta Zeta alumnae so honored.

Charlotte's interests are wide and varied, and not only does she take active parts in YWCA and Delta Zeta activities, but is the busy mother of two lively teen age boys. Her activity in the YW began about nine years ago when she was appointed to the International Institute Committee. Since then she has served as chairman of the World Fellowship Committee, chairman of the 1953 World's Fair, chairman of the Finance Committee for two years, and chairman of the Building Maintenance Committee for two years.

With all this active Y work, Charlotte still finds time to be on many of our Delta Zeta committees also, having served as state chairman for Ohio State Day, and now being our present press chairman to name just a few.

Our congratulations to a most worthy president!

The Miami Chapel and Chimes:

"A Vision of Greatness" Says President John Millett

DR. JOHN D. MILLETT, president of Miami University, was principal speaker at the Ohio State Day luncheon. In expressing the University's appreciation for the chimes Delta Zeta will present to its All-Faith Chapel, he said:

"Present criticisms of our educational system give us a warning. There are concerns we should not overlook. You cannot, without danger to mankind, separate science from morality. Similarly, you cannot separate higher education from a faith in a divine being.

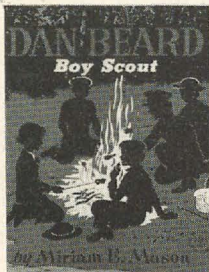

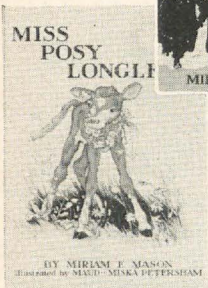

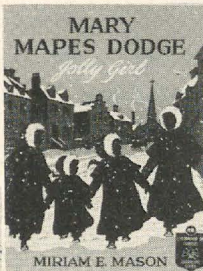

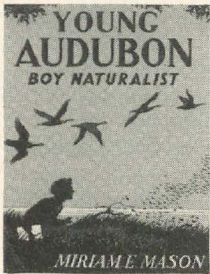

"This chapel we want to build will be a symbol of morality, ethics, faith, and to the education which is our primary task on this campus. We feel we must have a constant reminder of this close relationship between education power and the way we use this power.

"We are called to an habitual vision of greatness. We are grateful to Delta Zeta for wanting to help. We hope some day you will see that chapel, hear those chimes—see in this small but vital structure an habitual reminder, an habitual vision of greatness."

An Absorbing Tale's The Thing For Miriam Mason's Young Readers important values, too, but—

MIRIAM MASON SWAIN'S distinguished career in children's literature has brought her much recognition:

A school in Noblesville, Indiana, dedicated a room to her; an Illinois school which she visited met her at the train with a host of children, a big welcome arch and all the trimmings; her own town, Batesville, Indiana, had a special Miriam Mason Swain Day, and last fall the library starred her in a "This Is Your Life" series on women of note; every year she is invited to attend children's literature conferences and to visit more towns and schools than she can possibly schedule; her works have been chosen for anthologies and translated into foreign editions.

But her richest reward is probably the hundreds of letters from "small fry" who take pen or pencil in hand to scrawl a note of thanks and admiration for the lady who has given them so many delightful hours within the world of books.

MIRIAM MASON SWAIN
*She loves
Katherines, Katies,
Kathies, Kittens
... and it's mutual,
to be sure!*

Or the comment of one librarian: "Miriam's books are among those which never stay on the shelves and are simply loved to shreds."

Lively personalities, delightful humor and realistic backgrounds contribute to this popularity, but the basic distinction was best described by Delta Zeta's beloved Grace Mason Lundy, who as a teacher—and the author's sister—reads and uses children's books with avidity. She says, "They illustrate a truth which makers of primers and readers were sadly slow in recognizing; namely, that a controlled word list doesn't necessarily have to permit only mediocre reading. Miriam's books are for the child who is just beginning to read for himself, but they don't sound like 'easy'—in other words, 'dull' stuff. Simple words can carry an absorbing story."

Among her most popular works for very young readers are a cat story, "Matilda and Her Family," and a dog story, "Timothy Has Ideas," both on the Macmillan list. Children of the fourth and fifth grades have especially enjoyed two stories of early Indiana, "Smiling Hill Farm" and "A House for Ten," and one now out of print but based on her own grandmother's childhood in Ohio, "O, Happy Day." Her books for the Bobbs-Merrill Childhood of Famous Americans series include stories of Mark Twain, William Penn, John James Audubon, and Mary Mapes Dodge, author of "Hans Brinker."

As these subjects suggest, her books have values which older critics especially appreciate—the good pictures of family life; of stress on the real values of living; of growth in the personal traits of courage, humor, dependability, love of animals and nature (her first author's check was for a story about a mule), helpfulness, making your own good times, participating rather than just watching the world go by.

It is most unusual for an author to have two books in one season with two different publishers and almost the same name for the heroine, but that was the case last fall when Macmillan brought out "Katie Kittenheart" and Bobbs-Merrill published "Kate Douglas Wiggin, The Little Teacher."

"It just turned out that way," she says, "but I've always loved the name Katherine, Kathleen or just Katie." By dint of weeping all day she managed to get her youngest sister's name changed from Margaret to Kathleen, and her only daughter and her older granddaughter are also named Kathleen.

"Kate Douglas Wiggin" is her second biography of the well-loved teacher and story teller who wrote "Rebecca of Sunnybrook Farm." The first was a teen-age book from Houghton Mifflin, named "Yours with Love, Kate." The new one is for little girls, with emphasis upon the childhood which led this woman to grow into the zestful, generous achieving person she became. Miss Mason did an enormous amount of reading and study in preparing the books and believes "The Little Teacher" born 101 years ago would have loved life today, with its TV appearances and swift transcontinental flights.

"I think, too, she would have made a wonderful Delta Zeta, for she had the gift of friendship and the genius of participation and the power of both gaining from and giving to any organization of which she was a part.

"'Katie Kittenheart' is very close to my own heart, for the replica of the young heroine is my granddaughter, Kathy. Katie's traits are those of Kathy; her love and admiration and imitation of certain teachers; her propensity for selecting the smallest, ugliest, skinniest and most flea-bitten of the litter when she was allowed to have a kitten."

The jacket and pictures for "Katie Kittenheart" are also drawn from photographs of the Kathy who inspired the book.

"A Small Farm for Andy," due from Macmillan this summer, is similarly inspired by her grandson, Andy, and will be illustrated from his photographs. This summer she will also have a biography of John Smith from Houghton Mifflin, and three more of her books have gone into foreign editions this season: "Little Jonathan," a pioneer boy's story, in German; "Freddy," an "impossible" but "possibly probable" story of a rabbit, published in Sweden; and "William Penn," translated for use in Japanese schools.

Miss Mason spent her early years on an Indiana farm with her five sisters and a brother who, drawn together by the isolation, worked out their own entertainment by reading, writing and acting out plays, and planning and giving musical concerts. She progressed from a one-room school house to Indiana University, where she was a member of Epsilon of Delta Zeta, and then to Ball State Teachers College and Missouri University. She was a rural school teacher, copy writer for an urban department store and editorial reader for children's texts for a Chicago publisher before the birth of her daughter, when she decided to follow her desire to write.

AK-SAR-BEN COUNTESS—Elizabeth Ann Paine of Nebraska Wesleyan-Beta Tau received one of the top honors in Nebraska when she was chosen 1957 Ak-Sar-Ben Countess. The Ak-Sar-Ben, official opening of the winter social season, promotes Nebraska and is Omaha's equivalent to New Orleans' Mardi Gras. The Beta Tau DZ is also a former American University Scholar, an honor awarded to Nebraska Wesleyan Delta Zetas for the past two years.

Gail Brooke Burket Elected by Pen Women

Gail Brooke Burket, noted poet and Delta Zeta Woman of the Year in 1954, was elected third vice president of the National League of American Pen Women at their biennial meeting this spring in Washington, D.C.

Gail's poems appear frequently in national publications and several are scheduled for appearance in books during 1958. She also has a hymn which will be published in a hymnal this year. Her book, "You Can Write a Poem," was the subject of a television program on poetry in Champaign, Illinois, where she shared a panel with Dr. Louise Dunbar of the University of Illinois and Miss Ruth Van Deventer of the Urbana-Champaign Pen Women. This book originally written for use by the Hospitalized Veterans' Writing Project of Theta Sigma Phi, has been widely used throughout the country and received much praise for its clearness and helpfulness.

She also addressed the Illinois State Pen Women in a program which included the outstanding Delta Zeta Chorus of Eastern Illinois University.

And Honored by Theta Sigma Phi

One of Gail's poems, used on the program of the national convention of Theta Sigma Phi in Chicago last year, has been incorporated into the initiation ceremony for new members. Adela Rogers St. John, speaker at the banquet, paid tribute to the poem and quoted it in her address.

DZ Sisters, Teachers, And Now—Co-Authors

Beverly Treuhardt and Marie Murdock, two Delta Zeta teachers in Georgetown, Texas, have become co-authors with the publication of "Sam Bass," an adventure story for boys on the spring list of Austin's Steck Company.

Georgetown is the home of Southwestern-Gamma Zeta, which Beverly served as CCD for several years. Marie was initiated as an alumna in 1955. Their friendship began in 1952, when she did her student teaching with Beverly, who says, "Until this year, we taught second grade together, so it seemed quite natural to be working on something for children together. As for hobbies, we almost didn't get the book written because of one of our mutual ones, sewing."

BEVERLY TREUHARDT

MARIE MURDOCK

Marie also enjoys reading, and she and her family are great animal lovers, possessing assorted cats, kittens, cockers, and, until recently, two baby squirrels. She is a member of several professional organizations, as well as AAUW, PTA and her church group. Her husband is high school counselor and her 14-year-old son recently won the junior district meet in tennis.

Beverly Huie Treuhardt's Texas-Alpha Tau sisters remember her as one of the prettiest Phi Beta Kappas on campus and as a stand-out rushing captain who gave them the pleasure of initiating her mother, who had served as an unofficial but devoted assistant chairman. She has similar plans for Tami, who arrived last November, and her husband, J. C., an auto dealer, has been a "DZ man" since their first pledge formal. Beverly is on the city summer recreation board and enjoys reading, the ukulele, piano, textile painting and the making of ceramic jewelry.

Oklahoma State's Dionne Dobson Serves Education Conference

Dionne Dobson of Oklahoma State-Alpha Epsilon was selected as one of two representatives from Stillwater High School graduates to serve on the panel of the Annual High School Principals, OSU Students and OSU Faculty Conference at Oklahoma State University.

DIONNE DOBSON . . . building better educational programs.

The aim of the two-day conference is to build better educational programs by presenting constructive viewpoints which contribute to solving mutual problems at the secondary school and university levels. There were 49 schools represented.

Dionne is attending OSU on a Music Department scholarship and is harpist with the school symphony. She is a member of Kappa Phi, the Methodist sorority, on the Dean's Honor Roll, and is publicity chairman of her chapter.

Northwestern's Karen Is "Fairest in the Land"

Karen Lee Hukkala, the lovely blonde who was featured in the autumn LAMP as a finalist for the Campana Solitair Beauty Queen contest, has won the national title.

A member of Alpha Alpha chapter, Karen first won the Northwestern University title. Then, as one of the three regional finalists representing the Midwest, she was featured in many national magazines during the past year. As national winner she will receive a trip to Hawaii.

The contest, which ran all year and ended on May 1, was a major project for the Northwestern Delta Zetas who helped round up the winning votes.

Fellowship for Queens' Helen

Queens College Delta Zetas are justly proud of Helen Kleigl, who is a candidate for the nation-wide Woodrow Wilson Fellowship, which she plans to take at Columbia University.

HELEN KLEIGL . . . "the spirit of DZ."

A member of Phi Beta Kappa, Helen is a versatile scholar whose achievements range beyond the Deans' List. She is editor of the Spectrum, the Queens literary magazine, and has also used her talents to further the Glee Club, Chorus and Orchestra.

She has served Delta Epsilon chapter as treasurer and can always be counted upon for amusing and original contributions to such projects as campus shows and songfests, skits and parties.

Her chapter writes: "To all who know her she personifies the spirit of Delta Zeta."

Nancy Staley Gets Yale Bid

Adding to her list of academic achievements, Nancy Staley, Northwestern-Alpha Alpha, was recently admitted to Yale Medical School, a feat accomplished by few women.

Hailing from Phoenix, Ariz., Nancy plans to enter next fall. She was also accepted by medical schools at Columbia and Northwestern Universities.

As a junior Nancy was elected to Phi Beta Kappa, national honorary fraternity. She was also a member of Alpha Lambda Delta, and Sigma Xi, science honorary. Besides studying, Nancy has served the house as sports, standards and scholarship chairman.

Before entering school in the fall, she will work this summer at Brookhaven National Laboratory in Long Island, N.Y., in the biology department.

Pacific Singing Tour Exciting For "Choral-Aire" Jeanie Coleman

"It was the most thrilling experience I have ever had," stated Jeanie Coleman, of Delta Xi, of her tour of the Pacific with the Choral-Aires, a vocal group from Colorado State College.

JEANIE COLEMAN . . . "enchanted with Japan."

Jeanie, a junior majoring in Elementary Education, has been a member of the Choral-Aires for three years. Exceptional vocal talent is the main requirement for membership. They have made professional recordings, appeared on radio and television and made countless public appearances. The highlight was their recent tour of the Pacific Area Command: Hawaii, Johnson Island, Kwajalein, Eniwetok, Guam, Midway, Formosa, Iwo Jima, Okinawa, Japan and Korea.

During their eight-day stay in Tokyo the Choral-Aires rehearsed, went sight-seeing, were fitted for warmer clothing for their trip to Korea and made several appearances. "I was so enchanted with Japan," wrote Jeanie, "and fell in love with the Japanese people and their honest simplicity."

The group hated to leave Japan, but were anxious to get on with their twenty-day tour in Korea. For a week they entertained U. S. front-line soldiers, going as far North as Americans can get in Korea.

Later the Choral-Aires sang to soldiers in the Seoul area, Inchon and Ascom City, west of Seoul. During a brief stop-over in Japan, homeward-bound Jeanie said that she didn't realize how much hot and cold running water could mean to her after being without it during the Korean visit.

Six Months in Finland For Journalist Judy Hanson

On June 8, Judy Hanson of Oregon State reported to Washington, D.C., to begin a tour of Finland as an International Farm Youth Exchange Student.

JUDY HANSON . . . "peace through understanding."

The object of IFYE, a program sponsored by 4-H, is world peace through a better understanding between members of countries. For six months, Judy will live with three or four different farm families in Finland, working and exchanging ideas with them. Upon her return in December, she will begin lecturing on Finland and the IFYE program to various organizations throughout the state of Oregon.

Chi Chapter is very proud of Judy, who is publicity chairman and historian for the chapter and also very active on campus. She is publicity chairman for Associated Women Students, and is on the AWS executive and legislative councils.

Among her other journalistic accomplishments are work as a day editor and church editor for the OSC Daily Barometer. She is a member of Theta Sigma Phi, women's national professional journalism honorary.

What Delta Zeta Means To Me

By Barbara Loy, Franklin-Psi

IT HAS been my privilege during my college days to be a member of the Delta Zeta Sorority. With the other members of my chapter I have attended both state and national meetings and met uncountable members—fine women.

I have been overwhelmingly impressed with the wonderful character of our organization. It is as if every Delta Zeta carried in her hand a vessel that contained the very wine of life. Through its crystal walls beautifully gleam the things that constitute our sorority—vibrant life, profound learning, loving friendship, and the eternal qualities of the good, the true, and the beautiful.

I have watched over and over again the members of my chapter lift this vessel in recognition to the Giver of all, the Eternal Source from which these gifts came. Then I have seen them complete the circle and hold to the lips of new pledges this precious wine of life.

In Oakland, Michigan:

"Pictionary" Helps Teach Deaf Children

SPARKED by a social services chairman who is herself a teacher of the deaf, Oakland, Michigan, Delta Zetas have spent countless hours preparing a "pictionary" now being used in special classes for deaf children. Thirty-five members of the Oakland, Alumnae, Group Two, participated in the project, which was reported by The Daily Tribune of Royal Oak, Michigan:

The "pictionary" is a card index file with illustrations of more than 1,000 words in the basic vocabulary taught in the first through fourth grades.

"The most time-consuming job that a teacher of the deaf encounters is the endless searching, cutting out and filing of pictures—one of the most helpful mediums in teaching communications to the deaf child," says Mary Stack, who suggested the project. With 14 years of teaching the deaf behind her, she is employed by the Birmingham Board of education as a special education teacher.

Members of the Oakland group, working on a second pictionary, found it comparatively easy to find suitable pictures for most nouns. It was the verbs and adverbs that proved difficult. Such abstract words as "yesterday" and "today" seemed impossible.

The "pictionary" has proved useful "not only in developing both a written and spoken language for children deprived of normal vocabulary and speech patterns but for special speech cases and the mentally retarded," said Miss Stack.

Miss Stack, who taught a summer preschool class for deaf pre-school children last summer in the North Shore area of Chicago, is convinced that deaf children can read and write at five or six years (like a normal child), with special training.

Co-chairmen with her on the project were Mrs. William A. Newman and Mrs. Harold Van Dragt.

Always as we have given, we have received more. Though we poured these gifts of the spirit upon all who could receive, the precious vessel was always filled to overflowing. I have seen my sisters in tender regard for fellow members and in loving service demonstrate the truth of the statement, "He that loseth life shall find it." As we have shared our membership with others of like mind, our chapter has grown in beauty and power and has taken its rightful place as staunch supporters of all that is good in our campus society.

Of this I am a member—and proudly so.

Two Heads are Better Than One

ESPECIALLY if they're both DZs!

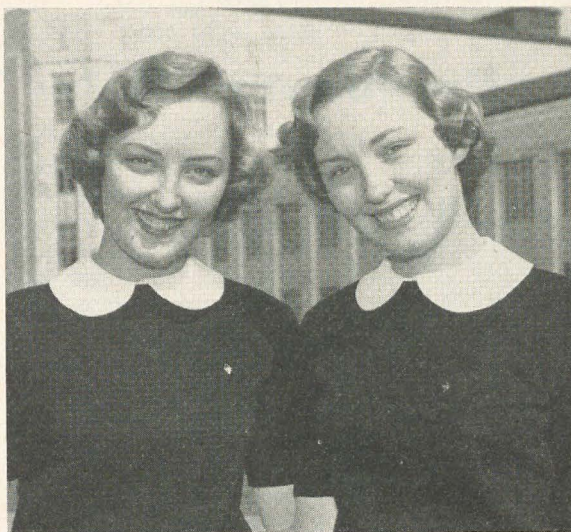

Or so say the Delta Theta girls at the University of Houston, and they should know, for this year they pledged not one, but two sets of identical twins.

They are Mary Ann Trapolino, Jo Ann Trapolino, Kay Potter and Rae Potter. Mary Ann and Jo Ann are also members of the Newman Club and are on the official campus committee for Career Day. Kay and Rae are on the Houstonian staff and will be featured in that publication this year.

Both sets of twins made "all eyes turn toward Delta Zeta" when they participated as one of the main attractions of Bayou Queen, Delta Zeta's entry in the annual Frontier Fiesta. (In the Delta Zetas on Campus section, see a picture of the Bayou Queen, which was featured in Life Magazine.)

Delta Zeta is extremely proud of its two sets of twins, even though at times the members begin to think they are seeing double!

It was a top year all-around for the Memphis DZs—and for many other Delta Zeta chapters which were demonstrating a delightful combination of scholarship, beauty, leadership and service.

With her election as Panhellenic Woman of the Year, Carolyn Taylor received the highest honor in sorority life at Central Michigan College. She reigned over Greek Week as co-chairman with Delta Sigma Phi's Don Galvin, Greek Man of the Year.

A junior from Lansing, Carolyn was chairman for two years of the IFC Panhellenic Christmas party for underprivileged children and has been pledge president and most outstanding pledge of Delta Zeta.

She is also a Student Court justice, Sloan Dorm Council representative, acting president of Panhellenic Council, and has been nominated for senior class senator. She is past secretary of the Associated Women Students Board.

Carolyn has a speech and English major with music and art minors on the elementary teaching curriculum.

Marian Accinno, 1957 co-winner of the Florence Hood Award, was featured this spring in a double-page spread in the University of Alabama yearbook as the Capstone's most beautiful: Miss Corolla of 1957-58.

Marian, who is from Birmingham, has shown outstanding achievement since she came to the University four years ago. She is a girl who is known not only for her leadership as past president of the chapter, but also admired for her beauty and congeniality throughout the state. Her friendliness, warmth, sincerity and beauty have won for her many titles. Among them are: Miss Alabama, Miss Commerce, Star of Pi Kappa Phi, alternate in Miss A. Day Contest, Miss Bama Day Finalist, Miss Air Force R.O.T.C.

Marian has devoted much time to the scholastic side of college life as is well evidenced by her honorary achievements as a member of Chi Delta Phi, Mortar Board, Kappa Delta Pi, secretary of Associated Women Students, Future Teachers of America, Alabama's representative in the Beaux Art's Ball, and the Alabama Spirit Club Governing Board.

"Woman of the Year for 1958"

Gamma Mu would like to tell you about Peggy Colburn. Ever since she came to Illinois Tech, she's been in on things. A list of her activities reads like a summary of social and scholastic possibilities at IIT. She started off by winning the Freshman Competitive Scholarship, working her first year on Technology News, and playing in the IIT band.

As her school years went along, she was elected secretary of her freshman and sophomore classes, Secretary and then President of the Home Economics Club, and crowned Queen of the Intregal Ball. She lent her talents to the Drama Club, and WIIT, the campus radio station, cheered for the team, and was appointed as representative of the Liberal Studies Division to the student government.

This year, her senior year, she finished off by winning secretary of the student government, being listed in the college Who's Who and finally being chosen in an all-school election—Woman of the Year for 1958.

Pat Russell
of Iowa State:

"Outstanding Woman Scholar"

Beta Kappa's Pat Russell was the first recipient of the Outstanding Woman Scholar Award given by Mortar Board at Woman's Day. The qualifications are accumulative grade point, academic enthusiasm and class cooperation. Pat was selected by unanimous vote of the committee of faculty members and Mortar Board president and was honored at the Woman's Day banquet and by the campus newspaper.

Pat, who is from Creston, Iowa, is majoring in child development and home economics education and worked last summer at the children's hospital in Denver, as recreation therapist. She created the job for herself, working for a meager salary and living with relatives because she wanted the experience and to help the children. She was so successful in her job that they have now made the position a full-time job and are looking for someone with Pat's qualifications to fill it.

She is a member of Phi Upsilon Omicron and Omicron Nu (home ec), the Child Development Council, treasurer of the student properties board, a member of the Iowa State Singers Tour Group and a member of the home economics council as state secretary of the college club section of the Iowa Home Economics Association.

Pat has received straight A's with only one exception in her major curricula. Her department head termed her "very worthy of such an award and the example of an excellent student." The college registrar commented:

"I used to think beauty and brains could not be found in one girl. Now I know differently—Look at Pat Russell!"

Philanthropies . . . a strengthening trend:

"Service to Others"

Perhaps it was the troubled state of the world as it passed the mid-century mark . . . Or perhaps it was simply an awareness of their own good fortunes which made them want to share some part of it with others . . . But the fact was, that in 1958, as in recent years, Delta Zeta collegians were more than ever showing a deepening interest in philanthropies, formerly thought of as chiefly the province of alumnae . . . We believe that with such citizens as these coming up, the world's prospects for the future can't be so terribly dark. . . Here are only a few excerpts about some Delta Zeta "Lamp-lighters" from this spring's chapter reports:

Wayne-Epsilon Sigma:

Our most recent service goal, under the direction of Dawn Hopps and Sis Omstead, is tray favors each month for a hospital.

At San Diego State-Gamma Omicron:

On March 8th the American Legion Hall was the scene of the eighth annual "Gingham Gaities," our benefit dessert bridge and style show. A portion of the proceeds will go to Gallaudet College and Hillcrest Receiving Home, our local philanthropy. Beverly Skinner was chairman for the show, and models were members of the college and alumnae chapters and the Mothers' Club.

Indiana-Epsilon:

Epsilon's philanthropies program is in full swing. By donating money that otherwise would have been spent for Christmas presents in the house, DZs bought presents for the Madison, Indiana, Mental Hospital. Two portable radios and two card tables were taken to the party we gave for these patients. A candy counter has been installed in the DZ house, with profits going to the Carville Fund.

Baldwin-Wallace-Gamma Alpha:

As part of our philanthropic project, we have made numerous visits to the Cleveland Detention Home for Girls, which both our members and the girls in the Home have enjoyed very much. At Christmas we sang carols in the Berea Community Hospital.

An Outstanding Program At Kent State-Gamma Kappa

Our philanthropy program this year has been a rather full one. We have worked with the deaf and the retarded, and have a patient at Carville.

Last spring and fall we tested the hearing of many children in the Kent city schools. Last fall we made little booklets for the deaf children's class at one of these schools, which they used as scrapbooks.

This spring we gave a Valentine party for the retarded children's class at another school. This was very successful, and the children enjoyed the clown bean-bags which we gave them as favors.

We also have been selling stuffed animals, the profits from which we hope to add to our philanthropy fund.

This spring we purchased a desk hearing aid for Kent State University's Speech and Hearing Department, in cooperation with our alumnae here in Kent. We hope that we may soon be able to buy something else for the University to aid it in its speech and hearing program.

We also participated in the Red Cross drive by helping put up posters in near-by towns.

Pledge Project at Oklahoma State

The Stillwater Municipal hospital benefited from the latest project of the Alpha Epsilon of Delta Zeta pledges, who made sock puppets to amuse children in the hospital. The toys are constructed by cutting the toe of a sock and inserting a piece of felt to serve for the mouth. Faces of the puppets are also made with felt, while colored yarn creates the hair. The result can be both imaginative and amusing, according to the Oklahoma State University students, who hated to part with them. Since the children patients were too ill to accept the gifts, Nurse Bernice Dezort, center, accepted the gifts from the girls who are, from left: Linda Wiegand, Linda Schneider, Deanne Densford, Karen Steichen, pledge trainer, and Revelle Taylor.

Important to DZ Collegians

Miami University-Alpha:

At Christmas we returned to the grade school in Hamilton, Ohio, which we have visited in past seasons, in an underprivileged sector. The chapter purchased a large fur tree which was placed in the lobby, and on a Saturday morning we went out and decorated it. Later each of the 900 children in the school received a candy cane.

During February and March, Alpha helped in a local hospital. Each evening a Delta Zeta worked with the Hospital Auxiliary at the reception desk, handing out visitors' cards and informing patients of other visitors.

Oklahoma City University-Gamma Upsilon:

We have begun a new money-making project. We held our first annual Delta Zeta Musical last fall. We are fortunate in having many talented music majors, and in this way we are able to present an afternoon of fine music to promote one of our favorite projects, the purchase of an audiometer to detect defective hearing.

Michigan State-Beta Rho:

We contributed to the Gallaudet and Carville funds by selling candy. With Theta Chi we gave a Christmas party for needy children. This term we have started a new project: visiting and making tray favors for patients in a nursing home.

Western Michigan-Gamma Pi:

Our project is doing volunteer work with the Family Service Bureau of the city of Kalamazoo. We drive families who do not have cars and help in the poorer homes. With the help of our patronesses, we sold popcorn to raise money for our philanthropic project.

Stout State College-Zeta Beta:

December was the month of excitement for all the Z B girls. Instead of exchanging gifts within the sorority, we once again made stuffed toys and gave them to the mentally retarded children at the Northern Colony at Chippewa Falls, Wisconsin.

Auburn Collegians Give First Speech Scholarship

It was a happy moment for the Beta Xi girls when their president, Margaret Cruse, presented their first $100 scholarship in Speech and Hearing Therapy to Mrs. Alice Herren Lee of Tallahassee and Auburn.

The scholarship was established in October of 1956 by Beta Xi chapter at Alabama Polytechnic Institute, and this was the first year it has been awarded. Mrs. Lee is a graduate of Huntingdon College and will use the scholarship at Auburn for graduate work in the field of speech and hearing therapy.

The selection committee includes Dr. Frank B. Davis, head of the Speech Department at Auburn; Don A. Harrington, director of the Speech and Hearing Clinic; and the president of Delta Zeta or her representative.

The Bursar administers the scholarship, and the Speech Department is responsible for publicity.

AT DETROIT, Epsilon Phi of Delta Zeta held an Easter basket contest, directed by Pat Blossom, at right, activities chairman. They collected and delivered 400 beautifully decorated baskets to children of poor families.

DePauw University-Delta:

With the Christmas season came a series of parties highlighted by one given for the mentally retarded children of the Greencastle area.

Albion-Beta Pi:

Miss Norma Hammond, college librarian and a Delta Zeta alumna, gave a book review at a spring standards meeting on "Miracle at Carville," which relates to the local philanthropic project of the chapter, the care of and correspondence with a 29-year-old patient there.

Wittenberg-Beta Chi:

As part of our philanthropy project, Beta Chi invited Lambda Chi Alpha to help repair toys and dolls for the children of the community by the Lutheran Inner Mission. Beta Chi Chapter also participated in the community Polio, Muscular Dystrophy and Heart Fund drives.

Drake-Gamma Epsilon:

Members enjoyed entertaining a group of underprivileged children with a Christmas party and, more recently, an Easter egg roll at the chapter house. The members also rendered their services to the American Cancer Society.

H. Sophie Newcomb-Beta Upsilon:

At Christmas we gave our annual party for fifteen deaf children from Chinchuba Institute.

Eastern Michigan-Zeta Beta:

Our fall pledge class participated in the United Drive Fund this year by carrying small canisters to all their classes.

HOME COMING

In Louisiana:

Second place honors were won for the Homecoming float by Epsilon Beta DZs at Louisiana's Northwestern State College. DZs on the Homecoming Court were Lucie Barillier, Marva Glover and Carolyn Michaud.

At Northwestern:

More trophies were added to our case when DZ copped first prize for Homecoming house decorations and third prize in Homecoming badge sales.

Two at Detroit:

The University of Detroit's Homecoming became something very special to us this year. Both Sally Hartzell, complete with the campaign slogan, "Our Gal Sal," and Barbara Feehan, general chairman of our float committee, were candidates for the queen's crown. Congratulations to Barbara, who was also chairman of our "Satellite Swing" dance. This was something new at Detroit and attracted many curious students who wished to view our version of Sputnik.

FIRST PLACE for originality was won by Oklahoma State-A E's Harvest of Knowledge float, which featured the golden Lamp of knowledge—and of DZ. Riding the float are, at left, Carol Ann Barton and Nancy Beth Brown; beside the Lamp, Barbara Whaley; and on top of the book, Elodee Lessley.

quet and trophy. Beta Alpha also won first place for our lawn display for the second consecutive year.

And at Tampa:

Our proudest day was when Joyce Capitano was crowned Homecoming Queen. She is the first Tampa Homecoming Queen to be sponsored by a sorority. Our float also drew much favorable comment. The theme was "Bees are Buzzing—Beat the Mountaineers," and it featured a huge bumble bee and a jumbo flower, with four DZs dressed as bees with golden wings.

SAN DIEGO STATE—Gamma Omicron's prize-winning Homecoming float, "The Flying Carp", took top honors in both the sorority division and "best design and construction". Pledges Pat Wilson and Bette Sue Bensley rode the striking turquoise and chartreuse float which honored the Japanese city of Yokohama. Our own Joyce Darnell reigned as Homecoming Queen.

New Home Inspires Top DZ Year at Howard

Howard College—Alpha Pi

Mr. Autumn found Howard College of Birmingham settled snugly on the slope of a mountain, waiting at her new home for students to begin bringing life to the magnificent new campus.

There was one group of happy coeds for which the college didn't have to wait long. It was the A Π chapter of Δ Z. Anxious to move into the new sorority room in the women's dormitory, these Δ Z's could be seen weeks before registration moving drapes and carpets, tables and chairs, trophies, pictures and scrapbooks the ten miles across town from the old Δ Z house to the new location. They then put into action plans to add many new awards to this collection.

After a very successful rush (for which Panhellenic found it necessary to raise the A Π quota so we could accept more girls), Homecoming was the first big event. Careful plans were made and secretly developed for float and campus decorations. Proved successful, too—because Δ Z was the first place winner in competition for parade entries and also for campus decorations. Two engraved trophies were presented to president Elizabeth Ritchey during the half-time of the Homecoming game. Δ Z also had a finalist for Homecoming queen, Toni Moore.

Δ Z has been the sorority on campus with the greatest number of beauty representatives in every event. Jerry Edwards, Edie Stracner and Ann McCord were named Bulldog Beauties in the college paper, The Crimson. At the Miss Entre Nous (yearbook) Pageant the reigning Miss Entre Nous, Toni Moore, was presented and five other Δ Z's were named to be featured in the 1958 annual. Julia Franklin and Jerry Edwards were named beauties, and Ann McCord, Edie Stracner and Gail Ledbetter were chosen favorites. Julia also received a talent award at the Pageant and was selected "most beautiful in evening dress" over all other contestants.

Toni Moore was runner-up in the state-wide Miss Alabama contest for Miss America competition and she and Edie Stracner are both local TV personalities on Birmingham's NBC-affiliated station. Ann McCord was voted sweetheart by the boys' dormitory, and Tera Ann Millsap is sweetheart of the Lambda Chi Alpha pledge class.

Intramural sports have kept Howard Δ Z's busy, too. We won first place in the soccer tournament, and Sandra Smith is the new all-campus table tennis champion.

Elizabeth Ritchey, Panhellenic president, was recently named to the college Who's Who. Janice Gillespie is president of K Δ E and Barbara Gustin is in the band. Sandra Smith is feature writer for The Crimson and had a major role in the Christmas production of "God's Trombones."

The annual Christmas party for the children at the Mercy Home was the biggest ever. Each child received a large assortment of gifts and the girls sang the selections for which we won third place in step-singing.

Sandra Smith and Annette Arendale were chosen "little sisters" for the months of January and March by Δ Σ Φ .

We filled our fall pledge quota, from which class Nancy Parker was elected best pledge and Leta Payton received the award for highest scholarship.

Among the ΔZ 's elected to be represented in the college Who's Who are Mary Bush Flanigan, and Margaret McCamant Ashcraft.

Carolyn Banks is a candidate for Scroll Queen and Anne Bone is our candidate for Campus beauty.

In October, Jackie Jones was elected Halloween Queen by the student body, and our Carnival booth, Les Girls, won the race for selling the most tickets. We received ten per cent of the total profits.

Linda Worden and Bette Wright have been selected for membership in $\Delta \Psi \Omega$, honorary dramatics fraternity.

California U.—Mu

Scholarship seems to be first on our agenda this semester, and we enjoyed a rousing standards meeting on "Helpful Hints for Study Habits."

Heading the list of M's active girls on campus are Joanne Wooley, Blue and Gold editor and chairman of the Publications Board; Patricia Cox, Panhellenic secretary-treasurer; and Evelyn Hollingshead, Anne Howard, and Suzanne Hansen, Blue and Gold staff.

Fun was in store for M while participating in the colorful Axe Revue. After hours of practice and costume making we were rewarded by a third place trophy, which stands in our trophy room for everyone to see. Carolyn Perkins made a swell chairman of the annual Push Cart races run along Galey Road.

We have all enjoyed corresponding with our Carville patient, Patricio. He certainly is a great friend!

Chico State College—Delta Chi

A prominent Delta Zeta is Pat Burton from Berkeley. She played the leading lady in the campus production of "Blithe Spirit." Meg Fish was chosen by $\Delta \Psi \Delta$ fraternity as its candidate for Sweetheart Queen. Peggy Moore Kendall was elected to $K \Delta \Pi$, national education fraternity.

Our chapter presented some books to the Gridley Wilson School, in which Butte County's school for the hard of hearing is held. We also contributed to the campus March of Dimes campaign.

Hurrah for the ΔZ rally skit which won first prize of ten dollars.

ΔX received its share of honors at the Recognition Banquet sponsored by the AWS. The first AWS scholarship ever given was presented to Hazel Roselle. Delta Chi chapter was thrilled when Panhellenic Council presented our president, Myrna Spiegel with the silver tray which is awarded annually to the sorority with the highest grade point average. Two members receiving outstanding women's awards were Pat Burton and Dorothy Gritton. ΔZ officers of the 1958-59 AWS Council are Karen Bakerville, vice president; Ethel Kernohan, treasurer; and Rosie Tortosa, publicity chairman.

Our chapter won the annual Greek Sing sponsored by ΣX fraternity—the second year we have won. We also won the contest for the best Christmas roof decorations sponsored by $\Lambda \Xi \Delta$ and ΣX fraternities.

Pat Popendorf was accepted into Tokalon, which is the equivalent of Mortar Board.

Our rush season was a wonderful rush affair. Theme night, which is always secret, found our girls dressed in matching gingham skirts and bonnets. We held an old county fair with everything from a stage show to games like pitching pennies, throwing balls, and having sketches drawn.

Clean Sweep of Honors For Long Beach Dz's

Long Beach State College—Delta Alpha

ΔA had two quartet entries in the annual $\Sigma \Pi$ quartet contest. Marcia Wasserman, Phyllis Hankins, Connie Garr, and Barbara Shira were in one quartet while the second foursome included Lynn Ward, Joanne Ivanovich, Bette Craver, and Pat Blacker.

The pledge class gave its annual Christmas party for the members December 15. The whole chapter participated in wrapping packages for the Servicemen's YMCA and putting on a program for them.

La Venta Inn in Palos Verdes Estates was the setting for the annual dinner dance in March, at which we chose Bill Gough for our ΔZ Man. He is married to one of our girls, Hanna Jo Gough. Awards were given to Roberta Hawthorne, outstanding pledge; Margie Harmon, outstanding member; Faye Krater, activities; and Val Worden, scholarship.

ΔA is proud to claim the scholarship trophy for highest grade point average of all Greek groups on campus. We also claim seven new additions to the college Who's Who—Kathie Eggers, Virgie Cole, Phyllis Handins, Connie Garr, Val Worden, Donna Weber, and Faye Krater.

International Day on campus proved a success with ΔZ winning first place for our Philippines booth. The seventh annual spring sing found ΔZ winning sweepstakes singing "Hi Lilli" and "Madame Jeanette." Delta Zeta teamed with Phi Kappa Tau to present an all-school dance, Riverboat Rendezvous, with a Dixieland band providing music.

Spring elections brought out many ΔZ 's to campaign for school offices. Dee Osborne was elected commissioner of organizations; Roberta Hawthorne, AWS secretary; Phyllis Rowland, Senior Class secretary; Nancy Baldwin, Junior Class vice president; and Betsy Dudley, Junior Class treasurer.

Greek Week at Long Beach State started off with a picnic sponsored by ΔZ and Acacia. The big annual event, Forty Niner Day, saw ΔZ girls dressed in old fashioned bathing suits of red and white polka dots, which won second place in judging. Of the two Forty Niner awards presented to outstanding senior women, one was awarded to ΔZ Faye Krater.

October 24 was a double celebration for ΓO . Along with honoring our ΔZ founders, we celebrated the birthday of one of our outstanding alumnae, Mrs. Betsy Marshall Graydon Readon, U. S. Commissioner, at a festive dinner at "The Flame." Also honored by the alumnae were Pat Rogers, most active member, and Joyce Darnell, member with most improved scholarship.

Sharon Spratling received the award for best pledge scholarship and Toni Lee received the most active pledge award at spring initiation.

Connie Thompson is vice president of the Women's Recreation Association and representative to the Junior Class Council. Katey Bosworth is on the Interfaith Council, Mary Geyer is vice president of $\Phi M E$, honorary women's life science sorority, and Toni Lee is a finalist in the S. A. E. Miss Thunderbird contest.

COLORADO

Colorado State University—Beta Sigma

$B \Sigma$ at CSU has raised its scholastic standing to second from the top, with an average of 2.77. The chapter is still reaching for the goal of top on campus.

$B \Sigma$ has its share of beauties too! Shirley Brown, vivacious and spirited, was elected Varsity Queen by the student body. Shirley, a junior physical education major, lists cheerleading as one of her important activities.

The chosen Greek Queen was Ellie Rawson, a petite blond with a contagious smile, a junior majoring in humanities from Lexington, Nebraska. Ellie's main activities are Pepperettes and Aggie Angles.

The girls won a first place trophy with the original idea for a floral display at the annual Horticulture show this year. Ellie Rawson was also a final candidate for Horticulture Queen.

ΔZ and ΣX fraternity each won a second place trophy in the annual Hesperia Sing.

JESSIE JEFFERS, president

Colorado State College—Delta Xi

Recently our $\Delta \Xi$ skit placed third in the Greek Follies. The theme of the show was Song Titles and our skit was based on the song, "Playmates."

Bobbie Burns was announced as one of the finalists for Miss Cache La Poudre, yearbook Queen. The Four Freshmen judged the contest.

Tess Hay, Karen Lochner, Carolyn Cooper, and Ruth Jones were selected as members of Angel Flight, women's honorary and sister organization to Arnold Air Society.

Evelyn Kodama was a candidate for Lei Queen, who is queen of the Hawaiian Dance on campus.

At the recent elections for the next year's school officers, Judi McWilliams was elected Junior Class treasurer, and Eleanor Pifer was elected Sophomore Class treasurer and as a Representative at Large on Student Council.

Chosen recently as new members of Spur, a Sophomore women's honorary, were Eleanor Pifer, Ruth Wilson, Stevie Mueller, Joyce O'Neal, Joell Burr and Nancy Porter.

Jeannie Coleman is one of the 10 Outstanding Juniors on campus.

"Oh, our aching backs!"

—But ΔZ -Made Lake Aided Winning Snow Sculpture

Colorado Western—Epsilon Alpha

We were very happy and greatly honored to learn that one of our girls, Shirley Scufca, was elected to the college Who's Who.

The snow sculpture that we built during the Winter Carnival won first prize and netted us fifteen dollars, in cash. The theme of the Carnival was "Winter Sports"; our sculpture depicted an Eskimo fishing through a hole in the ice. Oh, our aching backs! I wonder how many people have ever made a lake by hauling the water a full block in buckets.

Our chapter was the highest in scholarship on campus again this year for the third consecutive year, so the beautiful trophy is now ours to keep.

Our President, Pauline Frost, was a candidate for "Miss Leadership" and one of our pledges, Glenda Booth, was a candidate for "Miss Attractiveness". They were elected by a write-in vote. Nancy Kishyama was chosen as a candidate for Greek Ball Queen. We are certainly proud of these girls. Our Alumnae and Patronesses are each adopting one or two active members and sponsoring them.

RUSH!

RUSH!

RUSH!

Whoosh!

What is all the rush about?

That time will soon be here again!

What time?

Time to select 3,000 wonderful Delta Zeta pledges!

Who will the new pledges be?

That depends on you, and you . . . and YOU!

Dear Delta Zetas—alumnae and collegiate:

Rushing is a beautiful time of year, whether it be summer, spring, or fall. It is a time of rededication for Delta Zetas, a time for analysis of all we value in our own membership. It is a time of opportunity and a time for sharing that which has meant so much to each of us. It is a magical time, a time when young women, unknown to most Delta Zetas today, begin Delta Zeta friendships which will last a lifetime.

Rushing is a serious time of year, a time when each of us must feel her responsibility for the continuing growth of Delta Zeta. Through our efforts, individual and collective, Delta Zetas will choose wisely in offering membership to those who will value and cherish the opportunities which will be theirs. As Delta Zetas we hope to give the best to the best. This can be accomplished only through the combined efforts of every Delta Zeta alumna and every Delta Zeta college chapter.

"The magic of Delta Zeta goes on and on—revealed to many by you, and by me. May the finest of those we touch with our magic join with us to share the glow of the Delta Zeta Lamp."

Best wishes for your greatest "Adventure in Friendship,"

Louise A. Bianchi

RECOMMENDATION

DELTA
ZETA

.....Can't pledge any new members next year

So, DO YOU

Have a daughter, sister or niece entering college this year?

Know a friend's daughter starting college this fall?

Know of an outstanding high school girl in your community who plans on college this year?

SURELY you can answer YES to one of these questions!!!

Now, WILL YOU

Help Delta Zeta, the girl and yourself?

TODAY, write to the Delta Zeta rush chairman at the college your girl plans to attend (see next page for names and addresses) and tell her about your "prospective Δ Z"? (Use the form below)

Let the girl know that you think enough of her to recommend her to YOUR sorority?

Our thanks to you for your help and cooperation. Every Δ Z pledge MUST have an alumna recommendation. Please, don't let us down.

ACT TODAY!!

"Just About the Busiest Girls at U Conn . . ."

CONNECTICUT

Connecticut U.—Gamma Beta

This year has proved to be a banner year for the Γ B chapter at the University of Connecticut. The highly successful formal rush in the fall with its Calypso and Snow White themes brought us twenty-two beautiful new pledges. The outstanding pledge award was given to Laura Campbell who contributed so much to our second place award winning "Winter Weekend Casts Its Spell".

No sooner had we gotten back from semester vacation when plans began to materialize for our informal rush period, which proved to be equally successful as we filled our quota by again pledging twenty-two delightful girls.

Just about the busiest girls on this campus, the Δ Z's here are gaining a strong foothold in campus politics. Charlotte Schulz and Marietta Schwickert are running for Senior Senators along with Evelyn Cernier for Junior Senator, and Barbara Cepetelli for Sophomore Senator. Two more of our sisters, Barbara Subjack and Maureen Schackner, are vying for Women's Student Government Council president, which is one of the highest honors on this campus. Lois Fox and Barbara Kramer, president and vice-president respectively of Angel Flight, and Flo Kaminski as Newman Club vice-president together with Grace Bonomo as president of Panhellenic just about round off the list of girls holding down top positions.

Moreover, recognition is to be given to Dale Strack, former president of Women's Student Government Council and recently elected to Who's Who.

A sight for sore eyes was the new furniture for our lounge which arrived during semester vacation. The furniture consists of several Scandinavian modern pieces; a curved "S"-shaped sofa, a sectional sofa plus two love-seats and four new chairs, all in the newest fabrics and colors. These have received nothing but favorable comments. It is a pleasure to live in surroundings which reflect the exuberant spirit of all the Δ Z's here.

Our new president, Imogene Creech, is a member of Π Δ Θ and on the Dean's list. She is also a member of Delphi, sorority women's honorary, of which our corresponding secretary, Patricia Kallis, is the new president. Our other Delphi members are Patricia Holmes and Antoinette Yim. Our vice president, Norma Engberg, is a member of Tassels, sophomore women's honorary, and she is also secretary of the Chemistry club. Another member of the club is our treasurer, Anna Jirgens. Anna is also a member of the American Pharmaceutical Association and the vice president of Α Δ Δ.

In addition, our members are active in such organizations as the Women's Athletic Association, Big Sis—an organization for the orientation of new girls at the University—the Russian club, and religious organization. Two of our members, Patricia Kallis and Vilia Voesar, serve on the dormitory council of Strong Hall. We are also very proud of our last pledge class for winning the scholarship cup for the highest scholastic average among pledge classes.

Our trophy collection has increased! In addition to our victory in the Horseshoe Intramurals, for which Betty Jo Bush and Beth McDonald were placed on the F.S.U. All-Star team, we brought home two trophies from the Sigma Chi Derby. Then, for the fourth year in a row, the Δ Z Lamp was shining at the annual Campus Sing, for we are now proudly displaying the beautiful second-place trophy.

The Δ Zs and the Phi Taus collaborated on a tremendous Christmas party for underprivileged children. The party was a wonderful experience for us.

Many Δ Z's have received honors in varied campus activities. Betty Groover is social chairman for the Freshman Home Economics Club. Rita Trucks is the third Δ Σ in the F.S.U. Circus. Angela Williams was initiated into Cotillion (dance honorary), then elected treasurer, and Sonie Underwood was elected Cotillion vice president.

Frances Hankinson received a bid to Σ Α I, national music honorary, and Judith Linder was initiated. Sylvia Ann Warren was initiated into "F" Club, the women's athletic honorary, and Dot Mann was initiated into Village Vamps, an organization of women selected for their charm, beauty, and poise.

Σ T Δ, English honorary, chose Betty Jo Bush. Ann Duncan, who is our song leader and directed us in Campus Sing, was tapped for Garnet Key. Jamie Conner was pledged into Les Jongleurs, dramatic organization, and elected chaplain of Wesley Players. K Δ II, educational honorary, elected Willa Schmitt its secretary, then chose her as its only student representative to the National Convention in Chicago.

Δ B chapter started the year with an information booth for freshmen. We gave them Δ Z blotters and helped them with registration.

Our chapter room has been redecorated and we have a new piano.

We have some campus leaders. Joyce Capitano is secretary of the student body, secretary of the student senate and in the College Who's Who. Carmen Caltagirone is in K II, art fraternity, and Mary Pardo was the first maid in the Moroccan Court and is junior representative in the Junior Senate. Doris Hampton is secretary of the Inter-National Fraternity Council.

Carmen Caltagirone was chosen a Φ K II Daughter, which is a tradition of the fraternity on the first day of spring.

Ruth Ann Dobson was one of the maids in the TKE Fraternity Court.

Our president, Diana Ray, and Sylvia Davis and Guida Vasquez were chosen as dancettes of the University of Tampa Band.

Georgia State College—Delta Delta

Loretta Harrison was chosen Outstanding Pledge for the Fall Quarter. $\Delta\Delta$ gave trophies to boys of the college who we thought had done the most to help the chapter in its activities. Dave Johnson was given the first place trophy and Bennett Collins, Bill Garrett, Bobby Craven, Don Wade, and Jimmy Stone were presented trophies as runners-up.

We participated in Greek Week, and won first place in the "Greek Week Sing" with renditions of "Coming Through The Rye," "Steal Away," and an original version of "Delta Zeta, All Honor." The sorority took second place trophy at "Skit Night" with our "Delta Zeta Sultan and His Harem."

We also won trophies given by the Veterans Club, for having the most representation at the Georgia State "Panthers" basketball games this year.

In the beauty department, $\Delta\Delta$ had two girls among the 15 finalists in the Miss Atlanta Contest, Laurie Eidson and Beverly Hodgson, and in the May Day Contest at Georgia State we had two girls among the seven finalists, Carolyn Lee and Beverly Hodgson.

We still lost the game by three points, but everyone participating had a good time. This spring Toni McGlone, chapter second vice president, was chosen Sweetheart of ΠA .

Jayne Harris, editor of the Rampway, was elected secretary of the General Council, and Savilla Freeman is treasurer of the Council. Jayne Harris and Katherine Stretch were initiated into $A\Delta\Delta$ honor society.

Two of our pledges have been elected co-captains of the cheerleaders for next year—Eugenia "Pooh" Richardson and Dottie Wiseberg. Carolyn Reed, our president, is co-captain now.

Myra Phillips won second runner-up trophy in the Miss Clayton County contest.

Beverly Hodgson who has been the Georgia Tech twirler for several years, will be the solo twirler for the football season next year. This spring she chose the other majorettes for the Georgia Tech band from the Atlanta high schools. She will make all the trips with the band and twirl at all the games.

Eastern Illinois University—Gamma Nu

The spring rush party for ΓN chapter was held in January. A pirate theme was carried out in dress, entertainment, and refreshments; and our treasure consisted of twenty-four pledges.

Charlotte Hill, Carol McCann, Sharon Dalle, and Jean Cutlip were in Eastern's winter play production, "The Miser."

Mary Lou Shoemaker was elected representative to the Panhellenic Council. Initiated into $K\Delta\Pi$, honorary education fraternity, were Charlotte Hill and Jean Cutlip. Alice Herman was recently initiated into $\Pi\Omega\Pi$, honorary business education fraternity.

Members of ΓN chapter who were elected to the college Who's Who are Delores Berry, Jean Cutlip, Sandra Deitz, and Lujean Goodwin Williams.

ΓN participated in Greek Week activities in March. We presented the skit, "The Return of the Chemise," for stunt night and sang three selections from "Carousel" at the Greek Sing.

At the University Winter Carnival, we and X Σ N, local social fraternity, entered a booth together and won first prize for originality. We also received an honorable mention in the snow-sculpturing contest. Marge Brazzalle was elected to the court of the Winter Carnival Queen.

For the University Health Center, we conducted a polio inoculation survey on campus.

Among those girls recently joining honorary fraternities are Marge Jurs, A Φ Γ; Joyce DeZutter, Marilyn Larson, and Mary Lou Weiner, K Δ II (education); Rosalie Johnson, Σ A I (music); and Jean Bendt, Delta Psi Kappa (physical education).

Dorothy Wimble was elected to represent the University in the Campana College Beauty Queen Contest.

Marge Musser, Gerry Smith, and Vil Tessarro were among our candidates for Miss Alumna.

Academically, Nancy Staley, a Φ B K, was admitted to Yale medical school where she will study psychiatry; and A K Δ, sociology honorary, initiated Bobbie Kwiatkowski and Lu Minasian.

Chapter members have spent a full year campaigning for Karen Hukkala, candidate for Campana College Beauty Queen and were thrilled when she won the national title.

Quite a variety of campus activity honors have been achieved by chapter members. Arlene Anton is Junior Panhellenic social chairman. Ethie Olson was elected YWCA secretary, and Ann Duncan was a member of the Junior Prom executive board. Sue Hoch headed two weekly radio shows for the campus station, WNUR. A member of the Sophomore Class special projects committee, Gloria Cassens worked with Northwestern's Model United Nations as Secretariat. Judy Hidding, assisted by campaign manager Maggie Friedrich, represented Δ Z as Hello-Girl candidate for Sophomore Week. Serving along with Judy and Maggie on Sophomore Week committees was Nancy Leck.

A Δ chapter this spring assisted the North Shore (Chicago) alumnae in hosting a group of area high school students and their mothers who are friends of Δ Z's. Members of the chapter talked to the girls about college and sang both college and sorority songs.

Ball State—Gamma Chi

In February, the Γ X girls won the K Σ K Variety Show, in which all sororities and fraternities on campus participated, with a skit called "Mardi Gras Complete."

Alice Abraham who was featured in the autumn LAMP when she won a $500 "Dream Wardrobe," has had another honor. She has been appointed by Governor Handley to serve as a guide demonstrator at the United States Pavilion and the Auditorium Theatre at the World's Fair in Brussels, Belgium, from April 10 until October 20. She will be one of the six representatives from the state of Indiana. She was recently elected to the college Who's Who.

Jaylene Joyce, who traveled throughout Europe last year with a USO tour, will do so again this year as accordionist of the group.

On April 20, Parents Day on our campus, the Δ Z's contributed to the program in the annual "Spring Sing" sponsored by the music honorary on campus. Our selection, "A Good Man is Hard to Find" received many chuckles from our audience.

The Junior Convocation brought honors to many of our girls. Carol Black was tagged outstanding junior in the Physical Education department. Carol was also named Junior Marshal along with Rachel Moody, and was chosen a member of the student staff of the women's residence halls for the coming year.

Gals chosen for K Δ Φ, national education honorary, include Sylvia Starr, Carol Black, Rachel Moody, Arlene Houston, and Marilyn Skinner.

"MARDI GRAS COMPLETE" was Ball State-Gamma Chi's winning entry in the Kappa Sigma Kappa Variety Show in which all Greeks on campus participated. They won a trophy and a cash prize, and the skit was chosen for the main entertainment at the annual Newman Club Convention held at Ball State this spring and presented again for High School Senior Day.

Carol Clossay, a speech and hearing major, was awarded a scholarship which pays room, board, and tuition to the Clark School for the Deaf in Massachusetts.

Along with honorary awards, our girls have also received positions in many campus activities. Ann Hubbard was chosen treasurer of "Best on Campus," one of Ball State's major political parties. Elected to Student Center committee positions for the coming year are Joyce Bowers, Jo Henderlong, and Casey Powell.

Γ X was thrilled to hear that it is fourth among Ball State's twelve sorority chapters scholastically.

E's are out front in campus activities. Starting off the year right were the pledges who brought home the traveling trophy from the annual Junior Panhellenic Picnic. Next came Fall Carnival. Δ Z's not only sponsored one of the five finalists for the Bachelor of the Year contest, but also they managed a booth, "Dolls on Ice," with the Σ Φ E's for the event.

Outstanding girls in the chapter are numerous. Karen Gast, who was secretary of Panhellenic for 1957, is advisor to Junior Panhellenic for 1958. Nancy Bell is president of Pleiades, honorary, and first vice president of YWCA. Aldora Graf is a member of Φ B K and president of Ψ X, psychology honorary. Phyllis Barrett is Flight Commander of Angel Flight, an honorary sponsored by the Arnold Air Society; Marsha Spruill is night editor of the Indiana Daily Student; Barbara Knoll is recorder of Supreme Court; and Darlene Blacker is secretary of the Society for the Advancement of Management. Joyce Slavens not only won one of three Panhellenic scholarships but also came in as one of the final ten contestants for Military Ball Queen.

Parsons College—Delta Nu

At the Scholarship Recognition Convocation our president, Marlys Petersen, was again called forth in behalf of Delta Zeta to accept the Panhellenic award for the highest scholastic standing. Other members and pledges who were honored at the convocation were: First honors (A. or 3.0): Ann Winslow, Mary Wilson; Second honors (2.2-2.7): Clarice Hunnerdosse, Marlys Petersen, Zilpha Woods, Judy Bemis, Lucille Clark, Nancy Kortcamp, Leola Lane, Carolyn Latty, and Evelyn Graham; Students maintaining a "B" average: Mary Ellen McNeil, Kay Curry, and Carol Fausch.

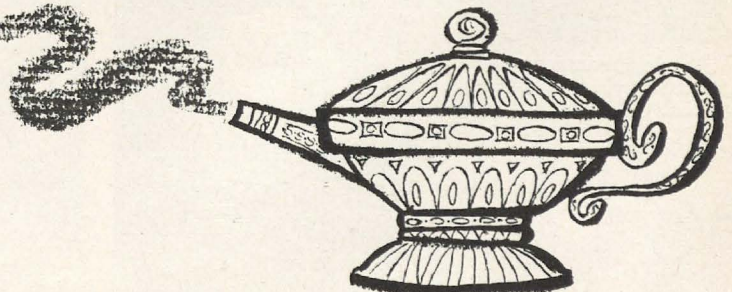

In a special awards ceremony at the house, two Δ Z's were honored for their outstanding scholastic achievements. The presentation by the alumnae chapter of two awards, a gold chain of scholarship to the outstanding pledge and a gold bracelet to the active with the highest standing, is slated to become an annual event.

KANSAS

Fort Hays State College—Delta Omega

We enjoyed sharing our bounty at Thanksgiving time by giving a box of grocery items to a needy family.

At Christmas we hosted an afternoon coffee for our housemother, our three patronesses, and alumnae members. In lieu of a gift exchange among our members, we donated gifts of toys to a family with small children.

The local college Panhellenic Association innovated a Greek 23 Club. This club requires Greek membership and a minimum B plus or 2.3 grade average. With the introduction of this club at a luncheon, five of the fifteen charter members were Deanne Miller, Barbara Fellers, Connie Nelson, Vina Nickels, and Mary Desbien, all of the $\Delta \Omega$ chapter.

Immediately following the Christmas vacation, we had a remodeling spree and repainted all rooms and much furniture in our house. We further dressed up by purchasing all new bunk beds and mattresses. We consider it well worth the money and time spent and despite the aching muscles we found pleasure in working together.

MARILYN STREMEL, president

Kansas State Teachers' College—Delta Pi

The $\Delta \Pi$ rush theme this year was a western one entitled D Boots and Z Saddles. We pledged 14 girls second semester, and initiated 19 in February.

We received a great honor in March. We were awarded the first place trophy in the Singing Bee. The chapter sang "You'll Never Walk Alone," and its Sweetheart Song. Following the Singing Bee, the girls were serenaded by the A K A's. We also received a bouquet of roses from the $\Sigma \Phi E$'s, and many notes of congratulations.

Vast improvements are noticed in the chapter house after combined efforts of the chapter and the mothers' club resulted in the redecorated house.

Among our activities this spring were our annual Diamond Ball and our participation in the Fryberger Sing, the annual sorority-fraternity competitive sing. As one of our philanthropic projects, we assembled Easter baskets for needy children.

The Dean's List (at least a 2.0 average and no C's) contained three B Γ members: Barbara Bailey, Della Homans, and Ann Walls.

LOUISIANA

Louisiana State University—Sigma

Per usual, Σ has a finger in every pie. Leading in scholarship were Amelia Keen and Jackie Gromatsky, new initiates to A $\Delta \Delta$; and Judy Noble, Betty Jo Lejeune, Dianne McLeod, Cynthia Cutlip, who all made the dean's list.

Among the many social events of the year were the annual Christmas party at the old folk's home and another very special party, one that we all found very novel and nominated the best of the year—a "come-as-you-are" breakfast held in the sorority room at a very unusual hour, 6:30 a.m.

Sports wise, Janet Cazebonne, treasurer of the Louisiana State Women's Recreational Association, is L.S.U.'s champion tennis and paddleball player. ΔZ 's led the campus in another way. We were top contributors of all sororities to the All-Campus Cerebral Palsy Fund.

Some campus honors in beauty went to Mertie Cate Barnes, one of five finalists for Darling of L.S.U. and L.S.U.'s representative in the Maid of Cotton contest; and Kay Fisher, Block and Bridle Rodeo Court.

The biggest surprise of the year to each and every Σ was that Judy Noble, our out-going president, is our new national traveling secretary. She kept this a secret for weeks. That's a surprise in itself!

After the thrill of installation, the eight charter members of Z Γ chapter have settled down and are leading a busy life on the campus and in the sorority.

The Lake Charles alumnae have been instrumental in helping us furnish our sorority room.

Jo Ann Price, president, was selected for the college Who's Who, and is secretary of the Student Senate. Brenda Bailey was a finalist in the school beauty "La-Belle" contest and is a majorette for the Band. Sheila Sarver recently was in the cast of "The Red Mill." Marie White was a maid in the Homecoming Court, LaBelle finalist, ROTC Sponsor, and Louisiana's nomination for national second vice president of the Home Economics Association.

The chapter was proud to have three of its members on the President's Honor Roll, Jane Crockett, Marie White and Martha Cornett.

Jo Ann Price, Brenda Bailey, Jane Crockett and Marie White were selected by the sorority to be models in the Rose Show, and Marie White will represent ΔZ in the annual Chi Omega Style Show.

Frances Leach was installed as treasurer of the AWS. Serving on the council are Sally Rutledge and Ann Wilson. Ann received the Freshman Award as most outstanding freshman woman.

Joan Davis was recently starred in "The Skin of Our Teeth." Sally Rutledge has one of the leading roles in "Oklahoma." Joan and Sally, as well as Blanche Miller and Connie Spann, are members of the College Singers.

Participating in the recent aquatic show were Olivia Colvin and Ann Wilson.

Wanda Hall has been elected secretary of the Demonettes, a marching group. Other members are Sandy McCalla, Ann Wilson, Lucie Barillier, and Jo Ann Robinson.

Tapped by $\Pi \Omega \Pi$ was Frances Leach.

There are several girls who have represented ΔZ well on the campus. Terry Jeansonne is a cheer leader;

Γ Γ chapter at Missouri Valley College is happy to have as its new faculty sponsor Mrs. Darrell Jenkins, an instructor in the Fine Arts Department. Mrs. Jenkins succeeds Miss Ruth Zahn, the college librarian, who has served faithfully in this capacity for three years.

Women's Intramurals, sponsored by the Women's Athletic Association at Missouri Valley, has certainly created an interest for athletics in women students on campus. The three major sports are hockey, basketball, and volleyball. Γ Γ has won the hockey and basketball tournaments.

"Mardi Gras" was the theme of Missouri Valley's first Mid-Winter Basketball Homecoming, and proved to be such a success that it will be an annual affair. (See Queens section)

At the President's Convocation for honor students, Γ Γ was well represented on the Dean's Honor Roll, on the list of those receiving scholarships and distinguished awards, and also placed candidates on the list of the college Who's Who. Diane Glee Johnston had the distinguished honor of being initiated into Β Γ Φ, a scholastic honorary society.

Members of the Valley Players presented "Bus Stop" with Shirley Musgrave, a Δ Z dramatics major, playing the lead as "Cherie." Several other Δ Z's assisted in the production.

St. Louis DZ's Star With Projects for Others

St. Louis University—Epsilon Psi

The Δ Z "Social Train," given for freshmen and transfer students, started the present school year off with a bang! Coffee, tea and cake were served, preceded by a little skit which gave the new students some idea of social life at the university.

The next function was a "Back to School Dance," open to all of the university students. The dance was well attended, and this made all the Δ Z's very happy.

After having these two functions for others, the Δ Z's decided to entertain themselves and the social committee organized an "Around the World" progressive dinner. The courses were characteristic of various countries such as Czechoslovakia, Italy, Southern United States and Liberia.

The biggest event of the year for Ε Ψ was the "Christmas Ball." Each year, the Student Conclave of St. Louis University awards the bid for this dance to a different organization. This year Ε Ψ was the lucky winner.

Another "first" for Ε Ψ this year was to have a candidate for Homecoming Queen and to have our float win third prize. The Homecoming Queen candidate was our president, Jo Ann Lindenbusch, who was sponsored by one of the fraternities. Even though Jo Ann was not elected queen by the student body, she was a queen to the members of her chapter.

Some individual members have also been making strides ahead. Annette Mundy was elected secretary of the Junior Class of the Commerce and Finance School. Annette is the first woman in the history of the Commerce and Finance School to be elected a class officer. Janie Flickinger, the second vice president of Ε Ψ, is truly a "Janie of all trades." She is affiliated with at least six different organizations.

Mary Kay Tennis is secretary of the Young Democrats Club, Beverly Dwyer was elected secretary of the Angel Flight, a group affiliated with the Air Force ROTC, Janie Flickinger is general chairman of the Co-Ed Talkfest, and Nancy Rucker is vice president of Σ Α Η, speech fraternity.

Helen Spala is vice president of the Physical Therapy Club, Leslie Stewart was appointed to the Student Conclave by the Dean of the Nursing School, and Mary Kay Tennis, Mary Louise Elder, Annette Mundy and Mary Ann Weiss were appointed to Γ II Ε, Jesuit honor society, the highest honor that can be received by a woman at a Roman Catholic University.

Beta Tau Honors Ideal Couple, Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Anderson of Lincoln

A new honor initiated by Beta Tau this year is the Delta Zeta Couple at our Rose Formal. They have gone beyond the call of duty by giving many hours to the promoting of a better Beta Tau, so this year we decided to bestow it not only upon our alumna but upon her husband who was also outstanding. They opened up their home across the street from Beta Tau by making it our Delta Zeta Annex. Mrs. Anderson is our CCD, and Mr. Anderson was given an outstanding active award by the Theta Chi fraternity at Nebraska Wesleyan. Elizabeth Webster, mistress of ceremonies, was happy to present them to the guests.

B T moved from fourth to second place. We were seven hundredths of a point from first place.

Bobbie Howell has been elected president of the freshman dormitory. Dorothy Ortiz, one of our pledges, is also an officer of the dorm.

As an added stimulus to the improvement of our study habits, we planned a steak and bean dinner. The girls making grade points above 2.5 out of a possible 4.0 ate steaks and gloated, while their not-so-studious sisters ate beans. We are proud of the fact that out of our 27 girls, only eight had to eat beans.

At Christmas time, there was a pajama party at the home of Betty Ann Loden. In spite of a downpour, the group assembled on the front lawn of Dr. Louise Heim, our CCD, to sing carols, later returning to the party to exchange gifts and eventually to settle down for the night.

The fall term came to an end with a book-burning party, to which all were invited to "come as you are."

A cake sale by the ΔZ 's at Hunter was held, to raise money for our philanthropic project. The girls also visited Gallaudet College during their Easter trip to Washington, D.C.

We had a wonderful time at our annual ΔZ dinner dance held at The Huddle. The room was decorated for the Christmas season, which added an even gayer atmosphere. Music was furnished by records which the new pledges bought, which has developed as an annual responsibility for the pledges. Since then we have also joined one of the record clubs to add to our collection.

Joyce May, our previous rush chairman and member of the Student Senate, has been elected vice president of the AWS, the women's governing body. Bev Bickels was initiated into $\Phi B K$.

The chapter moved from twelfth place to fourth in scholarship in competition with the nineteen other sororities. We had two girls with four point averages, Anne Bard and Bev Bickels.

Our scholarship dinner was held in March, and was arranged according to the point average. Those with the highest averages were given steak, the next chicken, and the next hamburger steak, while those with the lowest ate spaghetti.

The chapter was paired with $\Sigma \Phi E$ to work on a booth for the O ΔK Carnival. The booth was a western saloon with a gambling table and dancers.

Θ chapter has had a most eventful quarter. During a very successful formal rushing period 30 girls were pledged. We were one of the few groups on campus which were able to fill their freshman quota of 25. In addition, we pledged five upperclassmen.

During Greek Week, ΔZ captured the spotlight. We won first place in sorority sing, we received a certificate in the house safety contest and Martha Young won third prize in the skill driving contest. (See Queens section.)

ΔZ won both the swimming and the bowling championships in intramurals.

Individual honors go to Martha Louttit, elected first vice president of the Student Senate, and to Joanne Kuenning, who represented Anchor and Chain on the Military Ball Court in the spring. In addition, Beverly Herbst was recently elected to Panhellenic Commission.

Big Year at Queens College

Queens College—Delta Epsilon

One of Queens College-Δ E's most successful standards meetings this term was entitled "Improving Your Figure." The guest speaker was Dr. Frances Hoffman of the Queens College faculty, who began by exploding many of the popular ideas concerning exercise, and its purposes. This was followed by vivid examples of the posture of typical college students, and a number of useful rules concerning suitable clothing styles. The talk was well attended and will be remembered by all.

Three of the members present at the meeting, Ann Malone, Ruth Hillman Cleary and Phyllis Fecht, appeared as models in a feature story for the New York Daily News entitled "The Chemise For Spring."

A very successful project this term has been our booth for the annual Mardi Gras which is held on the Queens campus. The construction of our game, which was similar to that of a ski-ball machine, was due to the efforts of all, and has left everyone justly happy with the results. The evening was further highlighted by Eileen Polaski being chosen as runner-up for the title of Mardi Gras Queen.

Δ E is also honored this term to serve as co-sponsor of the Queens College Song Fest. Every organization on campus participates, and judging is based on originality of words and presentation.

Δ T Δ house, Stevens University, N.J., was the scene recently of a most enjoyable party attended by Hunter College-Γ H and Δ E. The evening was made especially wonderful by the opportunity to visit once again with one of our neighboring chapters. All of Δ E is looking forward to more parties with the Tau Deltas.

The most popular feature of our French Rush this spring was the Crazy Hat contest, in which rushees and sisters joined to create the most artistic and unusual hats possible. The results ranged from a Charleston cloche, to a (walking) tropical paradise. Helen Kleigl also added to the fun with an oh-so-nice French song entitled "Let's Fall In Love."

Helen is now a candidate for a Woodrow Wilson Fellowship to Columbia University, N.Y. Other Δ E members in the news are Phyllis Fecht, recently elected president of the Home Economics club; Laura Jehn, editor-in-chief of the Crown; and Joanne Griel, chosen Queen of the Queens College weekend at Jug End Barn, Mass.

Peekskill, N.Y., was another place invaded by members of Δ E looking for a weekend of sports and relaxation. The trip was sponsored by the Women's Recreation Association of New York, with Judith Jacobs as chairman of the planning committee. A dude ranch was chosen as the place to relax (?) although some of our wiser members held grave doubts, and plenty of hand-ages.

Baldwin-Wallace—Gamma Alpha

We are all very proud that ΓA placed first among the sororities in scholarship during the fall quarter.

In athletics ΓA has shown itself proud. Joanne Blacka, a freshman, is varsity cheerleader. Kergi Felt, Margaret Bade, Lynne Hoge and Polly Armstrong participated in the Cornell-Dartmouth, the all-star girls' basketball game. Ann Dobson and Connie Wagner were director and assistant director respectively of the Aqualene Show, a water ballet, in which Nancy Boden, Kergi Felt, Judy Arnold, Alice Shelly, Polly Armstrong and Judy Eklund also participated. ΓA also placed a close second in the Siglympics tournament, a girls' group competition in relays of all types sponsored by our brothers, $\Delta \Sigma \Phi$.

The fields of forensics and drama are also well represented in our chapter as we sport leading ladies in four dramatic productions this year. Betty White copped the lead in "Goodbye My Fancy," and one of the leads in "Twelfth Night." Fulga Pascu was a lead in "Les Prescieuses Ridicules," and Connie Wagner was in "Time Limit" and "Twelfth Night." Pat Neale, Marty Marple, and Caryl Gormly are three-fourths of the Baldwin-Wallace Varsity Debate team which placed second in the womens' state tournament. Womens' individual speech events saw Jane Jennell and Pat Neale participating.

All-campus events are not to be omitted. ΔZ won first place this year in the campus chest carnival, the purpose of which is to raise money yearly for the national charities.

As co-chairman for Religion-In-Life Week, Gloria Taylor did a splendid job of which we are proud.

Jane Keesling, Ann Dobson, and Pat Neale are in the college Who's Who, and Laurels claimed Ruth Geib, Jane Keesling, and Pat Neale. Judy Hancher is the business manager of the college newspaper, Margaret Bade is president of the YWCA, and Judy Eklund is vice president of the Home Economics Club.

Student Council seats are well occupied by ΓA members as Ann Dobson, present vice president, turns hers over to Gloria Taylor, vice president-elect. Judy Arnold is sophomore representative.

Class elections placed chapter members Pat Neale, Jane Keesling, Nancy Trapp, and Margaret Bade in the vice presidential and secretarial positions of the senior and junior classes respectively.

In February we gave a party for our alumnæ in appreciation of the many ways and occasions they have helped us.

On March 1-2 we held a retreat for the chapter which was a wonderful opportunity for fun, fellowship, and planning.

Six members of $B X$ were initiated into $\Delta \Delta \Delta$; Helene Ettlinger, Alice Danford, Karen Calabria, Janice Winans, Marcia Kabele, and Carolyn Olle.

Because of a flu epidemic, $B X$ was forced to celebrate Founders' Day late. However, it was worth waiting for.

Mrs. Eva Shellebarger Eisenmenger was presented with "The Order of the Golden Rose" by Mrs. Andrew Van Houten, alumnæ president. Mrs. Eisenmenger has given 50 years of excellent service to her sorority and to her community, and is very deserving of the award. Mrs. Eisenmenger began her life in ΔZ at A chapter, Miami University. Wit and humor, time and effort paid off for OCU-Γ Υ when its skit, "Put The Blame On Mame," won third place in this year's Keshena Kapers. The chapter was the only sorority among the winners, two fraternities placing first and second.

When the Mathematics Association of America met on the OCU campus, Γ Υ served as hostess to the meeting. Several duties were involved, such as registration and serving as guides.

"Santa's Workshop," our assembly program, was presented December 20 to the student body. Santa, his helpers, dolls and toys of numerous humorous types were included. It was an enriching experience for us and its success made it so worthwhile for each of us.

"ROSIE" is being praised by Sue Hackler, OCU-Γ Υ, for winning the BCR-1958 (Big Chicken Race). The unique trophy, shown in the picture with Rosie and Sue, is now standing in the chapter's trophy case. The race, which was held at Oklahoma City U. for the first time this year and promises to be an annual event, was originated by K Α and has aroused a lot of excitement and interest among the Greek and other campus organizations which entered favorite chickens.

Beautiful Texas weather did not bring spring fever this year to the A T's at Texas University. The members are hustling to earn money for the new house they dream of. Their first project was a parking lot at the new lot site.

Another goal for members is the Intramural Traveling Sports Trophy. The A T's have won first place for two years, and with one more year's victory, the trophy will be ours to keep. To date we have won first place in football and volleyball, and second in bowling, basketball, and badminton doubles.

Best pledge award this spring went to Diana Vollintine, who was also elected to A A Δ. Other award winners were Kit Lee, activities; Mary Jo Weber, best groomed; and Carolyn Coker, Kit Lee, Adele Lyle, Janet Peavy, and Diana Vollintine, scholarship.

A T was collegiate hostess at State Day in San Antonio and brought home several awards. Immediately members began making bushels of flowers for our float for the annual Texas Roundup, March 28 and 29. With the University celebrating its seventy-fifth anniversary this year, A T's float, Progress in 75, solved the horrible parking problem by converting the tall main building into a huge parking station.

At a surprise kidnap breakfast the initiates "captured" the pledges at 7 a.m. and brought them back to the house for breakfast in curlers and blankets.

Bettie Scott was voted Best Dressed Girl on the campus. Gail Hamme, all-school beauty, represented Southwestern at the A and M Cotton Ball, where she placed third out of more than 150 contestants.

We placed second in the sorority section of Intramural Sing-Song, losing by only one point.

The highlight of the year was the Cinderella Ball, our spring formal, which was held in our new Bishop Memorial Union. The program was a jazz version of the traditional Cinderella story. The prince charming, our Dream Man for 1958, was Ken Behrens, and our Dream Girl for 1958 was Frances Medley.

Houston U.—Delta Theta

At the spring initiation banquet the following pledge awards were made: Kathleen Pollak, best pledge; Betty Blair, highest scholarship; Janet Daniel, best groomed; and Mary Jo Wondrak, most active.

Our traditional Rose Formal was held in February, and Jenilyn Foxsworth was crowned Dream Girl. Reigning with her as Duke of Δ Z was Tom Matkin of Δ Φ Ω.

Φ Θ K, national scholastic honorary, initiated Betty Blair and Kathleen Pollak this spring.

Δ Θ pledges participated in Courtesy Week by honoring the initiates with a "Kiddy Party" to which all members were required to wear pigtails and short dresses. Jump-rope and hop-scotch were the main attractions of the event. All members present enjoyed the brief return to their childhood days!

At State Day, our skit, "Around the World In Twenty Minutes," written and directed by Barbara Henkhaus, won first place and the chapter received the award for most improved scholarship. Sandra Talley was named the outstanding recording secretary of the Texas chapters.

Δ Θ joined with Δ Φ Ω, national service fraternity, in staging a show, Bayou Queen, for the "Greatest College Show On Earth"—Frontier Fiesta. Work parties and lots of fun were shared in the actual building procedure. An extra thrill came when Life magazine featured Bayou Queen in their story on the show, leading off with a picture of the scene above.

WASHINGTON

Washington—Kappa

The freshman class prepared a Thanksgiving basket for a needy family, and some of our ΔZ 's stuffed envelopes for a Christmas fund at the Washington Children's Home.

Our chapter placed fourth in a table-setting contest among sororities during the Seattle Home Show.

Judy Gibb and Nola Mickelson were installed as Panhellenic president and vice president.

Arlene Ness was elected the $A E \Delta$ delegate to the

A huge husky greeted Homecoming guests at Washington University from the front of the Kappa ΔZ house.

National Pre-Medical convention in Fayette, Arkansas, and Jan Miles, secretary of $A E \Delta$, was accepted by the Medical School at the University of Washington for the fall 1958 class.

Marybeth Austin was elected vice president of $\Sigma E \Sigma$, Dorie Perringer was pledged to $A T \Delta$, and Judy Gibb was tapped by Totem Club.

WEST VIRGINIA

Concord College—Eta Delta

Bobbie Smith was selected for the college Who's Who. Bobbie was also initiated into Cardinal Key and $K \Delta \Pi$. Betty Buchanon, treasurer, was elected president of the girls dormitory. Patti Blankenship was Queen of the "Bowery Ball" and also editor of the Concordian, our school newspaper. Other ΔZ 's receiving honors are Mary Lonker, who was initiated into $M A \Theta$ and elected corresponding secretary of the Student Government Association and Susie Boone, who is president of the Women's Athletic Association.

We had several successful money-making projects this year, among them the selling of candy and a rummage sale.

Under a new rushing system this year the ΔZ 's were very proud to pledge 23 girls. We received the largest number of pledges of any sorority on campus.

Marshall College—Delta Upsilon

We are proud of Lilly Nehman, who was chosen the girl soloist for the men's concert choir and will be appearing with the group on their musical tours; Pat Blackburn, who earned the female lead in College Theater's

"Inherit the Wind"; Nola Kay Graves, who is vice president, and Ruth Lykins, secretary, of the Home Economics Club; Jan Davis, who is vice president of $K O \Psi$; and Gail Hesson, who won the first semester pledge scholarship award.

During the Homecoming festivities our house decorations were considered fabulous. Our slogan was, "Marco's mittens change Bobcats to kittens."

Our candidates for "Miss Marshall" were Shirley Mitchell, senior; Beverly Commings, junior; and Lucy Stevens, sophomore.

In December we gave a party for a group of underprivileged children, from a local church.

Mary Hanna was our candidate for $\Sigma \Phi E$'s annual Blue Mountain Blast Gal.

WISCONSIN

Carroll College—Gamma Theta

After filling our quota of thirty two girls and making our pledge class the largest on campus, $\Gamma \Theta$ took more honors.

Cathy Hansen and Penny Price were general chairmen for the all school carnival and also for the all school Sing. The chapter's theme for the Sing was "Rain".

In the basketball tournament between the sororities and the independent group on campus, we again triumphed and collected another trophy. We were undefeated.

Our latest social function was our annual Flame Dance. Paul Monfils, the fiancé of Jody Henderson, was elected "Flame" this year.

Our pledges were so anxious to become members that we had a Turn-About Day. Let's just say they got a little carried away!

This year we began giving a scholarship bracelet to one pledge and one member for high grades. The hard-working winners this year were Pat Greenwald, member and Lois Frantz, pledge.

ESKIMO ESCAPADES, presented by Carroll- $\Gamma \Theta$, took the first place trophy at the all-school carnival. Those are real fish they're throwing!

Wisconsin State College, Whitewater— Epsilon Kappa

Our fall pledge class was the largest on campus, a fitting climax to a successful rushing season. The highlight of the rush season was our informal party, "Hillbilly Haven", to which the rushees were invited to come as "hillbillies".

Chapter members who have been chosen for the college Who's Who are Barbara Greene and Katherine Nielsen. Victoria Kunst, Lynn LaFrombois and Joanne Miller are new members of $\Pi \Omega \Pi$, national business education honorary. Mary Peterson and Mary Wesemann are in $K \Delta \Pi$, national education honorary.

Faye Steinhurst was our candidate for $\Sigma T \Gamma$ Rose Queen. At the regular meeting following the Junior Prom, Vicki Kunst was presented with a dozen pink roses as a tribute from the members of $E K$. (See Queens Section)

Vicki Kunst has been chosen our delegate to the convention in Chicago this summer, and since we are so near Chicago, others of our group plan to attend also.

Wisconsin State College, Eau Claire— Epsilon Omega

For the college Winter Carnival we did a take-off on the parking problem on campus—which is a big one here. We didn't win, but it was fun. However, Nora Koerper did take first place in the hair-styling contest. Everything a woman carries in her purse was in Nora's hair-do.

Our nominee for king of the festivities was Ben Wagner, a member of $\Phi \Sigma E$, our brother fraternity on campus. He, along with Lucille Radle and Marlene Splatt, served as court attendants. Lucille had received another honor a short time before when the Phi Sigs chose her as their Queen of Hearts, reigning over the Valentine Dance.

This spring we had a lot of fun at our annual car wash. Despite wet clothes and aching muscles, we did manage to make many cars look like new!

JOAN LUKES, editor
JANICE DITTMAR, president

Stout State—Zeta Beta

Second semester members of $\Phi T O$, national professional home economics fraternity, are Ruth Stratman and Patty Jo Hovde.

In January, the Z B chapter held its first formal initiation. Kathleen Keliher, who was chosen as the most outstanding pledge, was presented to the group and was awarded the recognition pin at the evening banquet which was held in the new Bertha Tainter Hall Tearoom.

Katherine Anderson was our queen candidate for the Stout Student Association Winter Carnival. In the Carnival Ice Carving contest we won first place with our entry entitled "Peace". Climaxing carnival activities, our chapter made and presented a quilt at the Sno-Ball.

Several rushing parties were held during the winter months, which were climaxed with a Taffy Pulling Party.

On March 5 Z B sponsored its annual all-campus Heidelberg Inn, amidst an atmosphere formed by checked tablecloths, steins, candlelight, and soft old Austrian music.
